D. One phone package provided for 500 free minutes of usage during peak hours. However, we noted charges for this phone routinely exceeded the 500 minutes of free usage during peak hours by a significant amount. Additional peak minutes charged to this phone ranged from 533 to 1,173 minutes per month during four months reviewed, with the additional costs averaging approximately $200 per month.

   The amount of billed peak usage was sometimes more than the monthly fee. If this amount of usage is necessary, the College should consider obtaining a more efficient contract for this individual.

While cellular phones can help increase employee productivity, they are also costly. A formal written policy is needed regarding cellular phones. Such a policy should address which employees need a cellular phone, proper use of the phone, and a review and authorization process. In this policy, the College should consider prohibiting the personal use of the cellular phones, except in cases of emergency. In addition, proper internal controls require that expenditures are reviewed and authorized before payment.

WE RECOMMEND the College develop a formal written policy regarding the use of cellular phones, including a provision prohibiting their use for personal reasons. In addition, phone bills should be reviewed and authorized before payment.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. The College concurs with the Auditor's findings and is in the process of implementing the Auditor's recommendation. It should be noted that the College's actual expenditures for cellular telephones is modest.

B. The College concurs with the Auditor's findings and is in the process of implementing the Auditor's recommendation.

C. The College does not allow cellular telephones to be used for personal business.

D. Note: The College did not provide a separate response for this item.

12. Fixed Assets

A. Our review of the College's fixed asset records and related procedures noted the following exceptions:

1) Except for the computer equipment and other fixed assets of the Management Information System (MIS) department, a physical inventory of the general fixed assets of the College has not been performed since 1992. Annual physical inventories are necessary to ensure the accuracy of fixed asset records and to detect the loss, theft, or misuse of assets.

2) The College maintains its detailed fixed asset records in a computer database and obtains the fixed asset additions and deletions from the database to adjust the applicable general ledger accounts and prepare its financial statements. However, the College does not reconcile the total of the detailed information in the data base to its general ledger fixed asset accounts.

   The College should reconcile the fixed asset database to the general ledger fixed asset accounts on a periodic basis to help ensure the general ledger accounts are properly stated.

3) Fixed assets acquired through lease-purchase arrangements are not tagged and recorded in the fixed asset database. According to College personnel, the College is in the process of identifying these fixed assets so they can be tagged and recorded in the property records.

4) During our review, we noted that various items were not properly tagged as property of the College. These included donated furniture valued at approximately $18,000 which was received in September 1997, but not tagged and added to inventory when received. In addition, we noted an instance where the tag number on an item did not agree to the number in the inventory records and an instance where a piece of equipment was tagged but not included on the inventory records.

Fixed assets represent a significant investment of College funds and should be adequately safeguarded from loss or theft. Fixed asset records provide information needed by the College for financial reporting and control purposes. Failure to maintain accurate fixed asset records or to properly account for fixed assets items increases the likelihood that assets may be lost, stolen or incorrectly valued.

B. The College allows employees to "check out" various items of equipment for use at their homes. To do this, the applicable employees must complete a check out form, which then must be approved by a supervisor. It appears most of the items checked out represent computer equipment.

During our review, we noted twenty-three laptop computers and eight desk top computers were checked out. Three employees had checked out both a laptop computer and a desk top computer. It appears most of the equipment has been checked out for at least two years, with some instances noted where the check-out dates back to 1994.

The College should periodically review the equipment items checked out. For those items which have been checked out for an extended period of time, the College should ensure there is still a valid reason for the item to be used in this manner.

WE RECOMMEND the College:

A.1. Conduct a physical inventory of all fixed assets on an annual basis and reconcile the results of the inventory to the detailed property records.

2. Reconcile the fixed assets database to the applicable general ledger accounts on a periodic basis.

3&4. Ensure all fixed assets are properly tagged and recorded on the detailed property records, including all fixed assets acquired through a lease-purchase agreement.

B. Review the equipment items currently checked out and for those that have been checked out for an extended period of time, ensure there is still a valid reason for these College assets to be used in this manner.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. The College concurs with the Auditor's findings and is in the process of implementing the Auditor's recommendation. In addition, a physical inventory was conducted and reconciled on all fixed assets for the period ending June 30, 1998.

B. The College concurs with the Auditor's findings and is in the process of implementing the Auditor's recommendation. As further explanation, it should be noted that the College's computer professionals are on call since the College does not have a multi-shift staff. These employees are, therefore, required to keep a laptop computer with them for remote access.

In a few cases, the volume of work done at home by employees who work in excess of 40 hours per week is supported by a desktop computer. In addition, a number of laptop computers were provided by grant funds specifically to be checked out and used on a rotating period by faculty members working on research or other special projects. The Vice President for Institutional Support and Enrollment Management reviews all checkout forms to ensure that current needs are being served. Annually, this Vice President reviews, for inventory purposes, all equipment that has been checked out.

History, Organization, and Statistical Information

HARRIS-STOWE STATE COLLEGE
HISTORY, ORGANIZATION, AND STATISTICAL INFORMATION

Harris-Stowe State College, located in St. Louis, Missouri, traces its origin back to 1857, when it was founded by the St. Louis Public Schools as a normal school. This school was the first public teacher education institution west of the Mississippi River and the twelfth such institution in the United States. This normal school was established for white students only, and the school was later named Harris Teachers College in honor of William Torrey Harris who had been a Superintendent of Instruction in the St. Louis Public Schools and also a United States Commissioner of Education.

A second predecessor institution was established in 1890 as a normal school for future black teachers of elementary schools in the city of St. Louis and was an extension of Sumner High School. In 1929, its name was changed to Stowe Teachers College, in honor of the abolitionist and novelist, Harriet Beecher Stowe.

These two teacher education institutions were merged by the Board of Education of the St. Louis Public Schools in 1954, as the first of several steps to integrate the public schools of St. Louis. In 1979, the General Assembly of the State of Missouri enacted a bill under which Harris-Stowe State College became a member of the State system of public higher education. The College offered three separate teacher education majors; early childhood education, elementary school education, and middle school/junior high school education. In 1981, the College received approval for a new degree program, a Bachelor of Science in Urban Education.

In 1993, the State authorized the College to expand its mission to address unmet needs of metropolitan St. Louis in various applied professional disciplines. The College developed two new baccalaureate degree programs: (1) Business Administration with professional options in Accounting, Management Information Systems, General Business, and Marketing, and (2) Secondary Teacher Education with subject-matter options in Biology, English, Mathematics, and Social Studies. The College is currently developing new baccalaureate programs in other professional areas, including Criminal Justice and Management of Health and Medical Services.

In November 1996, the city of St. Louis transferred title to approximately eighteen acres of the former Laclede Town site to the College. On this property, the College plans a $30 million expansion of its campus with the construction of six new buildings. Currently, a new library/classroom and technology resource center is under construction, with a completion date scheduled in the fall of 1998.

In the fall of 1997 and 1996, the College's full-time equivalent student enrollment was 1,103 and 1,095, respectively.

Harris-Stowe State College is governed by a six-member Board of Regents appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate. Regents are appointed to six-year terms. A student member, with non-voting privileges, also serves on the Board.

The Board of Regents as of December 31, 1997, consisted of the following members:

Name	Position	Term Ends
Wayman F. Smith III	Chairperson	July 28, 2000
William G. Gillespie	Member	July 28, 1998
Charlene L. Jones	Member	July 28, 1996 *
John W. Siscel	Member	July 28, 2000
Carol B. Walker	Member	August 28, 2002
Donald L. Wolff	Member	July 28, 1998
Andre' L. May	Student Representative	January 1, 2000

* This regent will serve on the board until replaced by the Governor.

The Board of Regents appoints a President to serve as the College's Chief Executive Officer. Three Vice Presidents have been appointed to oversee Academic and Student Affairs, Business and Financial Affairs, and Institutional Support and Enrollment Management. The following schedule lists the annual compensation reported for the College officials and administrative staff as of December 31, 1997:

Name	Position	Base Salary
Henry Givens, Jr.	President	$ 135,000	(1)
Patricia Nichols	Vice President of Academic and Student Affairs	91,011
Rochelle Tilghman	Interim Vice President of Business and Financial Affairs	70,000	(2)
James Gorham, Jr.	Vice President of Institutional Support and Enrollment Management	91,011
Vacant	Comptroller	N/A

(1) In addition to the base salary, the President's contract provides for the President to be paid $45,000 a year for an annuity and $45,000 a year for a housing allowance. The College also provides the President an automobile, life insurance, family medical coverage, and long-term care coverage.

(2) Rochelle Tilghman was appointed interim Vice President of Business and Financial Affairs in July 1997. Prior to July 1997, she served as Comptroller at an annual salary of $54,900. She was appointed Vice President of Business and Financial Affairs in April 1998, at an annual salary of $80,000. The position of Comptroller has been vacant since July 1997.

In addition, to the appointed officials noted above, the College contracts with George Hyram to serve as the College's Executive Institutional Consultant. On the President's instructions, Dr. Hyram reviews various administrative, academic, student services, and business operations of the College and offers advice and suggestions. His current contract provides for a maximum of seventy-six hours of service per month, at a cost of $3,618 per month.

Also, in August 1997, the College contracted with McKinley Jones and Associates, Certified Public Accountants, to provide comptroller services for the period of one year. The contract provides that a partner in the firm, Quintin Davis, will be at the College for a minimum of thirty to thirty-five hours per week, at a cost of $29 per hour.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON THE FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Presiding Judge
and
Municipal Judges
Twenty-Eighth Judicial Circuit

We have audited the accompanying special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Twenty-Eighth Judicial Circuit as of and for the years ended December 31, 1998 and 1997; September 30, 1998 and 1997; and June 30, 1998 and 1997, as identified by municipality and fiscal period in the table of contents. These special-purpose financial statements are the responsibility of the municipal divisions' management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these special-purpose financial statements based on our audit.

Except as discussed in paragraphs four and five, we conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the special-purpose financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the special-purpose financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

The accompanying special-purpose financial statements were prepared for the purpose of presenting the receipts, disbursements, and changes in cash of the municipal divisions of the Twenty-Eighth Judicial Circuit and are not intended to be a complete presentation of the financial position and results of operations of the municipal divisions.

Internal controls and accounting records of the city of Stockton Municipal Division were inadequate. Receipt slips were not issued for some bond monies received. In addition, records accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of each complaint form issued by the police department were not maintained properly. As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements beyond amounts recorded in the municipal division's records for the years ended September 30, 1998 and 1997.

Internal controls and accounting records of the city of Greenfield Municipal Division were inadequate. Records accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of each ticket issued by the police department were not maintained properly. As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements beyond amounts recorded in the municipal division's records for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997.

Governmental Accounting Standards Board Technical Bulletin 99-1, Disclosures about Year 2000 Issues--an amendment of Technical Bulletin 98-1, requires disclosure of certain matters regarding the year 2000 issue. Such required disclosures include any significant amount of resources committed to address year 2000 issues for computer systems and other electronic equipment; a general description of the year 2000 issue, including a description of the stages of work in process or completed as of the end of the reporting period to address year 2000 issues for computer systems and other electronic equipment critical to conducting operations; and an indication that the completion of these stages is not a guarantee that systems and equipment will be year 2000-compliant. The various municipal divisions of the Twenty-Eighth Judicial Circuit have omitted such disclosures. We do not provide assurance that the municipal divisions are or will become year 2000-compliant, that the municipal divisions' year 2000 remediation efforts will be successful in whole or in part, or that parties with which the municipal divisions do business will become year 2000-compliant.

In our opinion, except for the effects, if any, on the financial statements of the matters discussed in the preceding three paragraphs, the special-purpose financial statements referred to in the first paragraph present fairly, in all material respects, the receipts, disbursements, and changes in cash of the municipal divisions of the Twenty-Eighth Judicial Circuit as of and for the years ended December 31, 1998 and 1997; September 30, 1998 and 1997; and June 30, 1998 and 1997, in conformity with the comprehensive basis of accounting discussed in Note 1, which is a basis of accounting other than generally accepted accounting principles.

In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we also have issued our report dated January 19, 1999, on our consideration of the municipal divisions' internal controls over financial reporting and on our tests of their compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grants.

The accompanying History, Organization, and Statistical Information is presented for informational purposes. This information was obtained from the municipal divisions' management and was not subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the special-purpose financial statements referred to above.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON COMPLIANCE
AND ON INTERNAL CONTROL OVER FINANCIAL REPORTING

Presiding Judge
and
Municipal Judges
Twenty-Eighth Judicial Circuit

We have audited the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Twenty-Eighth Judicial Circuit as of and for the years ended December 31, 1998 and 1997; September 30, 1998 and 1997; and June 30, 1998 and 1997, and have issued our report thereon dated January 19, 1999. That report expressed a qualified opinion on the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Twenty-Eighth Judicial Circuit for the applicable fiscal periods. Except as discussed in the report on the financial statements of the municipal divisions referred to in the preceding sentence, we conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States.

Compliance

As part of obtaining reasonable assurance about whether the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Twenty-Eighth Judicial Circuit are free of material misstatement, we performed tests of the municipal divisions' compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grants, noncompliance with which could have a direct and material effect on the determination of financial statement amounts. However, providing an opinion on compliance with those provisions was not an objective of our audit, and accordingly, we do not express such an opinion. The results of our tests disclosed no material instances of noncompliance that are required to be reported under Government Auditing Standards. However, we noted certain other instances of noncompliance which are presented in the accompanying Management Advisory Report.

Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

In planning and performing our audit of the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Twenty-Eighth Judicial Circuit, we considered the municipal divisions' internal controls over financial reporting in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the special-purpose financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal controls over financial reporting. However, we noted certain matters involving the internal controls over financial reporting and their operation that we consider to be reportable conditions. Reportable conditions involve matters coming to our attention relating to significant deficiencies in the design or operation of the internal controls over financial reporting that, in our judgment, could adversely affect the municipal divisions' ability to record, process, summarize, and report financial data consistent with the assertions of management in the special-purpose financial statements.

A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of one or more of the internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that misstatements in amounts that would be material to the special-purpose financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. Our consideration of the internal controls over financial reporting would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal controls that might be reportable conditions and, accordingly, would not necessarily disclose all reportable conditions that are also considered to be material weaknesses. However, we noted certain matters involving the internal controls over financial reporting and their operation that we consider to be material weaknesses, and these matters are presented in the accompanying Management Advisory Report.

This report is intended for the information of the management of the various municipal divisions of the Twenty-Eighth Judicial Circuit and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

Notes to the Financial Statements

TWENTY-EIGHTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
MUNICIPAL DIVISIONS
NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

A. Reporting Entity and Basis of Presentation

The accompanying special-purpose financial statements present only selected data for the funds administered by the various municipal divisions of the Twenty-Eighth Judicial Circuit of the state of Missouri. Since no cases were handled during the audit period and no monies were received for the city of Everton Municipal Division, the division's financial statement is not included in this report. The city of Sheldon Municipal Division is reported on separately.

Receipts, disbursements, and changes in cash are presented for each municipal division. The operating costs of each division are paid by the respective municipality, the county, or the state of Missouri, as applicable, and are not included in the financial statements.

The municipal division is responsible for cash bonds posted until case disposition allows appropriate disbursement. Bond monies relating to pending cases, whether in the custody of the city or the municipal division, are included in these financial statements.

B. Basis of Accounting

The Statements of Receipts, Disbursements, and Changes in Cash are prepared on the cash basis of accounting; accordingly, amounts are recognized when they are received or disbursed. This basis of accounting differs from generally accepted accounting principles, which require revenues to be recognized when they become available and measurable or when they are earned and expenditures or expenses to be recognized when the related liabilities are incurred.

C. Fiscal Authority and Responsibility

The municipal divisions account for fines and court costs resulting from prosecution of violations of municipal ordinances before the municipal judge or received through the traffic violations bureau, as well as cash bonds posted. Municipal violations could include traffic offenses, both moving and nonmoving; parking meter and overtime parking offenses, and other violations for which amounts are received by the municipal divisions and remitted to the city treasury. The municipal divisions also may account for restitutions received and disbursed through the divisions.

2. Cash

Section 479.080, RSMo 1994, requires municipal divisions to deposit fines and court costs into the city treasury at least monthly. Some divisions maintain bank accounts into which fines and court costs are deposited and later remitted to the city treasury. Other divisions do not maintain bank accounts, transmitting fines and court costs directly to the city treasury. Escrow bank accounts for bond monies received may be maintained by the city or the municipal division.

At the financial statement dates identified in the table of contents for the years ended 1998 and 1997, all bank account balances reported for the municipal divisions of the Twenty-Eighth Judicial Circuit were entirely covered by federal depositary insurance.

3. Disbursements to State

The municipal divisions collect various amounts that must be remitted to the state of Missouri. These amounts include the judgement for the Motorcycle Safety Trust Fund and the surcharges for the Crime Victims' Compensation and Services to Victims Funds, the Peace Officer Standards and Training Commission Fund, the Statewide Court Automation Fund, and (until July 1, 1997, when municipal divisions were no longer required to assess the surcharge) the Independent Living Center Fund. The state's portions of these amounts are deposited into the city treasury for all municipal divisions, except the municipal divisions of the city of Lamar, the city of Nevada, and the city of Stockton. Amounts remitted by the cities to the state are not included in the financial statements.

4. City of Lamar Municipal Division

Bonds posted by defendants for the city of Lamar Municipal Division are remitted to the city treasury monthly. The amounts held by the city at year end could not be determined and, therefore, are not included in the financial statements.

State Auditor’s Current Recommendations

TWENTY-EIGHTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
MUNICIPAL DIVISIONS
MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT -
STATE AUDITOR'S CURRENT RECOMMENDATIONS

We have audited the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Twenty-Eighth Judicial Circuit as of and for the years ended December 31, 1998 and 1997; September 30, 1998 and 1997; and June 30, 1998 and 1997, and have issued our report thereon dated January 19, 1999. That report expressed a qualified opinion on the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Twenty-Eighth Judicial Circuit for the applicable fiscal periods.

The following Management Advisory Report presents our findings and recommendations arising from our audit of the municipal divisions' special-purpose financial statements. During our audit, we also identified certain management practices which we believe could be improved. Our procedures were not designed or intended to be a detailed study of every system, procedure, and transaction. Accordingly, the findings presented in the following report should not be considered as all-inclusive of areas where improvements may be needed.

1. City of El Dorado Springs Municipal Division

The municipal division does not issue receipt slips for bond monies received from the police department for bonds collected for other courts. To adequately account for all bond monies received, prenumbered receipt slips should be issued by the municipal division for all bond monies immediately upon receipt and the receipt slips should be reconciled to bank deposits.

WE RECOMMEND the city of El Dorado Springs Municipal Division issue receipts for all bond monies received.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Judge and Court Clerk responded that they have already started issuing prenumbered receipt slips for all bond monies received.

2. City of Greenfield Municipal Division

A. Receipts are not deposited on a timely basis. We noted instances in which receipts were not deposited for 3 to 9 days. To adequately safeguard receipts and to reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, deposits should be made intact daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

B. Neither the police department nor the municipal division maintains records adequate to account for all tickets issued and their ultimate disposition. The police department maintains a log of tickets issued by officers; however, we noted that the log included gaps in the numerical sequence and had not been updated since May 1998. The municipal division maintains a log of tickets received from the police department; however, the log is not maintained in numerical sequence. In addition, parking tickets were not prenumbered during the audit period.

Without a proper accounting of the numerical sequence of tickets issued, the police department and the municipal division cannot be assured that all tickets issued are properly submitted to the municipal division for processing. A log listing the ticket books assigned, each ticket issued in numerical sequence, the date issued, and the violator's name would help ensure all tickets issued were submitted to the municipal division for processing, properly voided, or not prosecuted. In addition, a record of the ultimate disposition of each ticket should be maintained to ensure all tickets have been accounted for properly.

C. Crime Victim's Compensation (CVC) fees collected by the municipal division which are due to the state are deposited into the city treasury. The TVB clerk logs TVB cases and submits the log for payment to the city only when the log page is full. The city did not disburse these monies to the state monthly during 1997 and 1998. During the audit period, these fees were paid to the state on a two to three month cycle. Section 595.045.5, RSMo Cumulative Supp. 1998, requires 95 percent of the CVC fee to be paid monthly to the state.

Conditions similar to A. and B. were also noted in our prior report.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Greenfield Municipal Division:

A. Deposit receipts daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

B. Work with the police department to ensure records are maintained to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all tickets assigned and issued.

C. Request the city remit CVC fees to the state monthly in accordance with state law.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Court Clerk responded as follows:

A. We will try to deposit more often.

B. We are working with the police department to ensure the ticket records are kept up-to-date and to account for all tickets assigned and issued.

C. This recommendation has been implemented.

3. City of Lamar Municipal Division

A. The Court Clerk does not maintain a bond account, a bond ledger or a restitution ledger and does not prepare monthly listings of open items (liabilities). In addition, the Court Clerk turns over to the city the reconciled bank balance of her account at the end of the month, including open bonds and restitution amounts. Disbursements for bond refunds and restitution monies are made by the court from subsequent collections of fines and court costs. These procedures would not detect any errors made by the Court Clerk.

A better procedure would be for the Court Clerk to maintain a bond account to hold bond monies until each case is final and can be paid out. A bond ledger or a restitution ledger indicating the related case, date and amount of receipt, and date of disbursement is necessary to ensure proper accountability of bond or restitution collections. A monthly listing of open items is necessary to ensure accountability over open cases and to ensure monies held in trust by the municipal division are sufficient to meet liabilities.

B. The municipal division allows defendants to pay fines and court costs over a period of time. Although, individual case files with amounts due the court are filed separately, the Court Clerk does not maintain a control listing of cases with balances due. As of October 1998, the municipal division's accounts receivable totaled over $59,000.

Monthly or periodic listings of accounts receivable are necessary to facilitate the monitoring of amounts due to the court, to provide information to the Municipal Judge, and to help maximize collections. These listings should be reconciled on a periodic basis to the individual accounts receivable records.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Lamar Municipal Division:

A. Maintain a bond account for holding bond monies, a bond ledger, prepare monthly listings of open items, and reconcile the listing to the monies held in trust in the bond account.

B. Generate a periodic listing of accounts receivable and reconcile this information to the individual accounts receivable records. A report of cases with delinquent payments and/or significant balances due should be provided to the Municipal Judge regularly for review.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Court Clerk responded as follows:

A. I have started keeping a ledger to better track the bonds received and will plan to use this to prepare monthly reconciliations and track payments. For now we will consider whether it is necessary to open a bond account.

B. I have started maintaining a record of all accounts receivable that reconciles to the receivable records. This information will be provided to the judge monthly.

4. City of Stockton Municipal Division

A. We noted the following concerns related to fines, court costs, and bonds received by the municipal division:

1. Receipt slips were not issued for some monies and receipt slips were not always issued immediately upon receipt. We noted some bond money received from the Cedar County Sheriff's Department that was deposited but not receipted. In addition, we noted two instances where receipt slips were issued for bond money approximately two months after the bonds were received and deposited. To properly account for all receipts and ensure they are properly deposited, prenumbered receipt slips should be issued for all monies immediately and receipts should be reconciled to deposits.

2. The Court Clerk accepts cash, checks, and money orders for the payment of fines and court costs. The Court Clerk does not always record the correct method of payment on receipt slips.

   To provide assurance all monies received have been properly deposited, a receipt slip noting the correct method of payment should be issued, and the composition of monies received should be reconciled to the composition of monies deposited.

3. Void receipt slips are not always properly retained. To ensure all receipts are properly accounted for, void receipt slips should be retained.

B. The duties of receiving, recording, and depositing monies collected by the municipal division are not adequately segregated. Currently, the Court Clerk performs all these duties. To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. Internal controls would be improved by segregating the duties of receiving and depositing court monies from that of recording receipts. If proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be a documented independent review of the bank reconciliations and a comparison of court receipt slips issued to amounts deposited.

C. Formal bank reconciliations are not prepared for the municipal division's bank account. Monthly bank reconciliations are necessary to ensure the bank account is in agreement with the accounting records and to detect errors on a timely basis.

D. Monthly listings of open items (liabilities) are not prepared and reconciled to the available cash balance. The Office of State Courts Administrator prepared an open items list for the municipal division as of June 30, 1998. This list identified all but approximately $76 being held by the court. An open items listing has not been prepared by the Court Clerk since June 30, 1998.

   Monthly open items listings should be prepared and reconciled to the available cash balance to ensure proper accountability over open cases and ensure monies held in trust are sufficient to meet liabilities. In addition, an attempt should be made to determine the proper disposition of these excess monies. For those monies which remain unclaimed, Section 447.595, RSMo 1994, requires funds remaining unclaimed for one year after disposition of the case to be turned over to the state's Unclaimed Property Section.

E. The municipal division allows defendants to pay fines and costs over a period of time. Defendants are required to attend court monthly until payment is received in full. The Court Clerk maintains the balance due information in the court docket books; however, periodic listings of amounts due are not prepared. In addition, a control ledger is not maintained showing the total amount due which can be reconciled to the individual accounts receivable records. Periodic listings of amounts due would allow the court to monitor the amounts due the court and ensure deferred payments are processed correctly. As of November 1998, the municipal division's accounts receivable totaled $3,238.

Monthly or periodic listings of accounts receivable are necessary to facilitate the monitoring of amounts due to the division, to provide information to the Municipal Judge, and to help maximize collections. These listings should be reconciled on a periodic basis to the individual accounts receivable records.

F. Neither the police department nor the court maintained adequate records to account for all complaint forms issued and their ultimate disposition. Complaints are prenumbered, but a log is not maintained to account for the numerical sequence of the complaints issued or their ultimate disposition.

Without a proper accounting of the numerical sequence and disposition of complaint forms, the police department and the court cannot be assured that all complaint forms issued are properly submitted to the court for processing, properly voided, or not prosecuted.

Conditions similar to A.2. and B. were also noted in our prior report.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Stockton Municipal Division:

A.1. Issue receipt slips for all monies immediately upon receipt, and reconcile receipts to bank deposits.

2. Indicate the correct method of payment on all receipt slips, and reconcile total cash, checks, and money orders received to bank deposits.

3. Retain original copies of all voided receipt slips.

B. Adequately segregate the duties of receiving, recording, and depositing court receipts. At a minimum, there should be a documented supervisory review of the reconciliation between receipts and deposits.

C. Prepare monthly bank reconciliations.

D. Prepare monthly listings of open items and reconcile the listings to monies held in trust. The municipal division should also attempt to identify to whom the $76 belongs, and disburse the funds appropriately. If this cannot be determined, the unidentified bond monies should be turned over to the state's Unclaimed Property Section in accordance with state law.

E. Prepare an accounts receivable listing on a monthly basis and use this listing to ensure appropriate action is taken on all cases with balances due to the municipal division. This listing should be reconciled periodically to individual accounts receivable records.

F. Work with the police department to ensure records are maintained to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all complaint forms.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Court Clerk responded as follows:

A. These recommendations have been implemented.

B. The judge now reviews the records and signs to document his review.

C. This recommendation has been implemented.

D. This recommendation has been implemented, and the unidentified monies have been identified.

E. A listing is now prepared and will be used to reconcile to the individual accounts receivable records.

F. The police department has established a complaint log to track the complaints and their disposition.

This report is intended for the information of the management of the various municipal divisions of the Twenty-Eighth Judicial Circuit and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON
THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Presiding Judge
and
Municipal Judges
Forty-Fifth Judicial Circuit

We have audited the accompanying special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions (other than the city of Frankford Municipal Division as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997) of the Forty-Fifth Judicial Circuit as of and for the years ended December 31, 1998 and 1997; September 30, 1998; June 30, 1998 and 1997; and May 31, 1998 and 1997, as identified by municipality and fiscal period in the table of contents. These special-purpose financial statements are the responsibility of the municipal divisions' management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these special-purpose financial statements based on our audit.

Except as discussed in the fourth paragraph, we conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the special-purpose financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the special-purpose financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

The accompanying special-purpose financial statements were prepared for the purpose of presenting the receipts, disbursements, and changes in cash of the municipal divisions of the Forty-Fifth Judicial Circuit and are not intended to be a complete presentation of the financial position and results of operations of the municipal divisions.

Governmental Accounting Standards Board Technical Bulletin 99-1, Disclosures about Year 2000 Issues--an amendment of Technical Bulletin 98-1, requires disclosures of certain matters regarding the year 2000 issue. Such required disclosures include any significant amount of resources committed to address year 2000 issues for computer systems and other electronic equipment; a general description of the year 2000 issue, including a description of the stages of work in process or completed as of the end of the reporting period to address year 2000 issues for computer systems and other electronic equipment critical to conducting operations; and an indication that the completion of these stages is not a guarantee that systems and equipment will be year 2000-compliant. Except for disclosures provided by the municipal divisions of the city of Bowling Green, city of Clarksville, city of Louisiana, and city of Troy, which are included in Note 5, the various municipal divisions of the Forty-Fifth Judicial Circuit have omitted such disclosures. We do not provide assurance that the municipal divisions are or will become year 2000-compliant, that the municipal division's year 2000 remediation efforts will be successful in whole or in part, or that parties with which the municipal division does business will become year 2000-compliant.

In our opinion, except for the effects of the omission and of such adjustments, if any, on the financial statements because of the matters discussed in the preceding paragraph, the special-purpose financial statements referred to in the first paragraph present fairly, in all material respects, the receipts, disbursements, and changes in cash of the municipal divisions (other than the city of Frankford Municipal Division as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997) of the Forty-Fifth Judicial Circuit as of and for the years ended December 31, 1998 and 1997; September 30, 1998; June 30, 1998 and 1997; and May 31, 1998 and 1997, in conformity with the comprehensive basis of accounting discussed in Note 1, which is a basis of accounting other than generally accepted accounting principles.

We also had planned to audit the accompanying special-purpose financial statement of the city of Frankford Municipal Division as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997. This special-purpose financial statement is the responsibility of the municipal division's management.

The internal control procedures and accounting records of the city of Frankford Municipal Division were inadequate. Prenumbered receipt slips were not always issued and there was no complete record of monies received. Prenumbered checks were not issued for monies disbursed. As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements of fines, court costs, and bonds for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997.

Because of the effects of the matters discussed in the preceding paragraph, the scope of our work was not sufficient to enable us to express, and we do not express, an opinion on the special-purpose financial statement of the city of Frankford Municipal Division as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997.

In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we also have issued our report dated February 2, 1999, on our consideration of the municipal divisions' internal controls over financial reporting and on our tests of their compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grants.

The accompanying History, Organization, and Statistical Information is presented for informational purposes. This information was obtained from the municipal divisions' management and was not subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the special-purpose financial statements referred to above.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON COMPLIANCE
AND ON INTERNAL CONTROL OVER FINANCIAL REPORTING

Presiding Judge
and
Municipal Judges
Forty-Fifth Judicial Circuit

We have audited the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions (other than the city of Frankford Municipal Division as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997) of the Forty-Fifth Judicial Circuit as of and for the years ended December 31, 1998 and 1997; September 30, 1998; June 30, 1998 and 1997; and May 31, 1998 and 1997, and have issued our report thereon dated February 2, 1999. That report expressed a qualified opinion on the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Forty-Fifth Judicial Circuit for the applicable fiscal periods. Except as discussed in the report on the financial statements of the municipal divisions referred to in the preceding sentence, we conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States.

We also had planned to audit the special-purpose financial statement of the city of Frankford Municipal Division as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997, and have issued our report thereon dated February 2, 1999. In that report we did not express an opinion on the special-purpose financial statement.

Compliance

As part of obtaining reasonable assurance about whether the special-purpose financial statement of the various municipal divisions of the Forty-Fifth Judicial Circuit are free of material misstatement, we performed tests of the municipal divisions' compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grants, noncompliance with which could have a direct and material effect on the determination of financial statement amounts. However, providing an opinion on compliance with those provisions was not an objective of our audit, and accordingly, we do not express such an opinion. The results of our tests disclosed no material instances of noncompliance that are required to be reported under Government Auditing Standards. However, we noted certain other instances of noncompliance which are presented in the accompanying Management Advisory Report.

Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

In planning and performing our audit of the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Forty-Fifth Judicial Circuit, we considered the municipal divisions' internal controls over financial reporting in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the special-purpose financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal controls over financial reporting. However, we noted certain matters involving the internal controls over financial reporting and their operation that we consider to be reportable conditions. Reportable conditions involve matters coming to our attention relating to significant deficiencies in the design or operation of the internal controls over financial reporting that, in our judgment, could adversely affect the municipal divisions' ability to record, process, summarize, and report financial data consistent with the assertions of management in the special-purpose financial statements.

A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of one or more of the internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that misstatements in amounts that would be material to the special-purpose financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. Our consideration of the internal controls over financial reporting would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal controls that might be reportable conditions and, accordingly, would not necessarily disclose all reportable conditions that are also considered to be material weaknesses. However, we noted certain matters involving the internal controls over financial reporting and their operation that we consider to be material weaknesses, and these matters are presented in the accompanying Management Advisory Report.

This report is intended for the information of the management of the various municipal divisions of the Forty-Fifth Judicial Circuit and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

Notes to the Financial Statements

FORTY-FIFTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
MUNICIPAL DIVISIONS
NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

A. Reporting Entity and Basis of Presentation

The accompanying special-purpose financial statements present only selected data for the funds administered by the various municipal divisions of the Forty-Fifth Judicial Circuit of the state of Missouri. The city of Bowling Green Municipal Division for the year ended September 30, 1997, is reported on separately.

Receipts, disbursements, and changes in cash are presented for each municipal division. The operating costs of each division are paid by the respective municipality, the county, or the state of Missouri, as applicable, and are not included in these financial statements.

The municipal division is responsible for cash bonds posted until case disposition allows appropriate disbursement. Bond monies relating to pending cases, whether in the custody of the city or the municipal division, are included in these financial statements.

B. Basis of Accounting

The Statements of Receipts, Disbursements, and Changes in Cash are prepared on the cash basis of accounting; accordingly, amounts are recognized when they are received or disbursed. This basis of accounting differs from generally accepted accounting principles, which require revenues to be recognized when they become available and measurable or when they are earned and expenditures or expenses to be recognized when the related liabilities are incurred.

C. Fiscal Authority and Responsibility

The municipal divisions account for fines and court costs resulting from prosecution of violations of municipal ordinances before the municipal judge or received through the traffic violations bureau, as well as cash bonds posted. Municipal violations could include traffic offenses, both moving and nonmoving; parking meter and overtime parking offenses; and other violations for which amounts are received by the municipal divisions and remitted to the city treasury. The municipal divisions also may account for restitutions received and disbursed through the divisions.

2. Cash

Section 479.080, RSMo 1994, requires municipal divisions to deposit fines and court costs into the city treasury at least monthly. Some divisions maintain bank accounts into which fines and court costs are deposited and later remitted to the city treasury. Other divisions do not maintain bank accounts, transmitting fines and court costs directly to the city treasury. Escrow bank accounts for bond monies received may be maintained by the city or the municipal division.

At the financial statement dates identified in the table of contents for the years ended 1998 and 1997, all bank account balances reported for the municipal divisions of the Forty-Fifth Judicial Circuit were entirely covered by federal depositary insurance.

3. Disbursements to State

The municipal divisions collect various amounts that must be remitted to the state of Missouri. These amounts include 80 percent of the court costs for cases heard by an Associate Circuit Judge; surcharges for the Crime Victims' Compensation and Services to Victims Funds, the Peace Officer Standards and Training Commission Fund, the Statewide Court Automation Fund, and (until July 1, 1997, when municipal divisions were no longer required to assess the surcharge) the Independent Living Center Fund. The state's portions of these amounts are deposited into the city treasury for all municipal divisions, except the municipal divisions of the city of Old Monroe, city of Bowling Green, city of Frankford, and city of Troy. Amounts remitted by the cities to the state are not included in the financial statements.

4. City of Old Monroe

Bonds posted by defendants for the city of Old Monroe Municipal Division were deposited directly into the city treasury until September 1998. The municipal division opened a bond account in September 1998 for the deposit of all bond monies. The bond amounts held by the city at December 31, 1997, could not be determined and, therefore, are not included in the financial statements.

5. Year 2000 Compliance - Various Municipal Divisions

Current vendors have represented to the city of Bowling Green that computer equipment and software utilized by the police department and municipal Court Clerk are Year 2000 compliant.

The city of Clarksville Municipal Division has not committed any resources to make computer systems and other electronic equipment Year 2000 compliant. However, the city itself has allocated sums which are unknown to the court to make all computer systems Year 2000 compliant. All computer operating systems are compliant. It is the court's understanding that the billing and other systems of the city are also compliant, and, insofar as these areas impact the municipal division, would be in compliance for purposes of this disclosure. The court is unaware whether any validation or testing has been commenced or completed and, therefore, cannot offer comment on that area.

The city of Louisiana Municipal Division has no plans to commit resources to make its computer systems Year 2000 compliant. However, it is the court's understanding that software currently being utilized is fully Year 2000 compliant and, therefore, no problems are anticipated.

The software vendor has represented to the city of Troy Municipal Division that the court's current software package is Year 2000 compliant. In addition, the city is currently taking bids to upgrade the court's current computer system. If purchased, the new program will be Year 2000 compliant.

MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT SECTION

Management Advisory Report -
State Auditor’s Current Recommendations

FORTY-FIFTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
MUNICIPAL DIVISIONS
MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT -
STATE AUDITOR'S CURRENT RECOMMENDATIONS

We have audited the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions (other than the city of Frankford Municipal Division as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997) of the Forty-Fifth Judicial Circuit as of and for the years ended December 31, 1998 and 1997; September 30, 1998; June 30, 1998 and 1997; and May 31, 1998 and 1997, and have issued our report thereon dated February 2, 1999. That report expressed a qualified opinion on the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Forty-Fifth Judicial Circuit for the applicable fiscal periods.

We also had planned to audit the special-purpose financial statement of the city of Frankford Municipal Division as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997, and have issued our report thereon dated February 2, 1999. In that report we did not express an opinion on the special-purpose financial statement.

The following Management Advisory Report presents our findings and recommendations arising from our procedures related to the municipal divisions' special-purpose financial statements. During those procedures, we also identified certain management practices which we believe could be improved. Our procedures were not designed or intended to be a detailed study of every system, procedure, and transaction. Accordingly, the findings presented in the following report should not be considered as all-inclusive of areas where improvements may be needed.

1. City of Bowling Green Municipal Division

A. The Court Clerk and Deputy Court Clerk issue receipt slips for all monies received. However, some receipt books used are not prenumbered. In addition, receipt slips that are prenumbered are not always issued in numerical order.

To ensure proper recording and accountability of receipts, prenumbered receipt slips should be issued for all monies received and the numerical sequence of receipt slips should be accounted for properly.

B. The Court Clerk, Deputy Court Clerk, and police dispatcher collect cash, checks, and money orders for payments of traffic violations. These individuals are not bonded. Failure to properly bond all persons with access to assets exposes the municipal division and the city to risk of loss.

C. A monthly listing of open items (liabilities) is not prepared. At our request, the Court Clerk prepared a listing as of September 30, 1998, and this listing reconciled to the cash balance. Monthly listings of open items should be prepared and reconciled to the cash balance to ensure proper accountability over open cases and to ensure monies held in trust by the municipal division are sufficient to meet liabilities.

D. Neither the police department nor the municipal division has adequate procedures to account for traffic tickets or summonses issued and their ultimate disposition. Summons forms, which are issued for non-traffic violations, are not prenumbered. The police department records traffic ticket and summonses issuance information on a computer system, but does not generate a periodic report or utilize this information to account for the numerical sequence of traffic tickets or summonses.

Without a proper accounting for the numerical sequence of tickets and summonses, the police department and the municipal division cannot be assured that all documents issued were properly submitted to the municipal division for processing. A log listing each ticket/summons in numerical order, the date issued, and the violator's name would help ensure all tickets and summonses issued have been submitted to the municipal division for processing, properly voided, or not prosecuted.

A similar condition was also noted in our prior reports.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Bowling Green Municipal Division:

A. Issue prenumbered receipt slips for all monies received and account for the numerical sequence of receipt slips issued.

B. Request the city obtain bond coverage for all persons handling municipal division monies.

C. Prepare monthly listings of open items and reconcile the listing to monies held in trust by the municipal division.

D. Request the police department to issue prenumbered summons forms, and work with the police department to implement the necessary procedures and records to account for the numerical sequence of all tickets and summons issued.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Judge and Court Clerk indicated:

A-C. These recommendations have been implemented.

D. Summons forms are now prenumbered. They will work with the police department to ensure all tickets and summonses issued are accounted for.

2. City of Clarksville Municipal Division

The municipal division assesses court costs of $16 and $14 for moving and nonmoving violations, respectively. Section 488.012.3, RSMo Cumulative Supp. 1998, limits court costs in cases heard before a municipal judge to $12 per case.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Clarksville Municipal Division assess court costs in accordance with state law.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Court Clerk indicated this recommendation has been discussed with the city attorney and the city's ordinance will be revised to reduce court costs from $16 to $12 to comply with state law.

3. City of Curryville Municipal Division

A. Checks and money orders are not restrictively endorsed until deposits are prepared. To reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, checks and money orders should be restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt.

B. Neither the police department nor the municipal division maintains adequate records to account for traffic tickets issued and their ultimate disposition. A log showing ticket books assigned to officers is maintained by the municipal division, but no records or procedures exist to account for the numerical sequence of tickets issued and their disposition.

Without a proper accounting of the numerical sequence and disposition of traffic tickets, the police department and municipal division cannot be assured that all traffic tickets issued were properly submitted to the court for processing. A log listing the ticket book assigned, each ticket number, the date issued, the case number, and the violator's name would help ensure all tickets issued were submitted to the court for processing, properly voided, or not prosecuted. A record of the ultimate disposition of each traffic ticket should also be maintained to ensure all traffic tickets have been accounted for properly.

A similar condition was also noted in our prior report.

C. Beginning in October 1997, the municipal division increased the fee assessed for court costs from $12 to $15 for all traffic violations filed in the municipal division and heard by the municipal judge. Section 488.012.3, RSMo Cumulative Supp. 1998, limits court costs in cases heard before a municipal judge to $12 per case.

D. The municipal division allows the Court Clerk to amend certain violations payable through the TVB from point violations to non-point violations if the defendant requests the change and no other violations are pending. For example, speeding violations are frequently amended to improper or illegal parking violations. The court assesses an additional fine of $40 in exchange for the reduction in charge. The Court Clerk amends the violations and accepts payment from the defendant at the TVB. Eleven of the sixty tickets we reviewed had been amended in this manner. The Court Clerk can also nolle pros tickets for certain violations if the defendant provides necessary documentation at the TVB. The Municipal Judge and City Attorney subsequently review and approve the handling of these type tickets when court is held. To ensure amendments are proper and nolle pros dispositions are appropriate, the City Attorney or the Municipal Judge should consider and make such decisions rather than the Court Clerk.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Curryville Municipal Division:

A. Restrictively endorse all checks and money orders immediately upon receipt.

B. Work with the police department to ensure records are maintained to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all tickets issued.

C. Assess court fees in accordance with state law.

D. Ensure the City Attorney or Municipal Judge is aware of and authorizes any amendment of charges or nolle pros ticket dispositions prior to the Court Clerk taking such action.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Judge indicated:

A-C. These recommendations have been implemented.

D. Effective April 14, 1999, the Court Clerk is no longer authorized to nolle pros tickets or amend tickets without prior approval of the City Attorney or the Municipal Judge.

4. City of Foley Municipal Division

A. The duties of receiving, recording, and depositing court receipts are not adequately segregated. Except for monies received through the TVB by the City Clerk, the Court Clerk performs all the duties related to the collection, deposit, and recording of fines, court costs, and bonds. There is no independent reconciliation between receipts and deposits, and there is no supervisory review performed of the Court Clerk's functions by an independent person.

To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. Internal controls would be improved by segregating the duties of receiving and depositing court monies from recording receipts. If proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum there should be a supervisory review of the reconciliations between receipts and deposits.

B. Receipts are not always recorded and deposited on a timely basis. Payments received in court are generally deposited the next day. Payments received through the TVB are sometimes held for approximately a month without being recorded or restrictively endorsed, and are later deposited along with the court receipts regardless of the receipt date. As a result, monies on hand are not adequately documented and safeguarded, and records of monies received through the TVB do not reflect actual receipt dates in some cases. To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss, theft, or misuse of funds, checks and money orders should be restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt, receipts should be recorded promptly, and monies should be deposited daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

A similar condition was also noted in our prior report.

C. The Municipal Judge does not review and sign the court docket after case disposition has been recorded. To ensure the proper disposition of all cases has been entered in the court records, the judge should sign the court dockets after reviewing to ensure their propriety.

D. The municipal division does not always forward required records of convictions on traffic offenses to the Missouri State Highway Patrol (MSHP) in a timely manner. We noted seven instances in which cases involving moving traffic violations have not been forwarded to the MSHP. Convictions on two of these cases were obtained in May 1998. Section 302.225, RSMo Cumulative Supp. 1998, requires records of any pleas or findings of guilty on traffic violations under the laws of the state, county, or municipal ordinance to be forwarded to the MSHP within ten days of the conviction date.

E. We noted that Crime Victims Compensation (CVC), Law Enforcement Training (LET), and Peace Officers Standards and Training Commission (POSTC) fees were assessed on some dismissed cases. Sections 595.045 and 590.140, RSMo Cumulative Supp. 1998, require these fees be charged on all court cases for violations of municipal ordinances, except for cases dismissed by the court.

F. Beginning in October 1997, the municipal division increased the fee assessed for court costs from $12 to $15 for all traffic violations filed in the municipal division and heard by the municipal judge. Section 488.012.3, RSMo Cumulative Supp. 1998, limits court costs in cases heard before a municipal judge to $12 per case.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Foley Municipal Division:

A. Adequately segregate the duties of receiving, recording, and depositing court receipts. At a minimum there should be a documented supervisory review of the reconciliation between receipts and deposits, and a review of the account reconciliations.

B. Restrictively endorse checks and money orders immediately upon receipt, record monies received promptly, and deposit receipts daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

C. Require the Municipal Judge to review all court dockets for propriety and sign the dockets.

D. Forward traffic tickets involving moving traffic violations to the MSHP as required by state law.

E. Assess fees in accordance with state law.

F. Assess court costs in accordance with state law.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Judge and Court Clerk indicated:

A. The city of Foley employs one part-time Court Clerk. Under these circumstances an independent reconciliation of receipts and deposits or segregation of duties is not possible. However, upon the suggestion of the State Auditor's office, the Municipal Judge and Court Clerk have implemented procedures wherein the Municipal Judge reviews and signs the monthly docket and summary reports.

B. Again, because the city employs one part-time Court Clerk, it is not possible to make a daily deposit as requested. However, as suggested, the Court Clerk has begun to endorse checks and money orders upon receipt, rather than at the end of the evening and when preparing the deposit. Additionally, the Court Clerk will continue to make every effort to make deposits when receipts are received or when accumulated receipts exceed $100. Monies received will be recorded on a log promptly.

C. In order to satisfy the suggestion of the State Auditor's office, the Municipal Judge and Court Clerk have implemented procedures wherein the Municipal Judge reviews and signs the monthly docket and summary reports, as well as reviews and signs all amended cases.

D. Certain circumstances have caused the Court Clerk to fall behind in preparing tickets for sending to the MSHP. The Court Clerk will make every effort in the future to comply with state law.

E. The Court Clerk will make every effort to assess fees in accordance with state law.
F. In the future the Court Clerk will assess court costs in accordance with state law.

5. City of Frankford Municipal Division

Several changes in municipal division, police department, and city personnel occurred during the audit period. Likewise, inconsistencies developed with the municipal division records and procedures. Our review revealed significant concerns with regard to receipting and reconciliation procedures, and other basic recordkeeping procedures.

A. The duties of receiving, recording and depositing court receipts are not adequately segregated. Except for monies collected through the TVB by the City Clerk, the Court Clerk performs all the duties related to the collection, deposit, and recording of court receipts. There is no independent reconciliation between receipts and deposits, and there is no supervisory review performed of the Court Clerk's functions by an independent person.

To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately segregated. Internal controls would be improved by segregating the duties of receiving and depositing court monies from recording receipts. If proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum there should be a supervisory review of the reconciliations between receipts and deposits.

B. Prenumbered receipt slips were inconsistently used and generally did not indicate the method of payment. Receipts were sometimes recorded on the court docket or a receipt ledger; however, these records did not indicate the date of receipt or the method of payment. Also, some monies deposited were not recorded in any of the municipal division records. As a result, a complete and detailed initial record of receipts was not maintained for the audit period. In addition, checks and money orders received are not restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt, court receipts are not maintained in a secure location prior to deposit, and court receipts are not always deposited on a timely basis.

To adequately account for all receipts, a complete record of monies received should be maintained. The records should include prenumbered receipt slips which note all relevant data about the payment including date of receipt and method of payment. The numerical sequence of receipt slips should be accounted for and the payment composition on the receipt slips should be reconciled to bank deposits to ensure all receipts are deposited intact. In addition, checks and money orders should be restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt, monies should be retained in a secure location until deposit, and monies should be deposited daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

In August 1998, the court began issuing prenumbered receipt slips for all collections.

C. The Police Chief and Court Clerk collect fines, court costs, and bonds. These individuals are not bonded. Failure to properly bond all persons with access to assets exposes the municipal division and the city to risk of loss.

D. The Court Clerk does not maintain a checkbook register or prepare bank reconciliations for the municipal division bank account. A checkbook register containing the date, amount, and description of checks issued, deposits made, and the cash balance, should be prepared and reconciled to the bank statement monthly to properly monitor the bank transactions and ensure the bank and municipal division book balances are in agreement.

E. A monthly listing of open items (liabilities) is not prepared. Monthly listings of open items should be prepared and reconciled to the cash balance to ensure proper accountability over open cases and to ensure monies held in trust by the municipal division are sufficient to meet liabilities.

F. We noted several instances where the City Clerk issued checks from the court account that were not prenumbered. The City Clerk indicated that non-prenumbered checks were ordered by the city to minimize court operating costs. To ensure all monies disbursed are properly recorded and accounted for, only prenumbered checks specific to the account should be used.

G. The municipal division operates a TVB that allows certain offenses to be paid prior to the court date; however, a court order could not be located formally establishing the TVB. Section 479.050, RSMo 1994 states that a TVB may be established by the Municipal Judge. Supreme Court Rule No. 37.49 requires the Municipal Judge to establish the TVB by court order, to designate a TVB clerk, and to establish by schedule the amount of fines and costs to be imposed for each offense.

H. The Municipal Judge does not record or approve his case decisions. The Court Clerk prepares a court docket prior to each court. It includes pertinent case information and is used during court proceedings by the Court Clerk to record case dispositions. However, the Municipal Judge does not review the court dockets after case dispositions have been recorded. To ensure proper disposition of all cases has been entered in the court records, the judge should sign the court dockets after reviewing to ensure their propriety.

I. The municipal division does not file with the city a monthly report of all cases heard in court. Section 479.080.3, RSMo 1994, requires the Court Clerk to prepare a monthly listing of all cases heard in court, including all fines and court costs collected, to be verified by the Court Clerk or Municipal Judge, and filed with the City Clerk.

J. The traffic ticket issuance log maintained by the police department is not always complete. The log did not contain all necessary information such as date issued, offense, violator's name, and ultimate disposition for all tickets.

The ticket issuance log should be properly completed to help ensure that all tickets have been accounted for and submitted to the municipal division for processing.

Because of the problems noted above, we were unable to express an opinion on the financial statements of the city of Frankford Municipal Division as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997. These deficiencies are serious and should be corrected immediately.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Frankford Municipal Division:

A. Adequately segregate the duties of receiving, recording, and depositing municipal division receipts. At a minimum there should be a documented supervisory review of the reconciliation between receipts and deposits, and a review of the account reconciliations.

B. Ensure that prenumbered receipt slips are issued for all collections and reconciled to bank deposits, restrictively endorse all checks and money orders immediately upon receipt, and deposit receipts intact daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

C. Request the city obtain bond coverage for all persons handling municipal division monies.

D. Maintain a complete checkbook register and reconcile it monthly to the bank statement.

E. Prepare monthly listings of open items and reconcile the listing to monies held in trust by the municipal division.

F. Use only prenumbered checks specific to the official bank account and account for their numerical sequence.

G. Prepare a court order authorizing the establishment of a TVB.

H. Require the Municipal Judge to review all court dockets for propriety and sign the dockets.

I. Prepare monthly reports of court actions and file these with the city in accordance with state law.

J. Work with the police department to ensure that all traffic tickets issued are accounted for properly.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Court Clerk indicated:

A. The Municipal Judge plans to begin reviewing the after-court docket and bank statement reconciliations since segregating duties is not possible.

B,D, &F. These recommendations have been implemented.

C, E, & G. These recommendations will be implemented.

H. The Municipal Judge plans to begin reviewing the after-court dockets and will initial or sign them to show his approval.

I. Because court is held quarterly, reports of court actions will be filed with the city on a quarterly, rather than monthly, basis.

J. This recommendation will be discussed with the police officer.

6. City of Louisiana Municipal Division

A. The duties of receiving, recording, depositing and disbursing court receipts are not adequately segregated. The Court Clerk performs all of the duties related to the collection and disbursement of fines, court costs, and bonds. There is no independent reconciliation between receipts and deposits, and there is no supervisory review performed of the Court Clerk's functions by an independent person.

To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. Internal controls would be improved by segregating the duties of receiving and depositing court monies from recording receipts. If proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum there should be a supervisory review of the reconciliations between receipts and deposits.

B. Receipt slips issued for the receipt of dog fines and police reports are not prenumbered and do not indicate the method of payment. To adequately account for receipts and provide assurance all monies received have been properly transmitted, prenumbered receipt slips noting the method of payment should be issued for all monies received and the numerical sequence should be accounted for properly. In addition, the composition of monies received should be reconciled to the composition of monies transmitted to the city treasurer.

C. Court receipts are not always deposited on a timely basis. Deposits are made approximately once a week and the amounts deposited often exceeded $1,000. Because the majority of monies collected by the municipal division is in cash, timely deposits are even more important. To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss, theft, or misuse of funds, monies should be deposited daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

D. Listings of open items (liabilities) were not prepared on a regular basis throughout the audit period. At our request, a May 31, 1998, listing was prepared and this listing reconciled to the cash balance. As discussed in our prior report, the listing and cash balance include approximately $530 in old unidentified bond monies and monies pertaining to two bonds received in 1990 and 1992 in which the applicable cases had been turned over to another court.

Monthly listings of open items should be prepared and reconciled to the cash balance to ensure proper accountability over open cases and to ensure monies held in trust by the municipal division are sufficient to meet liabilities. A review of old bond monies still remaining in the account should be made and these monies disposed of as provided for in various applicable statutory provisions.

E. The municipal division allows defendants to pay fines and costs over a period of time, contingent upon signing a payment plan agreement. However, there are no set procedures or periodic accounts receivable reports utilized to monitor amounts due to the municipal division. Our review of partial payment arrangements revealed several concerns including instances where periodic payments as required by the payment plan agreements were missed and no follow up action was taken by the municipal division, an instance where the accounts receivable records were not updated for a recent payment, instances where partial payments were being made but no payment plan agreement was on file, and instances where individual case file receivable information did not agree to the overall accounts receivable listing. At May 31, 1998, municipal division records indicated an accounts receivable balance of approximately $33,500.

The periodic preparation of accounts receivable listings is necessary to ensure proper follow-up action is taken, to facilitate monitoring of amounts due to the division, and to provide information to the Municipal Judge. Proper follow-up action could include requiring the defendant to appear in court to justify reasons for non-payment, the issuance of arrest warrants for those defendants not providing such justification, and writing off those accounts which are deemed to be uncollectible, after review and approval by the Municipal Judge. The accounts receivable listings should be periodically reconciled to the individual accounts receivable records to check the accuracy of each record.

F. The Court Clerk maintains records of traffic tickets and summonses assigned to police officers; however, neither the police department nor the municipal division maintains adequate records to account for traffic tickets and summonses issued and their ultimate disposition.

Without a proper accounting of the numerical sequence and disposition of traffic tickets and summonses, the police department and the municipal division cannot be assured that all traffic tickets and summonses issued were properly submitted to the municipal division for processing. A log listing each ticket in numeric order, the date issued, and the violator's name would help ensure that all tickets issued have been submitted to the municipal division for processing, properly voided, or not prosecuted. A record of the ultimate disposition of each traffic ticket and summons should also be maintained to ensure all traffic tickets and summonses have been accounted for properly.

Except for part C., similar conditions were also noted in our prior report.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Louisiana Municipal Division:

A. Adequately segregate the duties of receiving, recording, and depositing court receipts. At a minimum there should be a documented supervisory review of the reconciliation between receipts and deposits, and a review of the account reconciliations.

B. Issue prenumbered receipt slips for all monies received, indicate the method of payment on each receipt slip issued, and reconcile the composition of monies received to the composition of monies transmitted.

C. Deposit receipts intact daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

D. Prepare monthly listings of open items and reconcile the listing to monies held in trust by the municipal division. Any bonds remaining on hand over a period of time should be followed-up on and either refunded, forfeited, or turned over to the state's Unclaimed Property Section.

E. Establish adequate accounts receivable reporting and follow up procedures. In addition, the listing of accounts receivable should be reconciled to the individual accounts receivable records on a periodic basis.

F. Work with the police department to ensure records are maintained to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all tickets and summonses issued.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Court Clerk indicated:

A. The police chief will begin reviewing records and reconciliations periodically.

B&C. These recommendations have been implemented.

D. Open items listings are now prepared and she plans to turn over the old bond monies to the state's Unclaimed Property Section.

E. The court is now requiring individuals who owe money to return to court monthly and there has been significant improvement in the amounts collected. The accounts receivable records will be reconciled periodically.

F. This recommendation will be discussed with the police department.

7. City of Old Monroe Municipal Division

A. The duties of receiving, recording, depositing and disbursing court receipts are not adequately segregated. The Court Clerk performs all of the duties related to the collection and disbursement of fines, court costs, and bonds. There is no independent reconciliation between receipts and deposits, and there is no supervisory review performed of the Court Clerk's functions by an independent person.

To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. Internal controls would be improved by segregating the duties of receiving and depositing court monies from recording receipts. If proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum there should be a supervisory review of the reconciliations between receipts and deposits.

B. The Municipal Judge does not always record or approve case decisions in the individual ticket files during court. The court dockets prepared by the Court Clerk include payment information but do not include case dispositions and fines and court costs assessed by the judge. In addition, the Municipal Judge does not review the court dockets after case information has been recorded.

To ensure proper disposition of all cases has been entered in the court records, the judge should sign the court dockets after reviewing to ensure their propriety.

C. The police department issues municipal summonses for non-traffic violations. Neither the police department nor the municipal division maintains adequate records to account for municipal summonses assigned and issued, and their ultimate disposition. We were unable to determine the number of summonses issued during our audit period.

Without a proper accounting of the numerical sequence and disposition of summonses, the police department and the municipal division cannot be assured that all summonses issued were properly submitted to the municipal division for precessing. A log listing the summons book assigned, each summons number, the date issued, and the violator's name would help ensure all summonses issued were submitted to the court for processing, properly voided, or not prosecuted. A record of the ultimate disposition of each summons should also be maintained to ensure all summonses have been accounted for properly.

D. A monthly listing of open items (liabilities) is not prepared for the bond or court accounts. At our request, the Court Clerk prepared a listing as of December 31, 1998, and this listing reconciled to the cash balance. Monthly listings of open items should be prepared and reconciled to the cash balance to ensure proper accountability over open cases and to ensure monies held in trust by the municipal division are sufficient to meet liabilities.

E. The Court Clerk is responsible for monthly disbursements of Crime Victims Compensation (CVC) and Peace Officer Standards and Training Commission (POST) fees to the state; however, we noted several instances for which the state's portion of CVC and POSTC fees were not remitted on a timely basis. Section 595.045.5, RSMo Cumulative Supp. 1998, requires 95 percent of the CVC fee to be paid monthly to the state. POSTC fees should also be disbursed monthly to the state.

Conditions similar to A, B, and C. were also noted in our prior report.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Old Monroe Municipal Division:

A. Adequately segregate the duties of receiving, recording, and depositing court receipts. At a minimum there should be a documented supervisory review of the reconciliation between receipts and deposits, and a review of the account reconciliations.

B. Record case dispositions and fines and costs assessed on the court dockets and ensure the dockets are reviewed and signed by the Municipal Judge.

C. Work with the police department to ensure records are maintained to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all municipal summonses issued.

D. Prepare monthly listings of open items and reconcile the listing to monies held in trust by the municipal division.

E. Remit CVC and POST fees in accordance with state law.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Judge indicated that he believes all the audit recommendations are valid and good. They will be discussed with the new Court Clerk and implemented.

8. City of Troy Municipal Division

A. Municipal division cases are heard before the Lincoln County Associate Circuit Judge. The division assesses court costs of $10 per case. Section 488.012.3, RSMo Cumulative Supp. 1998, requires a court cost of $12 to be charged on each municipal division case filed before a municipal judge and $15 to be charged on each municipal division case filed before an Associate Circuit Judge. Additionally, CVC and LET fees are not assessed on some applicable cases. Sections 595.045 and 590.140, RSMo Cumulative Supp. 1998, require these fees be charged on all cases for violations of municipal ordinances, except for cases dismissed by the court.

B. Neither the police department nor the municipal division maintains complete records to account for traffic tickets assigned and issued and their ultimate disposition. While police department personnel prepare ticket assignment and issuance logs, ticket issuance logs available for our review did not contain all necessary information, such as date issued, offense, violator's name, and ultimate disposition.

The ticket issuance logs should be properly completed to provide a proper accounting of the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of tickets.

A similar condition was also noted in our prior audit report.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Troy Municipal Division:

A. Assess court costs and fees in accordance with state law.

B. Work with the police department to ensure ticket issuance logs provide necessary details.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. The Associate Circuit Judge indicated this recommendation will be implemented. Court costs of $12 will be assessed in the future.

B. The Court Clerk indicated she will work with the police department to improve ticket accountability procedures and records.

B.4. Receipt slips were not obtained for court monies transmitted to the city.

However, we noted a few instances where the bond forms were not issued in numerical order. Although not repeated in the current MAR, the municipal division should ensure that bond forms are issued in numerical order.

D. Not implemented. See MAR No. 8.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON
THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Presiding Judge
and
Municipal Judges
Sixth Judicial Circuit

We have audited the accompanying special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions (other than the city of Tracy Municipal Division as of and for the years ended December 31, 1997 and 1996) of the Sixth Judicial Circuit as of and for the years ended October 31, 1998 and 1997; September 30, 1998 and 1997; June 30, 1998 and 1997; April 30, 1998 and 1997; and December 31, 1997 and 1996, as identified by municipality and fiscal period in the table of contents. These special-purpose financial statements are the responsibility of the municipal divisions' management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these special-purpose financial statements based on our audit.

Except as discussed in paragraphs four and five, we conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the special-purpose financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the special-purpose financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

The accompanying special-purpose financial statements were prepared for the purpose of presenting the receipts, disbursements, and changes in cash of the municipal divisions of the Sixth Judicial Circuit and are not intended to be a complete presentation of the financial position and results of operations of the municipal divisions.

Internal control procedures and accounting records of the city of Platte City Municipal Division were inadequate. Records to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of traffic tickets and summonses issued were not maintained and some of the traffic tickets selected for review could not be located. As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements of fines and court costs beyond amounts recorded in the municipal division's records for the years ended October 31, 1998 and 1997.

Internal control procedures and accounting records of the city of Camden Point Municipal Division were inadequate. Records to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of traffic tickets and summonses issued by the city of Camden Point Police Department were not maintained and some of the tickets could not be provided by the municipal division or the police department for our review. As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements of fines and court costs beyond amounts recorded in the City of Camden Point Municipal Division's records for the years ended December 31, 1997 and 1996.

Governmental Accounting Standards Board Technical Bulletin 99-1, Disclosures about Year 2000 Issues--an amendment of Technical Bulletin 98-1, requires disclosure of certain matters regarding the year 2000 issue. Such required disclosures include any significant amount of resources committed to address year 2000 issues for computer systems and other electronic equipment; a general description of the year 2000 issue, including a description of the stages of work in process or completed as of the end of the reporting period to address year 2000 issues for computer systems and other electronic equipment critical to conducting operations; and an indication that the completion of these stages is not a guarantee that systems and equipment will be year 2000-compliant. The various municipal divisions of the Sixth Judicial Circuit have omitted such disclosures. We do not provide assurance that the municipal divisions are or will become year 2000-compliant, that the municipal divisions' year 2000 remediation efforts will be successful in whole or in part, or that parties with which the municipal divisions do business will become year 2000-compliant.

In our opinion, except for the effects, if any, on the financial statements of the matters discussed in the preceding three paragraphs, the special-purpose financial statements referred to in the first paragraph present fairly, in all material respects, the receipts, disbursements, and changes in cash of the municipal divisions (other than the city of Tracy Municipal Division as of and for the years ended December 31, 1997 and 1996) of the Sixth Judicial Circuit as of and for the years ended October 31, 1998 and 1997; September 30, 1998 and 1997; June 30, 1998 and 1997; April 30, 1998 and 1997; and December 31, 1997 and 1996, in conformity with the comprehensive basis of accounting discussed in Note 1, which is a basis of accounting other than generally accepted accounting principles.

We also had planned to audit the accompanying special-purpose financial statement of the city of Tracy Municipal Division as of and for the years ended December 31, 1997 and 1996. This special-purpose financial statement is the responsibility of the municipal division's management.

Records were insufficient to verify the amounts presented as receipts and disbursements of fines and court costs by the city of Tracy Municipal Division. Records to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of traffic tickets and summonses issued were not maintained. Some tickets and summonses, as well as various other accounting records, were not available of our review. As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements of fines and court costs for the years ended December 31, 1997 and 1996.

Because of the effects of the matter discussed in the preceding paragraph, the scope of our work was not sufficient to enable us to express, and we do not express, an opinion on the special-purpose financial statement of the city of Tracy Municipal Division as of and for the years ended December 31, 1997 and 1996.

In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we also have issued our report dated March 3, 1999, on our consideration of the municipal divisions' internal controls over financial reporting and on our tests of their compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grants.

The accompanying History, Organization, and Statistical Information is presented for informational purposes. This information was obtained from the municipal divisions' management and was not subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the special-purpose financial statements referred to above.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON COMPLIANCE
AND ON INTERNAL CONTROL OVER FINANCIAL REPORTING

Presiding Judge
and
Municipal Judges
Sixth Judicial Circuit

We have audited the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions (other than the city of Tracy Municipal Division as of and for the years ended December 31, 1997 and 1996) of the Sixth Judicial Circuit as of and for the years ended October 31, 1998 and 1997; September 30, 1998 and 1997; June 30, 1998 and 1997; April 30, 1998 and 1997; and December 31, 1997 and 1996, and have issued our report thereon dated March 3, 1999. That report expressed a qualified opinion on the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Sixth Judicial Circuit for the applicable fiscal periods. Except as discussed in the report on the financial statements of the municipal divisions referred to in the preceding sentence, we conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States.

We also had planned to audit the special-purpose financial statement of the city of Tracy Municipal Division as of and for the years ended December 31, 1997 and 1996, and have issued our report thereon dated March 3, 1999. In that report we did not express an opinion on the special-purpose financial statement.

Compliance

As part of obtaining reasonable assurance about whether the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Sixth Judicial Circuit are free of material misstatement, we performed tests of the municipal divisions' compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grants, noncompliance with which could have a direct and material effect on the determination of financial statement amounts. However, providing an opinion on compliance with those provisions was not an objective of our audit, and accordingly, we do not express such an opinion. The results of our tests disclosed no material instances of noncompliance that are required to be reported under Government Auditing Standards. However, we noted certain other instances of noncompliance which are presented in the accompanying Management Advisory Report.

Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

In planning and performing our audit of the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Sixth Judicial Circuit, we considered the municipal divisions' internal controls over financial reporting in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the special-purpose financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal controls over financial reporting. However, we noted certain matters involving the internal controls over financial reporting and their operation that we consider to be reportable conditions. Reportable conditions involve matters coming to our attention relating to significant deficiencies in the design or operation of the internal controls over financial reporting that, in our judgment, could adversely affect the municipal divisions' ability to record, process, summarize, and report financial data consistent with the assertions of management in the special-purpose financial statements.

A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of one or more of the internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that misstatements in amounts that would be material to the special-purpose financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. Our consideration of the internal controls over financial reporting would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal controls that might be reportable conditions and, accordingly, would not necessarily disclose all reportable conditions that are also considered to be material weaknesses. However, we noted certain matters involving the internal controls over financial reporting and their operation that we consider to be material weaknesses, and these matters are presented in the accompanying Management Advisory Report.

This report is intended for the information of the management of the various municipal divisions of the Sixth Judicial Circuit and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

Notes to the Financial Statements

SIXTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
MUNICIPAL DIVISIONS
NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

A. Reporting Entity and Basis of Presentation

The accompanying special-purpose financial statements present only selected data for the funds administered by the various municipal divisions of the Sixth Judicial Circuit of the state of Missouri. The village of Ferrelview Municipal Division began operations during 1998. Since this division had not completed a fiscal year, the village of Ferrelview Municipal Division has not been included in this report.

Receipts, disbursements, and changes in cash are presented for each municipal division. The operating costs of each division are paid by the respective municipality and are not included in these financial statements.

The municipal division is responsible for cash bonds posted until case disposition allows appropriate disbursement. Bond monies relating to pending cases, whether in the custody of the city or the municipal division, are included in these financial statements.

B. Basis of Accounting

The Statements of Receipts, Disbursements, and Changes in Cash are prepared on the cash basis of accounting; accordingly, amounts are recognized when they are received or disbursed. This basis of accounting differs from generally accepted accounting principles, which require revenues to be recognized when they become available and measurable or when they are earned and expenditures or expenses to be recognized when the related liabilities are incurred.

C. Fiscal Authority and Responsibility

The municipal divisions account for fines and court costs resulting from prosecution of violations of municipal ordinances before the municipal judge or received through the traffic violations bureau, as well as cash bonds posted. Municipal violations could include traffic offenses, both moving and nonmoving; parking meter and overtime parking offenses; and other violations for which amounts are received by the municipal divisions and remitted to the city treasury. The municipal divisions also may account for restitutions received and disbursed through the divisions.

2. Cash

Section 479.080, RSMo 1994, requires municipal divisions to deposit fines and court costs into the city treasury at least monthly. Some divisions maintain bank accounts into which fines and court costs are deposited and later remitted to the city treasury. Other divisions do not maintain bank accounts, transmitting fines and court costs directly to the city treasury. Escrow bank accounts for bond monies received may be maintained by the city or the municipal division.

At the financial statement dates identified in the table of contents for the years ended 1998, 1997, and 1996, all bank account balances reported for the municipal divisions of the Sixth Judicial Circuit were entirely covered by federal depositary insurance.

3. Disbursements to State

The municipal divisions collect various amounts that must be remitted to the state of Missouri. These amounts include the judgment for the Motorcycle Safety Trust Fund, the surcharges for the Crime Victims' Compensation and Services to Victims Funds, the Peace Officer Standards and Training Commission Fund, and (until July 1, 1997, when municipal divisions were no longer required to assess the surcharge) the Independent Living Center Fund. The state's portions of these amounts are deposited into the city treasury for all municipal divisions, except the municipal divisions of the cities of Dearborn, Houston Lake, Lake Waukomis, Northmoor, Parkville, Platte City, Riverside, and Tracy. Amounts remitted by the cities to the state are not included in the financial statements.

The city of Tracy Municipal Division did not remit the state's portion of the surcharge for the Crime Victims' Compensation and Services during 1997 and 1996.

MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT SECTION

Management Advisory Report -
State Auditor’s Current Recommendations

SIXTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
MUNICIPAL DIVISIONS
MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT -
STATE AUDITOR'S CURRENT RECOMMENDATIONS

We have audited the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions (other than the city of Tracy Municipal Division as of and for the years ended December 31, 1997 and 1996) of the Sixth Judicial Circuit as of and for the years ended October 31, 1998 and 1997; September 30, 1998 and 1997; June 30, 1998 and 1997; April 30, 1998 and 1997; and December 31, 1997 and 1996, and have issued our report thereon dated March 3, 1999. That report expressed a qualified opinion on the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Sixth Judicial Circuit for the applicable fiscal periods.

We also had planned to audit the special-purpose financial statement of the city of Tracy Municipal Division as of and for the years ended December 31, 1997 and 1996, and have issued our report thereon dated March 3, 1999. In that report we did not express an opinion on the special-purpose financial statement.

The following Management Advisory Report presents our findings and recommendations arising from our procedures related to the municipal divisions' special-purpose financial statements. During those procedures, we also identified certain management practices which we believe could be improved. Our audit was not designed or intended to be a detailed study of every system, procedure, and transaction. Accordingly, the findings presented in the following report should not be considered as all-inclusive of areas where improvements may be needed.

1. City of Camden Point Municipal Division

A. The duties of receiving, recording, and depositing court monies collected by the municipal division are not adequately segregated. Currently, the Court Clerk performs all of these duties. To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. Since this is an office of one employee and proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be a documented independent comparison of receipt slips issued to amounts deposited.

B. Neither the police department nor the court maintains records to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of traffic tickets and summonses. The police department does not maintain a log of ticket books assigned to officers or records accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of each ticket and summons issued. Some tickets selected for testing could not be provided by the municipal division or the police department for our review. In addition, the summonses are not prenumbered and cannot be accounted for properly.

Without a proper accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of tickets and summonses, the police department and the municipal division cannot be assured all tickets and summonses issued are properly submitted to the court for processing. Properly maintained logs would ensure accountability of all tickets and summonses as well as the ultimate disposition of each document.

Similar conditions were also noted in our prior report.

WE AGAIN RECOMMEND the city of Camden Point Municipal Division:

A. Establish a documented periodic review of municipal division records by an independent person to include a comparison of receipt slips issued to amounts deposited.

B. Work with the police department to ensure records are maintained to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all tickets and summonses issued.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Court Clerk concurred with the recommendations.

2. City of Edgerton Municipal Division

A. The duties of receiving, recording, and depositing court monies collected by the municipal division are not adequately segregated. Currently, the Court Clerk performs all of these duties. To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. Since this is an office of one employee and proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be a documented independent comparison of receipt slips issued to amounts deposited.

B. Our review noted the following concerns related to receipts:

1) Receipt slips are not issued for some monies received and are not issued in numerical sequence. To adequately account for all receipts and ensure all receipts are deposited intact, a prenumbered receipt slip should be issued for all monies received and the numerical sequence of receipt slips should be accounted for properly.

2) The composition of receipt slips issued is not reconciled to bank deposits. To ensure receipts are deposited intact, the composition of receipt slips issued should be reconciled to the composition of bank deposits.

C. Neither the police department nor the court maintains records to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of traffic tickets and summonses. The police department does not maintain a log of ticket books assigned to officers. In addition, the summonses are not prenumbered and cannot be accounted for properly.

Without a proper accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of tickets and summonses, the police department and the municipal division cannot be assured all tickets and summonses issued are properly submitted to the court for processing. Properly maintained logs would ensure accountability of all tickets and summonses as well as the ultimate disposition of each document.

Similar conditions were also noted in our prior report.

WE AGAIN RECOMMEND the city of Edgerton Municipal Division:

A. Establish a documented periodic review of municipal division records by an independent person to include a comparison of receipt slips issued to amounts deposited.

B.1. Issue prenumbered receipt slips for all monies received and account for the numerical sequence of receipt slips.

2. Reconcile the composition of receipts to the composition of bank deposits.

C. Work with the police department to ensure records are maintained to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all tickets and summonses issued.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Court Clerk concurred with the recommendations.

3. City of Northmoor Municipal Division

A. Fines and costs collected by the court are not deposited on a timely basis. Fines and court costs are generally deposited three times a month and average in excess of $800. To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss, theft, or misuse of funds, deposits should be made daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

B. Neither the police department nor the court maintains records to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of summonses issued. The police department maintains a log of summons books assigned to officers; however, records accounting for the numerical sequence and showing the ultimate disposition for each summons issued are not maintained.

Without a proper accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of summonses, the police department and the municipal division cannot be assured all summonses issued are properly submitted to the court for processing. Properly maintained logs would ensure accountability of all summonses as well as the ultimate disposition of each summons.

C. The court allows defendants to make partial payments on fines and court costs due. A control ledger accounting for the balances due from defendants has not been established. The Court Clerk prepared a receivable listing as of August 1998 totaling over $4,000. A control ledger would assist the court in determining the correct balance due from each defendant and could aid in subsequent collection efforts. The court orders documenting the partial payment agreements should be reconciled to the control ledger periodically to ensure all partial payments received and amounts due the court are properly recorded.

Similar conditions were noted in our prior report.

WE AGAIN RECOMMEND the city of Northmoor Municipal Division:

A. Deposit fines and costs daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

B. Work with the police department to ensure records are maintained to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all summonses issued.

C. Establish a control ledger for amounts due from defendants and periodically reconcile it to court orders permitting partial payments.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Judge and Court Clerk provided the following responses:

A&C. We concur, this has been implemented.

B. We concur.

4. City of Platte City Municipal Division

A. Fines and costs collected by the court are not deposited intact or on a timely basis. One deposit was noted which appeared to be $46 less than recorded receipts. Fines and court costs are generally deposited into the court's account twice a week and average in excess of $400. To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss, theft, or misuse of funds, deposits should be made intact daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

B. The court allows defendants to make partial payments on fines and court costs due. A control ledger accounting for the balances due from defendants has been established, but has not been updated for a year. The current Court Clerk has indicated that approximately $4,200 is currently due to the court. An updated control ledger would assist the court in determining the correct balance due from each defendant and could aid in subsequent collection efforts. The court orders documenting the partial payment agreements should be reconciled to the control ledger periodically to ensure all partial payments received and amounts due the court are properly recorded.

C. Neither the police department nor the court maintains adequate records to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of traffic tickets and summonses issued. The police department maintains a listing of ticket and summonses books assigned to police officers; however, records accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of each ticket and summons issued are not maintained. In addition, two of sixty tickets selected for testing could not be provided by the municipal division or the police department for our review.

Without a proper accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of tickets and summonses, the police department and the municipal division cannot be assured all tickets and summonses issued are properly submitted to the court for processing. Properly maintained logs would ensure accountability of all tickets and summonses as well as the ultimate disposition of each document.

D. Bond forms used by the police department to document the receipt of bond monies from a defendant are not prenumbered.

To adequately account for bond monies, prenumbered bond forms should be issued for all bonds received by the police department and the numerical sequence should be accounted for properly.

E. Our review noted three of thirty-six applicable offenses reviewed involving point violations were not forwarded to the Missouri State Highway Patrol (MSHP) as required by state law. Section 302.225, RSMo Cumulative Supp. 1998, requires records of any pleas or findings of guilty on traffic violations under the laws of the state, county, or municipal ordinance to be forwarded to the MSHP within ten days of the conviction date.

F. The Court Clerk does not file a monthly report with the city of all cases heard in court. Section 479.080.3, RSMo 1994, requires the Court Clerk to prepare a monthly listing of all cases heard in court or prepaid at the TVB, including all fines and court costs collected, to be verified by the clerk or Municipal Judge and filed with the city's governing body.

Conditions similar to B and F were also noted in our prior report.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Platte City Municipal Division:

A. Deposit fines and costs intact daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

B. Establish a control ledger for amounts due from defendants and periodically reconcile it to court orders permitting partial payments.

C. Work with the police department to ensure records are maintained to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all tickets and summonses issued.

D. Work with the police department to ensure prenumbered bond forms are issued and the numerical sequence is accounted for properly.

E. Forward all records of convictions on traffic offenses to the MSHP within ten days as required by state law.

F. Prepare monthly reports of court actions, including fines and costs collected, and file these with the city's governing body in accordance with state law.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Judge and Court Clerk provided the following responses:

A. We agree.

B. We agree and are working on this.

C,D, & E. We concur.

F. We concur and are now doing this.

5. City of Platte Woods Municipal Division

A. The duties of receiving, recording, and depositing court monies collected by the municipal division are not adequately segregated. Currently, the Court Clerk performs all of these duties. To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. Since this is an office of one employee and proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be a documented independent comparison of receipt slips issued to amounts deposited.

B. Receipt slips are not issued for monies received through the mail. To adequately account for all receipts and ensure all receipts are deposited intact, a prenumbered receipt slip should be issued for all monies received and the numerical sequence of receipt slips should be accounted for properly.

A similar condition was also noted in our prior report.

C. The court allows defendants to make partial payments on fines and court costs due. A control ledger accounting for the balance due from defendants has not been established. A control ledger would assist the court in determining the correct balance due from each defendant and could aid in subsequent collection efforts. The court orders documenting the partial payment agreements should be reconciled to the control ledger periodically to ensure all partial payments received and amounts due the court are properly recorded.

D. A court docket, listing the cases scheduled to appear in court, is prepared; however, the court docket is not always complete and accurate. During our review, three of twenty-five tickets tested had information that did not agree to the court docket. Two of the tickets showed assessed costs different than the costs listed on the court docket and one ticket was not on the docket. Section 479.070, RSMo 1994, requires the proceeding for every case be entered on the docket.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Platte Woods Municipal Division:

A. Establish a documented periodic review of municipal division records by an independent person to include a comparison of receipt slips issued to amounts deposited.

B. Issue prenumbered receipt slips for all monies received and account for the numerical sequence.

C. Establish a control ledger for amounts due from defendants and periodically reconcile it to court orders permitting partial payments.

D. Ensure every case commenced before the court is entered on the court dockets accurately.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Judge and Court Clerk concurred with the recommendations.

6. City of Tracy Municipal Division

A. The city of Tracy Municipal Division accepts cash, checks, and money orders for payment of fines, court costs, and bonds. The City Clerk serves as the Court Clerk and is responsible for the receipting, recording, and depositing of court monies. Prenumbered receipt slips are issued for monies received. Court receipts are recorded in a manual receipts ledger. Court monies collected are deposited to a court bank account and are remitted by check to the city for deposit into the city treasury. Any bond monies collected are deposited in a separate bank account.

During our review, we noted the following monies that were collected by the court but not deposited into the court bank account:

	Year Ended December 31,
Fines and costs not deposited	$210	135

The monies that are unaccounted for appear to represent receipts which were received and recorded but not deposited. We also noted several instances in which checks or money orders were deposited but not recorded. The unaccounted for amounts identified above were determined by reviewing all deposits in 1997 and 1996. All recorded receipts received during the period January through September 1998, were also reviewed and appear to have been deposited.

These unaccounted for funds were undetected due to numerous internal control weaknesses, including no documented reconciliations comparing recorded receipts to deposits and the lack of an independent review.

B. The duties of receiving, recording, and depositing fine and court cost monies collected by the municipal division are not adequately segregated. Currently, the Court Clerk performs all these duties. To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. Since this is an office of one employee and proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be a documented independent comparison of receipt slips issued to amounts deposited.

C. Receipt slips are not issued for some monies received. To adequately account for all receipt slips and ensure all receipts are deposited intact, a prenumbered receipt slip should be issued for all monies received and the numerical sequence of receipt slips should be accounted for properly.

D. Fines and costs collected by the court are not deposited intact on a timely basis. Receipts are generally deposited every few months and average in excess of $1,000. In addition, the deposit slips nor the receipt records indicate the individual receipts composing the deposits. To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss, theft, or misuse of funds, receipts should be deposited intact daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100 and the individual receipts composing the deposits should be indicated.

E. Bank reconciliations have not been performed on the court's bank accounts for several years. In addition, the municipal division does not maintain a running balance in the checkbook register for either court account. To ensure all differences between the bank and book balances are noted in a timely manner, bank reconciliations should be performed monthly and a running balance should be maintained in the checkbook registers.

F. The court allows defendants to make partial payments on fines and court costs due. A control ledger accounting for the balances due form defendants has not been established. We noted over sixty cases during our review where it did not appear the defendants had made the required payment on their ticket. A control ledger would assist the court in determining the correct balance due from each defendant and could aid in subsequent collection efforts. The court orders documenting the partial pay agreements should be reconciled to the control ledger periodically to ensure all partial payments received and amounts due to the court are properly recorded.

G. During our review, we noted the following concerns relating to bonds:

1) The Court Clerk does not maintain a bond ledger. A complete bond ledger indicating the related case, date and amount of receipt, and date of disbursement is necessary to ensure proper accountability of bond collections.

2) Monthly listings of open items (liabilities) are not prepared and reconciled to the available cash balance. Although according to court records there was no bond activity for our audit period, the bond bank account has a $743 unidentified balance. Monthly open items listings should be prepared and reconciled to the available cash balance to ensure proper accountability over open cases and ensure monies held in trust are sufficient to meet liabilities. In addition, an attempt should be made to determine the proper disposition of these excess monies. For those monies which remain unclaimed, Section 447.595, RSMo 1994, requires funds remaining unclaimed for one year after disposition of the case to be turned over to the state's Unclaimed Property Section.

H. A court docket is prepared, however, not every case appears on the docket and dispositions were not noted for numerous cases which did appear on the docket. Section 479.070, RSMo 1994, requires the proceeding for every case to be entered on the docket. To ensure cases have been accounted for properly, all cases should be listed on the court docket.

I. Neither the police department nor the court maintains adequate records to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of traffic tickets and summonses issued. The police department maintains a log of traffic tickets issued, but our review found this log to be incomplete. Three traffic tickets issued could not be provided by the municipal division or the police department for our review. In addition, summonses forms are not prenumbered.

   Without a proper accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of traffic tickets and summonses, the police department and the municipal division cannot be assured that all traffic tickets and summonses issued are properly submitted to the court for processing. Properly maintained logs would ensure accountability of all tickets and summonses as well as the ultimate disposition of each document. In addition, the court should request the police department obtain prenumbered summonses forms.

J. The Court Clerk does not always forward records of convictions on traffic offenses to the Missouri State Highway Patrol (MSHP). During our review of case files we noted that in most cases the required records were not forwarded. Section 302.225, RSMo Cumulative Supp. 1998, requires records of any pleas or findings of guilty on traffic violations under the laws of the state, county, or municipal ordinances to be forwarded to the MSHP within ten days of the conviction date.

K. The municipal division does not disburse the state's portion of the Crime Victims Compensation (CVC) fee on cases for which it is collected. The division did not disburse CVC fees to the state during 1996 and 1997. We could not determine the amount due to the state by the municipal division. Section 595.045, RSMo Cumulative Supp. 1998, requires 95 percent of such fees be paid to the state at least monthly.

Conditions similar to B, C, D, E, G, H, I, and K were also noted in our prior report.

Because of the problems noted above, we were unable to express an opinion on the financial statements of the city of Tracy Municipal Division as of and for the years ended December 31, 1997 and 1996. These deficiencies are serious and should be corrected immediately.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Tracy Municipal Division:

A. Along with the city, take the necessary action to account for the fines received but not deposited.

B. Establish a documented periodic review of municipal division records by an independent person to include a comparison of receipt slips issued to amounts deposited.

C. Issue prenumbered receipt slips for all monies received and account for the numerical sequence.

D. Deposit fines and costs intact daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100 and indicate the individual receipts composing the deposits.

E. Ensure monthly bank reconciliations are performed and that a running balance is maintained in the checkbook registers.

F. Establish a control ledger for amounts due from defendants and periodically reconcile it to the court orders permitting partial payments. In addition, follow up action should be initiated for defendants failing to make their payments.

G.1. Maintain a complete bond ledger for bond receipts and disbursements.

2. Prepare monthly open items listings and reconcile these listings with monies held in trust. In addition, the municipal division should attempt to identify to whom the $743 belongs and disburse the funds appropriately. If this cannot be determined, the excess monies should be turned over to the state's Unclaimed Property Section in accordance with state law.

H. Ensure every case commenced before the court is entered on the court dockets along with the disposition of the case.

I. Work with the police department to ensure records are maintained to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all tickets and summonses issued and request the police department begin using prenumbered summonses.

J. Forward records of convictions on traffic offenses to the MSHP as required by state law.

K. Ensure CVC fees collected are remitted to the state in accordance with state law. In addition, the municipal division should determine the amount of unremitted CVC fees due to the state and make the appropriate payment.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Judge and Court Clerk provided the following responses:

A. We concur and are currently looking into this.

B. We concur. Either the Judge or the City Treasurer will supervise the Court Clerk's duties in the future.

C. We concur. The new Court Clerk is now doing this.

D,F,G, H,I,J, & K. We concur.

E. The new Court Clerk will ensure these are done in the future.

7. City of Weatherby Lake Municipal Division

A. Fines and costs collected by the court are not transmitted to the city on a timely basis. Fines and court costs are generally deposited to the city treasury once a month and average in excess of $1,600. To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss, theft, or misuse of funds, deposits and transmittals should be made daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

B. The municipal division's bank account requires two signatures for all disbursements. However, the Court Clerk indicated that checks are occasionally signed in advance. The practice of signing checks in advance does not allow for proper review of the documentation to support the disbursements and diminishes the control intended by multiple signatures.

C. Neither the police department nor the court maintains records to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of summonses.

Without a proper accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of summonses, the police department and the municipal division cannot be assured all summonses issued are properly submitted to the court for processing. Properly maintained logs would ensure accountability of all summonses as well as the ultimate disposition of each summons.

Similar conditions were also noted in our prior report.

WE AGAIN RECOMMEND the city of Weatherby Lake Municipal Division:

A. Transmit fines and costs to the city daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

B. Discontinue the practice of signing checks in advance.

C. Work with the police department to ensure records are maintained to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all summonses issued.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Judge and Court Clerk concurred with the recommendations.

8. City of Weston Municipal Division

A. The duties of receiving, recording, and depositing bond monies collected by the municipal division are not adequately segregated. Currently, the Court Clerk performs all of these duties. To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. Since this is an office of one employee and proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be a documented independent comparison of receipt slips issued to amounts deposited.

B. Receipt slips are not always issued by the Court Clerk for bond monies received from police officers. To adequately account for all receipts and ensure all receipts are properly deposited in the city treasury, a prenumbered receipt slip should be issued for all monies received and the numerical sequence of receipt slips should be accounted for properly.

C. The court allows defendants to make partial payments on fines and court costs due. A control ledger accounting for the balances due from defendants has not been established. A control ledger would assist the court in determining the correct balance due from each defendant and could aid in subsequent collection efforts. The court orders documenting the partial payment agreements should be reconciled to the control ledger periodically to ensure all partial payments received and amounts due the court are properly recorded.

Conditions similar to B and C were also noted in our prior report.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Weston Municipal Division:

A. Establish a documented periodic review of municipal division records by an independent person to include a comparison of receipt slips issued to amounts deposited.

B. Issue prenumbered receipt slips for all monies received.

C. Establish a control ledger for amounts due from defendants and periodically reconcile it to court orders permitting partial payments.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Court Clerk concurred with the recommendations.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON
THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Presiding Judge
and
Municipal Judges
Twentieth Judicial Circuit

We have audited the accompanying special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Twentieth Judicial Circuit as of and for the years ended December 31, 1998 and 1997; September 30, 1998 and 1997; June 30, 1998 and 1997; and April 30, 1998 and 1997, as identified by municipality and fiscal period in the table of contents. These special-purpose financial statements are the responsibility of the municipal divisions' management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these special-purpose financial statements based on our audit.

Except as discussed in paragraphs four through nine, we conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the special-purpose financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the special-purpose financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

The accompanying special-purpose financial statements were prepared for the purpose of presenting the receipts, disbursements, and changes in cash of the municipal divisions of the Twentieth Judicial Circuit and are not intended to be a complete presentation of the financial position and results of operations of the municipal divisions.

Records accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of each complaint issued by the police department for the city of Sullivan were not maintained. In addition, prenumbered receipt slips or bond forms for bond monies received were not properly accounted for by the police department. As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements beyond amounts recorded in the municipal division's records for the years ended September 30, 1998 and 1997.

Records accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of each summons issued by the city attorney for the city of Hermann were not maintained. As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements beyond amounts recorded in the municipal division's records for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997.

Records accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of each summons issued by the police department for the city of New Haven were not maintained. In addition, prenumbered bond forms for bond monies received were not properly accounted for by the police department. As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements beyond amounts recorded in the municipal division's records for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997.

Records accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of each summons issued by the police department for the city of Owensville were not maintained. As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements beyond amounts recorded in the municipal division's records for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997.

Records accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of each summons issued by the police department for the city of Union were not maintained prior to April 1997. As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements beyond amounts recorded in the municipal division's records for the year ended June 30, 1997.

Records accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of each summons issued by the police department for the city of St. Clair were not maintained. In addition, prenumbered receipt slips or bond forms were not issued for bond monies received by the police department. As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements beyond amounts recorded in the municipal division's records for the years ended April 30, 1998 and 1997.

Governmental Accounting Standards Board Technical Bulletin 99-1, Disclosures about Year 2000 Issues--an amendment of Technical Bulletin 98-1, requires disclosure of certain matters regarding the year 2000 issue. Such required disclosures include any significant amount of resources committed to address year 2000 issues for computer systems and other electronic equipment; a general description of the year 2000 issue, including a description of the stages of work in process or completed as of the end of the reporting period to address year 2000 issues for computer systems and other electronic equipment critical to conducting operations; and an indication that the completion of these stages is not a guarantee that systems and equipment will be year 2000-compliant. The various municipal divisions of the Twentieth Judicial Circuit have omitted such disclosures. We do not provide assurance that the municipal divisions are or will become year 2000-compliant, that the municipal divisions' year 2000 remediation efforts will be successful in whole or in part, or that parties with which the municipal divisions do business will become year 2000-compliant.

In our opinion, except for the effects, if any, on the financial statements of the matters discussed in the preceding seven paragraphs, the special-purpose financial statements referred to in the first paragraph present fairly, in all material respects, the receipts, disbursements, and changes in cash of the municipal divisions of the Twentieth Judicial Circuit as of and for the years ended December 31, 1998 and 1997; September 30, 1998 and 1997; June 30, 1998 and 1997; and April 30, 1998 and 1997, in conformity with the comprehensive basis of accounting discussed in Note 1, which is a basis of accounting other than generally accepted accounting principles.

In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we also have issued our report dated February 16, 1999, on our consideration of the municipal divisions' internal controls over financial reporting and on our tests of their compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grants.

The accompanying History, Organization, and Statistical Information is presented for informational purposes. This information was obtained from the municipal divisions' management and was not subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the special-purpose financial statements referred to above.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON COMPLIANCE
AND ON INTERNAL CONTROL OVER FINANCIAL REPORTING

Presiding Judge
and
Municipal Judges
Twentieth Judicial Circuit

We have audited the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Twentieth Judicial Circuit as of and for the years ended December 31, 1998 and 1997; September 30, 1998 and 1997; June 30, 1998 and 1997; and April 30, 1998 and 1997, and have issued our report thereon dated February 16, 1999. That report expressed a qualified opinion on the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Twentieth Judicial Circuit for the applicable fiscal periods. Except as discussed in the report on the financial statements of the municipal divisions referred to in the preceding sentence, we conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States.

Compliance

As part of obtaining reasonable assurance about whether the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Twentieth Judicial Circuit are free of material misstatement, we performed tests of the municipal divisions' compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grants, noncompliance with which could have a direct and material effect on the determination of financial statement amounts. However, providing an opinion on compliance with those provisions was not an objective of our audit, and accordingly, we do not express such an opinion. The results of our tests disclosed no material instances of noncompliance that are required to be reported under Government Auditing Standards. However, we noted certain other instances of noncompliance which are presented in the accompanying Management Advisory Report.

Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

In planning and performing our audit of the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Twentieth Judicial Circuit, we considered the municipal divisions' internal controls over financial reporting in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the special-purpose financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal controls over financial reporting. However, we noted certain matters involving the internal controls over financial reporting and their operation that we consider to be reportable conditions. Reportable conditions involve matters coming to our attention relating to significant deficiencies in the design or operation of the internal controls over financial reporting that, in our judgment, could adversely affect the municipal divisions' ability to record, process, summarize, and report financial data consistent with the assertions of management in the special-purpose financial statements.

A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of one or more of the internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that misstatements in amounts that would be material to the special-purpose financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. Our consideration of the internal controls over financial reporting would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal controls that might be reportable conditions and, accordingly, would not necessarily disclose all reportable conditions that are also considered to be material weaknesses. However, we noted certain matters involving the internal controls over financial reporting and their operation that we consider to be material weaknesses, and these matters are presented in the accompanying Management Advisory Report.

This report is intended for the information of the management of the various municipal divisions of the Twentieth Judicial Circuit and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

Notes to the Financial Statements

TWENTIETH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
MUNICIPAL DIVISIONS
NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

A. Reporting Entity and Basis of Presentation

The accompanying special-purpose financial statements present only selected data for the funds administered by the various municipal divisions of the Twentieth Judicial Circuit of the state of Missouri.

Receipts, disbursements, and changes in cash are presented for each municipal division. The operating costs of each division are paid by the respective municipality and are not included in these financial statements.

The municipal division is responsible for cash bonds posted until case disposition allows appropriate disbursement. Bond monies relating to pending cases, whether in the custody of the city or the municipal division, are included in these financial statements.

B. Basis of Accounting

The Statements of Receipts, Disbursements, and Changes in Cash are prepared on the cash basis of accounting; accordingly, amounts are recognized when they are received or disbursed. This basis of accounting differs from generally accepted accounting principles, which require revenues to be recognized when they become available and measurable or when they are earned and expenditures or expenses to be recognized when the related liabilities are incurred.

C. Fiscal Authority and Responsibility

The municipal divisions account for fines and court costs resulting from prosecution of violations of municipal ordinances before the municipal judge or received through the traffic violations bureau, as well as cash bonds posted. Municipal violations could include traffic offenses, both moving and nonmoving; parking meter and overtime parking offenses; and other violations for which amounts are received by the municipal divisions and remitted to the city treasury. The municipal divisions also may account for restitutions received and disbursed through the divisions.

2. Cash

Section 479.080, RSMo 1994, requires municipal divisions to deposit fines and court costs into the city treasury at least monthly. Some divisions maintain bank accounts into which fines and court costs are deposited and later remitted to the city treasury. Other divisions do not maintain bank accounts, transmitting fines and court costs directly to the city treasury. Escrow bank accounts for bond monies received may be maintained by the city or the municipal division.

At the financial statement dates identified in the table of contents for the years ended 1998 and 1997, all bank account balances reported for the municipal divisions of the Twentieth Judicial Circuit were entirely covered by federal depositary insurance.

3. Disbursements to State

The municipal divisions collect various amounts that must be remitted to the state of Missouri. These amounts include the surcharges for the Crime Victims' Compensation and Services to Victims Funds, the Peace Officer Standards and Training Commission Fund, and (until July 1, 1997, when municipal divisions were no longer required to assess the surcharge) the Independent Living Center Fund. The state's portions of these amounts are deposited into the city treasury for all municipal divisions, except the municipal divisions of the city of Gerald, city of Sullivan, city of Hermann, city of Owensville, city of Pacific, city of Union and city of St. Clair. Amounts remitted by the cities to the state are not included in the financial statements.

MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT SECTION

Management Advisory Report -
State Auditor’s Current Recommendations

TWENTIETH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
MUNICIPAL DIVISIONS
MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT -
STATE AUDITOR'S CURRENT RECOMMENDATIONS

We have audited the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Twentieth Judicial Circuit as of and for the years ended December 31, 1998 and 1997, September 30, 1998 and 1997, June 30, 1998 and 1997, and April 30, 1998 and 1997, and have issued our report thereon dated February 16, 1999. That report expressed a qualified opinion on the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Twentieth Judicial Circuit for the applicable fiscal periods.

The following Management Advisory Report presents our findings and recommendations arising from our audit of the municipal divisions' special-purpose financial statements. During our audit, we also identified certain management practices which we believe could be improved. Our audit was not designed or intended to be a detailed study of every system, procedure, and transaction. Accordingly, the findings presented in the following report should not be considered as all-inclusive of areas where improvements may be needed.

1. City of Gerald Municipal Division

A. The duties of receiving, recording, and depositing fine, court cost, restitution, and bond monies and disbursing all monies collected by the municipal division are not adequately segregated. Currently, the Court Clerk performs all of these duties. To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. If proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be a documented independent comparison of receipt slips issued to amounts deposited. In addition, there should be a documented review of the bank reconciliations.

B. The Court Clerk accepts cash, checks, and money orders for the payment of fines, court costs, bonds, and restitutions. However, these receipts are not deposited on a timely basis. Deposits are generally made once a week and average in excess of $500. To adequately safeguard receipts and to reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, deposits should be made intact daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

Similar conditions were also noted in our prior report.

WE AGAIN RECOMMEND the city of Gerald Municipal Division:

A. Establish a documented review of municipal division records by an independent person.
B. Deposit receipts on a daily basis or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Court Clerk provided the following responses:

A. As of January 1, 1999, the City Clerk reviews and initials the bank reconciliations on a monthly basis and bank deposit receipts are attached to the court collections log or bond log.

B. As of April 1, 1999, deposits are being made daily or when accumulated to $100.

2. City of Hermann Municipal Division

A. The duties of receiving, recording, and transmitting fine and court cost monies collected by the municipal division, as well as depositing, disbursing, and reconciling the bond account, are not adequately segregated. Currently, the Court Clerk performs all of these duties. The Police Chief was reviewing monthly bank reconciliations, however, he discontinued this practice during the audit period. To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. If proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be a documented independent comparison of receipt slips issued to amounts transmitted and deposited. In addition, there should be a documented review of the bank reconciliations.

B. Summonses (complaints) issued for violations of city ordinances and criminal offenses are issued by the city attorney. These summonses are not prenumbered and a summons log is not maintained to track the issuance and disposition of these summonses. To ensure summonses are properly turned into the municipal division for processing, summonses should be prenumbered and accounted for in a summons log.

Similar conditions were also noted in our prior report.

WE AGAIN RECOMMEND the city of Hermann Municipal Division:

A. Establish a documented review of municipal division records by an independent person.

B. Request the city attorney issue prenumbered summonses and maintain records to account for the numerical sequence and disposition of all summonses issued.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Court Clerk provided the following responses:

A. Attempts will be made to get the City Clerk to do the suggested review.

B. This will be discussed with the City Attorney again; however, discussions with him after the last audit indicated he was unwilling to make any changes.

3. City of New Haven Municipal Division

A. The municipal division accepts cash, checks, and money orders for fines, court costs, bonds and restitution. Receipt slips issued by the municipal division do not always indicate the method of payment received. To ensure all receipts are transmitted to the city or deposited intact, the method of payment should be indicated on all receipt slips. The composition of receipt slips should be reconciled to the composition of monies transmitted or deposited.

B. Bond forms issued by the police department serve as the receipt slip to the defendant. Although these bond forms are prenumbered, the number is located at the top of the pad and therefore is detached from the bond form when removed from the pad. As a result, the numerical sequence cannot be accounted for properly. To adequately account for monies received and to ensure all receipts are deposited, detached bond forms issued by the police department should include the number preassigned to that document and their numerical sequence accounted for properly.

C. Summonses (complaints) issued for violations of city ordinances and criminal offenses are issued by the city police department. These summonses are manually numbered by the police department instead of being prenumbered by the printer and a summons log is not maintained to track the issuance and disposition of these summonses. To ensure summonses are properly turned into the municipal division for processing, summonses should be prenumbered and accounted for in a summons log.

A similar condition was also noted in our prior report.

WE RECOMMEND the city of New Haven Municipal Division:

A. Indicate the method of payment on all receipt slips issued and reconcile the composition of receipt slips issued to the composition of monies transmitted or deposited.

B. Request the police department issue bond forms that include the preassigned document number on the detached form and account for the numerical sequence.

C. Request the police department issue prenumbered summonses and maintain records to account for the numerical sequence and disposition of all summonses issued.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Court Clerk provided the following responses:

A. This procedure has now been instituted.

B. This has been brought to the police department's attention and they have started numbering all bond sheets. Every bond form issued will be accounted for.

C. This has been brought to the attention of the police department and will also make the Mayor and Aldermen aware of this. However, the court has no control over the police department's procedures.

4. City of Owensville Municipal Division

A. The duties of receiving, recording, and depositing fine, court cost, restitution, and bond monies and disbursing all monies collected by the municipal division are not adequately segregated. Currently, the Court Clerk performs all of these duties. The Deputy City Clerk performs monthly bank reconciliations and the Municipal Judge reviews the one-write ledger; however, there is no independent supervisory review of the reconciliation between recorded receipts and deposits. To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. If proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be a documented independent comparison of receipt slips issued to amounts deposited.

B. Fines, court costs, restitutions and bonds are not always deposited on a timely basis. Receipts are usually deposited about two or three times a month and average approximately $350. During our review, we noted court costs and fines of $679 received on June 11, 1998 was not deposited until July 6, 1998. Two bonds received on November 17, 1997 in the amounts of $400 and $100 were not deposited until December 10, 1997. To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss, theft, or misuse of funds, receipts should be deposited daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

C. Fines and court costs collected are not turned over to the city treasury on a monthly basis. Fines and court costs are being remitted to the city once a year, usually at or near the end of the fiscal year. These yearly remittances totaled approximately $10,000 and $13,400 for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997, respectively. Section 479.080, RSMo 1994, states that all fines and court costs shall be paid to and deposited monthly into the city treasury.

D. Summonses (complaints) issued for violations of city ordinances and criminal offenses are issued by the city police department. These summonses are not prenumbered and a summons log is not maintained to track the issuance and disposition of these summonses. To ensure summonses are properly turned into the municipal division for processing, summonses should be prenumbered and accounted for in a summons log.

Similar conditions were also noted in our prior report.

WE AGAIN RECOMMEND the city of Owensville Municipal Division:

A. Adequately segregate the duties of receiving, recording, and depositing court receipts. At a minimum, the division should establish a documented independent comparison of receipt slips issued to amounts deposited.

B. Deposit all court receipts on a daily basis or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

C. Remit fines and court costs to the city treasury on a monthly basis as required by state law.

D. Request the police department issue prenumbered summonses and maintain records to account for the numerical sequence and disposition of all summonses issued.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Court Clerk provided the following responses:

A. We will ensure someone independent compares receipt slips to the deposits.

B. The examples noted were unusual situations and since then more time and attention has been devoted to the court and making the deposits more timely.

C. This will be implemented.

D. This has been implemented.

5. City of Pacific Municipal Division

A. The duties of receiving, recording, and depositing fine, court cost, restitution, and bond monies and disbursing all monies collected by the municipal division are not adequately segregated. Currently, the Court Clerk performs all of these duties. To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. If proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be a documented independent comparison of receipt slips issued to amounts deposited. In addition, there should be a documented review of the bank reconciliations.

B. The Court Clerk accepts cash, checks, and money orders for the payment of fines, court costs, bonds, and restitutions. However, these receipts are not deposited on a timely basis. Deposits are generally made once a week and range from $1,000 to $2,500. To adequately safeguard receipts and to reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, deposits should be made intact daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

C. The bond ledger does not include the disposition of the bonds. Complete information regarding bond receipts and disbursements is necessary to ensure all cash bonds have been accounted for properly.

D. The police department accepts cash, checks, and money orders for bonds and issues prenumbered bond forms to document the receipt of monies. These collections are not maintained in a secure location and they are not transmitted to the Court Clerk on a timely basis. Receipts are placed in an envelope and kept in a locked box on the wall of the police department; however, the opening of the box is sufficient to allow access to the monies. We noted one instance where a $200 bond was collected by the police department in April 1997 and not transmitted to the Court Clerk. Neither the police department nor the Court Clerk accounted for the numerical sequence of bond forms at that time and therefore did not notice the missing bond number. Transmittals are made approximately once every two weeks and average in excess of $1,000.

   To adequately safeguard bond receipts and reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, any monies held by the police department should be maintained in a secure location and transmittals to the Court Clerk should be made daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100. In addition, the numerical sequence of bond forms should be accounted for fully.

Conditions similar to parts A-C were also noted in our prior report.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Pacific Municipal Division:

A. Adequately segregate the duties of receiving, recording, and depositing court receipts. At a minimum, the division should establish a documented review of municipal division records by an independent person.

B. Deposit receipts on a daily basis or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

C. Ensure the dispositions or all bonds are recorded in the bond ledger.

D. Request to the police department to maintain bond receipts in a secure location and transmit monies to the Court Clerk daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100. The police department and the Court Clerk should also account for the numerical sequence of bond forms during the transmittal process.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Judge provided the following responses:

A. We will ensure someone independent reconciles the receipt slips to the amounts deposited.

B. We are trying to improve our efficiency by depositing on a more frequent basis.

C. Dispositions are now being entered in the bond journal.

D. We will discuss the locked box situation with the police department. We are now accounting for the numerical sequence of bond forms during the transmittal from the police department.

6. City of St. Clair Municipal Division

A. During our review, we noted the following concerns related to bonds:

1) Neither the receipt slips nor the bond forms issued by the police department for the receipt of bonds are prenumbered. To adequately account for all bond receipts and to ensure these monies are properly transmitted to the municipal division, prenumbered receipt slips or bond forms should be issued for all bonds received by the police department and their numerical sequence should be accounted for properly.

2) At April 30, 1998, seven bonds over one year old, totaling $1,214, remained in the municipal division's bank account. One bond was over ten years old. If the defendant failed to make the required court appearance, the bond should be forfeited and monies paid over to the city treasury as provided in Section 479.210, RSMo 1994. If the bond cannot be forfeited, Section 447.595, RSMo 1994, requires bonds remaining unclaimed for one year after disposition of the case be turned over to the state's Unclaimed Property Section.

B. Sixteen restitution accounts totaling $491 had no activity for the year ended April 30, 1998. An attempt should be made to collect any additional amounts due or determine the proper disposition of these monies and issue checks to the appropriate parties. If the appropriate parties cannot be located, these monies should be remitted to the state's Unclaimed Property Section in accordance with Section 447.595, RSMo 1994.

C. Summonses (complaints) issued for violations of city ordinances and criminal offenses are issued by the police department. These summonses are not prenumbered and a summons log is not maintained to track the issuance and disposition of these summonses. Although the Police Chief records each summons in his records, there is no assurance that all summonses were presented to the Police Chief. To ensure summonses are properly turned into the municipal division for processing, summonses should be prenumbered and accounted for in a summons log.

Similar conditions were also noted in our prior report.

WE AGAIN RECOMMEND the city of St. Clair Municipal Division:

A.1. Request the police department to issue prenumbered receipt slips or bond forms for all bond monies received and account for the numerical sequence of the receipt slips or bond forms.

2. Attempt to locate those defendants who are entitled to a bond refund and return the bond amount. For those bonds that the owner can not be located, the unclaimed bonds should be disposed of in accordance with state law.

B. Attempt to collect any additional amounts due or determine the proper disposition of these monies and issue checks to the appropriate parties. If the appropriate parties cannot be located, these monies should be turned over to the state's Unclaimed Property Section.

C. Request the police department issue prenumbered summonses and maintain records to account for the numerical sequence and disposition of all summonses issued.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Judge and Court Clerk provided the following responses:

A.1. The police department has a large supply of bond forms on hand. When additional bonds are needed we will order prenumbered forms.

2. We will check to see if we still have any old outstanding bonds. We have made a conscious effort to pay out all bonds.

B. We have attempted to collect these monies; however, sometimes these people are incarcerated or do not currently have jobs. We do not want to make partial payments because it is difficult to maintain the records and the merchants do not keep track of the payments. We have updated our city ordinance which should reduce the number of bad checks.

C. When the current supply is depleted we will order prenumbered summonses.

7. City of Sullivan Municipal Division

A. During our review, we noted the following concerns related to receipts:

1) The municipal division accepts cash, checks, and money orders for fines, court costs, restitution, and bonds. Receipt slips issued by the municipal division do not always indicate the method of payment received. To ensure receipts are transmitted to the City Collector or deposited intact, the method of payment should be indicated on all receipt slips. The composition of receipt slips issued should be reconciled to the composition of monies transmitted or deposited.

2) Checks and money orders received for the payment of fines and court costs are not restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt. The checks and money orders are endorsed by the City Collector after the Court Clerk has transmitted the monies. To reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, checks and money orders should be restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt.

3) Bonds and restitution monies are not deposited to their respective bank accounts on a timely basis. To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss, theft, or misuse of funds, monies should be deposited daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

4) Fines and court costs are not transmitted to the City Collector on a daily basis and are not transmitted intact. Receipts are transmitted approximately twice a week; however, CVC and POSTC monies collected are kept in the vault until a monthly deposit is made to the bond bank account. CVC and POSTC is then disbursed to the state and to the city from the bond bank account. To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss, theft, or misuse of funds, monies should be transmitted to the City Collector daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100 and transmittals should be made intact.

B. The police department did not maintain adequate records to account for the numerical sequence of bond forms. The police department collects bond monies for the court and issues bond forms. Although bond forms are prenumbered and recorded in the appearance bond ledger, we noted situations where numbers in the bond forms sequence were omitted from the ledger and other situations where a sequential number was recorded in the ledger, however no other information about the bond was documented. Bond forms could not be located in these instances and the police department was not able to determine what happened to these bond forms.

To adequately account for all bond receipts and to ensure all receipts are transmitted to the court, the police department or court should account for the numerical sequence of bond forms issued by ensuring information is recorded in the appearance bond ledger for all bond form numbers.

C. Complaints issued for violations of city ordinances and criminal offenses are issued by the police department. These complaints are not prenumbered and a complaint log is not maintained to track the issuance and disposition of these complaints. Furthermore, complaints that are not signed by the City Attorney are discarded after thirty days. To ensure complaints are properly turned into the municipal division for processing, complaints should be prenumbered and accounted for in a complaint log.

Conditions similar to A.2-4. and B. were also noted in our prior report.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Sullivan Municipal Division:

A.1. Indicate the method of payment on all receipt slips issued and reconcile the composition of receipt slips issued to the composition of monies transmitted or deposited.

2. Restrictively endorse all checks and money orders immediately upon receipt.

3. Deposit receipts on a daily basis or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

4. Transmit receipts intact on a daily basis to the City Collector or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

B. Request the police department maintain complete records to account for the numerical sequence and disposition of all bond forms issued.

C. Request the police department issue prenumbered complaints and maintain records to account for the numerical sequence and disposition of all complaints issued.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Judge and Court Clerk provided the following responses:

A.1. We will try to implement this.

2. This is being done.

3&4. The Court Clerk also serves as the city's assistant billing clerk and time does not always permit deposits/transmittals to be made timely.

B. We will request the police department to properly account for the bond forms.

C. We will request the police department issue prenumbered complaint forms and properly account for them.

8. City of Union Municipal Division

A. Court receipts were not transmitted to the City Collector for deposit into the city treasury on a timely basis. Also, deposits into the CVC and POSTC accounts maintained by the Court Clerk were not made on a timely basis. Our review of March, 1998 and August, 1997 records indicated the Court Clerk transmitted/deposited a total of approximately $800 every three to four days. To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, court receipts should be transmitted or deposited intact daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

B. The Court Clerk is responsible for all aspects of court record keeping, including receiving, recording, and transmitting court costs and fines as well as depositing, issuing checks and reconciling bank accounts for CVC and POSTC fees. The City Clerk reviews monthly bank reconciliations; however, there is no independent supervisory review of the reconciliation between recorded receipts and transmittals/deposits. To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. If proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be a documented independent comparison of receipt slips issued to amounts transmitted/deposited.

Similar conditions were also noted in our prior report.

WE AGAIN RECOMMEND the city of Union Municipal Division:

A. Transmit or deposit receipts intact daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

B. Establish a documented independent comparison of receipt slips issued to amounts transmitted/deposited.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Court Clerk provided the following responses:

A. We will try to make deposits as often as possible and will ensure the money is secured until it is deposited.

B. This will be done.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON
THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Presiding Judge
and
Municipal Judges
Thirty-Fourth Judicial Circuit

We have audited the accompanying special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions (other than the municipal divisions of the city of Caruthersville and the city of Hayti Heights as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997) of the Thirty-Fourth Judicial Circuit, Pemiscot County, Missouri as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997, and December 31, 1997 and 1996, as identified by municipality and fiscal period in the table of contents. These special-purpose financial statements are the responsibility of the municipal divisions' management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these special-purpose financial statements based on our audit.

Except as discussed in paragraphs four through eight, we conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the special-purpose financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the special-purpose financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

The accompanying special-purpose financial statements were prepared for the purpose of presenting the receipts, disbursements, and changes in cash of the municipal divisions of the Thirty-Fourth Judicial Circuit, Pemiscot County, Missouri, and are not intended to be a complete presentation of the financial position and results of operations of the municipal divisions.

The internal controls and accounting records of the city of Hayti Municipal Division were inadequate. Summons forms issued by the police department were not prenumbered and records containing the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of each summons form issued by the police department were not maintained. In addition, records accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of each traffic ticket issued by the police department for the city of Hayti were not adequately maintained. As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements beyond amounts recorded in the municipal division's records for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997.

The internal controls and accounting records of the city of Steele Municipal Division were inadequate. Records accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of each traffic ticket issued by the police department were not adequately maintained. As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements beyond amounts recorded in the municipal division's records for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997.

The internal controls and accounting records of the city of Cooter Municipal Division were inadequate. Records accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of each traffic ticket and complaint form issued by the police department were not adequately maintained. As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements beyond amounts recorded in the municipal division's records for the years ended December 31, 1997 and 1996.

The internal controls and accounting records of the city of Holland Municipal Division were inadequate. A ledger or listing of cash funds received and disbursed was not maintained. In addition, records accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of each traffic ticket and complaint form issued by the police department were not adequately maintained. As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements beyond amounts recorded in the municipal division's records for the years ended December 31, 1997 and 1996.

The internal controls and accounting records of the city of Wardell Municipal Division were inadequate. Receipts were not deposited intact and city employees cashed personal checks from court monies. In addition, records accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of each traffic ticket issued by the police department were not adequately maintained. As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements beyond amounts recorded in the municipal division's records for the years ended December 31, 1997 and 1996.

In our opinion, except for the effects, if any, on the financial statements of the matters discussed in the preceding five paragraphs, the special-purpose financial statements referred to in the first paragraph present fairly, in all material respects, the receipts, disbursements, and changes in cash of the municipal divisions (other than the municipal divisions of the city of Caruthersville and the city of Hayti Heights as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997) of the Thirty-Fourth Judicial Circuit, Pemiscot County, Missouri, as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997, and December 31, 1997 and 1996, in conformity with the comprehensive basis of accounting discussed in Note 1, which is a basis of accounting other than generally accepted accounting principles.

We also had planned to audit the accompanying special-purpose financial statements of the municipal divisions of the city of Caruthersville and the city of Hayti Heights as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997. These special-purpose financial statements are the responsibility of the municipal divisions' management.

The internal controls and accounting records of the city of Caruthersville Municipal Division were inadequate. A ledger or listing of cash bonds received and disbursed was not maintained. Records containing the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of each traffic ticket issued by the police department were not adequately maintained and court receipts were not deposited intact As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements of fines, court costs, and bonds for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997.

Due to internal control weaknesses and missing records for the city of Hayti Heights Municipal Division, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements of fines, court costs, and bonds for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997.

Because of the effects of the matters discussed in the preceding two paragraphs, the scope of our work was not sufficient to enable us to express, and we do not express, an opinion on the special-purpose financial statements of the municipal divisions of the city of Caruthersville and the city of Hayti Heights as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997.

In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we also have issued our report dated October 7, 1998, on our consideration of the municipal divisions' internal controls over financial reporting and on our tests of their compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grants.

The accompanying History, Organization, and Statistical Information is presented for informational purposes. This information was obtained from the municipal divisions' management and was not subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the special-purpose financial statements referred to above.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON COMPLIANCE
AND ON INTERNAL CONTROL OVER FINANCIAL REPORTING

Presiding Judge
and
Municipal Judges
Thirty-Fourth Judicial Circuit

We have audited the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions (other than the municipal divisions of the city of Caruthersville and the city of Hayti Heights as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997) of the Thirty-Fourth Judicial Circuit, Pemiscot County, Missouri, as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997, and December 31, 1997 and 1996, and have issued our report thereon dated October 7, 1998. That report expressed a qualified opinion on the special-purpose financial statements of the municipal divisions of the city of Hayti, the city of Steele, the city of Cooter, the city of Holland, and the city of Wardell for the applicable fiscal periods. Except as discussed in the report on the financial statements of the municipal divisions referred to in the preceding sentence, we conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States.

We also had planned to audit the special-purpose financial statements of the municipal divisions of the city of Caruthersville and the city of Hayti Heights as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997, and have issued our report thereon dated October 7, 1998. In that report we did not express an opinion on those special-purpose financial statements.

Compliance

As part of obtaining reasonable assurance about whether the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Thirty-Fourth Judicial Circuit, Pemiscot County, Missouri, are free of material misstatement, we performed tests of the municipal divisions' compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grants, noncompliance with which could have a direct and material effect on the determination of financial statement amounts. However, providing an opinion on compliance with those provisions was not an objective of our audit, and accordingly, we do not express such an opinion. The results of our tests disclosed material instances of noncompliance that are required to be reported under Government Auditing Standards and which are presented in the accompanying Management Advisory Report. We also noted certain other instances of noncompliance which are presented in that report.

Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

In planning and performing our audit of the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Thirty-Fourth Judicial Circuit, Pemiscot County, Missouri, we considered the municipal divisions' internal controls over financial reporting in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the special-purpose financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal controls over financial reporting. However, we noted certain matters involving the internal controls over financial reporting and their operation that we consider to be reportable conditions. Reportable conditions involve matters coming to our attention relating to significant deficiencies in the design or operation of the internal controls over financial reporting that, in our judgment, could adversely affect the municipal divisions' ability to record, process, summarize, and report financial data consistent with the assertions of management in the special-purpose financial statements.

A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of one or more of the internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that misstatements in amounts that would be material to the special-purpose financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. Our consideration of the internal controls over financial reporting would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal controls that might be reportable conditions and, accordingly, would not necessarily disclose all reportable conditions that are also considered to be material weaknesses. However, we noted certain matters involving the internal controls over financial reporting and their operation that we consider to be material weaknesses, and these matters are presented in the accompanying Management Advisory Report.

This report is intended for the information of the management of the various municipal divisions of the Thirty-Fourth Judicial Circuit, Pemiscot County, Missouri, and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

Notes to the Financial Statements

THIRTY-FOURTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
MUNICIPAL DIVISIONS - PEMISCOT COUNTY, MISSOURI
NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

A. Reporting Entity and Basis of Presentation

The accompanying special-purpose financial statements present only selected data for the funds administered by the various municipal divisions of the Thirty-Fourth Judicial Circuit of the state of Missouri located in Pemiscot County. The city of Homestown Municipal Division is reported on separately.

Receipts, disbursements, and changes in cash are presented for each municipal division. The operating costs of each division are paid by the respective municipality and are not included in these financial statements.

The municipal division is responsible for cash bonds posted until case disposition allows appropriate disbursement. Bond monies relating to pending cases, whether in the custody of the city or the municipal division, are included in these financial statements.

B. Basis of Accounting

The Statements of Receipts, Disbursements, and Changes in Cash are prepared on the cash basis of accounting; accordingly, amounts are recognized when they are received or disbursed. This basis of accounting differs from generally accepted accounting principles, which require revenues to be recognized when they become available and measurable or when they are earned and expenditures or expenses to be recognized when the related liabilities are incurred.

C. Fiscal Authority and Responsibility

The municipal divisions account for fines and court costs resulting from prosecution of violations of municipal ordinances before the municipal judge or received through the traffic violations bureau, as well as cash bonds posted. Municipal violations could include traffic offenses, both moving and nonmoving; parking meter and overtime parking offenses; and other violations for which amounts are received by the municipal divisions and remitted to the city treasury. The municipal divisions also may account for restitutions received and disbursed through the divisions.

2. Cash

Section 479.080, RSMo 1994, requires municipal divisions to deposit fines and court costs into the city treasury at least monthly. Some divisions maintain bank accounts into which fines and court costs are deposited and later remitted to the city treasury. Other divisions do not maintain bank accounts, transmitting fines and court costs directly to the city treasury. Escrow bank accounts for bond monies received may be maintained by the city or the municipal division.

At the financial statement dates identified in the table of contents for the years ended 1998, 1997, and 1996, all bank account balances reported for the municipal divisions of the Thirty-Fourth Judicial Circuit, Pemiscot County, Missouri, were entirely covered by federal depositary insurance.

3. Disbursements to State

The municipal divisions collect various amounts that must be remitted to the state of Missouri. These amounts include the surcharges for the Crime Victims' Compensation and Services to Victims Funds, the Peace Officer Standards and Training Commission Fund, and (until July 1, 1997, when municipal divisions were no longer required to assess the surcharge) the Independent Living Center Fund. The state's portions of these amounts are deposited into the city treasury for all municipal divisions, except the municipal divisions of the city of Cooter, the city of Hayti, the city of Holland, and the city of Steele. Amounts remitted by the cities to the state are not included in the financial statements.

MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT SECTION

Management Advisory Report -
State Auditor’s Current Recommendations

THIRTY-FOURTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
MUNICIPAL DIVISIONS - PEMISCOT COUNTY, MISSOURI
MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT -
STATE AUDITOR'S CURRENT RECOMMENDATIONS

We have audited the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions (other than the municipal divisions of the city of Caruthersville and the city of Hayti Heights as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997) of the Thirty-Fourth Judicial Circuit, Pemiscot County, Missouri, as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997, and December 31, 1997 and 1996, and have issued our report thereon dated October 7, 1998. That report expressed a qualified opinion on the special-purpose financial statements of the municipal divisions of the city of Hayti, the city of Steele, the city of Cooter, the city of Holland, and the city of Wardell for the applicable fiscal periods.
We also had planned to audit the special-purpose financial statements of the municipal divisions of the city of Caruthersville and the city of Hayti Heights as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997, and have issued our report thereon dated October 7, 1998. In that report we did not express an opinion on those special-purpose financial statements.

The following Management Advisory Report presents our findings and recommendations arising from our procedures related to the municipal divisions' special-purpose financial statements. During those procedures, we also identified certain management practices which we believe could be improved. Our procedures were not designed or intended to be a detailed study of every system, procedure, and transaction. Accordingly, the findings presented in the following report should not be considered as all-inclusive of areas where improvements may be needed.

1. City of Caruthersville Municipal Division

A. During our review we noted the following concerns related to receipts:

1) The duties of receiving, recording, and depositing monies are not adequately segregated. Currently, the Court Clerk performs all of these duties. There is no independent reconciliation between receipts and deposits. In addition, there is no supervisory review performed of the Court Clerk's functions by an independent person.

To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for and assets are adequately safeguarded. Internal controls could be improved by segregating the duties of receiving and depositing court monies from recording receipts. If proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be supervisory review of the reconciliations between receipts and deposits by an independent person.

2) Receipts are not always deposited intact or into the bank account for which the receipt slip was written. We noted many instances where the Court Clerk deposited fine receipts from fines into the bond account and bond receipts into the fines account. As a result, the Court Clerk sometimes refunded monies out of the wrong account.

To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss, theft, or misuse of funds, receipts should be deposited intact. To maintain proper accountability, monies should be deposited into the bank account for which the receipt slip was written.

3) Bank reconciliations are not prepared for the court's bank accounts. In addition, the Court Clerk does not maintain a record of the bank account balance in the accounting records. A record of the bank account balance and monthly bank reconciliations are necessary to ensure the accounts are in agreement with the accounting records and to detect errors on a timely basis.

4) The Court Clerk sometimes disburses fines in cash to the city's Criminal Investigations Fund. The monies are originally receipted by the Court Clerk into either the fines account or the bond account and subsequently transmitted in cash by the Court Clerk to the city's Criminal Investigations Fund. To ensure proper accountability, monies collected should be deposited to a court bank account and subsequently disbursed by check.

5) The Court Clerk does not maintain a bond ledger and does not reconcile pending bonds (open items) to funds held in trust. A bond ledger is necessary to ensure all bonds have been recorded and accounted for properly. Open items should be reconciled monthly to bond monies held in trust to ensure funds are sufficient to meet liabilities.

B. The court allows defendants to make partial payments on fines and court costs. During our review, we noted the following concerns relating to amounts owed to the court:

1) The Court Clerk does not reconcile control listings of cases with balances due to the detailed accounts receivable records. A periodic reconciliation is necessary to ensure accounts receivable are accounted for properly.

2) The Court Clerk writes off uncollectible accounts with verbal approval from the Police Chief. The Municipal Judge does not review the accounts receivable or approve writing off uncollectible accounts. During the two years ended June 30, 1998, the Court Clerk wrote off receivables totaling approximately $30,000. Of this amount, approximately $10,700 was reinstated as an accounts receivable when a partial payment or a payment in full was subsequently received by the Court Clerk.

The Court Clerk should write off accounts receivable only after obtaining documented approval from the judge. To aid in ensuring the judge reviews the accounts receivable on a periodic basis for appropriate action, the court should consider instituting a continuance docket wherein the defendant would continue to appear on the docket until the fine and court costs were paid or a write off is authorized by the judge.

3) The court allows defendants to perform community service (work detail) in lieu of payment of fines and court costs. However, adequate documentation is not maintained to support amounts credited to defendants for community service performed. A time sheet indicating the date, hours worked, and the work performed should be completed by the defendant and approved by the work detail supervisor to ensure that hours are being worked.

C. We noted the following concerns related to traffic tickets and complaint forms.

1) The police department uses complaint forms that are not prenumbered by the printer. In addition, a log is not maintained to account for the complaint forms and their ultimate disposition.

To ensure all complaints are properly submitted to the court, prenumbered complaint forms should be issued and their numerical sequence accounted for properly.

2) Neither the police department nor the municipal division maintains adequate records to account for traffic tickets issued and their ultimate disposition. In addition, the police department did not maintain records to account for traffic ticket books assigned. While individual officers are responsible for maintaining logs with details regarding the issuance or disposition of each ticket, the police department could not provide all of the logs used during the audit period.

Without a proper accounting of the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of traffic tickets, the police department and the municipal division cannot be assured all tickets issued are submitted to the court for processing.

D. We noted three instances where charges were either reduced or dropped by the Police Chief without documented approval by the City Attorney. The Police Chief indicated he consults with the City Attorney prior to reducing or dropping charges; however, the City Attorney does not sign the ticket to document his approval.

E. The Municipal Judge does not always document her review of the dispositions recorded on the court docket by the Court Clerk. To ensure the proper disposition of all cases, the Municipal Judge should document her review of the dispositions entered into the court docket.

F. From January 1, 1997 to June 30, 1998, Peace Officer Standards and Training Commission (POSTC) fees totaling $1,155 were retained by the city instead of being remitted to the state. Section 590.140, RSMo Cumulative Supp. 1998, requires POSTC fees to be remitted to the state monthly.

G. Although the municipal division operates a Traffic Violations Bureau (TVB) that allows certain offenses to be paid prior to the court date, a court order has not been issued to formally establish the TVB.

Section 479.050, RSMo 1994, states that a TVB may be established by the Municipal Judge. Supreme Court Rule No. 37.49 requires the Municipal Judge to establish the TVB by court order, to designate a TVB clerk, and to establish by schedule, which is to be prominently posted at the TVB, the amount of fines and court costs to be imposed for each offense.

Conditions similar to A.1., A.2., A.4., A.5., C.2. and G were also noted in our prior report.

Because of the problems noted above, we were unable to express an opinion on the financial statements of the city of Caruthersville as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997. These deficiencies are serious and should be corrected immediately.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Caruthersville Municipal Division:

A.1. Adequately segregate the duties or establish a documented supervisory review of the reconciliation between receipts and deposits by an independent person.

2. Deposit court receipts intact daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

3. Maintain a record of the bank account balance and reconcile this balance to the monthly bank statement.

4. Deposit all monies into the bond or fines bank account and make subsequent disbursements by check.

5. Maintain a bond ledger and periodically reconcile open items to funds held in trust.

B.1. Periodically reconcile control listings of cases with balances due to the detailed accounts receivable records.

2. Write off uncollectible accounts receivable only after review and approval by the Municipal Judge.

3. Maintain documentation for community service work performed.

C.1. Request the city obtain prenumbered complaint forms.

2. Work with the police department to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all traffic tickets.

D. Ensure the Prosecuting Attorney documents his dismissal or reduction of charges on traffic tickets.

E. Fully document all cases and their disposition on a court docket and ensure the Municipal Judge reviews and signs the docket to indicate approval of the recorded disposition.

F. Transmit $1,155 to the state for POSTC fees. In the future, ensure POSTC fee collections are disbursed monthly.

G. Prepare a court order to authorize the establishment of a TVB and prominently post a schedule which specifies the offenses which may be paid at the TVB and the amount of fines and costs to be imposed for each offense.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Judge and Court Clerk responded as follows:

A.1. A person has been assigned the duties of reviewing and reconciling of receipts and deposits.

2. This was implemented.

3. The individual in A.1. will reconcile bank account balances to monthly bank statements and the Court Clerk will maintain a record of the bank account balance.

4. Deposits into bonds and fines accounts and the writing of checks for all disbursements are now being done.

5. A new peg-board system has been ordered, also a computer programmer will be in to review modification of our computer software to better track our whole court docket system.

B.1. When the peg-board system is implemented and the computer programs changed, we hope to better reconcile control listings of cases with balances due.

2. Write offs of accounts will be done with the overview and consent of the Municipal Judge.

3. Records for community service work are being kept at this time.

C.1. Prenumbered complaints are just not practical. Most complaints are computer generated and others are taken manually out on the streets when situations arise that make it more feasible to do so. Complaints are given a case number when the form is processed at the police station and the forms can be tracked by the case number.

2. A new system has been implemented to account for all tickets and their dispositions.

D. All reductions and dismissals of charges on traffic tickets will be documented.

E. All cases and their dispositions on court dockets are being documented, reviewed and signed by the Judge for approval of recorded dispositions.

F. The check is being processed at this time.

G. A court order has been issued to establish a TVB effective March 18, 1999 and a list of fines and costs has always been posted.

2. City of Cooter Municipal Division

A. During our review we noted the following concerns related to receipts:

1) The duties of receiving, recording, and depositing monies are not adequately segregated. Currently, the Court Clerk performs all of these duties. There is no independent reconciliation between receipts and deposits. In addition, there is no supervisory review performed of the Court Clerk's functions by an independent person.

To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for and assets are adequately safeguarded. Internal controls could be improved by segregating the duties of receiving and depositing court monies from recording receipts. If proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be supervisory review of the reconciliations between receipts and deposits by an independent person.

2) The police department employee occasionally collects court monies when the Court Clerk is not available; however, this individual is not bonded. Failure to properly bond all persons with access to assets exposes the municipal division and the city to risk of loss.

3) The Court Clerk does not maintain a bond ledger and does not reconcile pending bonds (open items) to funds held in trust. A bond ledger is necessary to ensure all bonds have been recorded and accounted for properly. Open items should be reconciled monthly to bond monies held in trust to ensure funds are sufficient to meet liabilities.

B. Neither the police department nor the municipal division maintains adequate records to account for all traffic tickets issued and their ultimate disposition. In addition, the police department did not maintain records to account for traffic ticket books assigned.

Without a proper accounting of the numerical sequence and disposition of traffic tickets, the police department and the court cannot be assured all tickets issued are submitted to the court for processing.

C. Although the municipal division operates a Traffic Violations Bureau (TVB) that allows certain offenses to be paid prior to the court date, a court order has not been issued to formally establish the TVB.

Section 479.050, RSMo 1994, states that a TVB may be established by the Municipal Judge. Supreme Court Rule No. 37.49 requires the Municipal Judge to establish the TVB by court order, to designate a TVB clerk, and to establish by schedule, which is to be prominently posted at the TVB, the amount of fines and court costs to be imposed for each offense.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Cooter Municipal Division:

A.1. Adequately segregate the duties or establish a documented supervisory review of the reconciliation between receipts and deposits by an independent person.

2. Request the city to obtain bond coverage for all individuals handling court monies.

3. Maintain a bond ledger and periodically reconcile open items to funds held in trust.

B. Work with the police department to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all traffic tickets assigned and issued.

C. Prepare a court order to authorize the establishment of a TVB and prominently post a schedule which specifies the offenses which may be paid at the TVB and the amount of fines and costs to be imposed for each offense.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Judge and Court Clerk responded as follows:

A.1. The city's Certified Public Accountant will review the reconciliation between receipts and deposits of the Cooter Municipal Court monthly activity. The Judge compares receipt slips to deposit slips and the court docket to ensure records are in agreement. This review will be documented in the future.

2. Bond coverage has been obtained for all individuals handling court monies..

3. A bond ledger shall be utilized and periodically reconciled for open items to funds held in trust.

B. The Police Department will more strictly account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all traffic tickets assigned and issued to correct the issuing of traffic books out of sequence to patrol cars.

C. A court order shall be made establishing the TVB and the fines list shall be posted.

3.	City of Hayti Municipal Division

A. During our review we noted the following concerns related to receipts:

1) The duties of receiving, recording, and depositing monies are not adequately segregated. Currently, the Court Clerk performs all of these duties. There is no independent reconciliation between receipts and deposits. In addition, there is no supervisory review performed of the Court Clerk's functions by an independent person.

To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for and assets are adequately safeguarded. Internal controls would be improved by segregating duties of receiving and depositing court monies from recording receipts. If proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be a documented supervisory review of the reconciliations between receipts and deposits by an independent person.

2) Court receipts are not deposited in the municipal division bank account on a timely basis. The Court Clerk makes deposits approximately once or twice a month with the deposits averaging approximately $3,500. To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, deposits should be made intact daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

3) Receipts are not always deposited intact. The police department sometimes uses cash receipts for expenditures related to drug investigations even though a separate petty cash fund is maintained by the police department for drug investigations. To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss, theft, or misuse of funds, receipts should be deposited intact. Disbursements for drug investigations should be made solely from the police department's petty cash fund.

4) Bank reconciliations are not prepared for the municipal division bank account. In addition, the Court Clerk does not maintain a record of the bank account balance in the accounting records. A record of the bank account balance and monthly bank reconciliations are necessary to ensure the account is in agreement with the accounting records and to detect errors on a timely basis.

5) The Court Clerk does not maintain a bond ledger and does not reconcile pending bonds (open items) to funds held in trust. A bond ledger is necessary to ensure all bonds have been recorded and accounted for properly. Open items should be reconciled monthly to bond monies held in trust to ensure funds are sufficient to meet liabilities.

B. We noted the following concerns related to traffic tickets and summons forms.

1) Complaint forms are prepared by local citizens with the help of the police department. The forms are forwarded to the City Attorney for review. Upon approval by the City Attorney, the Court Clerk prepares a summons form which is forwarded to the defendant. The summons forms are not prenumbered and therefore, cannot be accounted for properly.

2) Neither the police department nor the municipal division maintains adequate records to account for all summons forms and traffic tickets issued and their ultimate disposition. A log is maintained to track the ticket books assigned to each officer, but no detail regarding the issuance or disposition of each ticket is maintained.

Without a proper accounting of the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of summons forms and traffic tickets, the police department and the municipal division cannot be assured all tickets issued are submitted to the court for processing.

C. Although the municipal division operates a Traffic Violations Bureau (TVB) that allows certain offenses to be paid prior to the court date, a court order has not been issued to formally establish the TVB.

Section 479.050, RSMo 1994, states that a TVB may be established by the Municipal Judge. Supreme Court Rule No. 37.49 requires the Municipal Judge to establish the TVB by court order, to designate a TVB clerk, and to establish by schedule, which is to be prominently posted at the TVB, the amount of fines and court costs to be imposed for each offense.

Conditions similar to A. and B. were also noted in our prior report.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Hayti Municipal Division:

A.1. Adequately segregate the duties or establish a documented supervisory review of the reconciliation between receipts and deposits by an independent person.

2. Deposit receipts intact daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

3. Deposit all court receipts intact and make all drug investigation expenditures from the petty cash fund.

4. Maintain a record of the bank account balance and reconcile the court bank account to this balance monthly.

5. Maintain a bond ledger and periodically reconcile listings of open items to funds held in trust.

B. Request the city obtain prenumbered summons forms. In addition, the municipal division should work with the police department to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all traffic tickets and summons forms issued.

C. Prepare a court order to authorize the establishment of a TVB and prominently post a schedule which specifies the offenses which may be paid at the TVB and the amount of fines and costs to be imposed for each offense.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Judge and Court Clerk responded as follows:

A.1. Due to the size of our city government we will not be able to segregate the duties, although we will establish some independent person to review the receipts and deposits.

2. Deposits are now being made on a more timely basis intact.

3. We will set up a petty cash drawer to only be used for drug investigation expenditures.

4. We are already maintaining a record of the bank account and reconciling the court bank account monthly.

5. We will implement a procedure to reconcile open items to funds held in trust.

B. This will be discussed with the Judge and Police Chief in regards to complaints and summonses. We already account for the numerical sequence of traffic tickets and have their dispositions on the computer. We do not believe it is cost-beneficial to use prenumbered summons forms. The Court Clerk completes an information sheet and assigns a case number when summons forms or complaint forms are turned in to the court. We believe our current procedures provide adequate control.

C. We will establish a court order for the TVB.

4.	City of Hayti Heights Municipal Division

The city of Hayti Heights operated a municipal division only during the three month period of July through September 1996 and also for the month of October 1997. Since that time, the city has not had a police department, and no court sessions have been held. During our review, we noted the following concerns related to court procedures. These recommendations should be considered for implementation if the city re-establishes a municipal division.

A. During our review we noted the following concerns related to receipts:

1) The City Clerk and Police Department were responsible for collecting court monies and issuing receipt slips for payments received. However, receipt slips were retained only for August 11, 1997 through September 10, 1997. Since complete records were not available, we could not apply auditing procedures to records originating from this time period. The municipal division needs to ensure all court records are retained in accordance with Supreme Court Administrative Rule 8.04 which requires records to be retained five years or upon completion of an audit if sooner.

2) The available receipt slips were not prenumbered by the printer and did not indicate the method of payment. To adequately account for receipts and ensure receipts are deposited intact, prenumbered receipt slips should be issued indicating the method of payment and the composition of monies received should be reconciled to the composition of bank deposits.

3) The duties of receiving, recording, and depositing monies are not adequately segregated. Currently, the Court Clerk performs all of these duties. There is no independent reconciliation between receipts and deposits. In addition, there is no supervisory review performed of the Court Clerk's functions by an independent person.

To adequately safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for and assets are adequately safeguarded. Internal controls would be improved by segregating duties of receiving and depositing court monies from recording receipts. If proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be a documented supervisory review of the reconciliations between receipts and deposits by an independent person.

4) Receipts are not deposited intact or on a timely basis. Court receipts are commingled with other city monies upon deposit and may be deposited in any of the city's five bank accounts.

To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss, theft, or misuse of funds, receipts should be deposited intact daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

5) All court receipts are supposed to be deposited in the police bank account. Bank reconciliations are not prepared for the police bank account. In addition, the Court Clerk does not maintain a record of the bank account balance in the accounting records. A record of the bank account balance and monthly bank reconciliations are necessary to ensure the account is in agreement with the accounting records and to detect errors on a timely basis.

6) The Court Clerk does not maintain a bond ledger and does not reconcile pending bonds (open items) to funds held in trust.

A bond ledger is necessary to ensure all bonds have been recorded and accounted for properly. Open items should be reconciled monthly to bond monies held in trust to ensure funds are sufficient to meet liabilities.

7) Checks and money orders are not restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt. To reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, checks and money orders should be restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt.

B. The final disposition of each case is not always documented on the court docket. In addition, court dockets were not always signed by the Municipal Judge. The ultimate disposition of each case should be recorded on the docket to ensure the proper disposition has been recorded in the court records. Further, the dockets should be signed by the Municipal Judge.

C. Neither the police department nor the municipal division maintains adequate records to account for all traffic tickets assigned and issued, and their ultimate disposition. Of 500 tickets assigned to the city in 1994 by the MSHP, 103 tickets could not be accounted for by the police department or the municipal division.

Without a proper accounting of the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of traffic tickets, the police department and the municipal division cannot be assured all traffic tickets issued are submitted to the court for processing.

D. Although the municipal division operates a Traffic Violations Bureau (TVB) that allows certain offenses to be paid prior to the court date, a court order has not been issued to formally establish the TVB.

Section 479.050, RSMo 1994, states that a TVB may be established by the Municipal Judge. Supreme Court Rule No. 37.49 requires the Municipal Judge to establish the TVB by court order, to designate a TVB clerk, and to establish by schedule, which is to be prominently posted at the TVB, the amount of fines and court costs to be imposed for each offense.

E. The city has authorized a $2 fee to be collected for the Law Enforcement Training (LET) Fund in accordance with Section 590.140, RSMo Supp. 1994. This fee is charged on all violations of municipal ordinances except cases dismissed by the court; however, the court does not maintain a record of LET fees collected. Section 590.140, RSMo Supp. 1994, requires that the monies collected from these fees be paid to the city and expended only for the purposes of training law enforcement officers. Without a proper accounting of the LET fees collected, it cannot be determined whether the monies have been paid to the city and expended only for the purposes allowed by state law.

F. CVC fees collected by the court have not been paid to the state Department of Revenue. Section 595.045, RSMo Cumulative Supp. 1998, requires 95 percent of CVC fees be paid monthly to the state. The court should establish procedures to ensure the proper amounts are paid to the state on a timely basis. In addition, the court should determine the amount which is due to the state for CVC fees previously collected and remit this amount to the state.

G. The court allows defendants to make partial payments on fines and court costs. However, the court does not maintain individual subsidiary or control records to account for individual and total amounts owed to the court. As a result, the court could not determine the total amount currently owed by individuals with partial payment plans. Accounts receivable records are necessary to ensure proper follow up action is taken and to facilitate monitoring of amounts due.

With the exception of items A.1., A.2., and A.7., conditions were similarly noted in our prior report.

Because of the problems noted above, we were unable to express an opinion on the financial statements of the city of Hayti Heights Municipal Division as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997. These deficiencies are serious and should be corrected immediately.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Hayti Heights Municipal Division:

A.1 Retain all court records in accordance with Supreme Court Administrative Rule 8.04.

2. Issue prenumbered receipt slips for all monies collected, indicate the method of payment on each receipt slip, and reconcile the composition of receipts to the composition of bank deposits.

3. Adequately segregate the duties or establish a documented supervisory review of the reconciliation between receipts and deposits by an independent person.

4. Deposit receipts intact daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

5. Maintain a record of the bank account balance and reconcile the police bank account to this balance monthly.

6. Maintain a bond ledger and periodically reconcile open items to funds held in trust.

7. Restrictively endorse checks and money orders immediately upon receipt.

B. Fully document all cases and their disposition on the court docket.

C. Work with the police department to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all traffic tickets assigned and issued.

D. Prepare a court order to authorize the establishment of a TVB and prominently post a schedule which specifies the offenses which may be paid at the TVB and the amount of fines and costs to be imposed for each offense.

E. Maintain a record of the LET fees collected and forward this information to the city.

F. Determine the amount which is due to the state for CVC fees previously collected and remit this amount to the state. In the future, the court should ensure all CVC fees are remitted to the state monthly as required by state law.

G. Establish and maintain individual subsidiary and control accounts receivable records.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Vice Mayor responded as follows:

The city does not have a Court Clerk, only a City Clerk who from time to time sits in on the court sessions to record the disposition of the court docket. During the period of 1996-97, the Police Department was located in a different building than the City Hall and the officers were responsible for their own records. This may or may not have been a good idea.

The city plans to and will hire the necessary staff whenever we re-establish the Police Department.

Prenumbered receipts will be ordered and used in the future.

A segregation of duties will take place when the city re-establishes its Police Department to ensure proper record keeping.

The city is very grateful for your recommendations and advice and will adhere to them in the future. The city is working on putting back together its Police Department and at that time we will be seeking further guidance from the State Auditor's office and the State Court Administrator's office as to the LET Funds and CVC Fees and other matters.

5. City of Holland Municipal Division

A. During our review we noted the following concerns relating to receipts:

1) The duties of receiving, recording, and depositing monies are not adequately segregated. Currently, the Court Clerk performs all of these duties. There is no independent reconciliation between receipts and deposits. In addition, there is no supervisory review performed of the Court Clerk's functions by an independent person.

To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for and assets are adequately safeguarded. Internal controls could be improved by segregating the duties of receiving and depositing court monies from recording receipts. If proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be supervisory review of the reconciliations between receipts and deposits by an independent person.

2) Bank reconciliations are not performed for the municipal division's bank account. Monthly bank reconciliations are necessary to ensure the bank account is in agreement with the accounting records and to detect errors on a timely basis.

3) The Court Clerk does not maintain a bond ledger and does not reconcile pending bonds (open items) to funds held in trust. A bond ledger is necessary to ensure all bonds have been recorded and accounted for properly. Open items should be reconciled monthly to bond monies held in trust to ensure funds are sufficient to meet liabilities.

B. A police department employee occasionally collects court monies when the Court Clerk is not available; however, this individual is not bonded. Failure to properly bond all persons with access to assets exposes the municipal division and the city to risk of loss.

C. Neither the police department nor the municipal division maintains adequate records to account for all traffic tickets/complaint forms issued and their ultimate disposition. In addition, the police department did not maintain records to account for traffic ticket books assigned.

Without a proper accounting of the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of complaint forms and traffic tickets, the police department and the municipal division cannot be assured all tickets and complaint forms issued are submitted to the court for processing.

D. The city did not make monthly disbursements to the state Department of Revenue (DOR) for Crime Victims Compensation (CVC) fees and Peace Officer Standards and Training Commission (POSTC) fees. Various state laws require court costs collected to be remitted monthly. In addition, no documentation was maintained by the city or the municipal division which indicated how these fees were calculated or for which cases the disbursements were made. As a result, there is little assurance the court costs are properly distributed.

E. Although the municipal division operates a Traffic Violations Bureau (TVB) that allows certain offenses to be paid prior to the court date, a court order has not been issued to formally establish the TVB.

Section 479.050, RSMo 1994, states that a TVB may be established by the Municipal Judge. Supreme Court Rule No. 37.49 requires the Municipal Judge to establish the TVB by court order, to designate a TVB clerk, and to establish by schedule the amount of fines and court costs to be imposed for each offense.

Conditions similar to A.1., A.3., A.4., and C. were also noted in our prior report.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Holland Municipal Division:

A.1. Adequately segregate the duties or establish a documented supervisory review of the reconciliation between receipts and deposits by an independent person.

2. Prepare monthly bank reconciliations.

3. Maintain a bond ledger and periodically reconcile open items to funds held in trust.

B. Request the city obtain bond coverage for all individuals handling court monies.

C. Work with the police department to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all traffic tickets and complaint forms assigned and issued.

D. Remit court costs monthly to the state in accordance with state law, and retain documentation regarding calculation of the amounts disbursed.

E. Prepare a court order to authorize the establishment of a TVB and prominently post a schedule which specifies the offenses which may be paid at the TVB and the amount of fines and costs to be imposed for each offense.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Judge and Court Clerk responded as follows:

A.1. We agree to adequately segregate the duties or establish a documented supervisory review of the reconciliation between receipt and deposits by an independent person.

2. We agree to prepare monthly bank reconciliations.

3. We agree to maintain a bond ledger and periodically reconcile open items to funds held in trust.

B. Bond coverage has been obtained for the Police Department employee and the City Clerk has always been bonded.

C. We agree to work with the Police Department to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all traffic tickets and complaint forms assigned and issued.

D. We agree to remit court costs monthly to the state in accordance with state law, and retain documentation regarding calculation of the amount disbursed.

E. A court order will be prepared.

6. City of Steele Municipal Division

A. During our review we noted the following concerns related to receipts:

1) The duties of receiving, recording, and depositing monies are not adequately segregated. Currently, the Court Clerk performs all of these duties. There is no independent reconciliation between receipts and deposits. In addition, there is no supervisory review performed of the Court Clerk's functions by an independent person.

To adequately safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for and assets are adequately safeguarded. Internal controls would be improved by segregating duties of receiving and depositing court monies from recording receipts. If proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be a documented supervisory review of the reconciliations between receipts and deposits by an independent person.

2) Court receipts are not deposited on a timely basis. The Court Clerk makes deposits approximately once a week. To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, deposits should be made intact daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

3) The Court Clerk accepts cash, checks, and money orders for the payment of fines, court costs, and bonds. The Court Clerk does not always record the method of payment on receipt slips. To provide assurance all monies received have been properly deposited, each receipt slip should note the method of payment and the composition of receipts should be reconciled to the composition of bank deposits.

4) The Court Clerk does not maintain a bond ledger and does not reconcile pending bonds (open items) to funds held in trust. A bond ledger is necessary to ensure all bonds have been recorded and accounted for properly. Open items should be reconciled monthly to bond monies held in trust to ensure funds are sufficient to meet liabilities.

5) Some police officers collect fines and court costs. These individuals are not bonded. Failure to properly bond all persons with access to assets exposes the municipal division and the city to risk of loss.

6) Checks and money orders are not restrictively endorsed until monies are deposited. To reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, checks and money orders should be restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt.

B. Bank reconciliations for the municipal division bank account are not prepared. Monthly bank reconciliations are necessary to ensure the bank account is in agreement with the accounting records and to detect errors on a timely basis.

C. The municipal division does not prepare a court docket or indicate the disposition of all cases. The municipal division only prepares individual docket sheets on cases in which monies are due to the court.

Section 479.070, RSMo 1994, requires the proceeding for every case commenced before the court to be entered on a docket. To ensure the proper disposition has been entered in the court records by the Court Clerk, the Municipal Judge should ensure all cases are included on the docket and should review and sign the docket to indicate approval of the dispositions.

D. We noted the following concerns related to traffic tickets and complaint forms.

1) Neither the police department nor the municipal division maintains adequate records to account for all traffic tickets/complaint forms issued and their ultimate disposition. In addition, the police department did not maintain records to account for traffic ticket books assigned.

Without a proper accounting of the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of complaint forms and traffic tickets, the police department and the municipal division cannot be assured all tickets and complaint forms issued are submitted to the court for processing.

2) We noted three of fifteen (20 percent) applicable offenses reviewed involving point violations were not forwarded to the Missouri State Highway Patrol (MSHP) as required by state law. Section 302.225, RSMo Cumulative Supp. 1998, requires records of any pleas or findings of guilty on traffic violations under the laws of the state, county, or municipal ordinance to be forwarded to the MSHP within ten days of the conviction date.

E. Although the municipal division operates a Traffic Violations Bureau (TVB) that allows certain offenses to be paid prior to the court date, a court order has not been issued to formally establish the TVB.

Section 479.050, RSMo 1994, states that a TVB may be established by the Municipal Judge. Supreme Court Rule No. 37.49 requires the Municipal Judge to establish the TVB by court order, to designate a TVB clerk, and to establish by schedule, which is to be prominently posted at the TVB, the amount of fines and court costs to be imposed for each offense.

Conditions similar to A.2., A.4., and D.1. were also noted in our prior report.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Steele Municipal Division:

A.1. Adequately segregate the duties or establish a documented supervisory review of the reconciliation between receipts and deposits by an independent person.

2. Deposit receipts intact daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

3. Record the method of payment on all receipt slips issued and reconcile the composition of receipts to the composition of bank deposits.

4. Maintain a bond ledger and periodically reconcile the open items to funds held in trust.

5. Request the city consider obtaining bond coverage for all individuals handling court monies.

6. Restrictively endorse checks and money orders immediately upon receipt.

B. Prepare monthly bank reconciliations.

C. Fully document all cases and their disposition on the court docket.

D.1. Work with the police department to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all traffic tickets and complaint forms assigned and issued.

2. Forward all required records of convictions on traffic offenses to the MSHP within ten days as required by state law.

E. Prepare a court order to authorize the establishment of a TVB and prominently post a schedule which specifies the offenses which may be paid at the TVB and the amount of fines and costs to be imposed for each offense.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Judge and Court Clerk responded as follows:

A.1. Our Certified Public Accountant reconciles receipts and deposits on a monthly basis. The Judge compares receipt slips to deposit slips and the court docket to ensure records are in agreement. This review will be documented in the future.

2. Deposits will be made to comply with the recommendation.

3. Receipt slips show method of payment and bank deposit slips show composition.

4. A ledger will be used for bonds that will be reconciled.

5. The city now has bond coverage for individuals handling monies.

6. Checks will be endorsed as recommended.

B. Monthly bank reconciliations will be made.

C. Cases will be fully documented on the court docket.

D.1. We will be working with the Police Department on the numerical sequence of traffic tickets and complaint forms assigned and issued.

2. These three exceptions must have been by oversight because it is the court's procedure to forward this information to the MSHP on convicted cases.

E. A court order will be prepared.

7. City of Wardell Municipal Division

A. During our review we noted the following concerns relating to receipts:

1) The duties of receiving, recording, and depositing monies are not adequately segregated. Currently, the Court Clerk performs all of these duties. There is no independent reconciliation between receipts and deposits. In addition, there is no supervisory review performed of the Court Clerk's functions by an independent person.

To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for and assets are adequately safeguarded. Internal controls could be improved by segregating the duties of receiving and depositing court monies from recording receipts. If proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be supervisory review of the reconciliations between receipts and deposits by an independent person.

2) Court receipts are commingled with other city receipts and are not deposited intact. We noted numerous instances in which cash received was used to cash payroll and other checks for city employees and the public. To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk or loss or misuse of funds, the practice of cashing personal checks should be discontinued and deposits should be made intact.

3) All police officers collect fines and court costs. These individuals are not bonded. Failure to properly bond all persons with access to assets exposes the municipal division and the city to risk of loss.

B. Some fines and court costs assessed were not recorded on the court docket.

Section 479.070, RSMo 1994, requires the proceeding for every case commenced before the court to be entered on a docket. To ensure the proper disposition has been entered in the court records by the Court Clerk, the Municipal Judge should ensure all cases are included on the docket and should review and sign the docket to indicate approval of the dispositions.

C. We noted the following concerns related to traffic tickets and complaint forms.

1) Neither the police department nor the municipal division maintains adequate records to account for all traffic tickets/complaint forms issued and their ultimate disposition. In addition, the police department did not maintain records to account for traffic ticket books assigned.

Without a proper accounting of the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of complaint forms and traffic tickets, the police department and the municipal division cannot be assured all tickets and complaint forms issued are submitted to the court for processing.

2) We noted four of seventeen (23 percent) applicable offenses reviewed involving point violations were not forwarded to the Missouri State Highway Patrol (MSHP) as required by state law. Section 302.225, RSMo Cumulative Supp. 1998, requires records of any pleas or findings of guilty on traffic violations under the laws of the state, county, or municipal ordinance to be forwarded to the MSHP within ten days of the conviction date.

D. Although the city of Wardell Municipal Division operates a Traffic Violations Bureau (TVB) that allows certain offenses to be paid prior to the court date, a court order has not been issued to formally establish the TVB. The city of Wardell Municipal Division also processes cases for traffic tickets and summonses issued by the city of Homestown Police Department. The court allows fines and court costs for certain offenses to be paid directly to the city of Homestown; however, a TVB also has not been established at the city of Homestown by a court order.

Section 479.050, RSMo 1994, states that a TVB may be established by the Municipal Judge. Supreme Court Rule No. 37.49 requires the Municipal Judge to establish the TVB by court order, to designate a TVB clerk, and to establish by schedule the amount of fines and court costs to be imposed for each offense.

E. CVC fees collected by the court are deposited directly into the city treasury. The Court Clerk computes the amount due to the state and the city disburses the state's portion of CVC fees to the DOR; however, 95 percent of the CVC fees collected are remitted to the DOR only for moving traffic violations. CVC fees collected on other cases are not remitted to the DOR as required by law.

Section 595.045, RSMo Cumulative Supp. 1998, requires 95 percent of all CVC fees collected be paid monthly to the state. The court should establish procedures to ensure the proper amounts are paid to the state on a timely basis. In addition, the court should determine the amount which is due to the state for CVC fees previously collected and remit this amount to the state.

F. While a schedule of fines and court costs to be collected at the TVB for certain offenses is available, we noted that the TVB schedule does not include all applicable offenses which can be paid at the TVB. In addition, we noted that the fines and court costs schedule has not been updated since October 1992.

The court should take appropriate action to ensure all applicable offenses to be paid at the TVB are included on the schedule, and that fines and court costs are assessed and collected in accordance with the revised TVB schedule.

Conditions similar to A.1., B, C.1., D, E, and F. were also noted in our prior report.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Wardell Municipal Division:

A.1. Adequately segregate the duties or establish a documented supervisory review of the reconciliation between receipts and deposits by an independent person.

2. Discontinue cashing personal checks with official receipts and deposit all monies intact.

3. Request the city consider obtaining bond coverage for all individuals handling court monies.

B. Fully document all cases and their disposition on the court docket.

C.1. Work with the police department to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all traffic tickets and complaint forms assigned and issued.

2. Forward all required records of convictions on traffic offenses to the MSHP within ten days as required by state law.

D. Prepare a court order to authorize the establishment of the TVB's at the cities of Wardell and Homestown.

E. Determine the amount which is due to the state for CVC fees previously collected and remit this amount to the state. In the future, the court should ensure all CVC fees are remitted to the state monthly as required by state law.

F. Ensure the TVB schedule includes the amount of fines and court costs for every offense which can be paid at the TVB.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Judge and Court Clerk responded as follows:

A.1. The duties of Court Clerk remain the same. The Judge will try to review the Clerk's record when court is held monthly.

2. A separate checking account has been established for the court. All receipts are deposited intact and there is no check cashing in any department.

3. The police officer is bonded as well as the Clerk and the water and sewer superintendent.

B. The Judge and Clerk are trying to ensure all cases are on the docket.

C.1. Traffic tickets are prenumbered and we only have one police officer. Used and voided tickets are filed numerically to ensure all tickets are used. We will get prenumbered complaint forms to ensure they are kept properly.

2. All is done to ensure tickets are sent within ten days.

D. A court order will be prepared by the Judge to establish a TVB at Wardell. The city of Wardell Municipal Division no longer processes cases for Homestown.

E. The Court Clerk tries to send CVC fees to the state monthly. The Court Clerk calculated the amount owed to the state and paid it.

F. The new Municipal Judge will request the Court Clerk and the City Attorney to update the schedule of offenses.

Although monies are collected at times other than during court, a court order has not been issued to formally authorize the collection of fines and costs at times other than during court.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON THE FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Presiding Judge
and
Municipal Judges
Twenty-Seventh Judicial Circuit

We have audited the accompanying special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Twenty-Seventh Judicial Circuit as of and for the years ended September 30, 1998 and 1997; June 30, 1998 and 1997; and March 31, 1998 and 1997, as identified by municipality and fiscal period in the table of contents. These special-purpose financial statements are the responsibility of the municipal divisions' management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these special-purpose financial statements based on our audit.

Except as discussed in paragraphs four through seven, we conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the special-purpose financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the special-purpose financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

The accompanying special-purpose financial statements were prepared for the purpose of presenting the receipts, disbursements, and changes in cash of the municipal divisions of the Twenty-Seventh Judicial Circuit and are not intended to be a complete presentation of the financial position and results of operations of the municipal divisions.

Internal controls and accounting records of the city of Clinton Municipal Division were inadequate. Receipt slips were not issued for some monies received, and monies were not always deposited intact. In addition, records accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of summonses issued by the police department were not maintained. As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements beyond amounts recorded in the municipal division's records for the years ended September 30, 1998 and 1997.

Internal controls and accounting records of the city of Windsor Municipal Division were inadequate. Bond forms used by the police department to document the receipt of bond monies are not prenumbered. In addition, records accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of each traffic ticket issued by the police department were not adequately maintained. As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements beyond amounts recorded in the municipal division's records for the years ended September 30, 1998 and 1997.

Internal controls and accounting records of the city of Butler Municipal Division were inadequate. Records accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of each traffic ticket and complaint form issued by the police department were not adequately maintained. As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements beyond amounts recorded in the municipal division's records for the years ended March 31, 1998 and 1997.

Internal controls and accounting records for the city of Rich Hill Municipal Division were inadequate. Records accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of each traffic ticket and complaint form issued by the police department were not adequately maintained. As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements beyond amounts recorded in the municipal division's records for the years ended March 31, 1998 and 1997.

In our opinion, except for the effects, if any, on the financial statements of the matters discussed in the preceding four paragraphs, the special-purpose financial statements referred to in the first paragraph present fairly, in all material respects, the receipts, disbursements, and changes in cash of the municipal divisions of the Twenty-Seventh Judicial Circuit as of and for the years ended September 30, 1998 and 1997; June 30, 1998 and 1997; and March 31, 1998 and 1997, in conformity with the comprehensive basis of accounting discussed in Note 1, which is a basis of accounting other than generally accepted accounting principles.

In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we also have issued our report dated October 29, 1998, on our consideration of the municipal divisions' internal controls over financial reporting and on our tests of their compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grants.

The accompanying History, Organization, and Statistical Information is presented for informational purposes. This information was obtained from the municipal divisions' management and was not subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the special-purpose financial statements referred to above.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON COMPLIANCE
AND ON INTERNAL CONTROL OVER FINANCIAL REPORTING

Presiding Judge
and
Municipal Judges
Twenty-Seventh Judicial Circuit

We have audited the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Twenty-Seventh Judicial Circuit as of and for the years ended September 30, 1998 and 1997; June 30, 1998 and 1997; and March 31, 1998 and 1997, and have issued our report thereon dated October 29, 1998. That report expressed a qualified opinion on the special-purpose financial statements of the municipal divisions of the city of Clinton, the city of Windsor, the city of Butler, and the city of Rich Hill for the applicable fiscal periods. Except as discussed in the report on the financial statements of the municipal divisions referred to in the preceding sentence, we conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States.

Compliance

As part of obtaining reasonable assurance about whether the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Twenty-Seventh Judicial Circuit are free of material misstatement, we performed tests of the municipal divisions' compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grants, noncompliance with which could have a direct and material effect on the determination of financial statement amounts. However, providing an opinion on compliance with those provisions was not an objective of our audit, and accordingly, we do not express such an opinion. The results of our tests disclosed no material instances of noncompliance that are required to be reported under Government Auditing Standards. However, we noted certain other instances of noncompliance which are presented in the accompanying Management Advisory Report.

Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

In planning and performing our audit of the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Twenty-Seventh Judicial Circuit, we considered the municipal divisions' internal controls over financial reporting in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the special-purpose financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal controls over financial reporting. However, we noted certain matters involving the internal controls over financial reporting and their operation that we consider to be reportable conditions. Reportable conditions involve matters coming to our attention relating to significant deficiencies in the design or operation of the internal controls over financial reporting that, in our judgment, could adversely affect the municipal divisions' ability to record, process, summarize, and report financial data consistent with the assertions of management in the special-purpose financial statements.

A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of one or more of the internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that misstatements in amounts that would be material to the special-purpose financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. Our consideration of the internal controls over financial reporting would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal controls that might be reportable conditions and, accordingly, would not necessarily disclose all reportable conditions that are also considered to be material weaknesses. However, we noted certain matters involving the internal controls over financial reporting and their operation that we consider to be material weaknesses, and these matters are presented in the accompanying Management Advisory Report.

This report is intended for the information of the management of the various municipal divisions of the Twenty-Seventh Judicial Circuit and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

Notes to the Financial Statements

TWENTY-SEVENTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
MUNICIPAL DIVISIONS
NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

A. Reporting Entity and Basis of Presentation

The accompanying special-purpose financial statements present only selected data for the funds administered by the various municipal divisions of the Twenty-Seventh Judicial Circuit of the state of Missouri.

Receipts, disbursements, and changes in cash are presented for each municipal division. The operating costs of each division are paid by the respective municipality, the county, or the state of Missouri, as applicable, and are not included in the financial statements.

The municipal division is responsible for cash bonds posted until case disposition allows appropriate disbursement. Bond monies relating to pending cases, whether in the custody of the city or the municipal division, are included in these financial statements.

B. Basis of Accounting

The Statements of Receipts, Disbursements, and Changes in Cash are prepared on the cash basis of accounting; accordingly, amounts are recognized when they are received or disbursed. This basis of accounting differs from generally accepted accounting principles, which require revenues to be recognized when they become available and measurable or when they are earned and expenditures or expenses to be recognized when the related liabilities are incurred.

C. Fiscal Authority and Responsibility

The municipal divisions account for fines and court costs resulting from prosecution of violations of municipal ordinances before the municipal judge or received through the traffic violations bureau, as well as cash bonds posted. Municipal violations could include traffic offenses, both moving and nonmoving; parking meter and overtime parking offenses, and other violations for which amounts are received by the municipal divisions and remitted to the city treasury. The municipal divisions also may account for restitutions received and disbursed through the divisions.

2. Cash

Section 479.080, RSMo 1994, requires municipal divisions to deposit fines and court costs into the city treasury at least monthly. Some divisions maintain bank accounts into which fines and court costs are deposited and later remitted to the city treasury. Other divisions do not maintain bank accounts, transmitting fines and court costs directly to the city treasury.

Escrow bank accounts for bond monies received may be maintained by the city or the municipal division.
At the financial statement dates identified in the table of contents for the years ended 1998 and 1997, all bank account balances reported for the municipal divisions of the Twenty-Seventh Judicial Circuit were entirely covered by federal depositary insurance.

3. Disbursements to State

The municipal divisions collect various amounts that must be remitted to the state of Missouri. These amounts include 80 percent of the court costs for cases heard by an Associate Circuit Judge, the judgement for the Motorcycle Safety Trust Fund; and the surcharges for the Crime Victims' Compensation and Services to Victims Funds, the Peace Officer Standards and Training Commission Fund, and (until July 1, 1997, when municipal divisions were no longer required to assess the surcharge) the Independent Living Center Fund. The state's portions of these amounts are deposited into the city treasury for all municipal divisions, except the city of Windsor Municipal Division. Amounts remitted by the cities to the state are not included in the financial statements.

The city of Butler Municipal Division did not assess the Peace Officer Standards and Training Commission Fee.

4. City of Rich Hill

Bonds posted by defendants for the city of Rich Hill Municipal Division are deposited directly into the city treasury. The amounts held by the city at year-end could not be determined and, therefore, are not included in the financial statements.

State Auditor’s Current Recommendations

TWENTY-SEVENTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
MUNICIPAL DIVISIONS
MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT -
STATE AUDITOR'S CURRENT RECOMMENDATIONS

We have audited the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Twenty-Seventh Judicial Circuit as of and for the years ended September 30, 1998 and 1997; June 30, 1998 and 1997; and March 31, 1998 and 1997, and have issued our report thereon dated October 29, 1998. That report expressed a qualified opinion on the special-purpose financial statements of the municipal divisions of the city of Clinton, the city of Windsor, the city of Butler, and the city of Rich Hill for the applicable fiscal periods.

The following Management Advisory Report presents our findings and recommendations arising from our audit of the municipal divisions' special-purpose financial statements. During our audit, we also identified certain management practices which we believe could be improved. Our audit was not designed or intended to be a detailed study of every system, procedure, and transaction. Accordingly, the findings presented in the following report should not be considered as all-inclusive of areas where improvements may be needed.

1. City of Adrian Municipal Division

A. Although the municipal division operates a Traffic Violations Bureau (TVB) that allows certain offenses to be paid prior to the court date, a court order has not been issued to formally establish the TVB. A schedule which specifies the offenses which may be paid at the TVB and the amount of fines and costs to be imposed for each offense has been established; however, this schedule of fines and court costs has not been prominently posted at the TVB.

Section 479.050, RSMo 1994, states that a TVB may be established by the municipal judge. Supreme Court Rule No. 37.49 requires the municipal judge to establish the TVB by court order, to designate a TVB clerk, and to establish by schedule the amount of fines and court costs to be imposed for each offense. In addition, this schedule of fines and court costs is required to be prominently posted at the TVB.

B. The city has established a formal schedule of fines and court costs to be collected on tickets paid to the Court Clerk; however, the fines and court costs are not always collected consistently. During our review, fines and court costs collected for seven of the nine cases tested did not agree to the schedule.

To ensure fine and costs amounts are properly charged, the Court Clerk should collect amounts at the TVB that are in agreement with the fine and cost schedule.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Adrian Municipal Division:

A. Issue a court order which authorizes the establishment of the TVB and prominently post the schedule of fines and costs at the TVB.

B. Collect fines and costs paid through the TVB in accordance with the established fines and costs schedule.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Court Clerk responded that these recommendations have been implemented.

2. City of Butler Municipal Division

A. Our review noted the following concerns related to receipts:

1. Fines and court costs collected by the municipal division are not deposited into the city treasury on a timely basis. Deposits are generally made weekly and average $870. To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss, theft, or misuse of funds, receipts should be deposited intact daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

2. Receipts are not always deposited intact. Court receipts representing voluntary contributions to the city are withheld from other court receipts and transmitted to the city in cash or by check rather than deposited into the city treasury by the Court Clerk. We noted one instance where $700 in cash was withheld from a deposit of court monies and transmitted to the city 14 days later. In addition, we noted one instance where $70 was refunded in cash from accumulated receipts. To properly account for all receipts and ensure they are properly deposited into the city treasury, receipts should be deposited intact and refunds made by check.

B. The municipal division has not implemented adequate procedures to follow up on bonds held for over one year. As of March 31, 1998, the balance of the municipal division's bond escrow account included bond receipts totaling $869 which have been held in excess of one year. In addition, two outstanding checks totaling $90 have remained in the division's bond account since 1992.

An attempt should be made to determine the proper disposition of these monies. A review should be made of any bonds posted by persons who failed to make the required court appearance to determine if the bonds should be forfeited and monies paid over to the city treasury as provided by Section 479.210, RSMo 1994. For those bonds which cannot be forfeited and remain unclaimed, Section 447.595, RSMo 1994, requires bonds remaining unclaimed for one year after disposition of the case be turned over to the state's Unclaimed Property Section. In addition, outstanding check should be periodically reviewed to determine if payees can be located and if the checks can be reissued. If the payees cannot be located, Sections 447.550 through 447.585, RSMo 1994, which relate to unclaimed property, should be used to disburse these monies.

C. Neither the police department nor the municipal division maintains adequate records to account for traffic tickets and complaint forms issued and their ultimate disposition. The police department records traffic tickets issued on its computer system; however, a listing of tickets issued is not printed to account for the numerical sequence. Complaint forms are not prenumbered nor is a log maintained of all complaints issued.

Without a proper accounting of the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of traffic tickets and complaint forms, the police department and the municipal division cannot be assured that all traffic tickets and complaint forms issued are properly submitted to the court for processing. A record of the ultimate disposition of each traffic ticket and complaint form should be maintained to ensure all traffic tickets and complaint forms have been accounted for properly. In addition, the court should request the city obtain prenumbered complaint forms.

D. The Court Clerk collects fines, costs, and bond monies. The Court Clerk is only bonded for $2,000. Court collections for the year ending March 31, 1998, totaled more than $57,000. Failure to adequately bond all persons with access to assets exposes the court and the city to risk of loss.

E. The court does not file with the city a monthly report of all cases heard in court. Section 479.080.3, RSMo 1994, requires the Court Clerk to prepare a monthly listing of all cases heard in court, including all fines and court costs collected, to be verified by the Court Clerk or Municipal Judge, and filed with the City Clerk.

Similar conditions were noted in our prior report.

WE AGAIN RECOMMEND the city of Butler Municipal Division:

A. Deposit receipts intact daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100. In addition, all refunds should be made by check.

B. Dispose of unclaimed bonds in accordance with state law, and periodically review outstanding checks to determine if the payees can be located and if the checks can be reissued. If payees cannot be located, the monies should be disbursed to the state's Unclaimed Property Section in accordance with state law.

C. Work with the police department to ensure records are maintained to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all traffic tickets and complaint forms assigned and issued. In addition, request the city obtain prenumbered complaint forms.

D. Request the city consider obtaining additional bond coverage for the Court Clerk.

E. Prepare monthly reports of court actions and file these reports with the city in accordance with state law.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Associate Circuit Judge and the Court Clerk responded as follows:

A&B. These recommendations have been implemented.

C. The Associate Circuit Judge recommended that the state come up with a program or procedure that only requires one set of sequential numbers.

D. We will discuss this with the city.

E. We will begin preparing this report for the city.

3. City of Clinton Municipal Division

A. We noted the following concerns related to fines and court costs received by the municipal division:

1) The municipal division accepts cash, checks, and money orders for fines and court costs and transmits monies directly to the city. Payment information, including the method of payment, is recorded on the municipal court's computer system. A report is generated indicating the composition of receipts; however, this report is not reconciled to the money transmitted to the city. To ensure receipts are transmitted intact, the composition of recorded receipts should be reconciled to the composition of money transmitted to the city.

2) Receipts are not always transmitted to the city on a timely basis. Fines and court costs collected are transmitted approximately weekly to the city. In addition, checks and money orders are not restrictively endorsed until after they are transmitted to the City Collector for deposit. To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss, theft, or misuse of funds, receipts should be transmitted to the city daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100, and checks and money orders should be restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt.

3) Receipts were not always transmitted to the city intact. We noted one instance where $40 cash was withheld from court receipts and paid to a probation officer for a community service fee. To properly account for all receipts and ensure they are properly transmitted to the city, receipts should be transmitted intact to the city and disbursement should be made by check.

B. The municipal division does not issue receipt slips for restitution monies received through the mail. In addition, the receipt slips used for restitution monies are duplicates with one copy given to the payor and one copy placed in the case file. As a result, the municipal division is unable to account for the numerical sequence of receipt slips issued for restitution monies. To adequately account for all restitution received, prenumbered receipt slips should be issued for all monies received and their numerical sequence accounted for properly.

C. Our review noted the following concerns relating to bonds:

1) A bond bank account is maintained by the municipal division for the deposit and withdrawal of bond monies. However, we noted several instances where bond monies were receipted, but held in cash pending court disposition. In one instance a $70 cash bond was held 16 days before being transmitted to the city and applied toward fines and court costs. This procedure increases the risk of loss, theft, or misuse of bond monies. To ensure monies are accounted for properly, all bonds should be deposited immediately into the bond bank account and subsequent disbursements made by check.

2) The municipal division does not issue receipt slips for bond monies received from other police departments or county sheriff departments. To adequately account for all bond monies received, prenumbered receipt slips should be issued by the municipal division for all bond monies immediately upon receipt and the receipt slips should be reconciled to bank deposits.

D. Neither the police department nor the municipal division maintains adequate records to account for all summons forms issued and their ultimate disposition. A summons log is maintained which indicates the summons book assigned to the police officers, but records are not maintained to account for the numerical sequence of the summonses issued or their ultimate disposition.

Without a proper accounting of the numerical sequence and disposition of summons forms, the police department and the court cannot be assured that all summons forms issued are properly submitted to the court for processing, properly voided, or not prosecuted.

This condition was also noted in our prior report.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Clinton Municipal Division:

A.1. Reconcile the composition of receipts to the composition of monies transmitted to the city.

2. Transmit receipts daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100, and restrictively endorse all checks and money orders immediately upon receipt.

3. Transmit all receipts intact and make any disbursements by check.

B. Issue prenumbered receipt slips for all restitution money collected and account for their numerical sequence.

C.1. Deposit all bonds into the bond bank account immediately upon receipt. Subsequent disbursements of the bonds should be made by check.

2. Issue receipt slips for all bond monies received.

D. Work with the police department to ensure records are maintained to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all summonses.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Judge, Court Clerk, and City Clerk responded as follows:

A.1. This recommendation has been implemented.

A.2. Receipts have been held in order to have cash available to make change for court; however, the city will establish a change fund for the court. After the change fund is established, receipts will be transmitted to the City Collector daily and will be endorsed by the City Collector.

A.3. We will ensure receipts are transmitted intact to the city and make disbursements by check.

B. We are currently using prenumbered three-part receipt slips leaving one copy of the receipt slip in the receipt book to account for the numerical sequence.

C.1.& C.2. These recommendations have been implemented.

D. The summonses are not under the court's control until they are filed with the Court Clerk. We will cooperate with the police department in maintaining records to account for the numerical sequence. The Court Clerk has ordered new summons books with four copies, which will be issued to the police department, and which will allow one copy to remain in the book to account for the numerical sequence.

4. City of Rich Hill Municipal Division

A. The municipal division accepts cash, checks, and money orders for fines, court costs, and bonds. Payments are receipted directly into the city's computerized cash register and amounts received by the municipal division are commingled with other city receipts. The method of payment is entered into the cash register; however, reports containing this information are not generated. As a result, the composition of recorded receipts is not reconciled to the composition of bank deposits. To ensure receipts are deposited intact, the composition of recorded receipts should be reconciled to the composition of bank deposits.

B. The Court Clerk does not maintain a bond ledger and does not prepare monthly listings of open items (liabilities) and reconcile the listings to the city's bond account. Bond monies received are deposited into the city's bank account and recorded in a restricted cash account in the city's general ledger. This restricted cash account had a balance of $365 at March 31, 1998, that could not be identified to a specific case by the Court Clerk. During our review of the activity posted to this general ledger account, we identified a $150 bond posted in 1997 relating to a closed case that had not been refunded. In addition, we noted an $82 bond refund posted to this account; however, the related bond receipt was never posted to this account.

A bond ledger indicating the related case, date and amount of receipt, and date of disbursement is necessary to ensure proper accountability over bonds. A monthly listing of open items is also necessary to ensure accountability over open cases and to ensure monies held in trust by the city are sufficient to meet liabilities.

C. Neither the police department nor the municipal division maintains adequate records to account for the numerical sequence traffic tickets issued and their ultimate disposition. The Court Clerk maintains a log for tickets received by the court listing each ticket number, the defendant, and the officer; however, the log is not complete. Information for some tickets has not been recorded. Neither the police department nor the Court Clerk could determine whether these tickets were issued, lost or voided. In addition, complaint forms are not prenumbered and no log is maintained for complaint forms issued.

Without a proper accounting of the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of traffic tickets and complaint forms, the police department and the municipal division cannot be assured that all traffic tickets and complaint forms issued are accounted for properly. A record of the ultimate disposition of each traffic ticket and complaint form should be maintained to ensure all traffic tickets and complaint forms have been accounted for properly. In addition, the court should request the city to obtain prenumbered complaint forms.

A similar condition was also noted in our prior report.

D. Although the city has established a formal schedule of fines and court costs to be collected on tickets paid through the TVB, the schedule is not prominently posted at the TVB. Section 479.050, RSMo, and Supreme Court Rule No. 37.49 require a schedule which designates the offenses within the authority of the TVB clerk, and the amount of fines and costs to be imposed for each offense, to be prominently posted at the TVB.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Rich Hill Municipal Division:

A. Indicate the method of payment for each receipt and reconcile the composition of the receipts to the composition of the deposit.

B. Maintain a bond ledger, prepare monthly listings of open items, and reconcile the listing to moneys held in trust by the city. In addition, the Court Clerk should determine disposition of monies remaining in the city's restricted bond account.

C. Work with the police department to ensure complete records are maintained to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all traffic tickets and complaint forms assigned and issued. In addition, the municipal division should request the city obtain prenumbered complaint forms.

D. Prominently post the schedule of fines and costs at the TVB.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The City Clerk responded as follows:

A.,B., &D. We will implement these recommendations.

C. We will work with the police department to maintain better records of tickets issued. We plan to issue a UTT form with a complaint form to provide a numerical sequence for complaint forms.

5. City of Windsor Municipal Division

A. The Court Clerk performs all duties related to the collection of fines, court costs, and bonds. As a result, the duties of receiving, recording, depositing monies, and reconciling the municipal division's bank account are not adequately segregated.

To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. Internal controls would be improved by segregating the duties of receiving and depositing court monies from recording receipts. If proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum there should be a supervisory review of the reconciliations between receipts and deposits and the bank reconciliations.

B. Our review noted the following concerns related to bonds:

1. Bond forms used by the police department to document the receipt of bond monies from a defendant are not prenumbered.

   To adequately account for bond monies, prenumbered bond forms or receipt slips should be issued for all bonds received by the police department and the numerical sequence should be accounted for properly.

2. The municipal division has not implemented adequate procedures to follow-up on bonds held over one year. As of September 30, 1998, the balance in the municipal division's bond account included bond receipts totaling $245 from cases dating back to 1994.

   An attempt should be made to determine the proper disposition of these monies. A review should be made of any bonds posted by persons who failed to make the required court appearance to determine if the bonds should be forfeited and monies paid over to the city treasury as provided by Section 479.210, RSMo 1994. For those bonds which cannot be forfeited and remain unclaimed, Section 447.595, RSMo 1994, requires bonds remaining unclaimed for one year after disposition of the case be turned over to the state's Unclaimed Property Section.

C. Neither the police department nor the municipal division maintains adequate records to account for all traffic tickets issued and their ultimate disposition. The police department instructs each police officer to maintain a listing of tickets issued, but some of the officers did not maintain a listing, and many of the listings were not complete. During our review, fifteen of the sixty tickets tested could not be located by the municipal division.

   Without a proper accounting of the numerical sequence and disposition of traffic tickets, the police department and the municipal division cannot be assured that all traffic tickets issued were properly submitted to the court for processing. A log listing the traffic ticket, the date issued, and the violator's name would ensure all traffic tickets were properly submitted to the court for processing, properly voided, or not prosecuted. A record of the ultimate disposition of each traffic ticket should also be maintained to ensure all traffic tickets have been accounted for properly.

Conditions similar to parts B.1. and C. were also noted in our prior report.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Windsor Municipal Division:

A. Adequately segregate the duties of receiving, recording, and depositing court receipts. At a minimum, there should be a documented supervisory review of the reconciliations between receipts and deposits and a review of the monthly bank reconciliations.

B.1. Work with the police department to ensure prenumbered bond forms are issued and the numerical sequence is accounted for properly.

2. Follow up on bonds relating to inactive cases to determine if they should be refunded, forfeited, or turned over to the state's Unclaimed Property Section.

C. Work with the police department to ensure records are maintained to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all tickets assigned and issued.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Judge and Court Clerk responded as follows:

A. The Municipal Judge now reviews bank reconciliations monthly and signs off on the bank reconciliation to document his review.

B.1. The police department now has prenumbered bond forms and is currently using them.

B.2. These bonds have been forfeited to the city.

C. The police department is now keeping records to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all tickets. The court will cooperate with the police department and prosecutor in ultimately identifying the disposition of all tickets.

This report is intended for the information of the management of the various municipal divisions of the Twenty-Seventh Judicial Circuit and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

Any bond monies remaining unclaimed should be remitted to the state in accordance with state law. Procedures should be established to routinely follow-up on cash bonds remaining on hand over one year.

AUDIT REPORT

PUBLIC WATER SUPPLY DISTRICT NUMBER 1

NEWTON COUNTY, MISSOURI

YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31, 1998

From The Office Of State Auditor
Claire McCaskill

Report No. 99-26
April 22, 1999

Office Of The
State Auditor Of Missouri
Claire McCaskill

FACT SHEET

Some problems were discovered as a result of an audit conducted by our office in response to the request of petitioners from Public Water Supply District Number 1, Newton County, Missouri.

The district does not have a formal bidding policy and supporting documentation was not maintained for some expenditures.

The district paid $18,000 per year to an individual for management and maintenance of the water district during fiscal years 1998 and 1997. The district has used the same individual for several years, and there is no documentation of when the district last solicited proposals for these services.

Formal bidding procedures for major purchases provide a framework for economical management of district resources and help ensure the district receives fair value by contracting with the lowest and best bidders. The board agreed with our findings and plans to establish formal bidding policies and procedures.

A business owned by the son of a former board member who served until April 1998 was paid $12,543 from February 1997 to January 1998, to install water meters and lines and fix water leaks. The district did not solicit bids for the services. In addition, the former board member indicated he abstained from voting on contracting with this individual to perform these services; however, the board minutes did not always document specifically whether he abstained from voting and, in one instance, the minutes indicate he voted to contract with his son.

Discussions and decisions concerning transactions where potential conflicts of interest exist should be completely documented so that the public has assurance that no district official has benefited improperly. In addition, we recommended the Board of Directors establish a policy which addresses these types of situations and provides a code of conduct for district officials. The board agreed and plans to adopt a code of conduct.

The board should adopt procedures for independent reviews of billings, collections, delinquent accounts, canceled checks, and bank reconciliations. The method of payment is not recorded on billing stubs. Improvements are needed in recording hookup and meter connection fees. The amount of water primacy fees remitted to the state may not have been computed correctly. The district board agreed and plans to adopt a code of conduct.

The board should adopt procedures for independent reviews of billings, collections, delinquent accounts, canceled checks, and bank reconciliations. The method of payment is not recorded on billing stubs. Improvements are needed in recording hookup and meter connection fees. The amount of water primacy fees remitted to the state may not have been computed correctly. The district has not maintained adequate records of refundable meter deposits.

We recommend, and the board agrees, that independent reviews be performed and documented of the billing, receipt, deposit, and delinquent account records. We also recommended dual signatures be required on checks or independent monthly reviews be established of canceled checks and bank reconciliations. The board has said monthly independent reviews of canceled checks and bank reconciliations will be conducted.

Although the district's bylaws state that records shall be subject to inspection by any person owning land or residing within the district we recommended, and the board agreed to establish, a formal policy regarding public access to district records which complies with state law. This policy should establish a person to contact and an address to mail requests for access to records.

The district contracted with an independent CPA to perform a review of agreed-upon procedures for the period January 1, 1997 through July 31, 1998; however, the district does not obtain audits as required by state law. The district has indicated that audits will now be performed according to state law.

The district's annual budgets were not fully in compliance with state law requirements. For example, the budgets did not include a budget message nor comparative statements of revenues and expenditures for the two preceding years as required. Instead, only one year of comparative data was included. In addition, the Board of Directors does not periodically compare actual revenues and expenditures to budgeted amounts. As a result, the actual expenditures exceeded budgeted amounts by $5,344 for the year ended December 31, 1997. The district says budgets will meet state law requirements and all expenditures over budgeted amounts will be approved by the board.

MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT

PUBLIC WATER SUPPLY DISTRICT NUMBER 1
NEWTON COUNTY, MISSOURI
SUMMARY OF FINDINGS

1. Expenditures (pages 8-9)

   The district does not have a formal bidding policy and supporting documentation was not maintained for some expenditures. The son of a former board member was paid $12,543 for various services and it appears the former board member voted to approve contracting with his son in one instance.

2. Accounting Controls and Procedures (pages 9-11)

   The board should adopt procedures for independent reviews of billings, collections, delinquent accounts, canceled checks, and bank reconciliations. The method of payment is not recorded on billing stubs. Improvements are needed in recording hookup and meter connection fees. The amount of water primacy fees remitted to the state may not have been computed correctly. The district has not maintained adequate records of refundable meter deposits.

3. Minutes and Records (page 11)

   Board minutes are not always signed. The district should establish a policy regarding public access to district records which complies with state law.

4. Audits and Budgets (page 12)

   The district does not obtain audits as required by state law. Improvements are needed in the district's budgeting documents and procedures.

1. Expenditures

A. The district does not have a formal bidding policy. As a result, the decision of whether to solicit bids for a particular purchase is made on an item-by-item basis. Bids were either not solicited or bid documentation was not retained for pump repairs ($4,814 paid to one vendor in June and July 1998), and installing and fixing water lines and meters ($12,543 paid to one vendor from February 1997 to January 1998).

In addition, the district paid $18,000 per year to an individual for management and maintenance of the water district during fiscal years 1998 and 1997. The district has used the same individual for several years, and there is no documentation of when the district last solicited proposals for these services.

Formal bidding procedures for major purchases provide a framework for economical management of district resources and help ensure the district receives fair value by contracting with the lowest and best bidders. Competitive bidding also helps ensure all parties are given equal opportunity to participate in the district's business. Various approaches are appropriate, based on dollar amount and type of purchase. Whichever approach is used, complete documentation should be maintained of all bids and proposals received and reasons noted why the bid or proposal was selected.

B. Vendor invoices or other supporting documentation were not retained for some expenditures. These expenditures included $250 for bond coverage and $865 for water line and meter installation. All expenditures should be supported by paid receipts or vendor invoices to ensure the obligations were actually incurred and the expenditures represent appropriate uses of public funds.

C. A business owned by the son of a former board member who served until April 1998 was paid $12,543 from February 1997 to January 1998, to install water meters and lines and fix water leaks. As noted in Part A., the district did not solicit bids for the services. In addition, the former board member indicated he abstained from voting on contracting with this individual to perform these services; however, the board minutes did not always document specifically whether he abstained from voting and, in one instance, the minutes indicate he voted to contract with his son.

Discussions and decisions concerning transactions where potential conflicts of interest exist should be completely documented so that the public has assurance that no district official has benefited improperly. In addition, the Board of Directors should consider establishing a policy which addresses these types of situations and provides a code of conduct for district officials.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Directors:

A. Establish formal bidding policies and procedures, with provisions for documentation of the justification for selecting and rejecting bids or proposals.

B. Require adequate supporting documentation for all expenditures.

C. Avoid actual or apparent conflicts of interest. Also, in the future, if a relative of a board member is considered to perform services for the district, that member should abstain form voting on the hiring and that action should be adequately documented in the board minutes. In addition, the board should consider adopting a code of conduct for district officials.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. We will establish formal bidding policies and procedures.

B. Supporting documentation for all expenditures will be maintained.

C. We agree with the conflict of interest recommendation and plan to adopt a code of conduct.

2. Accounting Controls and Procedures

A. The district's management and maintenance contractor is responsible for reading water meters, preparing bills, and reconciling billings to collections and delinquent accounts. The contractor hires an individual to receive and deposit water payments. District officials do not regularly review the billing, receipt, and delinquent account records. To ensure billings and collections are properly recorded and to ensure proper follow-up action is taken on delinquent accounts, the board should establish procedures for formal monthly independent reviews of the billing, receipt, deposit, and delinquent account records.

B. The board treasurer usually signs all checks, and checks require only one signature. In addition, the treasurer is responsible for reviewing canceled checks and preparing monthly bank reconciliations. To ensure checks represent valid disbursements, the board should require dual signatures on all checks (at least one signature should be a board member) or provide for formal monthly independent reviews of canceled checks and bank reconciliations.

C. The district receives cash and checks for the payment of water bills. The billing stubs which accompany the payment serve as the district’s initial record of the receipt; however, the method of payment (cash, check, money order, etc.) is not recorded.

To ensure the proper handling and safeguarding of district monies, the method of payment should be indicated on the billing stubs and the composition of receipts should be reconciled to the composition of bank deposits.

D. The district does not keep adequate records of hookup and meter connection fees collected. The district does not keep a listing of new hookups and meter connections or whether fee amounts have been paid or are still due. It appears the district collected and deposited at least $200 in meter connection fees during the year ending December 31, 1998; however, only $100 was recorded as new installation fees on the district's financial statement.

To ensure all hookup and meter connection fees are collected and properly accounted for, the district should maintain a central record of the appropriate fees due. The district should keep a record of all payments received, reconcile payments received to payments due, and follow up on any unpaid amounts.

E. The Department of Natural Resources (DNR) requires the district to pay an annual primacy fee based on the number and type of service connections. The district in turn charges all water customers a $2 annual primacy fee.

In August 1998, the district estimated there were 179 customers with service connections and (after collection discounts) remitted $354 to the DNR. However, in October 1998, the district billed the primacy fee to approximately 193 customers totaling $386. The district should review this matter and ensure the proper amount was remitted to the DNR and ensure future remittances are based on the actual number of service connections.

F. District customers were required to pay a $5 meter deposit when the district began providing services during the 1960's. The board discontinued the deposit requirements but currently has approximately $900 in a savings account for the deposits. The district does not maintain a listing of deposits received, refunds, and balances. District officials estimated that approximately 40 current customers paid the $5 deposit.

The district should attempt to identify the amount of meter deposits still on hand and prepare a listing of all deposits. Because meter deposits are no longer required, the board should consider refunding the deposits or applying the deposits to current billings and closing out the savings account.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Directors:

A. Ensure monthly independent reviews are performed and documented of the billing, receipt, deposit, and delinquent account records and ensure adequate follow up is performed on delinquent accounts.

B. Require dual signatures on checks or establish monthly independent reviews of canceled checks and bank reconciliations.

C. Record the method of payment on corresponding billing stubs received and reconcile the composition of receipts to bank deposits.

D. Ensure records are maintained for all hookup and meter connection fees collected.

E. Ensure the appropriate amount of primacy fees is remitted to the DNR.

F. Attempt to identify all meter deposits held by the district. The board should consider refunding all meter deposits or applying them to current billings and close the savings account.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. Monthly independent reviews will be performed.

B. Monthly independent reviews of canceled checks and bank reconciliations will be conducted.

C. We agree.

D. We agree to monitor and keep records of hookup fees.

E. Primacy fees will reflect actual amounts.

F. We plan to refund all meter deposits and close the meter deposit account.

3. Minutes and Records

A. The board minutes are usually prepared by the board secretary or a board member acting as secretary, but the minutes are not always signed. The board minutes should be signed by the preparer and by the Board President to provide an independent attestation that the minutes are a correct record of the matters discussed and actions taken during the board's meetings.

B. Although the district's bylaws state that records shall be subject to inspection by any person owning land or residing within the district, the board should establish a formal policy regarding public access to district records which complies with state law. This policy should establish a person to contact and an address to mail requests for access to records. Section 610.023, RSMo Supp. 1998, lists requirements for making district records available to the public.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Directors:

A. Ensure board minutes are signed by the Secretary and Board President to attest to their completeness and accuracy.

B. Establish policies and procedures regarding public access to district records which comply with state law.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. The secretary and president will sign minutes.

B. We will establish a policy regarding public access to district records as provided by state law.

4. Audits and Budgets

A. The district contracted with an independent CPA to perform a review of agreed-upon procedures for the period January 1, 1997 through July 31, 1998; however, the district does not obtain audits as required by Section 247.080, RSMo 1994, and district by-laws.

B. The district's annual budgets were not fully in compliance with Chapter 67, RSMo. For example, the budgets did not include a budget message nor comparative statements of revenues and expenditures for the two preceding years as required. Instead, only one year of comparative data was included. In addition, the Board of Directors does not periodically compare actual revenues and expenditures to budgeted amounts. As a result, the actual expenditures exceeded budgeted amounts by $5,344 for the year ended December 31, 1997.

Budgets are a planning tool and should serve as a guide throughout the year to monitor revenues and expenditures. Section 67.010, RSMo 1994, lists items required in the budget, including a budget message and the two prior years' actual revenues and expenditures. Section 67.040, RSMo 1994, prohibits expenditures in excess of budgeted amounts unless budget amendments are approved by the board.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Directors:

A. Obtain audits as required by state law.

B. Prepare complete and accurate annual budget documents that contain all information required by state law and/or necessary to provide a complete financial plan for the district. In addition, actual expenditures should not exceed budgeted amounts unless appropriate budget amendments are approved.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. Audits will be performed according to state law.

B. Budgets will meet state law requirements and all expenditures over budgeted amounts will be approved by the board.

This report is intended for the information of the district's management and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

AUDIT REPORT

SPECIAL REVIEW OF THE
ST. LOUIS
BOARD OF POLICE COMMISSIONERS

From The Office Of State Auditor
Claire McCaskill

Report No. 99-25
April 21, 1999

Office Of The
State Auditor Of Missouri
Claire McCaskill

The following problems were discovered as a result of our office's most recent audit of the St. Louis Board of Police Commissioners.

The St. Louis Police Board is prohibited from paying overtime to any officer ranking sergeant and above. The Board of Police Commissioners' records indicate overtime payments were made in the amount of $242,069 in 1998, and $238,545, in 1997. These payments were made to approximately 96 officers ranking sergeant and above. State law prohibits these payments.

The St. Louis Board of Police Commissioners paid $10,902 and $12,473 to the Chief of Police for unused vacation leave and discretionary holidays in 1997 and 1996, respectively. The compensation to be paid to members of the police force is established by state law, not by the city of St. Louis. By paying the chief for unused leave, the board has exceeded its authority and paid the chief an amount in excess of the salary that the General Assembly has authorized. State law establishes the compensation of members of the police force that the General Assembly has authorized the Board of Police Commissioners to pay. Further, state law provides those ranks (police officers, sergeants and lieutenants) that may be paid for unused vacation time. Officers above the rank of lieutenant are not included in this authorization.

On June 30, 1998, the Board of Police Commissioners maintained over $6.9 million in checking accounts and certificates of deposit (CD's) at one bank. The Board has not bid any of its banking services. It appears the police department could have earned additional interest income by changing its investment practices. This condition was also noted in our two prior reports on the St. Louis Board of Police Commissioners for years 1991 and 1994.

The board has agreed it should choose its banking services through competitive bidding. It expects to publish a plan within 90 days which would take effect during Fiscal Year 2000.

Our review of the budgeting process revealed the Board of Police Commissioners does not prepare formal budgets of revenues, resources, and expenditures for an account the Board refers to as the Secretary's Account. This condition was also noted in our two prior reports on the St. Louis Board of Police Commissioners for years 1991 and 1994.

The Board of Police Commissioners transferred over $1.7 million from the city's General Fund to the Secretary's Account. Of this amount over $826,000 remained in the Secretary's Account on June 30, 1998, the end of the department's fiscal year. The department carried over to fiscal year 1999 approximately $561,500 in expenditures that should have been paid out of its General Fund budget. Had these expenditures been charged against the 1998 budget, the department would have overspent its budget by approximately $559,800, which is a violation of state law.

The Board has agreed to budget the Secretary's Fund and implement better expenditure controls.

In prior reviews of the St. Louis Board of Police Commissioners, the following conditions were discovered, and corrective measures were recommended by the State Auditor. However, the problems have yet to be corrected.

Other Items Noted:

- In January 1998, the Board of Police Commissioners bid and purchased thirty-two high back chairs for the learning center totaling $22,048 or $689 per chair; however, the low bid totaled $14,080 for the same chairs. No documentation was provided to explain the basis or justification for awarding the bid to a vendor other than the low bidder.

- We noted instances in which separate purchase orders totaling in excess of $1,000 were issued to the same vendor within ten days of each other for the purchase of similar items. Department policy requires any purchase in excess of $1,000 be bid by the department's Purchasing Division.

- The State Auditor also noted that the department's Budget and Finance Division did not ensure all disbursements are supported by vendor-provided invoices which contain an adequate description of the goods or services needed. In addition documentation to support travel advances to employees was also lacking.

- The department's accounting controls and procedures over monies collected need improvement as noted in pages 26 through 34 of the review.

- As of September 1998, the Board of Police Commissioners was holding over $79,000 in interest monies earned on Criminal Activity Forfeiture Act (CAFA) Funds. Article IX, section 7 of the Missouri Constitution relates to school funds. This provision states that all proceeds resulting from the forfeitures and fines collected shall be distributed annually to the schools.

STATE AUDITOR'S REPORT

CLAIRE C. McCASKILL
Missouri State Auditor

The Board of Police Commissioners of the St. Louis Police Department
St. Louis, Missouri 63103

We have conducted a special review of the St. Louis Board of Police Commissioners (SLBPC). The scope of our review included, but was not necessarily limited to, the two fiscal years ended June 30, 1998. The objectives of this review were to:

1. Review certain revenues received and certain expenditures made by the St. Louis Police Department.

2. Review the cash balances and the related individual account balances of the Secretary's Account.

3. Review certain management practices and financial information for compliance with certain constitutional provisions, statutes, attorney general's opinions, and board policies as we deemed necessary or appropriate in the circumstances.

4. Follow-up on the status of recommendations made in our previous report.

Our review was made in accordance with applicable generally accepted government auditing standards and included such procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. The SLBPC had engaged KPMG Peat Marwick LLP, Certified Public Accountants (CPA), and Arthur Andersen LLP, CPA, to perform audits of the board for the years ended June 30, 1998, and 1997, respectively. To minimize any duplication of effort, we reviewed the reports and substantiating workpapers of these CPA firms. We also examined the SLBPC records we deemed necessary; made inquires of SLBPC employees; and examined other papers and documents as deemed appropriate for the review.

As part of our review, we assessed the SLBPC's management controls to the extent we determined necessary to evaluate the specific matters described above and not to provide assurance on those controls. With respect to management controls, we obtained an understanding of the design of relevant policies and procedures and whether they have been placed in operation and we assessed control risk.

Our review was limited to the specific matters described above and was based on selective tests and procedures considered appropriate in the circumstances. Had we performed additional procedures, other information might have come to our attention that would have been included in this report.

The accompanying History, Organization, and Statistical Information are presented for informational purposes. This information was obtained from the SLBPC's management and was not subjected to the procedures applied in the review of the SLBPC.

The accompanying Management Advisory Report presents our findings and recommendations arising from our review of the SLBPC.

MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT SECTION

Management Advisory Report -
State Auditor's Current Recommendation

SPECIAL REVIEW OF THE
ST. LOUIS BOARD OF POLICE COMMISSIONERS
SUMMARY OF FINDINGS

1. Compensation and Personnel Matters (pages 9-16)

The SLBPC paid $23,375 to the Chief of Police for unused vacation leave and discretionary holidays in 1997 and 1996. The department made expenditures totaling $480,614 from grants for overtime payments to sergeants and above. The department made expenditures totaling $61,563 for health and life insurance benefits for current and former commissioners. These expenditures are apparently in violation of state laws. The department does not have a written policy prohibiting the personal usage of department vehicles, the department does not require that mileage logs be maintained to ensure the vehicles were used for business purposes, and the working condition fringe benefit was not included as compensation on a civilian who was assigned a vehicle.

2. Budgets and Financial Reporting (pages 16-19)

A budget is not prepared for some funds controlled by the SLBPC. The department does not prepare monthly detailed financial reports for the board.

3. Bidding and Contracts (pages 19-24)

The SLBPC has not bid banking services. Bids were not always solicited in accordance with the department's bidding policy and adequate documentation was not maintained regarding the evaluation of bid proposals or the basis and justification for awarding the contract to a vendor other than the lowest bidder. Purchase orders in excess of $1,000 were issued to the same vendor to acquire similar items without soliciting bids. The department did not have formal written agreements with some companies and individuals providing services and with not-for-profit organizations. The SLBPC had not assigned individuals with sufficient technical qualifications to monitor the management contract with Regional Justice Information Systems.

4. Disbursement Procedures (pages 24-26)

Expenditures totaling $561,500 that were incurred in fiscal year 1998 were held and not paid until fiscal year 1999. Additionally, had these expenditures been charged against the 1998 budget, the department would have exceeded its budget authority. Cash advances totaling $8,256 were made without a subsequent travel request report or supporting receipts. There were several expenditures which did not appear to be a necessary or prudent use of public funds. Adequate documentation was not available to support some disbursements and supporting documentation was not available for other disbursements. IRS Form 1099's are not being filed with the Internal Revenue Service.

5. Receipt Accounting Controls and Procedures (pages 26-34)

The department's accounting controls and procedures over receipts could be improved.

6. Inventory Controls and Procedures (pages 34-37)

A summary showing beginning inventory balances, purchases, issuances, and ending inventory balance for supplies and parts are not prepared. Some supplies were overstocked and obsolete. Fleet Services does not perform periodic physical inventory counts of the parts kept in stock. Periodic inventory is not performed by staff outside the Armory on the guns held in stock.

7. Traffic Ticket and Parking Tag Controls (pages 37-39)

The department does not account for tickets assigned and issued and their ultimate disposition. Ticket records were not retained in accordance with the Missouri Municipal Records Manual.

8. Cash Funds (pages 39-40)

There is no independent review of cash funds under the exclusive control of the Vice/Narcotics Division to ensure they are properly maintained.

9. State Forfeitures (pages 40-41)

The SLBPC was holding over $79,000 in interest monies earned on Criminal Activity Forfeiture Act Funds. The SLBPC has been making a profit on the storage of vehicles which appears to conflict with state law.

10. Minutes of Meetings and Records (pages 41-42)

During some of the closed meetings, matters were discussed which do not appear to be allowed by state law. Various records were not retained in accordance with the Missouri Municipal Records Manual.

11. Fixed Asset Records and Procedures (pages 42-43)

The SLBPC's policy on fixed assets does not include procedures for performing an annual inventory. An annual physical inventory is not performed, additions and deletions of fixed assets are not recorded in the asset records as they occur, fixed asset additions are not reconciled to equipment purchases, and asset records are not maintained in a manner that allows beginning balances, additions, and deletions for each year to be reconciled to balances at the end of the year.

12. Computer Controls (pages 43-45)

The department has no formal contingency plan for the computer system. Access to computer files and programs are not adequately restricted and numerous incorrect log-on attempts are not investigated on a periodic basis.

SPECIAL REVIEW OF THE
ST. LOUIS BOARD OF POLICE COMMISSIONERS
MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT -
STATE AUDITOR'S CURRENT RECOMMENDATIONS

1. Compensation and Personnel Matters

A. The SLBPC paid $10,902 and $12,473 to the Chief of Police for unused vacation leave and discretionary holidays in 1997 and 1996, respectively. The approval of these payments was documented as follows:

1) On December 27, 1995, the SLBPC approved a payment of $3,443 to the Chief of Police for two weeks of unused vacation leave and two unused discretionary holidays.

2) In a memorandum dated July 17, 1996, the Board President authorized that the Chief be compensated $2,984 for additional unused leave as of that date.

3) The SLBPC could not provide any documentation authorizing seven subsequent payments totaling $16,948.

The compensation to be paid to members of the police force is not determined by the city of St. Louis or any of its agencies, but by the Missouri General Assembly. Section 84.160, RSMo 1994, establishes the compensation of members of the police force that the General Assembly has authorized the Board of Police Commissioners to pay. Further, the statute provides those ranks (police officers, sergeants and lieutenants) that may be paid for unused vacation time. Officers above the rank of lieutenant are not included in this authorization.

In Schoemehl v. Whaley, 598 S. W.2d 607 (Mo. App. 1980), the Court ruled that the SLBPC did not have the authority to depart from the salary statute and pay the Chief of Police for overtime. The Court also noted that the statute recognized that the Chief had "unique responsibilities" holding a "supervisory status which is incompatible with being strictly accountable for hours on the job. The ultimate responsibility for the police department rests in that office twenty-four hours a day."

By paying the chief for unused leave, the board has exceeded its authority and paid the chief an amount in excess of the salary that the General Assembly has authorized.

B. During the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997, the department was involved in over twenty-five grant programs funded by state or federal agencies. These programs paid for certain officers' salaries, overtime, and fringe benefits. SLBPC information indicated that $242,069 and $238,545 in expenditures related to overtime that was paid to approximately 96 officers ranking sergeant and above.

Under Section 84.160.4, the SLBPC is precluded from paying or allowing overtime compensation to any officers of the rank of sergeant or above. In addition, no other provision of Section 84.160, RSMo Cumulative Supp. 1998, authorizes or allows the board to pay additional compensation to such officers under the circumstances we reviewed. Therefore, SLBPC is apparently prohibited from paying overtime to sergeants and above.

C. During the two years ended June 30, 1998, the SLBPC paid $61,563 in health and life insurance for three current and nineteen former commissioners. Eleven of the former commissioners have been receiving health and life insurance benefits paid by the SLBPC for more than ten years. These former commissioners served between three months and seven years.

Section 84.160.10, RSMo 1994, requires the SLBPC to provide health and life insurance for current and retired officers and employees. Commissioners hold office pursuant to section 84.040, RSMo 1994; as such they are officers of the Board of Police Commissioners, not the police department. Section 84.030, RSMo 1994, indicates the terms of commissioners end through expiration, resignation, or death, not retirement. Therefore, it appears the commissioners are not entitled to life and health insurance benefits under Section 84.160.11, RSMo Cumulative Supp. 1998.

In addition, Section 84.040, RSMo 1994, sets compensation for commissioners at $1,000 per annum. Therefore, it appears the insurance benefits represent additional compensation in apparent violation of Section 84.040, RSMo 1994.

A similar condition was also noted in our prior report.

D. The SLBPC maintains 106 unmarked vehicles for various department officials, police officers, the Mayor of St. Louis, and the Governor. Most of these cars are permanently assigned and used exclusively by the abovementioned persons. According to SLBPC personnel, these vehicles have been driven over 4.5 million miles since the specific vehicles currently in use were purchased. During our review of the unmarked vehicles, we noted the following concerns:

1) The SLBPC does not have a written policy prohibiting the personal usage of department vehicles. The department indicated that some officials and police officers are on call 24 hours a day and are allowed to use cars for personal use. The SLBPC should establish a written policy restricting personal use of department vehicles to ensure that department assets are used for law enforcement purposes only. In addition, individuals are not required to maintain mileage logs for these vehicles. Logs indicating miles driven and purposes of trips are necessary to ensure vehicles are justified for business purposes and used for business purposes.

This condition was also noted in our prior report.

2) Department officials are issued cars by the Fleet Services Division. The division is to notify the paymaster of all civilians who are assigned unmarked vehicles, so that compensation can be included on their W-2 forms. We noted one instance where the paymaster was not notified of a civilian who was assigned a vehicle and the working condition fringe benefit was not included as compensation. According to the civilian, the vehicle is used for commuting to and from work and no detailed log is maintained which distinguishes between business and personal usage.

Internal Revenue Service (IRS) guidelines require the value of the personal (commuting) use of a vehicle be included as compensation for tax purposes.

WE RECOMMEND the SLBPC:

A. Discontinue the payment of unused leave and discretionary holidays to the Chief of Police. The SLBPC should also consider seeking reimbursement for the $23,375 paid to the Chief of Police during 1997 and 1996.

B. Discontinue overtime payments to officers with the rank of sergeant or above.

C. Discontinue the practice of providing insurance benefits for current and former commissioners.

D.1. Establish a policy prohibiting personal usage of unmarked vehicles and require mileage logs to be maintained for all unmarked vehicles.

2. Comply with IRS guidelines for reporting fringe benefits relating to department-provided vehicles.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. Payments totaling approximately $25,000 over a three year period authorized by the SLBPC to the Chief of Police were for actual duty time performed by the Chief of Police in lieu of his exercising his statutory right to paid vacation and holiday time. The payments were made in good faith and are based on the following authority and policy considerations:

To provide more flexibility in meeting its operational and management staffing needs, the SLBPC adopted a procedure by which all commissioned officers could receive compensation for duty in lieu of vacation and holiday time. All commissioned officers irrespective of rank are statutorily entitled to paid vacation - - ranging from two (2) weeks to five (5) weeks, depending on length of service to the department - - and fifteen (15) paid holidays. See R.S. Mo. §84.140.

Officers of the rank of lieutenant and below may not be required to forego their vacation time and accept compensation, See R.S. Mo. §84.160(13), but State law does not, in any manner, limit the board's discretion to require senior command rank officers - - captains and above - - to forego their statutory right to paid vacation and holiday time. To account for this differing treatment, under State law, of senior command rank officers and officers of the rank of lieutenant and below, the board adopted the following, two-tier policy:

For officers of the rank of lieutenant and below, the department encourages and requires such officers to avail themselves of all vacation and holiday time. But the Chief of Police may establish a voluntary system of compensation for duty in lieu of vacation or holiday time for such officers by submitting to the board for its approval, as part of the budgetary process for each fiscal year, the procedures for implementation of such a system and the projected fiscal impact of such a system for the fiscal year at issue.

For officers of the rank of captain and above, including the Chief of Police, there is also a presumption that all such officers shall avail themselves of all vacation and holiday time. Nevertheless, if the Chief of Police determines that the senior staffing needs of the SLPD require any such officer to forego such vacation or holiday, the Chief of Police shall submit to the board for its consideration and approval the amount of compensation such officers are being required to accept in lieu of vacation time, including the identity of the specific officers at issue.

Adoption of this policy arose out of the duty demands placed on the Chief of Police which, since his appointment, required that he forego vacation and holiday time. The board considered it desirable to adopt a global policy - - i.e. one that governs all commissioned officers - - because the issue has, to date, only been considered on an ad hoc basis.

The State Auditor, relying on the appellate court decision in Schoemehl v. Whaley, 598 S.W.2d 607 (Mo. App. 1980), has expressed its view that the board has "exceeded its authority and paid the chief an amount in excess of the salary that the General Assembly has authorized." For the reasons that follow, the SLBPC respectfully suggests that it has the authority to require officers of the rank of captain or above, including the Chief of Police, to forego vacation and holiday time and receive compensation in lieu of such off-duty time, and that the State Auditor's reliance on Schoemehl v. Whaley is misplaced.

The question presented in Schoemehl was whether the Chief of Police was entitled to receive "overtime" pay. In considering that issue, and determining that the Chief of Police was ineligible to receive such compensation, the court was faced with a statute that expressly prohibited payment of "overtime" compensation to any officer the rank of sergeant or above. Here, unlike in Schoemehl, not only is there no statutory prohibition against payment of compensation for duty in lieu of vacation time for any rank, all officers through the rank of Chief of Police are statutorily entitled to paid vacation and holiday time. R.S. Mo. §84.140.

The State Auditor correctly observes that the express statutory authorization for payment of compensation for duty in lieu of vacation time is directed towards officers of the rank of lieutenants and below. That authorization, however, is expressly linked to a prohibition against requiring such officers to forego any such paid time off.

Accordingly, the board is confronted with a situation in which it has authority to require senior command rank officers to forego vacation and holiday time to meet senior staffing needs. The same statutory scheme vests these officers with the right to paid vacation and holiday time. It appears to the board that the only way to reconcile its authority to compel senior officers to forego vacation and holiday time with the statutory right of senior officers to receive paid vacation and holiday, is to compensate these officers for vacation and holiday time lost to meet their duty demands.

Through adoption of rule described above, the SLBPC has closely prescribed the procedure under which such vacation and holiday compensation may be paid and has created a presumption in favor of all command rank officers availing themselves of all vacation and holiday time. Thus, in the SLBPC's view, the rule, as adopted, comports both with good fiscal and personnel management as well as with State law which vests all officers with the right to paid vacation and holiday time.

As noted above, payments totaling approximately $25,000 over a three year period to the Chief of Police were for actual duty time performed by the Chief of Police in lieu of his exercising his statutory right to paid vacation and holiday time.

B. No payments at overtime rates to officers ranking sergeant and above were made from the general revenue of the City of St. Louis. All such payments were from State and Federal grant agencies for the purpose of meeting the requirements of the grants. For the reasons that follow, the SLBPC respectfully suggests that such payments complied with both State and Federal Law:

Meeting special community needs through strategic deployment of personnel is a vital function of the SLPD. Many such strategic operations are funded with grants awarded by State and Federal agencies: sobriety traffic checkpoints; hazardous-waste moving law enforcement; "weed & seed" neighborhood intervention; juvenile curfew enforcement; domestic violence intervention.

In many instances, the outside granting agency - - through the grant application and award budgets - - contractually engages the department, through its commissioned personnel, to perform services outside of assigned personnel's regular duty time (i.e. "off duty" time). The grant thus provides funding for compensation to be paid at overtime rates which comply with federal Fair Labor Standards Act overtime requirements.

The State Auditor has correctly noted that, under R.S. Mo. §84.160(4), the SLBPC is precluded from paying overtime to officers ranking sergeants and above. The State Auditor also observes that grants from State and Federal agencies have funded overtime compensation to approximately 96 such officers. It is suggested that this practice may be inconsistent with statutory limitations on the payment of overtime.

The SLBPC respectfully disagrees with this suggestion. For more than twenty years, including all periods subject to the audit, the SLBPC has been consistent and scrupulous in confirming and ensuring that off-duty, overtime compensation paid through State and Federal grants comports with State and Federal law. The SLBPC's position is premised on the SLBPC's relationship to the City of St. Louis and how only that relationship - - not the SLBPC's relationship to Federal agencies and other State agencies - - is regulated by the statutory overtime restrictions.

The SLBPC is a creature of state law, created by the general assembly. Under certain statutorily prescribed powers and duties, the SLBPC "is made responsible for the establishment and control of the St. Louis police force; the City of St. Louis is prohibited from interfering with the powers, or the exercise of the powers, of the Police Board." State ex rel. Sayad v. Zych*, 642 S.W.2d 907, 909 (Mo. 1982).*

The State of Missouri, through legislative enactment, requires the City of St. Louis to fund the operations of the SLPD, with the priorities of such funding fixed by the SLBPC. The State's authority to compel such funding has the following legal underpinnings: The City of St. Louis is a subdivision of the State of Missouri and, as such, the "State has the power to compel municipalities to fund a police force. The general assembly has delegated this authority in the City of St. Louis to the Police Board; and to the extent of the state's power, the Police Board can require the City to appropriate the sum certified by the Police Board to the City." Id*. at 910.*

The SLBPC's authority to compel City funding is not, however, unfettered. In addition to limitations set forth in the Hancock Amendment to the Missouri Constitution (article X, section 21), the general assembly has, for example, imposed limitations on the number of commissioned officers the SLBPC may hire and the amount of basic compensation for which the SLBPC can compel the City of St. Louis to appropriate funding. By placing these and other limitations on how the SLBPC may encumber the City's general revenue, the general assembly has counterbalanced its assumption and delegation of City police power to the SLBPC.

Another such limitation restricts the board's ability to pay overtime to commissioned officers. Over the years, the scope of statutory overtime limitations has varied; currently, the SLBPC is prohibited from itself compensating commissioned officers the rank of sergeant and above.

When, in the late 1970's, the SLBPC was granted funding from sources other than the City's general revenue, the board formally considered whether statutory overtime limitations restrict the board's ability to make overtime payments out of outside funding sources. The SLBPC directed its inquiry to the City of St. Louis, the governmental agency for whose benefit the statutory limitations on overtime payments were enacted and, therefore, the agency that had the most direct interest in determining the limitation's application.

Specifically, in 1977, the SLBPC, through the City of St. Louis's Comptroller, sought the opinion of the City of St. Louis's law department concerning whether overtime payments to commissioned lieutenants financed through a Federal law enforcement grant implicated state law limitations on payments of overtime.

The City of St. Louis's law department concluded that they do not. The City reasoned that "payment of Federal grant funds to . . . two lieutenants for work and time they devote to carrying out grant projects for the Police Board, at times entirely unrelated to their normal duties and unassociated with their regular assignments, are matters within the lawful discretion of the board, and since such funds are not derived from municipal tax revenues of the City, [there is] no violation of Section 84.160(7), RSMo. (Laws 1977)."

In short, statutory limitations on the SLBPC's authority to pay overtime compensation are part of an integrated statutory scheme designed to limit the SLBPC's burden on the municipal fisc. Using funding from other governmental agencies to employ commissioned officers for services unrelated to the officers' normal duties and unassociated with their regular assignments is not inconsistent with these statutory limitations because these limitations are not intended to protect any funding source other than the general revenue of the City of St. Louis.

Indeed, the SLBPC is granted broad discretion to contract with outside entities and to apply outside funding as it sees fit.

Implied in the SLBPC's general authority to operate the police department is its power to contract with outside entities. See State ex rel. McNeal v. Roach, 520 S.W.2d 69, 74 (Mo. 1975). Indeed, the SLBPC is not only empowered but is required to "estimate revenues . . . from all sources including but not limited to, grants from Federal or State governments, governmental agencies or other grantors" and to "estimate the sum of money which will be necessary . . . to enable [it] to discharge the duties hereby imposed upon them, and to meet the expenses of the police department." R.S. Mo. §84.210.

No limitations relating to compensation for commissioned officer services performed outside of normal duty time is imposed on the SLBPC in connection with its power to contract with outside governmental agencies. Nor are these outside agencies in any manner limited in their ability to provide funding for these purposes. Indeed, the very purpose of many of such grants - - including those provided by the State of Missouri - - is to provide funding for supervisory officer service to the community outside of normal duty time. The contractual terms of such grants expressly provide this purpose and the revenue source arising from such grants is set forth in each annual budget document prepared by the SLBPC.

Accordingly, the SLBPC respectfully suggests that compensating officers out of funding sources other than those provided from the general revenue of the City of St. Louis for specific overtime services falls outside of statutory limitations of overtime compensation and falls squarely within the SLBPC's authority to enter into contracts and to budget for revenue derived from outside granting agencies.

C. No members of the SLBPC currently receive health or life insurance benefits. The SLBPC perceives it in the best interest of the department that no health or life insurance benefits be made available to current or future board members. Past members who receive such coverage and who, having detrimentally relied on past board policy, wish to continue such coverage, may continue such coverage provided that they reimburse the SLPD for its actual cost.

D.1. Unmarked vehicles are requisitioned to department personnel on a "take home" basis for assignments whose duty requirements include being on call 24 hours a day. The assignment of an unmarked vehicle to the Mayor, because of his ex officio status on the SLBPC, contemplates 24 hour law enforcement and public safety oversight. As to those personnel and that official there is no restriction placed on the personal use of such vehicles.

To the extent that unmarked vehicles are permanently assigned to personnel who do not have 24-hour law enforcement duties or are not permanently assigned to personnel on a "take home" basis, the SLBPC shall institute a written policy clarifying permissible vehicle uses.

2. The SLBPC has ensured that in those instances where the vehicle use is properly considered a benefit, the benefit is reflected on the form W-2 issued to the civilian employee.

2. Budgets and Financial Reporting

The SLBPC receives funding from three different sources. These three sources are called the General Fund, department-generated revenues, and grant and contract revenues. Funds appropriated from the General Fund of the city of St. Louis for the Police Department are identified as the General Fund. The majority of the monies generated by the Police Department are maintained in the Secretary's Account. Grant and contract revenues received from the St. Louis Community College and various state and federal agencies are identified as government grants and contracted services and placed in city special revenue accounts. During fiscal year 1998, the total expenditures from the General Fund and department-generated, grant, and contract revenues were approximately $105 million and $7.4 million, respectively.

A. Our review of the budgeting process revealed the following areas of concern:

1) The SLBPC does not prepare formal budgets of revenues, resources, and expenditures for the Secretary's Account funds and some government grant and contract funds. However, the SLBPC does submit some estimates of revenues for the Secretary's Account funds in the annual budget.

This condition was also noted in our two prior reports.

2) For the year ended June 30, 1998, we noted over $1,700,000 of transfers from the General Fund to the Secretary's Account. Several funds within the Secretary's Account carried significant balances at June 30, 1998, as noted below:

Year 2000 Contract	$ 275,150
Personal Computer Upgrade	275,000
Photo Imaging	228,000
Investigative Fund	28,232
Sound System	20,000

These funds are held in reserve to cover future expenditures. If these monies had not been transferred to the Secretary's Account, the SLBPC would have lost the use of these funds because the city's expenditure system does not allow bills to be submitted for payment after the end of the fiscal year even if the expenditure was incurred prior to the end of the fiscal year. As noted above, the SLBPC does not prepare a budget for Secretary's Account funds.

Section 84.210, RSMo 1994, requires the SLBPC to submit a budget request to the city and requires the city to appropriate sufficient funds to operate the Police Department. Such estimate should include, but not be limited to, all reasonably anticipated revenues of the board from all sources including grants from the federal or state governments, governmental agencies or other grantors and forfeitures of property and proceeds of forfeited property, and line items for personnel, supplies, maintenance, repairs, services and contractual requirements, and a statement comparing receipts and expenses for the last prior full fiscal year, the current fiscal year, and the fiscal year to which the estimate pertains.

A complete and well-planned budget, in addition to meeting statutory requirements, can serve as a useful management tool by establishing specific cost expectations for each unit or division. A complete budget should include appropriate revenue and expenditure estimates by classification, and include the beginning available resources and reasonable estimates of the ending available resources.

B. The Budget and Finance Division does not prepare monthly detailed financial reports for the SLBPC, summarizing revenues, expenditures, and balances by type/fund for the Secretary's Account. Currently, the board is provided with a check register, a deposit report by sub-account, a bank statement, a statement of securities, and a summary report of checks reviewed by the Secretary to the Board.

Complete and detailed financial reports should be used to keep the board and citizens informed of the financial activity of the police department.

WE RECOMMEND the SLBPC:

A. Prepare budgets of revenues, resources, and expenditures for the Secretary's Account and all grants and contracts. These budgets should be formally reviewed and approved by the board and used as guidelines for activity of these funds.

B. Require the Budget and Finance Division to prepare complete and detailed periodic (monthly or quarterly) financial reports of the Secretary's Account for the board's review.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A.1. The SLBPC concurs with the State Auditor's suggestion that funding expected from all sources be included in the SLBPC's annual budget certification. The majority of unencumbered funds maintained in the Secretary's Account are derived from Federal asset forfeiture revenues. When, in response to prior State audits, this suggestion was brought to the attention of the SLBPC, the SLBPC explained how the nature of asset forfeiture funding renders speculative predictions as to funding availability from fiscal year to fiscal year.

For the forthcoming fiscal year, and as part of its budget certification submitted to the City of St. Louis, the SLBPC has sought to provide, based on historical trends, an estimate of all funding which may come into the SLBPC possession during the ensuing fiscal year.

2. The SLBPC concurs with the State Auditor's view that "a complete and well-planned budget, in addition to meeting statutory requirements, can serve as a useful management tool by establishing specific cost expectations for each unit or division. A complete budget should include appropriate revenue and expenditure estimates by classification, and include the beginning available resources and reasonable estimates of the ending available resources."

The SLBPC has, as the Auditor has noted, deviated from practices which require expenditures to be made during the fiscal year in which they are budgeted. It has done so primarily in relation to capital improvement projects whose performance carries over to the next fiscal year (e.g. the telephone acquisitions) and for outstanding workers' compensation payments similar to the City of St. Louis's use of Public Facility Protection Corporation. In those circumstances, as the Auditor has noted, the encumbered funds are held in the Secretary's Account for timely disbursement.

The SLBPC believes that through increased vigilance in contractual timing, the occurrence of these circumstances can be eliminated.

B. The SLBPC concurs that periodic, detailed and consolidated financial reports concerning the Secretary's Account would assist in keeping the board and citizens informed of the department's financial activity. While all of the information noted is reported to the SLBPC, the SLBPC agrees the better practice would be consolidated, periodic reporting of Secretary's Account activity.

These consolidated financial reports shall be prepared on a quarterly basis, a periodic basis determined to be acceptable by the State Auditor.

3. Bidding and Contracts

A. On June 30, 1998, the SLBPC maintained over $6.9 million in checking accounts and certificates of deposit (CD's) at one bank. The SLBPC has not bid any of its banking services. It appears the SLBPC could have earned additional interest income by soliciting bids on the purchase of CD's. In addition, the SLBPC could earn additional interest income by investing in CD's for longer than 30 days which is the investment period for all of the CD's the SLBPC currently holds. The amount of additional interest which could have been earned cannot readily be determined.

The SLBPC should choose its banking services through competitive bidding. Proposals should be solicited from area banks with the best, responsive proposals being used as the SLBPC depositary bank or banks. This process would ensure that the SLBPC is obtaining the best possible banking services at the lowest cost and that the SLBPC is earning the highest possible return on invested monies.

This condition was noted in our two prior audit reports and the SLBPC in its response to the prior audit indicated that the department had been discussing with the City Treasurer's Office the issue of seeking RFP's for banking services within the city. However, the SLBPC did not seek bids for any banking services.

B. The SLBPC has not consistently followed their written bid policy. The department's stated policy requires bids to be solicited for all purchases over $1,000, and bids for purchases over $5,000 to be published in the City Journal.

1) We noted several instances where either bids were not solicited in compliance with department policy, or bid documentation was not retained. Examples included:

Information management	$198,000
Law enforcement equipment	82,360
Demolition	17,798
Marble wall cleaning	7,000
Computer equipment	6,744
Landscaping	5,206

2) In July 1998, the SLBPC accepted a $1,353,849 bid for the purchase of personal computer mobile laptops for law enforcement vehicles. The department received bids ranging from $760,240 to $1,747,453. The bid accepted was not the lowest bid, and adequate documentation was not maintained regarding the evaluation of bid proposals or the basis and justification for awarding the contract to a vendor other than the lowest bidder.

In January 1998, the SLBPC bid and purchased thirty-two high back chairs for the learning center totaling $22,048; however, the low bid totaled $14,080 and was for the same brand and style of chairs. No information was documented regarding the basis and justification for awarding the bid to a vendor other than the lowest bidder.

3) We noted instances in which separate purchase orders totaling in excess of $1,000 were issued to the same vendor within ten days of each other to acquire similar items. As indicated above, department policy requires that any purchase in excess of $1,000 be bid by the Purchasing Division. These instances included the following:

- On May 1, 1998 and May 4, 1998, the Purchasing Division issued what appeared to be identical purchase orders of $932 each to the same company for medical accessories.

- On November 21, 1996, the Purchasing Division issued a purchase order for $335 for embroidered shirts. On November 29, 1996, the Purchasing Division issued two additional purchase orders for $902 and $141 to the same vendor.

The department's bid policy should be strictly followed. Competitive bidding helps ensure the department receives fair value by contracting with the lowest and best bidders. Bidding helps ensure all parties are given an equal opportunity to participate in the department's business. In addition, complete documentation should be maintained of all bids received. If other than the lowest bid is selected, the reasons should be adequately documented.

C. The department does not always obtain formal written agreements with companies or individuals providing services and with not-for-profit organizations receiving subsidies from the department.

1) During our review, we noted the following amounts paid during the two years ended June 30, 1998, for which there were no written agreements:

Legal services	$ 14,321
Construction	15,692
Tuition reimbursement program	10,913
Helicopter training	5,320
Landscaping	5,296
Professional services	4,916
Consulting services	4,400

2) During the year ended June 30, 1998, the SLBPC disbursed $25,000 in asset forfeiture monies to a not-for-profit organization which recognizes youths for their outstanding achievements. The SLBPC also allows the not-for-profit to use office space in the headquarters building. In addition, the SLBPC also paid $6,680 in fiscal year 1998 to another not-for-profit organization to finance various sporting activities for children.

The Missouri Constitution prohibits the use of public money or property to benefit any private individual, association, or corporations except as provided in the constitution. Without a written contract that clearly indicates the public services being provided by these organizations, these subsidies and uses could be considered to be in violation of the constitution.

Written contracts establish payment terms, clarify responsibilities and expectations of both parties, and help ensure the department receives the services it needs. Furthermore, Section 432.070, RSMo 1994, requires all contracts to be in writing.

D. A contract was initiated with Regional Justice Information Systems (REJIS) to temporarily manage the department's Information System Division. Under the contract, REJIS provided the department with an on-site manager to supervise operations and additional personnel to aid with high-level tasks such as Year 2000 (Y2K) compliance issues.

This contract should be monitored by an individual with sufficient technical qualifications to make recommendations and judgements on the quality of the work performed. The individuals currently monitoring this contract for the SLBPC do not have an information systems background.

Conditions A, B.1., and C.1. were also noted in our prior report.

WE RECOMMEND the SLBPC:

A. Obtain banking services through competitive bidding.

B. Ensure bids are solicited for all applicable purchases in accordance with the department's policy. Documentation of the bidding process should be maintained in all cases. If the SLBPC believes it is not practical to obtain bids on certain purchases, documentation explaining why bids were not obtained should be maintained.

C. Obtain written agreements specifying terms of payment and the responsibilities of both parties for all services received.

D. Assign persons with sufficient technical knowledge to monitor contract compliance.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. The SLBPC concurs that selecting banking services through competitive bidding would help ensure that the SLBPC is obtaining the best possible banking services at the lowest cost and that the SLBPC is earning the highest possible return on invested monies. An RFP for banking services is currently being developed with the oversight by the SLBPC's Treasurer and Purchasing Member. The SLBPC is also investigating adopting cash management policies which mirror those jointly agreed to by the Mayor, the Comptroller, and the Treasurer of the City of St. Louis.

The SLBPC expects that an RFP will be published within ninety (90) days and that a competitively bid contract for banking services shall be in place at an early date during Fiscal Year 2000.

B.1. The SLBPC concurs with the State Auditor's observations that "[t]he department's bid policy should be strictly followed," that "competitive bidding helps ensure the department receives fair value by contracting with the lowest and best bidders, that "[b]idding helps ensure all parties are given an equal opportunity to participate in the department's business," and that "complete documentation should be maintained of all bids received" and "[i]f other than the lowest bid is selected, the reasons should be adequately documented."

Two exceptions, whose amounts comprise over ninety percent of funds at issue in the noted exceptions, bear the following comment:

< Information management - $198,000. Under the purchasing policies of the SLBPC, certain personal services or "sole source" purchases may be contracted for without the necessity of competitive bidding. The SLBPC has a longstanding relationship with REJIS, a not-for-profit entity created by concurrent ordinances of the City of St. Louis and St. Louis County, to provide centralized information management services. As part of the department's program for Y2K compliance of its information systems, and to enable the department to consider outsourcing portions of its information services, the SLBPC engaged the services of REJIS to provide information services for those purposes as a "sole source" exception to competitive bidding requirements.

The SLBPC, since the end of the subject audit period, has competitively bid and contracted for consulting services for a wider range of technology advice and direction, which includes services that were the subject of the identified exception.

< Law enforcement equipment - $82,360. The identified item refers to the purchase of weapon holsters. The department's Armorer conducted a study to determine which holsters, produced by various manufacturers, best advanced officer safety. The product determined to be best suited for the department's safety needs was produced by a single manufacturer and, thus, was a "sole source" purchase excepted from competitive bidding requirements.

The SLBPC, through its purchasing department and with the oversight of the SLBPC's purchasing member, shall ensure that the decision making process in "sole source" purchases is better memorialized and that doubts concerning the applicability of competitive bidding processes shall be resolved in favor of competitive bidding.

2. < Mobile Laptops - $1,353,849. The decision making process applied the nine, non-price, "must have" criteria set forth in the RFP: "ruggedized to MIL STD 810 D&E"; backlit keyboard; color & active matrix screen; CDPD modem compatibility; pointing device; Windows 95 or NT operating system; docking port; 133Mhz minimum speed; and 32 mb RAM (expandable to 64).

Of the 13 vendors who responded to the RFP with a bid, only three - - United Technologies ($1,353,849), Capital Data ($1,393,610.26), and St. Louis Electronics ($1,747,453.75 [$1,712,504.68, with city vendor discount]) - - satisfied all of the non-price criteria.

Of these three, United Technologies, the low bidder, was selected. To the extent documentation made available at the time of the audit was insufficient for the State Auditor to determine this decision making process, the SLBPC, through its purchasing department, shall ensure that all such material is better collected and collated for future acquisitions.

< Thirty-two chairs (each $689) for Academy Learning Center. The subject chairs were not, as the State Auditor correctly observes, the lowest bid for the product. They were, however, part of an overall bid for furniture that, in the aggregate, presented the lowest overall bid. The vendor failed to perform under the contract. The SLBPC concurs that the subject chairs then should have been rebid. Because of this experience, the purchasing division is now particularly mindful of the perils of aggregate bids. The SLBPC will ensure that this exception will not reoccur by adding controls calculated to prevent such exceptions.

3. The SLBPC concurs that the department's bid policy should be strictly followed. In light of the noted exceptions, which arose in circumstances where individual orders were close to the $1,000 bidding threshold, the SLBPC's purchasing division has implemented added controls calculated to prevent such exceptions from reoccurring.

C. The SLBPC concurs with the State Auditor's recommendation that any doubts concerning the need for written contracts for services provided should be resolved in favor of preparing such contracts to clarify the responsibilities and expectations of the parties, to confirm payment terms, and to ensure the department receives the services it needs.

The SLBPC shall require better coordination between the purchasing and legal departments to avoid recurrence of these exceptions.

The SLBPC concurs with the principles underlying the State Auditor's recommendation and is preparing procedures to rectify this situation. The SLBPC nevertheless questions whether the requirements of R.S. Mo. §432.070 apply to the SLBPC in that statute, by its terms, refers only to a "county, city, town, village, school township, school district or other municipal corporation."

D. Many technical functions of any organization are overseen by managers who, while not having the full extent of technical expertise of the direct service provider, are sufficiently experienced and resourceful as managers to test the sufficiency of technical services provided. A senior command officer experienced in management and technology issues and the department's chief financial officer were assigned to manage the REJIS contract.

As part of the department's technology enhancement initiative, which include timely completion of Year 2000 (Y2K) compliance and other high level technology tasks, the Chief of Police has detached a deputy chief of police who, with the assistance of a highly trained competitively-bid outside consultant acting as his aid, shall make recommendations and judgments on the quality of work performed by outside vendors in such high-level technology tasks.

4. Disbursement Procedures

A. The Budget and Finance Department stopped processing invoices on June 24, 1998. Approximately $561,500 in expenditures that were incurred in fiscal year 1998 were held and not paid until fiscal year 1999. We noted expenditures with invoice dates in February, April, and May 1998 that were not processed and paid until August 1998. Had these expenditures been charged against the 1998 budget, the department would have exceeded its budget authority by approximately $559,800. As noted earlier in this report, the SLBPC transferred over $1,700,000 from the city's General Fund to the Secretary's Account. Of this amount over $826,000 remained in the Secretary's Account at June 30, 1998, which contributed to the SLBPC's overspending its city General Fund budget.

Section 84.210.2, RSMo Cumulative Supp. 1998, provides that the amount of claims and salary shall not exceed, in any one year, the amount estimated for that year to the city. In addition, good business practice requires the department to make expenditures in a timely manner.

B. During our review of the department's disbursements, the following concerns were noted:

1) Adequate supporting documentation was not available to support some disbursements and no supporting documentation was available for other disbursements which totaled approximately $118,117. These disbursements were for a variety of items, including credit card bills, luncheons, consultant and legal services, reimbursements for tuition, motel and room charges, tools, and miscellaneous supplies.

2) The department provides travel advances for employees attending training seminars, conferences, and other travel. Subsequently, the employee will complete a travel request report and turn in appropriate receipts. Some cash advances, totaling $8,256, selected for review contained no travel request report or supporting receipts.

All disbursements should be supported by detailed expense accounts, paid receipts, contracts, or vendor provided invoices to ensure the obligations were actually incurred and the disbursements represent appropriate uses of public funds. Additionally, cash advances not supported by documentation of expenses could be improper disbursements of public monies. Therefore, all cash advances should have documentation to support the nature and reasonableness of the costs and any unspent monies should be promptly returned to the department.

C. During the two years ended June 30, 1998, approximately $5,300 of disbursements were made for which a public purpose was not demonstrated or documented. Monies were spent on luncheons and receptions, flower funds held by various units, various food and beverage items, and a cash payment for a distinguished service citation.

These disbursements do not appear to be a prudent use of public funds.

D. For calendar year 1997, the department did not prepare IRS Forms 1099-MISC for some applicable situations. Six businesses performed services for the department and were paid in excess of $600 from the Secretary's Account, but Forms 1099's were not filed for these businesses. Sections 6041 through 6051 of the Internal Revenue Code require nonemployee payments totaling $600 or more in one year to an individual or unincorporated business be reported to the federal government on this form.

WE RECOMMEND the SLBPC:

A. Review the impact of the fiscal year 1998 expenditures which were held and charged against the 1999 budget and make any necessary revisions. In addition, the SLBPC should ensure that all invoices are processed and paid on a timely basis.

B. Require the Budget and Finance Division to ensure all disbursements are supported by travel request reports, paid receipts, and/or vendor-provided invoices which contain an adequate description of the goods or services received.

C. Ensure disbursements are necessary and prudent uses of public funds.

D. Ensure Form 1099's are prepared and submitted as required.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. The SLBPC concurs with the State Auditor's view that "a complete and well-planned budget, in addition to meeting statutory requirements, can serve as a useful management tool by establishing specific cost expectations for each unit or division. A complete budget should include appropriate revenue and expenditure estimates by classification, and include the beginning available resources and reasonable estimates of the ending available resources."

The SLBPC has, as the Auditor has noted, deviated from practices which require expenditures to be made during the fiscal year in which they are budgeted. It has done so primarily in relation to capital improvement projects whose performance carries over to the next fiscal year (e.g. the telephone acquisitions) and for outstanding workers' compensation payments similar to the City of St. Louis's use of Public Facility Protection Corporation.

In those circumstances, as the Auditor has noted, the encumbered funds are held in the Secretary's Account for timely disbursement.

The SLBPC believes that through increased vigilance in contractual timing, the occurrence of these circumstances can be eliminated.

B. The SLBPC concurs that "[a]ll disbursements should be supported by detailed expense accounts, paid receipts, contracts, or vendor provided invoices to ensure the obligations were actually incurred and the disbursements represent appropriate uses of public funds." The SLBPC is in the process of collecting supporting documentation for all exceptions noted by the State Auditor.

Moreover, the SLBPC will improve the clarity of instructions to personnel as to what form of documentation is required for advances and reimbursements so that exceptions of this type will not reoccur.

C. The SLBPC acknowledges that, on their face, the exceptions noted by the State Auditor could appear to be tangential to the department's public function. The SLBPC seeks to expend such funds to serve bona fide public purposes of recruitment of officers, promoting collaboration between law enforcement agencies, and improving employee morale. The SLBPC shall nevertheless reevaluate expenditures of this type and will resolve any question as to public purpose in favor of seeking private funding for such purposes.

D. The SLBPC's purchasing division has put controls in place to ensure that all service providers are issued Form 1099's as required by the Internal Revenue Code.

5. Receipt Accounting Controls and Procedures

The SLBPC receives money from various sources. These monies are normally received and accounted for by the department's Budget & Finance Division. Other areas within the police department that collect monies are the Records Room, the Academy Fitness Center, the Crime Prevention/Alarm Unit, the Private Security Unit, and Prisoner Processing Units. We noted the following concerns with procedures regarding the handling of monies:

A. The Budget and Finance Division is the main fiscal office of the police department. They are responsible for budgeting, accounting and depositing of most of the money that the police department receives. The Budget and Finance Division works with monies of the General Fund and Secretary's Account and grant receipts. We noted the following areas of concern in the Budget and Finance Division:

1) The division receives cash, checks, and money orders from various sources. Receipt slips issued by the division do not always indicate the method of payment received. In addition, the amount of cash, checks, and money orders according to the receipt slips issued is not reconciled to the deposit amounts. To ensure payments are deposited intact, the method of payments should be indicated on all receipt slips issued. The composition of receipt slips issued should be reconciled to the composition of bank deposits.

2) Receipts are not deposited or transmitted on a timely basis. We noted instances where monies were held between two and eight days before being deposited in the Secretary's bank account or transmitted to the City Treasurer. To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, deposits and transmittals should be made daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

3) Checks and money orders received are not restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt. To reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, checks and money orders should be restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt.

4) The police department was holding approximately $27,000 in the Secretary's checking account as of June 30, 1998, that was due to the City Treasurer. Approximately $20,800 of this amount has been held for over two years. This money was from employees reimbursing for lost identification and parking tags, insurance reimbursements, and other revenues that are usually turned over to the city. Monies held for the city of St. Louis should be disbursed in a timely manner.

5) The police department deposits some revenues, such as, reimbursements for warranty work performed by Fleet Services and the sale of brass into the Secretary's Account. These monies are held for the division to spend as needed. The salaries of the mechanics who performed the warranty work and the ammunition were paid by the city's General Fund. Any revenues or reimbursements that are earned should be returned to the city's General Fund to offset the expenditures.

6) The Secretary's Account contains several sub-accounts functioning as receivable and liability accounts. The SLBPC does not have adequate controls in place to ensure that all monies advanced or owed are accounted for properly.

   For example, the SLBPC advances monies from the Secretary's Account to officers of the Warrant and Fugitive Section to pay the cost of extraditing prisoners from other states. The state reimburses the police department for the cost of extradition; however, the reimbursement checks are made payable to officers, instead of being made payable to the police department. The reimbursements are to be turned over to the Budget and Finance Division immediately upon receipt. The Budget and Finance Division maintains a sub-account in the Secretary's Account to track these advances. At June 30, 1998, the balance in the sub-account was approximately $58,400. The Budget and Finance Division does not perform a reconciliation of advances still outstanding to reimbursement checks received from the state.

To ensure reimbursements are collected and properly remitted, the SLBPC should reconcile reimbursements received to the corresponding liability account on a monthly basis.

B. The Records Room and the Correspondence Unit collects monies from individuals, attorneys and insurance companies for copies of records checks, police reports, and photographs. The Correspondence Unit transmits the money to the Records Room. The Records Room prepares the deposit and then transmits the deposit to the Budget and Finance Division for safekeeping until picked up by the courier. The Records Room collected approximately $292,000, $316,000, and $319,000 in fiscal years 1998, 1997, and 1996, respectively. We noted the following areas of concern in the Records Room and Correspondence Unit:

1) Accounting duties for the photographs, computer runs, and 911 tapes are not adequately segregated. Currently, one clerk in the Correspondence Unit has the responsibility of receiving orders, billing, collecting monies, and distributing the orders.

To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are properly safeguarded. Internal controls could be improved by segregating the duties of receiving orders and billing from that of collecting monies and distributing the orders. If proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum there should be a documented independent comparison of invoices to amounts transmitted.

2) Although the Records Room and Correspondence Unit issues prenumbered cash invoices for the payment of fees, the Records Room does not account for the numerical sequence. The cash invoices serve as the individuals' and Records Room receipt. To provide assurance all monies are properly transmitted to the Budget and Finance Division, the numerical sequence of cash invoices should be accounted for properly.

3) The Records Room accepts cash, checks, and money orders for the payment of fees. Cash invoices issued by the Records Room do not indicate the method of payment received. To ensure payments are transmitted intact, the method of payments should be indicated on all cash invoices issued. The composition of cash invoices issued should be reconciled to the composition of transmittals to the Budget and Finance Division.

C. The Academy Fitness Center sells memberships to city, state, and federal employees. Membership fees are $90 for a full year and $45 for a half year. These monies are received by the Fitness Center employees and are transmitted to Budget and Finance Division for deposit. We noted the following areas of concern in the Academy Fitness Center:

1) Accounting duties are not adequately segregated. Currently, all record-keeping responsibilities, including receiving, recording, and transmitting the monies are performed by the three Fitness Center employees.

   To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are properly safeguarded. Internal controls could be improved by segregating the duties of receiving and transmitting fitness center monies from that of recording receipts. If proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum there should be a documented independent comparison of receipt slips to amounts transmitted.

2) Receipts are not transmitted on a timely basis. Transmittals are generally made once a week and average $536. To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, transmittals should be made daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

3) The Fitness Center accepts cash and checks for the payment of membership fees. Receipt slips issued by the Budget and Finance Division for amounts transmitted indicate the composition of monies transmitted, however, to ensure all monies have been transmitted intact, the composition of monies transmitted should be reconciled to the composition of receipt slips issued by the Fitness Center.

D. The Crime Prevention/Alarm Unit collects monies for security system false alarms. The fee structure for the false alarms was established by city ordinance 8.13.050. The Crime Prevention/Alarm Unit collected approximately $77,300, $79,300, and $112,900 in fiscal year 1998, 1997, and 1996, respectively. We noted the following areas of concern in the Crime Prevention/Alarm Unit:

1) Accounting duties are not adequately segregated. Currently, one clerk prepares the billing invoices, receives the collections, and prepares the deposits. This same clerk also sends out delinquent notices, investigates differences between the unit and the alarm user, and writes off uncollectible accounts without supervisory approval. In addition, no one prepared an independent reconciliation of the amounts receipted and deposited, to the payments recorded on the computer.

To ensure all billings are accounted for properly and that all potential revenues are collected and deposited, the duties of recording receipts, preparing billing invoices and/or delinquent notices should be segregated from that of receiving and depositing monies. A reconciliation is also necessary to ensure all receipts have been properly recorded and deposited. The write off of any unpaid amounts should have prior supervisory approval.

2) Prenumbered receipt slips are not issued for all monies received. Payments received through the mail are not issued a receipt slip. To adequately account for all alarm fees received, prenumbered receipt slips should be issued for all monies received.

3) Receipts are not deposited on a timely basis. Deposits are generally made twice a month and average over $3,500. To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, transmittals should be made daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

4) Checks and money orders received are not restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt. To reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, checks and money orders should be restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt.

5) Crime Prevention/Alarm Unit records indicate accounts receivable totaled $341,740 as of October 3, 1998. Several receivables have been outstanding since January 1992. Accounts receivable are not reviewed on a periodic basis to determine the collectability of the accounts and to turn over delinquent receivables for prosecution. City ordinance 8.13.050 states failure to pay the aforesaid false alarm fines within ten days from the date of notification shall constitute a violation and result in prosecution of the subscriber.

E. The Private Security Unit collects monies from individuals and companies for the licensing of individuals as watchmen, security officers, corporate security advisors, and metro licenses. The private security unit collected approximately $70,800, $99,500, and $99,600 in fiscal year 1998, 1997, and 1996, respectively. We noted the following areas of concern in the Private Security Unit:

1) Monies received are not always deposited intact. Personal checks are occasionally cashed from cash collections. As a result, the composition of receipts does not always agree to the composition of deposits.

To adequately safeguard against theft or misuse of funds and to provide assurance that all receipts are accounted for properly, all receipts should be deposited intact daily, and there should be a documented independent comparison of the composition of receipts to the composition of deposits.

2) Advance payments from companies are not entered in the cash register. To help ensure collections are properly recorded and deposited, advance payments should be entered in the cash register.

F. The department collects bond monies at headquarters (prisoner processing) for two types of bonds--city ordinance and fugitive. City ordinance bond monies are also collected at the three area superstations or command centers. City ordinance bonds are posted for city ordinance violations. Fugitive bonds are collected for persons arrested on warrants issued by other law enforcement agencies. Our review of bond collection procedures and records noted the following concerns:

1) Standard record-keeping procedures for city ordinance bonds have not been developed at the area command centers. In addition, the numerical sequence of bond forms is not accounted for by the area command centers. The numerical sequence of bond receipt forms issued should be accounted for to ensure all monies receipted have been properly recorded and transmitted to the city traffic violation bureau (TVB).

This condition was noted in the prior report.

2) The three area superstations collect city ordinance bond monies. Bond monies transmitted to the TVB are not periodically reconciled to the area superstation's records of bond monies collected. To adequately account for all bond monies received, bond monies transmitted to the TVB should be periodically reconciled to the area superstation's records by an independent person.

3) City ordinance bond monies are not transmitted on a timely basis. We noted instances where cash bonds were held between two and seven days before being transmitted to the TVB. To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, transmittals should be made daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

WE RECOMMEND the SLBPC:

A.1. Indicate the method of payment on all receipt slips issued and reconcile total cash, checks, and money orders received to bank deposits.

2. Deposit or transmit receipts daily or whenever accumulated receipts exceed $100.

3. Restrictively endorse all checks and money orders immediately upon receipt.

4. Transmit monies due to the city on a timely basis.

5. Deposit monies received into accounts from which the corresponding expenditures were paid.

6. Establish adequate controls and records to account for receivables and liabilities maintained in the sub-accounts.

B.1. Adequately segregate duties between available employees and/or establish a documented periodic review of records by an independent person.

2. Account for the numerical sequence of cash invoices.

3. Indicate the method of payment on cash invoices issued and reconcile total cash, checks, and money orders received to transmittals to the Budget and Finance Division.

C.1. Adequately segregate duties between available employees and/or establish a documented periodic review of records by an independent person.

2. Transmit receipts daily or whenever accumulated receipts exceed $100.

3. Reconcile the composition of receipt slips issued by the Fitness Center to the composition of amounts transmitted to the Budget and Finance Division.

D.1. Adequately segregate accounts receivable record functions from access to receipts. If adequate segregation is not possible, someone independent of these processes should reconcile receipt slips to deposits and to payments posted to the computer. In addition, SLBPC should require supervisory review and approval of all write offs.

2. Issue prenumbered receipt slips for all alarm fee monies received and account for the numerical sequence. In addition, the alarm fee monies received by the Crime Prevention/Alarm Unit should be reconciled to the deposit.

3. Deposit or transmit receipts daily or whenever accumulated receipts exceed $100.

4. Restrictively endorse all checks and money orders immediately upon receipt.

5. Implement procedures regarding the determination of uncollectible accounts receivable. Amounts deemed uncollectible by the unit should be referred to the city for prosecution.

E.1. Discontinue the practice of cashing checks, deposit all receipts intact, and require the reconciliation of the composition of receipts to the composition of deposits by an independent person.

2. Enter all monies received in the cash register.

F.1. Develop departmentwide standard record keeping procedures for city ordinance bond receipt forms so that city ordinance bond receipt forms are issued and filed in numerical sequence, the sequence is accounted for, receipt numbers are recorded on the bond logs, and receipts are agreed to transmittals.

2. Ensure bond monies transmitted to the TVB are reconciled to the area superstation's records by an independent person.

3. Transmit bond monies daily or whenever accumulated receipts exceed $100.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. The SLBPC concurs with the recommendations of the State Auditor and has responded as follows:

1) All receipt and deposit slips are recorded by composition and are reconciled against one another.

2) Although all receipts are secured in the department safe immediately upon receipt, the SLBPC's budget and finance division shall use its best efforts to deposit accumulated receipts in excess of $100 on a daily basis.

3) Although all checks and money orders are secured in the department safe immediately upon receipt, they are now restrictively endorsed upon receipt as well.

4) The purpose for which excepted reimbursement was made was undetermined for an extended period of time. It has since been determined and appropriately disbursed. This was an unusual circumstance that is not likely to reoccur.

5) The SLBPC concurs that reimbursements for warranty work and sale of brass be credited to the city's general fund as a net reduction in the SLPD's expenditures.

6) The SLBPC, through its budget and finance division, has implemented the suggested controls on its receivable and liability accounts, with the specific suggestion concerning costs of the Warrant and Fugitive Division that the receivables would be handled through the city's computer software operations and that it be monitored by the Correspondence Investigation Division Commander through his chain of command as promogulated by procedures documented in the police manual drafted by the Divisions of Planning and Development and Budget and Finance.

B. The SLBPC's concurs with the recommendations of the State Auditor, including those relating to composition of receipts and deposit of funds. Implementation of these recommendations shall be assisted by the internal auditor and newly-formed Financial Quality Control Unit under the supervision of the SLBPC President and Treasurer and the Chief of Police.

C. The SLBPC's concurs with the recommendations of the State Auditor, including those relating to composition of receipts and sequencing of cash invoices. Implementation of these recommendations shall be assisted by the internal auditor and the newly-formed Financial Quality Control Unit under the supervision of the SLBPC President and Treasurer and the Chief of Police.

D. The SLBPC's concurs with the recommendations of the State Auditor, including those relating to composition and sequencing of receipts, and restrictive endorsement and timely deposit of receipts. Implementation of these recommendations shall be assisted by the internal auditor and the newly-formed Financial Quality Control Unit under the supervision of the SLBPC President and Treasurer and the Chief of Police.

The SLBPC notes, however, that the Crime Prevention/Alarm Unit is a creature of ordinance which imposes a fine on persons who permit false alarms for police service. The ordinance imposes on the department the obligation to collect the specified fine.

Other agencies of city government are better suited than the St. Louis Metropolitan Police Department to perform this function. Plainly put, the department's mission is crime fighting and public safety, not bill collecting. The SLBPC, while exercising its best efforts to respond to the observations of the State Auditor concerning this function, shall seek a transfer of this function through ordinance to an agency of City government organized to perform the fine collecting responsibilities of the current ordinance.

E. While all funds collected by the department's private security division were fully accounted for during the audit period and all funds were maintained in a secure location at all times, the SLBPC has implemented controls which shall further reduce even the potential for theft or misuse of funds. By order of the Chief of Police, any practices that led to the cashing of personal checks has been discontinued and shall not reoccur. Additional coding has been added to cash register transactions. Deposits shall be accompanied by an itemized composition, with comparison to the composition of receipts, and best efforts shall be made to ensure deposits are made daily.

F. The SLBPC's concurs with the recommendations of the State Auditor, including standardization of record-keeping among the area command centers, reconciliation of bond monies collected, transmittal of bond monies, and timely deposit of receipts. Implementation of these recommendations shall be assisted by the internal auditor and the newly-formed Financial Quality Control Unit under the supervision of the SLBPC President and Treasurer and the Chief of Police.

6. Inventory Controls and Procedures

A. The department operates a supply warehouse (Supply Division) which stocks various items used by the department. During our review of the Supply Division we noted the following concerns:

1) The Supply Division maintains a report which tracks the monthly usage of each supply item, and an average monthly usage is calculated based on this information. The Supply Division does not periodically prepare a report including the beginning balance, supply issuances, purchases and ending balances for each item. A summary report would allow the division to determine, in one report, the transaction history for each part for the period covered by the report, which could aid in reordering and allow monitoring of inventory activity.

2) During our review we examined selected stock items to determine if the Supply Division was maintaining stock in excess of the department's needs. We noted several items which appeared to have excessive quantities on hand. Some of the excessive quantities noted included:

Supply Item	Quantity on Hand	Monthly Usage During Fiscal Year 1998	Number of Months Supply on Hand	Total Inventory Cost
1 Part Stocktab	504	38	13	$ 7,288
2 Part Stocktab	86	5	18	2,448
Laser Jet Toner Cartridge	387	30	13	10,643
11 1/2 X 14 Gum/Flap Envelopes	108,070	858	126	8,646
Record Books	446	29	15	3,804
Small Evidence Bags	5,254	628	8	2,049
Evidence Pistol Envelope	6,396	245	26	5,948
Property Envelope	43,879	5,099	9	3,949
Total				$ 44,775

Supply Division personnel indicated that a portion of the overstock items were due to incorrect minimum stock level quantities and reorder amounts, and changes in the usage. To adequately minimize inventory costs, the Supply Division should evaluate the reorder quantities and usage to ensure supplies do not exceed expected usage.

3) During our review for excessive stock quantities we noted several items which appeared to be obsolete. Some of the obsolete items noted included:

Part Item	Quantity on Hand		Total Inventory Cost
Laser Toner EP	9	$	729
3 Part Continuous Feed Paper	28		510
20 Meg Bernoulli Cartridge	4		560
Okidata Toner Cartridge	15		615
Copy Cartridge 5012/5014/1012	3		1,029
Fatal Bullet Expands	1,800		1,764
Total		$	5,207

Supply Division personnel indicated that a portion of the obsolete items were due to changes in usage or disposal of the fixed assets, such as copy machines and typewriters. The Supply Division has contacted several units within the police department inquiring about the usefulness of these items. To adequately minimize inventory costs, the Supply Division should evaluate usage to ensure supplies are investigated for obsolete items.

B. The department operates a service garage (Fleet Services) to perform maintenance on department vehicles. Fleet Services maintains an inventory of gasoline, lubricants, and auto parts and supplies. The following concerns regarding records and procedures at Fleet Services were noted:

1) Fleet Services prepares separate purchase and issuance reports; however, a summary report that shows the beginning balance, purchases, issuances, and ending balance for each part is not periodically prepared. A summary report would allow Fleet Services to determine, in one report, the transaction history for each part for the period covered by the report, which could aid in reordering and allow monitoring of inventory activity.

2) Fleet Services does not perform periodic physical inventory counts of the parts kept in stock. According to department personnel, periodic spot checks are performed on the parts inventory; however, these spot checks are not documented. Fleet Services does perform annual physical inventory counts. Without periodic inventory records, Fleet Services cannot obtain assurance that inventory is accounted for properly.

C. The department maintains firearms, ammunition, and various related supplies in the Armory. The guns held in stock in the Armory are not periodically counted, and a periodic inventory count is not performed by staff outside the Armory. Without periodic inventory counts which are reconciled to perpetual inventory records, the Armory cannot obtain adequate assurance that inventory is accounted for properly.

Conditions similar to A.2. and B.1. were also noted in our prior report.

WE RECOMMEND the SLBPC:

A.1. Prepare a quarterly report that shows the beginning balance, purchases, issuances and ending balance for each supply item.

2. Order supplies based on expected usage to reduce excessive supply inventories.

3. Determine if any of the obsolete items can still be used, and properly dispose of those items that are no longer used.

B.1. Prepare a quarterly report that shows the beginning balance, purchases, issuances and ending balance for each part.

2. Ensure a periodic physical count of inventory is performed quarterly by an employee independent of parts operations. The results of that inventory should be compared to the inventory records and discrepancies should be investigated in a timely manner.

C. Ensure a periodic physical count of inventory is performed at least quarterly by an employee of the Armory and annually by an employee independent of the Armory. The results of that inventory should be compared to the inventory records and discrepancies should be investigated in a timely manner.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. The SLBPC concurs with the recommendations of the State Auditor and notes that newly implemented bar coding technology should assist in achieving the recommended action. Implementation of these recommendations also shall be assisted by the internal auditor and the newly-formed Financial Control Quality Unit under the supervision of the SLBPC President and Treasurer and the Chief of Police.

B&C. The SLBPC concurs with the recommendations of the State Auditor. Implementation of these recommendations, including those relating to inventory count, shall be assisted by the internal auditor and the newly-formed Financial Quality Control Unit under the supervision of the SLBPC President and Treasurer and the Chief of Police.

7. Traffic Ticket and Parking Tag Controls

The SLBPC issues traffic ticket summonses (UTT's) and parking tags for violations of state laws and city ordinances. The Supply Division maintains a stock of UTT's and parking tags. The area stations and other patrol units requisition cases of tickets and tags as needed. Officers are assigned ticket books from the patrol unit's supply cabinet and the officers are supposed to sign a log indicating the ticket numbers they receive. A cover sheet and completion sheet are included in each ticket book which are to be filled out by the officer and submitted to the commanding officer as the books are started and finished. The cover and completion sheets are forwarded to Information Services Division (ISD) where they are filed in numerical order, retained approximately one year, and subsequently discarded. As tickets are issued or voided, the commanding officer reviews the ticket, batches the tickets, prepares a transmittal log, and forwards the tickets to ISD for data entry. After data entry, the tickets are transmitted to the city of St. Louis Traffic Violation Bureau for processing. The parking tags are forwarded to the St. Louis City Treasurer's Office for processing and collection. Copies of ticket transmittal envelopes are returned to the area stations.

Our review of ticket procedures and records disclosed the following concerns:

A. The department does not ensure logs of ticket books assigned to officers are completed. The name of the officer receiving each book was not always documented, as well as the date the books were received. In addition, we noted that ticket books were not always assigned to the officers in numerical sequence, and we noted one instance where the officer did not issue his tickets in numerical sequence.

B. ISD discards the cover and completion sheets after approximately one year, so the audit trail for tickets is lost. In addition, the divisions assigning tickets only maintain their ticket logs for thirteen months.

C. The department does not account for tickets assigned and issued and their ultimate disposition. During our review of ticket procedures, we noted that five out of the 100 UTT's tested had been voided by the officers and not turned over to their supervisors in accordance with department policy. The department does not ensure that voided tickets are handled properly. We also noted that although the system is in place to account for the numerical sequence of the tickets issued, a report of tickets issued is not generated to account for the numerical sequence.

Without a proper accounting of the numerical sequence and disposition of tickets the police department cannot be assured that all tickets issued were properly submitted to the court for processing. Records listing the ticket books assigned, each ticket number, issuing officer, the date issued, the violator's name and the ultimate disposition of each ticket should be maintained to ensure all tickets have been accounted for properly. Additionally, the Missouri Municipal Records Manual published by the Secretary of State's Office, Records Management and Archives Service, generally requires maintenance of these types of documents from two to five years.

Similar conditions were also noted in our two prior audits.

WE AGAIN RECOMMEND the SLBPC:

A. Require the area stations and other patrol units to maintain accurate and complete logs of traffic and parking tickets received and issued. Ticket books should be assigned to officers in numerical order and the officers should issue all tickets in numerical order.

B. Require ISD maintain a permanent record of books started and completed, and maintain these records in accordance with the police policy. In addition, the SLBPC should review the record retention policy and revise the policy to meet the requirements of the Missouri Municipal Records Manual.

C. Account for the numerical sequence of tickets assigned and issued and their ultimate disposition.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The SLBPC concurs with the recommendations of the State Auditor and notes that a new envelope system of tag issuance should alleviate some of the accounting issues identified. Automation improvements shall be explored as part of the department's technology initiative. Implementation of these recommendations also shall be assisted by the internal auditor and the newly-formed Financial Quality Control Unit under the supervision of the SLBPC President and Treasurer and the Chief of Police.

8. Cash Funds

The SLBPC provides the Vice/Narcotics Division and the Intelligence Division with cash funds which are to be used for specific law enforcement purposes. Each year, the Vice/Narcotics Division receives between $80,000 and $150,000 in Narcotics Control Assistance Program (NCAP) grant monies and city special investigative fund appropriations. These monies are used to periodically replenish two cash funds. From these funds, detectives buy evidence and information relating to various drug cases.

These cash funds are under the exclusive control of the Vice/Narcotics Division and no independent review is made to ensure they are maintained properly. Two officers in the division are responsible for receipting, recording, and custody of cash in these two funds, one containing NCAP monies and the other containing city special investigative fund monies. Each officer is responsible for only one cash fund. The supervisor of the division performs a monthly review of records and observes monthly cash counts; however, this review is not documented.

We noted one instance where an officer of the Narcotics Division was not properly adjusting the ledger balance when any monies were returned by the narcotics officers. The officer accumulated approximately $15,540 from the returned monies which was maintained separately from the cash fund. The $15,540 was forwarded to the Budget and Finance Division.

Periodically these funds should be counted and reconciled to the ledger balances by an outside unit to ensure funds are being accounted for properly, to detect any errors, and to help ensure these monies are properly expended.

WE RECOMMEND the SLBPC require the cash funds to be periodically counted and reconciled to the ledger balance by an outside unit. Additionally, the supervisor of the division should document all monthly reviews.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

Although all funds received by the Narcotics Division are fully accounted for, the SLBPC concurs with the State Auditor's recommendation that such "funds should be counted and reconciled to the ledger balances by an outside unit to ensure funds are being accounted for properly to detect errors and to help ensure these monies are properly expended." A policy providing these measures has been developed, and its implementation shall be assisted by the internal auditor and the newly-formed Financial Quality Control Unit under the supervision of the SLBPC President and Treasurer and the Chief of Police.

9. State Forfeitures

A. As of September 1998, the SLBPC was holding over $79,000 in interest monies earned on Criminal Activity Forfeiture Act (CAFA) Funds. The CAFA Funds are held in a separate interest bearing checking account.

Article IX, section 7 of the Missouri Constitution relates to school funds. This provision states that all proceeds resulting from the forfeitures and fines collected shall be distributed annually to the schools. The Missouri Supreme Court has held that all CAFA forfeitures are included under this provision and must be distributed to the schools.

The general rule is that interest takes the same character as the proceeds from which it is earned. Since the CAFA forfeitures are constitutionally restricted, the interest earned on CAFA forfeitures should be credited to the CAFA funds and should be distributed the same as the CAFA proceeds.

B. In May 1997, the SLBPC entered into a contract with a company for towing and storage of vehicles seized by the department under the CAFA. This contract was entered into without soliciting bids. The company pays the SLBPC one-half of the amount collected from owners/claimants for vehicles released. As of November 1998, the SLBPC had received approximately $93,300 from the company.

There appears to be no statutory authority for the SLBPC to contract with a towing and storage company for profit by the department. Under Section 84.090.2, RSMo 1994, the SLBPC is charged to "protect the rights of persons and property". The SLBPC becomes a trustee for these vehicles and has a duty to act in the interest of the owner. It appears that the SLBPC should negotiate or bid the best and lowest fees possible.

WE RECOMMEND the SLBPC:

A. Disburse the interest earned on the CAFA funds in the same manner as the proceeds from the CAFA forfeitures.

B. Negotiate or solicit bids to obtain the best and lowest fees possible. In addition, the SLBPC should not enter into a contract which requires the towing and storage company to provide a portion of the fees collected to the SLBPC.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. The correct disposition of these funds has been negotiated in accordance with the memorandum signed by the St. Louis Circuit Attorney.

B. Because of the nature of tow yards, and the difficulty of transition from one to another, the SLBPC considered it economically unrealistic to separately bid for such service. In response to the State Auditor's recommendation, however, the SLBPC shall competitively bid such services. The SLBPC, even if deemed a "trustee" of such property, is entitled to receive reimbursement for administrative expenses.

10. Minutes of Meetings and Records

A. The SLBPC held several closed meetings during the years ended June 30, 1998, 1997, and 1996. During some of the closed meetings, matters were discussed which do not appear to be allowed by Section 610.021, RSMo 1994. Examples of matters discussed in closed meetings include approval of contracts and discussions regarding budgets, contracts, asset forfeiture funds, federal grants, and capital improvement plans.

Section 610.021, RSMo 1994, allows the board to close meetings to the extent the meetings relate to certain specified subjects, including litigations, real estate transactions, and personnel. The above issues do not appear to meet requirements for closed sessions.

B. The SLBPC's record retention policy is documented in Administrative Order 85-A-2. In general, the policy requires a thirteen month retention period for most source documentation related to typical daily activity of the department. During our review of the SLBPC, we were unable to review cash register tapes, transfer count reports showing parking tickets transferred to REJIS and the related transfer errors, and the traffic ticket transmittal envelopes.

The Missouri Municipal Records Manual published by the Secretary of State's Office, Records Management and Archives Service, generally requires maintenance of these types of documents from two to five years.

This condition was also noted in the prior report.

WE RECOMMEND the SLBPC:

A. Limit closed session meetings only to purposes specifically allowed by state law.

B. Review the record retention policy and revise the policy to meet the requirements of the Missouri Municipal Records Manual.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Board of Police Commissioners concurs with the recommendations of the State Auditor as follows:

A. As to matters relating to actions taken in closed session, the circumstances the State Auditor has brought to the board's attention relate almost exclusively to matters that involved issues that, in part, are to be considered in closed session and, in part, in open meetings. Henceforth, the SLBPC and the board secretary will ensure that upon resolution of the part of the issue to be considered in closed session - - whether it be personnel related or present confidential legal issues - - the remaining part of the issued shall be brought into open session for discussion and ratification.

B. The SLBPC shall have the board secretary and legal counsel examine its records retention policy and ensure that it complies with applicable state law.

11. Fixed Asset Records and Procedures

Our review of the department's fixed assets records and procedures revealed the following weaknesses:

A. The SLBPC's policy on fixed assets does not include procedures for performing an annual inventory. During the year ended June 30, 1998, the SLBPC did not conduct a physical inventory of all police department-owned property. Such procedures are necessary to ensure everyone involved in the inventory process is aware of their role and to ensure all results of the inventory are adequately documented. In addition, an annual inventory is necessary to ensure all police department assets can be accounted for properly. The results of the physical inventory should be compared to the property records and any discrepancies investigated.

B. Additions and deletions of fixed assets are not recorded in the asset records as they occur. In addition, fixed asset additions are not reconciled to equipment purchases. Timely recording of all fixed asset additions and deletions helps ensure that all property is accounted for properly and that the records are current. Performing a reconciliation of fixed asset additions and equipment purchases would help ensure all applicable equipment purchases have been properly added to the fixed asset records.

C. Asset records are not maintained in a manner that allows beginning balances, additions, and deletions for each year to be reconciled to balances at the end of the year. An annual summary of changes in fixed assets provides a basis for proper financial reporting and allows the physical inventory conducted to be reconciled to the fixed asset records.

WE RECOMMEND the SLBPC:

A. Ensure the policy includes a section on performing an annual inventory. In addition, the SLBPC should perform and document annual inventories of fixed assets.

B. Maintain accurate fixed asset records on a current basis and periodically reconcile these records to fixed asset purchases.

C. Maintain asset records in a manner that beginning balances, additions, and deletions can be reconciled to year-end balances.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The SLBPC concurs with the recommendations of the State Auditor. Automation improvements shall be explored as part of the department's technology initiative. Implementation of these recommendations also shall be assisted by the internal auditor and the newly-formed Financial Quality Control Unit under the supervision of the SLBPC President and Treasurer and the Chief of Police.

12. Computer Controls

Our review of the ISD (Information Services Division) operations indicated the following areas where improvements are needed:

A. The ISD has no formal contingency plan for the computer system. Contingency plans should consist of plans for a variety of contingency situations including both short-term and long-term plans for backup hardware, software, data, and facilities in the event of system failure or other disaster. The police department relies heavily on the data processing functions to provide computer aided dispatching, police incident reporting, complaint tracking, and duty roster tracking. Given the heavy reliance by the police department on the computer system for its day-to-day operations, the need for contingency planning is evident.

B. Access to computer files and programs are not adequately restricted. Passwords and user identifications (IDs) are not promptly deleted upon employee termination or transfer. In addition, numerous incorrect log on attempts are not investigated on a periodic basis. Passwords and IDs should be promptly deleted upon employee termination or transfer to reduce the possibility of unauthorized users gaining access to the police department system.

WE RECOMMEND the SLBPC:

A. Develop formal contingency plans including arrangements for backup facilities and equipment. The SLBPC should also provide a system for periodic review and testing of the contingency plan.

B. Ensure that passwords and IDs are promptly deleted upon employee termination or transfer. Additionally, the SLBPC should investigate incorrect log on attempts on a periodic basis.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The SLBPC concurs with the recommendations of the State Auditor and notes that both of these issues have been addressed and are in the process of implementation as part the department's technology initiative. The updating and deletion of passwords and user ID's has been achieved and security shall be enhanced and made accountable through appointment of an ISD supervisor of security.

AUDITEE'S OVERALL RESPONSE

The single greatest benefit the SLBPC derived from the audit process has been calling to the Board's attention the need for institutional mechanisms to prompt the Board - - which, along with the department's senior management, has undergone recomposition since the last State audit conducted in 1994 - - to follow in a systematic way progress made on past recommendations. In response to the current audit, and to provide for these mechanisms, the SLBPC and the Chief of Police shall institute on an ongoing basis the following:

< An internal auditor, who shall lead a permanent detail of both commissioned and civilian staff - - the Financial Quality Control Unit - - and report to an audit committee consisting of the SLBPC's President and Treasurer and the Chief of Police shall be appointed and charged with assisting the department's operational units to effect the management improvements recommended by the State Auditor. Weaknesses identified by the State Auditor in operational units' financial management and practices are, in the SLBPC's judgment, a function of the enormous law-enforcement and technical duty demands imposed on such units. By charging an internal auditor with the duty of assisting operational units in the implementation and execution of business and financial practice improvements and monitoring such progress, most of the identified weaknesses shall be promptly resolved and shall not reoccur.

- The Board, itself, shall, by a fixed agenda item, receive a report regularly, and at least quarterly, from the internal auditor and Financial Quality Control Unit as to the status of initiatives undertaken in response to the State Auditor's suggestions.

- The department's information technology initiative, currently led by Lt. Col. Raymond Lauer, with the assistance of the consulting firm of Arthur Andersen, shall, over the course of three years, implement, among other things, improved management automation technology as well as training of personnel in the use of this technology. These efforts shall better and systematically prompt financial controls and reduce incidents of human error in financial and asset management.

- The SLBPC, prior to the completion of the audit, determined to undertake a process of strategic planning, by among other things, focusing senior managers on the budget process at an earlier date so that the Budget can better serve as a management tool for the department and development of written financial policies that better detail financial practices and better coordinate those practices among the Department's operational units.

- The SLBPC shall enhance collaboration with agencies of City government, including the Mayor's staff, the Budget Director, the Comptroller and the Treasurer, and shall seek to hold quarterly meetings with representatives of each to obtain their input on matters of shared responsibility with the department.

- Mid way through the audit period, the SLBPC hired a certified public accountant to serve as purchasing director for the department, thereby bringing a new level of professional training to the position.

Over the past three years, the SLBPC and the Chief of Police focused the greatest part of the department's resources and attention to reaching new levels of excellence and accomplishment in law enforcement. These efforts yielded unprecedented improvements in community safety and dramatic decreases in the incidence of the most serious criminal activities. The SLBPC recognizes that public confidence in the Department requires that comparable excellence be achieved in all aspects of its management and believes that the State Auditor's efforts provide valuable assistance towards that end.

This report is intended for the information of the board's management and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

Follow-up on State Auditor’s Prior Recommendations

SPECIAL REVIEW OF THE
ST. LOUIS BOARD OF POLICE COMMISSIONERS
FOLLOW-UP ON STATE AUDITOR'S PRIOR RECOMMENDATIONS

This section reports follow-up action taken by the St. Louis Board of Police Commissioners (SLBPC) on recommendations made in the Management Advisory Report (MAR) of our report issued for the two years ended June 30, 1993.

The prior recommendations which have not been implemented, but are considered significant, have been repeated in the current MAR. Although the remaining unimplemented recommendations have not been repeated, the board should consider implementing these recommendations.

1. Expenditures

A. During the two years ended June 30, 1993, the SLBPC paid $76,103 for health and life insurance for current and former commissioners.

B. The SLBPC did not require that mileage logs be maintained for executive vehicles. Since 1988, the SLBPC had expended over $311,000, including trade-in allowances, for the purchase, maintenance, repairs, and insurance for executive cars for these individuals. In addition, the SLBPC was providing legal counsel for current and former commissioners in defense of an IRS case involving personal use of executive cars.

C.1. During the two years ended June 30, 1993, the SLBPC paid a law firm $372,578 for professional services without maintaining documentation supporting these expenditures including dates and hours worked and work performed.

2. The department paid over $9,800 for legal services without contracts specifying the hourly rates to be charged and the services to be provided by the legal firms retained.

Recommendation:

The SLBPC:

A. Discontinue the practice of providing insurance benefits for current and former commissioners.

B. Require mileage logs to be maintained for all executive vehicles to ensure the vehicles are justified for business purposes and used only for department business, or discontinue the practice of purchasing and providing executive vehicles. In addition, the SLBPC should discontinue the payment of expenses in defense of the IRS case involving personal use of the executive vehicles and consider the recoupment of the legal expenses already incurred.

C.1. Require adequate documentation to support professional services expenditures made to the general counsel.

2. Execute written contracts for all outside legal services which specify hourly rates and services to be provided.

Status:

A. Not implemented. See MAR No. 1.

B. Not implemented. The SLBPC does not require mileage logs to be maintained for executive vehicles. The SLBPC has not provided board members an executive vehicle in the last three years. The IRS case involving personal use of the executive vehicles has been settled; therefore, the SLBPC has discontinued providing legal counsel.

C.1. Not implemented. It appears the SLBPC has improved on retaining legal invoices documenting expenses, dates and hours worked, and work performed; however, we were unable to locate some legal invoices. See MAR No. 4.

2. Not implemented. See MAR No. 3.

2. Procurement Procedures

A. Bids were not always solicited for various purchases made by the department during the two years ended June 30, 1993.

B. The SLBPC did not bid any of its banking services and did not have current written depositary agreements with the bank.

Recommendation:

The SLBPC:

A. Solicit bids for all purchases in accordance with the department's stated policy and document all price quotes obtained on non-bid items.

B. Obtain banking services through competitive bidding. Written depositary agreements should be obtained from each depositary bank which specifies the services to be provided and any applicable costs for these services.

Status:

Not implemented. See MAR No. 3.

3. Inventory Controls and Procedures

A. The department operates a service garage (Fleet Services) to perform maintenance on department vehicles.

1. A summary report that showed the beginning balance, purchases, issuances, and ending balance for each part was not periodically prepared.

2. We noted several items which appeared to have excessive quantities on hand.

B. The department operates a supply warehouse (Supply Division) which stocks various items used by the department.

1. The duties of recording inventory transactions and reconciling physical count results were not adequately segregated.

2. The Supply Division did not retain the count sheets from the semi-annual physical inventory counts after adjustments were made to inventory balances and inventory balance adjustments were made prior to supervisory approval.

3. We noted several items which appeared to have excessive quantities on hand.

C. The department maintains firearms, ammunition, and various related supplies in the Armory.

1. The Armory did not have written procedures for inventory movements and records.

2. The Armory did not maintain records of the number of rounds of ammunition dispensed at the firing range.

Recommendation:

The SLBPC:

A.1. Prepare a quarterly report that shows the beginning balance, purchases, issuances, and ending balance for each part.

2. Order parts based on expected usage to reduce excessive parts inventories.

B.1. Segregate the duties of recording transactions in the inventory system and reconciling supply inventory counts to inventory balances.

2. Obtain and document supervisory approval prior to making adjustments to the supply inventory records and retain documentation of count results to support supply inventory adjustments.
3. Order supplies based on expected usage to reduce excessive supply inventories.

C.1. Develop written procedures for Armory inventory movement and inventory records.

2. Reconcile the amount of ammunition used at the firing range to the amount removed from the vault.

Status:

A.1.
&B.3. Not implemented. See MAR No. 6.

A.2. Partially implemented. During our review, we still noted some items which appeared to have excessive quantities on hand. However, most of the items noted were decals which are no longer used. Although not repeated in the current report, the SLBPC should consider fully implementing the recommendation.

B.1.,
B.2.,
&C.1. Implemented.

C.2. Not implemented. Although not repeated in the current report, the SLBPC should consider fully implementing the recommendation.

4. Traffic Ticket and Parking Tag Controls

A. The department did not ensure logs of ticket books assigned to officers were completed. In addition, logs were destroyed after thirteen months.

B. The department did not ensure that cover and completion sheets were properly submitted to ISD. In addition, ISD discarded the sheets after approximately six months.

C. The department did not account for tickets assigned and issued and their ultimate disposition.

Recommendation:

The SLBPC:

A. Require the area stations and other patrol units to maintain accurate and complete logs of traffic and parking tickets received and issued. These logs should be retained until subjected to final audit.

B. Require that cover and completion sheets be submitted to ISD to document when a book is started and completed, and require ISD to maintain a permanent record of books started and completed.

C. Account for the numerical sequence of tickets assigned and issued and their ultimate disposition.

Status:

Not implemented. See MAR No. 7.

5. Budgeting of Funds

A. The SLBPC did not prepare budgets for the Secretary's Account funds and some government grant and contract funds.

B. During the two years ended June 30, 1993, the SLBPC sold two buildings for a total of $958,137. The buildings apparently were purchased with monies from the General Fund of the city of St. Louis. The sale proceeds were deposited in the Secretary's Fund and used to fund the Special Operations Building.

Recommendation:

The SLBPC:

A. Prepare budgets of revenues, resources, and expenditures for the Secretary's Account and all grant and contract revenues. These budgets should be formally reviewed and approved by the board and used as a guideline for the activity of these funds.

B. Obtain written agreements from the city before making sales of city funded SLBPC buildings.

Status:

A. Not implemented. See MAR No. 2.

B. The SLBPC did not sell any buildings during the two years ended June 30, 1998. However, if such transactions do occur in the future, the SLBPC should consider following this recommendation.

6. Construction Management

A.1. It appeared that the department did not have an independent or qualified person reviewing construction progress and monitoring contract compliance.

2. The board assigned construction liaison duties to the Bureau of Administration. The persons who maintained daily contact with the architect and contractor were commissioned officers and were not experienced in the construction industry. As a result, there were several design flaws which were not discovered by the department until the flaws appeared in the completed product.

B. The inexperience of the department personnel allowed the project's change orders to become excessive. In addition, some change orders were approved by the board after a significant portion of the change order work was completed.

Recommendation:

The SLBPC:

A. Retain an independent, qualified person or firm to perform construction management duties.

B. Monitor future construction change orders to ensure that project overruns remain within contractual limits.

Status:

Implemented.

7. Record Retention

During our review of the SLBPC, we noted various records which were not available for our review, due to purging of documents after the thirteen month retention period.

Recommendation

The SLBPC review the record retention policy and revise the policy to meet the requirements of the Missouri Municipal Records Manual.

Status

Not implemented. See MAR No. 10.

8. Unclaimed Property Distribution

During the two years ended June 30, 1993, the SLBPC distributed $90,201 of unclaimed cash and proceeds from the sale of unclaimed property to the St. Louis Police Relief Association. The commander of the Laboratory Division, which stores unclaimed property, estimated at least ninety percent of unclaimed property is seized property.

Recommendation:

The SLBPC dispose of unclaimed seized property in accordance with Section 542.301.1(5), RSMO Supp. 1993.

Status:

Partially implemented. A court decision ruled that these monies could be turned over to the Relief Association at the discretion of the SLBPC.

9. Bond Collection Procedures and Records

A. Standard record-keeping procedures for city ordinance bonds had not been developed at the area command centers. In addition, the numerical sequence of bond forms was not accounted for by the area command centers.

B. There was a lack of segregation of duties related to the fugitive bond account.

Recommendation:

The SLBPC:

A. Develop departmentwide standard record keeping procedures for city ordinance bond receipt forms so that city ordinance bond receipts forms are issued and filed in numerical sequence, the sequence is accounted for, receipt numbers are recorded on the bond logs, and receipts are agreed to transmittals.

B. Adequately segregate the duties regarding the fugitive bond account. At a minimum, an independent supervisory review of the bank reconciliations and checks issued should be performed.

Status:

A. Not implemented. See MAR No. 5.

B. Implemented.

AUDIT REPORT

MISSOURI DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

TWO YEARS ENDED JUNE 30, 1998

From The Office Of State Auditor
Claire McCaskill

Report No. 99-24
April 15, 1999

Office Of The
State Auditor Of Missouri
Claire McCaskill

FACT SHEET

The following problems were discovered in Missouri's Department of Conservation as a result of an audit conducted by our office. During our audit, we identified certain management practices which we believe could be improved.

The Department of Conservation maintains a fleet of three planes and one helicopter. The department's flight logs indicate the pilot, a general purpose category, total flying time, the name of a passenger or observer, and miscellaneous remarks such as route taken. However, as noted in our last four reports, the flight logs do not list the names of all passengers. As a result, the department cannot be assured all passengers on the plane are either department personnel or approved non-department personnel. In addition, the public cannot determine whether or not the purpose of the flight was appropriate.

Pilots complete a flight manifest for each flight which lists each passenger; however, for some unexplained reason, this report is destroyed after the flight is completed. The department indicated that maintaining documentation of the names of all passengers is not necessary and that the current procedures are adequate since it has several internal levels of review to ensure the planes and helicopter are used only for official purposes.

In response to this audit, the Department of Conservation has only agreed to review their travel policies, and has declined to permanently adopt our recommendations at this time. Since the failure to document passengers on aircraft, paid for with tax dollars, has been pointed out to the department in audits conducted in 1990, 1992, 1994, 1996 and now 1998, a period spanning more than a decade, we will follow up with another audit of the department on this issue within the next 12 months to see whether or not they permanently adopt our recommendations.

Furthermore, the department requires employees to compare the cost of commercial flights to the cost of using department planes. Department employees have indicated that this comparison is now documented and maintained for most out of state flights. However, during our review, we noted several flights to out of state destinations for which documentation of the cost comparison could not be located. Failure to obtain cost comparisons may result in the department paying more than necessary.

For example, the department periodically charters flights rather than using department planes. During our review, we noted that in August 1996, two Conservation Commissioners flew a charter flight from St. Joseph, Missouri to Boise, Idaho at a approximate cost to the department of $9,600. Cost comparisons for this flight were not documented. While the commercial rate of this flight in 1996 was not available, the Office of Administration Flight Operations indicated its rate would have cost approximately $5,500. The department now says it will implement cost comparisons.

Another concern regarding fiscal accountability is raised in regard to the Department of Conservation's Clothing Allowance Reimbursement. Last year the department provided $100 for signature clothing on a reimbursement only basis to employees who were not required to wear uniforms. This year they have decided to give everyone $100 and require no documentation that clothing was purchased. These payments totaled $39,200 for the period July 1, 1998 through November 30, 1998.

If the department believes it is necessary and beneficial to provide signature clothing that employees may wear only occasionally, the employees should be required to purchase signature clothing with the clothing allowance, were the clothing at designated events, and provide documentation to support such purchases.

It is essential that departments which receive earmarked taxes remain as vigilant, as all other departments of government that receive their funding through general revenue, in demonstrating to the public that tax dollars are being spent appropriately.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON
THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Honorable Mel Carnahan, Governor
and Conservation Commission
and
Jerry Conley, Director
Missouri Department of Conservation
Jefferson City, Missouri 65102

We have audited the accompanying special-purpose financial statements of the Conservation Commission Fund of the Missouri Department of Conservation as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997, as identified in the table of contents. These special-purpose financial statements are the responsibility of the department's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these special-purpose financial statements based on our audit.

Except as discussed in the fourth paragraph, we conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the special-purpose financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the special-purpose financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

The accompanying special-purpose financial statements were prepared for the purpose of presenting the receipts, disbursements, other financing uses, and changes in cash and investments and the appropriations and expenditures of the Conservation Commission Fund of the Missouri Department of Conservation and are not intended to be a complete presentation of the financial position and results of operations of the department.

Governmental Accounting Standards Board Technical Bulletin 98-1, Disclosures about Year 2000 Issues, requires disclosure of certain matters regarding the year 2000 issue. The Missouri Department of Conservation has included such disclosures in Note 5. Because of the unprecedented nature of the year 2000 issue, its effects and the success of related remediation efforts will not be fully determinable until the year 2000 and thereafter. Accordingly, insufficient audit evidence exists to support the Missouri Department of Conservation's disclosures with respect to the year 2000 issue made in Note 5. Further, we do not provide assurance that the Missouri Department of Conservation is or will be year 2000 ready, that the Missouri Department of Conservation's remediation efforts will be successful in whole or in part, or that parties with which the Missouri Department of Conservation does business will be year 2000 ready.

In our opinion, except for the effects of such adjustments, if any, as might have been determined to be necessary had we been able to examine evidence regarding year 2000 disclosures, the special-purpose financial statements referred to in the first paragraph present fairly, in all material respects, the receipts, disbursements, other financing uses, and changes in cash and investments and the appropriations and expenditures of the Conservation Commission Fund of the Missouri Department of Conservation as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997, in conformity with the comprehensive bases of accounting discussed in Note 1, which are bases of accounting other than generally accepted accounting principles.

In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we also have issued our report dated November 5, 1998, on our consideration of the department's internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grants.

Our audit was made for the purpose of forming an opinion on the special-purpose financial statements, taken as a whole, that are referred to in the first paragraph. The accompanying financial information listed as supplementary data in the table of contents is presented for purposes of additional analysis. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the special-purpose financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the special-purpose financial statements taken as a whole.

The accompanying History, Organization, and Statistical Information is presented for informational purposes. This information was obtained from the department's management and was not subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the special-purpose financial statements referred to above.

An integral part of the department's funding comes from federal awards. Those federal awards are reported on in the State of Missouri Single Audit Report issued by the State Auditor's office. The single audit is conducted in accordance with the provisions of Office of Management and Budget Circular A-133, Audits of States, Local Governments, and Non-Profit Organizations.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON COMPLIANCE
AND ON INTERNAL CONTROL OVER FINANCIAL REPORTING

Honorable Mel Carnahan, Governor
and Conservation Commission
and
Jerry Conley, Director
Missouri Department of Conservation
Jefferson City, Missouri 65102

We have audited the special-purpose financial statements of the Missouri Department of Conservation as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997, and have issued our report thereon dated November 5, 1998. That report expressed a qualified opinion on the special-purpose financial statements. Except as discussed in that report, we conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States.

Compliance

As part of obtaining reasonable assurance about whether the special-purpose financial statements of the Missouri Department of Conservation are free of material misstatement, we performed tests of the department's compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grants, noncompliance with which could have a direct and material effect on the determination of financial statement amounts. However, providing an opinion on compliance with those provisions was not an objective of our audit, and accordingly, we do not express such an opinion. The results of our tests disclosed no material instances of noncompliance that are required to be reported under Government Auditing Standards. However, we noted an instance of other noncompliance which is presented in the accompanying Management Advisory Report.

Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

In planning and performing our audit of the special-purpose financial statements of the Missouri Department of Conservation, we considered the department's internal control over financial reporting in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the special-purpose financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control over financial reporting. Our consideration of the internal control over financial reporting would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal control over financial reporting that might be material weaknesses. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of one or more of the internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that misstatements in amounts that would be material to the special-purpose financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. We noted no matters involving the internal control over financial reporting and its operation that we consider to be material weaknesses.

This report is intended for the information of the management of the Missouri Department of Conservation and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

Notes to the Financial Statement and Supplementary Data

Notes to the Financial Statements:

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

A. Reporting Entity and Basis of Presentation

The accompanying special-purpose financial statements present only selected data for the Conservation Commission Fund of the Missouri Department of Conservation.

Receipts, disbursements, other financing uses, and changes in cash and investments are presented in Exhibit A for the Conservation Commission Fund. Appropriations from this fund are expended by or for the department for restricted purposes.

Appropriations, presented in Exhibit B, are not separate accounting entities. They do not record the assets, liabilities, and equities of the related fund but are used only to account for and control the department's expenditures from amounts appropriated by the General Assembly.

Expenditures presented for each appropriation may not reflect the total cost of the related activity. Other direct and indirect costs provided by the department and other state agencies are not allocated to the applicable fund or program.

B. Basis of Accounting

The Statement of Receipts, Disbursements, Other Financing Uses, and Changes in Cash and Investments, Exhibit A, prepared on the cash basis of accounting, presents amounts when they are received or disbursed.

The Statement of Appropriations and Expenditures, Exhibit B, is presented on the state's legal budgetary basis of accounting which recognizes expenditures on the encumbrance method. Expenditures include amounts payable or encumbered at June 30 and paid during the lapse period, which ends August 31 for regular appropriations and December 31 for capital improvement appropriations. The authority to expend appropriations ends with the close of the lapse period. However, the General Assembly may authorize reappropriation of the unexpended balances of capital improvement appropriations for the following year. The General Assembly also may authorize biennial capital improvement appropriations, for which the unexpended balances at June 30 of the first year of the two-year period are reappropriated for expenditure during the second year.

The cash basis of accounting and the budgetary basis of accounting differ from generally accepted accounting principles, which require revenues to be recognized when they become available and measurable or when they are earned and expenditures or expenses to be recognized when the related liabilities are incurred.

C. Fiscal Authority and Responsibility

The department administers transactions in the Conservation Commission Fund. The state treasurer as fund custodian and the Office of Administration provide administrative control over fund resources within the authority prescribed by the General Assembly.

The Conservation Commission Fund: This fund controls the monies collected and expended by the department within the restrictions imposed by the Missouri Constitution, Article IV, Section 43(b). Appropriations are made from this fund by the General Assembly to control, manage, restore, conserve, and regulate birds, fish, game, forestry, and wildlife resources of the state and to administer the related laws.

D. Employee Fringe Benefits

In addition to the social security system, employees are covered by the Missouri State Employees' Retirement System (MOSERS) (a noncontributory plan) and may participate in the state's deferred compensation and cafeteria plans. Employees may also participate in medical benefit and life insurance plans provided for the department by the Continental Assurance Company (CNA). The optional life insurance and cafeteria plans involve only employee contributions or payroll reductions. Also, the deferred compensation plan involves employee payroll deferrals and a monthly state matching contribution for each participating employee.

The state's required contributions for employee fringe benefits are paid from the same funds as the related payrolls. Those contributions are for MOSERS (retirement and long-term disability benefits); social security and medicare taxes; basic life insurance; health care premiums; and the deferred compensation plan match.

Employee fringe benefits in the financial statements at Exhibit A are primarily the transfers and payments from the Conservation Commission Fund for costs related to salaries and insurance paid from that fund. Transfers related to salaries are not appropriated by agency and thus are not presented in the financial statement at Exhibit B.

2. Cash and Investments

The balance of the Conservation Commission Fund is pooled with other state funds and invested by the state treasurer. Interest income is allocated to the Conservation Commission Fund on the basis of the fund's average daily balance.

Trust account monies are combined with regular monies to make up the total balance available in the Conservation Commission Fund. At June 30, 1998 and 1997, trust accounts totaled $917,332 and $861,587 respectively, and represented funds restricted for the maintenance and/or purchase of land.

The department maintains a premium stabilization fund with CNA, the department's health insurance provider. Various conditions and restrictions have been placed on the department's access to this fund. Access to this fund by the department could affect the insurance premium rates and/or funded status. The premium stabilization fund is not included in the department's cash and investments balance on Exhibit A because these funds are not available for meeting general obligations of the department.

3. Reconciliation of Total Disbursements to Appropriated Expenditures

Disbursements on Exhibit A reconcile to appropriated expenditures on Exhibit B as follows:

	Conservation Commission Fund Year Ended June 30,
	1998	1997
DISBURSEMENTS PER EXHIBIT A	$ 131,546,951	129,240,811
Employee fringe benefit transfers	(9,918,648)	(9,406,007)
Lapse period expenditures:
1998	5,653,785	N/A
1997	(20,148,581)	20,148,581
1996	0	(7,514,117)
EXPENDITURES PER EXHIBIT B	$ 107,133,507	132,469,268

4. Appropriations Exercised by Other State Agencies

The Missouri General Assembly makes certain appropriations from the Conservation Commission Fund for personal services, expense and equipment, and programs administered by other state agencies. Expenditures charged to these appropriations and transfers from the fund for associated fringe benefits during fiscal years 1998 and 1997 were:

	Year Ended June 30,
	1998	1997
Office of Administration
Insurance and legal expense	$ 390,965	325,134
Worker's compensation	9,458	0
Unemployment insurance	92,149	91,360
Office of State Auditor	35,022	33,422
Department of Revenue	474,844	404,293
Total	$ 1,002,438	854,209

5. Year 2000 Plan of Action

To address the Year 2000 (Y2K) issue, Information Management and Technology Section has developed and is currently implementing a plan designed to ensure that the Y2K date change will have no adverse impact on the Department of Conservation's ability to service its customers and conduct business. The department is on target to complete this project and will conduct extensive testing in 1998 and throughout 1999. It is the intent that the week of January 4, 2000 through January 8, 2000, will be "Business As Usual" for the Department of Conservation.

The department is taking a phased approach to implementing the Y2K plan. The phases are as follows:

Phase I (Inventory Phase) - Identifies all components of computer hardware, software and interfaces used by the department. Most of this work is already completed.

Phase II (Assessment Phase) - Establishes whether Y2K issues apply for each component and, if so, a plan of action is developed and a priority is assigned that ensures compliancy will be achieved in the required time frame. Much of the assessment work has been completed. A major component still not fully addressed is application software. Now that programming vacancies are being filled and staffing is being supplemented, the department hopes to address the application software issue and complete the assessment phase early in 1999.

Phase III (Remediation Phase) - Ensures appropriate actions are taken to achieve Y2K compliancy. In most cases, components will be modified, upgraded or reprogrammed. In other cases, especially where components are mission critical, some components may have to be replaced to guarantee compliancy. Some of this work has already been completed.

Phase IV (Test Phase) - Tests all components and, where appropriate, takes final corrective actions to ensure compliancy. Although the department is doing individual component testing, the department is planning to conduct an overall systems test over the three-day Truman holiday weekend (May 7 through May 9, 1999). At that time, the clocks will be rolled forward to the year 2000 on all major infrastructure components in the Central Office and these components will be tested for Y2K compliancy.

Notes to the Supplementary Data:

6. General Fixed Assets

A. The investment in general fixed assets at June 30, 1998 and 1997 was from the following funds:

	June 30, 1998	June 30, 1997
Conservation Commission Fund	$ 410,555,728	$ 381,471,787
General Revenue Fund-State	62,884	79,048
Revenue Sharing Trust Fund	865,669	872,633
Total	$ 411,484,281	$ 382,423,468

B. Public domain ("infrastructure") general fixed assets consisting of certain improvements other than buildings, including roads, bridges, curbs and gutters, streets and sidewalks, drainage systems, and lighting systems are not capitalized along with other general fixed assets. Also not capitalized are certain improvements including hatchery pools, wetland development, and other expenditures to prepare land purchased for its intended use.

7. Statements of Changes in Land by County

Corrections on the Statement of Changes in Land by County, Schedules 3-A and 3-B, included the following:

A. Correction of beginning balances for land purchased or sold in prior years but not recorded until the current year.

B. Increases in land values due to buildings which were acquired on the land being recorded in the current fiscal year, while the land was recorded in prior years.

C. Decreases in land values due to buildings which were acquired on the land being recorded in the current fiscal year, while the land was recorded in prior years.

The department's policy is to reduce the cost of land by the appraised value of the buildings acquired on the land. The building's appraised value is added to the building inventory. Because the department purchases land for the land only, the value of acquired buildings disposed of is added back to the land value, thus requiring the types of correcting entries in B and C above.

MISSOURI DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION
MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT -
STATE AUDITOR'S CURRENT RECOMMENDATIONS

We have audited the special-purpose financial statements of the Missouri Department of Conservation as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997, and have issued our report thereon dated November 5, 1998. That report expressed a qualified opinion on the special-purpose financial statements.

The following Management Advisory Report presents our finding and recommendation arising from our audit of the department's special-purpose financial statements. During our audit, we also identified certain management practices which we believe could be improved. Our audit was not designed or intended to be a detailed study of every system, procedure, and transaction. Accordingly, the findings presented in the following Management Advisory Report should not be considered as all-inclusive of areas where improvements may be needed.

1. Plane Usage

The department maintains a fleet of three planes and one helicopter which is used to transport department employees for various reasons, such as fire protection, research, transporting fish and game, or aerial photography. According to the department, approximately $500,000 is spent annually to operate its aviation program. According to department records, the cost of operating the various planes ranges from $200 to $252 per hour and the cost of operating the helicopter is $351 per hour. The department's flight logs indicate the pilot, a general purpose category, total flying time, the name of a passenger or observer, and miscellaneous remarks such as route taken, however other pertinent information needs to be documented. Our review of the flight logs revealed the following concerns:

A. As noted in our last four reports, the flight logs do not list the names of all passengers. If there are two passengers, a notation of one passenger's name will be included on the log, but the additional passenger will be noted as +1. If there are more than two passengers, they will be noted as +2, +3, etc. As a result, the department cannot be assured all passengers on the plane are either department personnel or approved non-department personnel. In addition, the specific purpose of the flight is not documented. The flight logs include very general descriptions of the purpose of the flight. The descriptions used include transportation, enforcement, fire protection, research management, transportation of wildlife, photography, and other. To provide proper accountability to the taxpayers that the planes are only used for official state business, the names of all passengers should be documented.

Pilots complete a flight manifest for each flight which lists each passenger; however this report is destroyed after the flight is completed. The department indicated that maintaining documentation of the names of all passengers is not necessary and that the current procedures are adequate since it has several internal levels of review to ensure the planes and helicopter are used only for official purposes. However, without adequate documentation of all passengers' names on the flight logs and the specific purpose of the flight, it is impossible for an independent reviewer or the department to ensure compliance with the current policies.

B. The department's procedures require employees to compare the cost of commercial flights to the cost of using department planes. Department employees have indicated that this comparison is now documented and maintained for most out of state flights. However, during our review, we noted several flights to out of state destinations for which documentation of the cost comparisons could not be located. Without maintaining documentation comparing the cost of commercial flights to the cost of using the department's planes, the department cannot ensure its policy is being followed.

C. The department periodically charters flights rather than using department planes. During our review, we noted that during August 1996, two department Commissioners flew a charter flight from St. Joseph, Missouri to Boise, Idaho at an approximate cost to the department of $9,600. Cost comparisons for this flight were not documented. While the commercial rate of this flight in 1996 was not available, the Office of Administration Flight Operations indicated its rate would have cost approximately $5,500.

Failure to obtain cost comparisons for charter flights may result in the department paying more than necessary.

WE RECOMMEND the department:

A. Document the names of all passengers and the specific purpose of all flights.

B. Document the comparison of the cost of commercial flights to the cost of using department planes when commercial flights are available and retain this with the flight information.

C. Obtain and document cost comparisons of charter flights to the cost of using department planes or commercial flights to ensure the most economical use of state resources.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. The Conservation Commission has instructed the staff to initiate a comprehensive review of all existing rules, regulations and policies related to Department aircraft usage. As part of this review process, the Department will retain the flight manifests, as your audit suggested. Additionally, we agree that the specific purpose of a flight should be more detailed and will initiate that change immediately. It is anticipated that this added information will assist staff conducting the review in determining whether permanent changes in Department policies may be warranted.

B. Department procedures require comparisons between the cost of commercial flights and the cost of using Department planes. However, for some out-of-state flights, approvals were issued without a written cost comparison because the results were intuitive. It is extremely rare when four or more passengers can fly more cost effectively commercially than by Department plane.

In the future, Administrative Services will maintain cost comparison documentation on all out-of-state flights which utilize Department planes. Justification necessary for special arrangements will be documented.

C. The charter flight, which occurred in August 1996, resulted from a unique set of circumstances regarding the consideration of a candidate for the Director's position. Due to the many interested candidates within the Department, it was necessary to maintain absolute confidentiality regarding the trip. There were also many viable candidates located out-of-state, who were requiring a hiring decision within a limited time frame; therefore, time was of the essence. This flight should be viewed as a unique circumstance. This was the first time since the first Department Director was appointed in 1938 that a Director has been recruited from outside the Department. In the future, in compliance with an out-of-state air travel policy adopted by the Commission at its March meeting, the Department will perform cost comparisons for all charter flights and consider cost as one factor in making charter decisions, which are subject to the Director's approval.

2. Clothing Allowance Reimbursement

Some department employees are required to wear a uniform, including newly designed signature clothing. These employees are given an annual clothing allowance of $300 to $400 (depending on job function) to purchase their uniforms. During the year ended June 30, 1998, the department provided a $100 allowance for signature clothing on a reimbursement basis to employees who were not required to wear uniforms. To reduce the paperwork involved in tracking the reimbursements, beginning in fiscal year 1999, the department is providing a payment of $100 to each of these employees. There is no requirement that the employees purchase signature clothing or wear the clothing at designated events. These $100 payments totaled $39,200 for the period July 1, 1998 through November 30, 1998.

We surveyed two other state agencies which indicated they do not provide clothing allowances for employees who are not required to wear uniforms. One department has a catalog that provides employees the opportunity to purchase signature clothing and other items with the department logo; however, no reimbursement is provided by the department to employees not required to wear a uniform. Another agency periodically provides its employees the opportunity to purchase signature items; however, the agency does not reimburse the employees for the cost of the clothing.

Clothing reimbursements that are not for required uniforms do not appear to be a prudent and necessary expenditure of the department funds.

WE RECOMMEND the department evaluate the necessity and benefits of providing clothing allowances for employees who are not required to wear a uniform.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Department has determined that the signature clothing allowance is extremely important to the management of the Department. Such clothing readily identifies employees attending public functions or in their daily contact with the public at work. The Commission strongly believes this has been an important, positive management tool over the last two years in building Department teamwork and pride. The salaried employees receiving the partial clothing allowance are well aware that the allowance is to be spent only on signature clothing. The actual use of the allowance for signature clothing purchases is closely monitored by the supervisors of those salaried employees.

AUDITOR'S COMMENT

The department's response implies that signature clothing was purchased with the clothing allowance. However, there was no requirement that employees purchase signature clothing. In addition, the employees were not required to provide documentation to support how the clothing allowance was used. If the department believes it is necessary and beneficial to provide signature clothing that employees may wear only occasionally, the employees should be required to purchase signature clothing with the clothing allowance, wear the clothing at designated events, and provide documentation to support such purchases.

3. Suspension and Debarment Compliance

The DOC has entered into contractual agreements with several contractors to build a new hatchery as well as various boating access projects. The DOC does not require contractors to certify that they have not been suspended or debarred.

43 CFR 12.75 requires that DOC must not make any award to any party which is debarred or suspended or is otherwise excluded from or ineligible for participation in Federal assistance. This requirement applies to all contractors receiving individual awards of $100,000 or more and all subrecipients. Controls must be established to obtain suspension and debarment certifications from parties to ensure compliance with the federal guidelines.

WE RECOMMEND the DOC obtain certifications from parties awarded contracts of $100,000 or more that the organization and its principals are not suspended or debarred.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We agree with the auditor's finding. Our Corrective Action Plan includes our planned actions to address this finding. The only procurement contracts in excess of $100,000 let by the Department of Conservation which qualify for federal assistance are capital improvement construction projects. Our construction contracts will be modified to include a clause under which the contractor will certify that its organization and its principals are not suspended or debarred.

This report is intended for the information of the management of the Missouri Department of Conservation and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

Follow-Up on State Auditor’s Prior Recommendations

MISSOURI DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION
FOLLOW-UP ON STATE AUDITOR'S PRIOR RECOMMENDATIONS

This section reports follow-up action taken by the Missouri Department of Conservation on recommendations made in the Management Advisory Report (MAR) of our report issued for the two years ended June 30, 1996. The prior recommendations which have not been implemented, but are considered significant, have been repeated in the current MAR. Although the remaining unimplemented recommendations have not been repeated, the department should consider implementing these recommendations.

1. Protection Division Violation Tickets

The Protection Division did not account for the numerical sequence and disposition of resource and wildlife violation tickets assigned to conservation agents.

Recommendation:

The department account for the numerical sequence of all tickets assigned to conservation agents.

Status:

Partially implemented. Effective March 1, 1997, the department implemented a policy requiring completed citation books be submitted to regional supervisors. Agents are also required to provide brief explanations for all tickets not filed in court. However, the policy does not require regional supervisors to account for all tickets or verify the disposition of the tickets assigned to agents. Although not repeated in the current MAR, our recommendation remains as stated above.

2. Plane Usage

A. The department's flight logs did not list the names of all passengers. In addition, the specific purpose of the flight was not documented.

B. Although the department's policy required employees to compare the cost of commercial flights to the cost of using department planes, the department did not require the comparison to be documented or retained with flight information.

Recommendation:

The department:

A. Document the names of all passengers and specific purpose of all flights.

B. Document the comparison of the cost of commercial flights to the cost of using department planes when commercial flights are available and retain this with the flight information. Furthermore, justification for special arrangements should also be adequately documented.

Status:

A. Not implemented. See MAR No. l.

B. Partially implemented. During fiscal year 1998, the DOC implemented a procedure to document and maintain cost comparisons, however instances were noted in which this information could not be located. See MAR No. 1.

STATISTICAL SECTION

History, Organization, and Statistical Information

MISSOURI DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION
HISTORY, ORGANIZATION, AND STATISTICAL INFORMATION

The Missouri Department of Conservation is constitutionally created pursuant to Article IV, Sections 40 and 46. The general functions of the department are to control, manage, restore, conserve, and regulate all bird, fish, game, forestry, and wildlife resources of the state. To accomplish this responsibility, the department has adopted a "Five Year Strategic Plan." This plan covers the five year period FY 1996-2000. Rather than focusing on the acquisition of new lands, as in the past, the development and delivery of programs and services to enhance private land management by landowners is a priority program emphasis during the current five year plan. At June 30, 1998, the department owned 761,863 acres of land in the state.

The department is headed by a four-member bipartisan commission, appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. They serve without compensation for staggered six-year terms. The Commission appoints the Director who in turn approves the employment of other employees and is the chief administrator of the department. The commission members at June 30, 1998 were:

Commissioner	Term Expires
Anita B. Gorman	June 30, 1999
Randy Herzog	July 1, 2001
Ronald J. Stites	July 1, 2001
Howard L. Wood	July 1, 2003

Jerry Conley was appointed Director effective January 1, 1997. Jerry Presley served as Director from January 1988 to December 31, 1996. The department employs approximately 1,470 full-time and 310 part-time employees.

TWENTY-FOURTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT

ST. FRANCOIS COUNTY, MISSOURI

TWO YEARS ENDED DECEMBER 31, 1997

From The Office Of State Auditor
Claire McCaskill

AUDIT REPORT

Report No. 99-23
April 13, 1999

Office Of The
State Auditor Of Missouri
Claire McCaskill

FACT SHEET

The following problems, discovered as result of our office's most recent two year audit of the Twenty-Fourth Judicial Circuit in St. Francois County, Missouri, are similar to those brought to the circuit's attention eight years ago. In 1991, the State Auditor's Office pointed out concerns similar to the following problems and offered the circuit court recommendations for improvement. In some cases recommendations were implemented, if not totally at least partially; however, many of the following recommendations were not implemented.

In the Circuit Clerk's office, deposits are not made on a timely basis and checks are not restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt. The court says it is working to improve its procedures so that court deposits will be made more frequently. They say checks will be endorsed once the bank account that the monies are to be deposited into is determined.

The Circuit Clerk allows employees to cash personal checks from daily receipts. We noted numerous instances where court employees were allowed to cash personal and two-party checks. For example, for one 10-day period in March 1997, thirty personal checks totaling $820 and five two-party checks totaling $188 were cashed. This practice weakens controls surrounding receipts and increase the possibility of loss or misuse of funds. The court says it will not discontinue the practice of allowing small personal or two-party checks to be cashed from court receipts.

To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss, theft, or misuse of funds, deposits should be made intact and daily, the practice of allowing employees to cash personal or two-party checks from court receipts should be discontinued, and checks should be restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt.

Delinquent child support payments are not adequately monitored in accordance with state law. Delinquency notices are not regularly sent out to the non-custodial parents. This process is currently being performed by the Missouri Division of Child Support Enforcement (DCSE). However, the Circuit Clerk has requested the suppression of billings by DCSE for some delinquent obligations and therefore, no such billings will be generated until the suppression is rescinded by the Circuit Clerk. The court says it does not have the staff or money needed to monitor delinquent child support payments.

The Associate Circuit Division does not adequately follow up on surety bonds posted by defendants who fail to make the required court appearances. We noted an instance where a surety bond was not forfeited when the defendant failed to appear on the court date. State law provides for bond forfeiture monies to be distributed to the various school districts in the county. The court's procedure results in less revenue to the school districts. The Associate Circuit Judge responded that the court's current procedures are adequate.

The law library custodian receives $60 a month from law library funds as compensation for maintaining the accounting records; however, a formal agreement, signed by the Circuit Judge, was not found which allowed this compensation.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON
THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Presiding Judge and Court en banc
and
The Circuit Clerk of the Twenty-Fourth Judicial Circuit
St. Francois County, Missouri

We have audited the accompanying special-purpose financial statements of the various funds of the Twenty-Fourth Judicial Circuit, St. Francois County, Missouri, as of and for the years ended December 31, 1997 and 1996, as identified in the table of contents. These special-purpose financial statements are the responsibility of the judicial circuit's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these special-purpose financial statements based on our audit.

Except as discussed in the fourth paragraph, we conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the special-purpose financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the special-purpose financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

The accompanying special-purpose financial statements were prepared for the purpose of presenting the receipts, disbursements, and changes in cash of the various funds of the Twenty-Fourth Judicial Circuit, St. Francois County, Missouri, and are not intended to be a complete presentation of the financial position and results of operations of the various funds of the judicial circuit.

Governmental Accounting Standards Board Technical Bulletin 98-1, Disclosures about Year 2000 Issues, requires disclosure of certain matters regarding the year 2000 issue. Such required disclosures include any significant amount of resources committed to make computer systems and other electronic equipment year 2000-compliant; a general description of the year 2000 issue, including a description of the stages of work in process or completed as of the end of the reporting period to make computer systems and other electronic equipment critical to conducting operations year 2000-compliant; and the additional stages of work necessary for making the computer systems and other electronic equipment year 2000 compliant. Except for disclosures provided by the Associate Circuit Judge, Division III, which are included in Note 3, the Twenty-Fourth Judicial Circuit, St. Francois County, Missouri, has omitted such disclosures. We do not provide assurance that the judicial circuit is or will be year 2000 ready, that the judicial circuit's year 2000 remediation efforts will be successful in whole or in part, or that parties with which the judicial circuit does business will be year 2000 ready.

In our opinion, except for the effects of the omission and of such adjustments, if any, on the financial statements because of the matters discussed in the preceding paragraph, the special-purpose financial statements referred to in the first paragraph present fairly, in all material respects, the receipts, disbursements, and changes in cash of the various funds of the Twenty-Fourth Judicial Circuit, St. Francois County, Missouri, as of and for the years ended December 31, 1997 and 1996, in conformity with the comprehensive basis of accounting discussed in Note 1, which is a basis of accounting other than generally accepted accounting principles.

In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we also have issued our report dated November 25, 1998, on our consideration of the judicial circuit's internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grants.

The accompanying History, Organization, and Statistical Information is presented for informational purposes. This information was obtained from the State Courts Administrator's office, St. Francois County, and the Twenty-Fourth Judicial Circuit and was not subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the special-purpose financial statements referred to above.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON COMPLIANCE
AND ON INTERNAL CONTROL OVER FINANCIAL REPORTING

Presiding Judge and Court en banc
and
The Circuit Clerk of the Twenty-Fourth Judicial Circuit
St. Francois County, Missouri

We have audited the special-purpose financial statements of the various funds of the Twenty-Fourth Judicial Circuit, St. Francois County, Missouri, as of and for the years ended December 31, 1997 and 1996, and have issued our report thereon dated November 25, 1998. That report expressed a qualified opinion on the special-purpose financial statements. Except as discussed in that report, we conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States.

Compliance

As part of obtaining reasonable assurance about whether the special-purpose financial statements of the various funds of the Twenty-Fourth Judicial Circuit, St. Francois County, Missouri, are free of material misstatement, we performed tests of the judicial circuit's compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grants, noncompliance with which could have a direct and material effect on the determination of financial statement amounts. However, providing an opinion on compliance with those provisions was not an objective of our audit, and accordingly, we do not express such an opinion. The results of our tests disclosed no instances of noncompliance.

Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

In planning and performing our audit of the special-purpose financial statements of the various funds of the Twenty-Fourth Judicial Circuit, St. Francois County, Missouri, we considered the judicial circuit's internal control over financial reporting in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the special-purpose financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control over financial reporting. However, we noted certain matters involving the internal control over financial reporting and its operation that we consider to be reportable conditions. Reportable conditions involve matters coming to our attention relating to significant deficiencies in the design or operation of the internal control over financial reporting that, in our judgment, could adversely affect the judicial circuit's ability to record, process, summarize, and report financial data consistent with the assertions of management in the special-purpose financial statements.

A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of one or more of the internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that misstatements in amounts that would be material to the special-purpose financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. Our consideration of the internal control over financial reporting would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal control that might be reportable conditions and, accordingly, would not necessarily disclose all reportable conditions that are also considered to be material weaknesses. However, we noted certain matters involving the internal control over financial reporting and its operation that we consider to be material weaknesses, and these matters are presented in the accompanying Management Advisory Report.

This report is intended for the information of the management of the Twenty-Fourth Judicial Circuit, St. Francois County, Missouri, and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

Notes to the Financial Statements

TWENTY-FOURTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
ST. FRANCOIS COUNTY, MISSOURI
NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

A. Reporting Entity and Basis of Presentation

The accompanying special-purpose financial statements present only selected data for each fund of the Twenty-Fourth Judicial Circuit, St. Francois County, Missouri.

Receipts, disbursements, and changes in cash are presented for the various funds administered by the Twenty-Fourth Judicial Circuit, St. Francois County, Missouri. The operating costs of the offices within the circuit are paid directly from appropriations authorized by the County Commissions within the judicial circuit and the state of Missouri and are not included in these financial statements. The funds administered by the circuit officials located in Madison County, Ste. Genevieve County, and Washington County are reported on separately.

The "Total (Memorandum Only)" column is presented as additional analytical data. Because this column does not identify the restrictions that exist by fund, it should be read only with reference to the details of each fund.

B. Basis of Accounting

The Statements of Receipts, Disbursements, and Changes in Cash for the Twenty-Fourth Judicial Circuit, St. Francois County, Missouri, are prepared on the cash basis of accounting; accordingly, amounts are recognized when they are received or disbursed. This basis of accounting differs from generally accepted accounting principles, which require revenues to be recognized when they become available and measurable or when they are earned and expenditures or expenses to be recognized when the related liabilities are incurred.

C. Fiscal Authority and Responsibility

The Twenty-Fourth Judicial Circuit, St. Francois County, Missouri, includes the transactions of the Circuit Division, the Associate Circuit Division, the Probate Division, the Juvenile Office and the Law Library Fund. Each officeholder has been charged with the responsibility of administering the transactions in his or her division. The Presiding Judge’s secretary acts as the custodian of the law library and a private attorney has been appointed to serve as treasurer for the law library. The Twenty-Fourth Judicial Circuit, St. Francois County, Missouri, administers transactions within the following funds:

Circuit Division Fund: This fund accounts for the transactions of the Circuit Clerk's office. These transactions include receipts and disbursements of the criminal, civil, child support, and interest accounts.

Associate Circuit Division Fund: This fund accounts for the transactions of the Associate Circuit Division. These transactions include receipts and disbursements of court costs, fees, fines, bonds and interest income.

Probate Division Fund: This fund accounts for the transactions of the Probate Division. These transactions include receipts and disbursements of court deposits and fees.

Juvenile Office Fund: This fund accounts for the transactions of the Juvenile Office. These transactions include receipts and disbursements of restitution payments and crisis grant monies.

Law Library Fund: This fund accounts for the transactions of the law library, including fees collected from Circuit Division deposits and the related interest income. Disbursements are legally restricted for maintenance of a law library.

2. Cash

Section 483.310, RSMo Cumulative Supp. 1998, authorizes circuit courts to place their funds in savings deposits in banks and savings and loan associations or in U.S. Treasury bills.

In accordance with Statement No. 3 of the Governmental Accounting Standards Board, Deposits with Financial Institutions, Investments (Including Repurchase Agreements), and Reverse Repurchase Agreements, disclosures are provided below regarding the risk of potential loss of cash deposits. For the purposes of these disclosures, deposits with financial institutions are demand, time, and savings accounts, including certificates of deposit and negotiable order of withdrawal accounts, in banks and savings institutions.

The circuit court's deposits at December 31, 1997 and 1996, were entirely covered by federal depositary insurance or by collateral securities held by the court's custodial bank in the circuit court's name.

3. Year 2000 Compliance - Associate Circuit Division III

The Office of State Courts Administrator has represented to this division that all programs and equipment installed in this division by them were purchased pursuant to bids that required those programs and equipment to be Year 2000 compliant, that Office of State Courts Administrator has tested those programs and equipment and found them to in fact be Year 2000 compliant. The Judge of this division has tested these programs and equipment and found them to be Year 2000 compliant.

Based upon the above, this division is representing that the computers and programs in use in this division are Year 2000 compliant.

TWENTY-FOURTH CIRCUIT
ST. FRANCOIS COUNTY, MISSOURI
MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT-
STATE AUDITOR'S CURRENT RECOMMENDATIONS

We have audited the special-purpose financial statements of the Twenty-Fourth Judicial Circuit, St. Francois County, Missouri, as of and for the years ended December 31, 1997 and 1996, and have issued our report thereon dated November 25, 1998. That report expressed a qualified opinion on the special-purpose financial statements.

The following Management Advisory Report presents our findings and recommendations arising from our audit of the judicial circuit's special-purpose financial statements. During our audit, we also identified certain management practices which we believe could be improved. Our audit was not designed or intended to be a detailed study of every system, procedure, and transaction. Accordingly, the findings presented in the following report should not be considered as all-inclusive of areas where improvements may be needed.

1. Circuit Clerk's Accounting Controls and Procedures

A. Receipts of the general and criminal accounts are not deposited intact and timely. Deposits are generally made once a week and, for the time periods reviewed, general account and criminal account deposits averaged more than $2,500 and $1,000, respectively. Cash is withheld from general account deposits for making change; however, the amount of cash on hand varies from day to day. We also noted numerous instances where court employees were allowed to cash personal and two-party checks. For example, for one 10-day period in March 1997, thirty personal checks totaling $820 and five two-party checks totaling $188 were cashed. Additionally, checks were not restrictively endorsed until deposits were prepared. These practices weaken controls surrounding receipts and increase the possibility of loss or misuse of funds.

To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss, theft, or misuse of funds, deposits should be made intact and daily, the practice of allowing employees to cash personal or two-party checks from court receipts should be discontinued, and checks should be restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt. In addition, change funds should be kept at a set amount.

B. Delinquent child support payments are not adequately monitored. Delinquency notices are not regularly sent out to the non-custodial parents. The Circuit Clerk indicated this process is currently being performed by the state Division of Child Support Enforcement (DCSE) and is no longer the responsibility of her office. We have been informed by DCSE personnel that the division will generate and mail billings unless there is a billing suppression request on file. DCSE records indicate the Circuit Clerk has requested the suppression of billings for non IV-D delinquent obligations and, therefore, no such billings will be generated until the suppression is rescinded by the Circuit Clerk.

Section 452.345.5, RSMo Cumulative Supp. 1998, states that if a party becomes delinquent on support payments equal to one month's total support obligation, the Circuit Clerk shall notify the obligor of the delinquency and shall advise that the obligor's income is subject to withholding for repayment of the delinquency and for payment of current support. The Circuit Clerk must also notify the obligee of the delinquency. This requirement applies to all cases except Title IV-D support cases.

Similar conditions were also noted in our prior report.

WE RECOMMEND the Circuit Clerk:

A. Deposit all receipts intact daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100, restrictively endorse all checks immediately upon receipt, and discontinue the practice of allowing personal or two-party checks to be cashed from court receipts. Change funds should be maintained at a constant amount.

B. Implement procedures to monitor delinquent child support payments and issue delinquent notices in accordance with state law.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Circuit Clerk provided the following responses:

A. We are working to improve our procedures so that court deposits will be made more frequently. Checks will be endorsed once the bank account that the monies are to be deposited into is determined. Also, the change fund is now being maintained at a constant amount. However, we will not discontinue the practice of allowing small personal or two-party checks to be cashed from court receipts.

B. We do not have the staff or money needed to implement this recommendation. The status of child support cases change without our knowledge, thus making it difficult to make an informed decision regarding the amount of arrearage due and billings that should be sent. Also, it is the job of the state Division of Child Support Enforcement to refer delinquent child support cases to the Prosecuting Attorney's office for prosecution.

2. Associate Circuit Division Bond Procedures

The Associate Circuit Division does not adequately follow up on surety bonds posted by defendants who fail to make the required court appearances. During our review of court case files, we noted an instance where a surety bond was not forfeited when the defendant failed to appear on the court date. This was discussed with the Associate Judge who indicated it was not his usual practice to require bonds to be forfeited. Based on discussions with court personnel, it appears few, if any, surety bonds were forfeited during the audit period.

Section 374.770, RSMo 1994, provides for the court to declare a bond forfeiture after the bail bond agent has been given an opportunity to return the defendant to the court. While we did not quantify the number of cases in which bond forfeitures were not made, the court does not have an adequate procedure in place to require bond forfeitures. If the court does not order bond forfeitures as provided by statute, the bond companies have no incentive for making sure defendants show up for court appearances. Section 166.131, RSMo 1994 provides for bond forfeiture monies to be distributed to the various school districts in the county. The court's procedure results in less revenue to the various school districts.

WE RECOMMEND the Associate Circuit Division implement adequate procedures to forfeit surety bonds when appropriate.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Associate Circuit Judge, Division III responded:

Surety bonds may be made by general or limited bail bond agents licensed by the State of Missouri and previously approved by the Judge of Division III in accordance with Missouri Supreme Court Rule 33. The bonds are always returnable on a "Law Day", a general docket call. If charges have been filed and defendant fails to appear the bond is ordered revoked and the surety thereon ordered to produce the defendant as provided by rule and statute.

A criminal case is a contested matter. Therefore, the court does not generally order a forfeiture on a bail bond until the state has filed a motion requesting same or the court thinks that the surety has not produced defendant within a reasonable time. Cases in which bail bonds are posted are automated in this division. Accordingly, there is little danger that a case where a warrant is outstanding simply languishes in a drawer with no forfeiture, because the automated system will identify these upon request.

The reason for a relative scarcity of forfeitures is that the locally approved sureties are very active in producing defendants who have failed to appear. The court's procedure in the event of a nonappearance is to notify the surety and order the surety to produce the defendant. The surety usually does in a time fashion. We believe this to be perfectly adequate.

AUDITOR'S COMMENT

The court did not produce reports of surety bonds or warrants outstanding for routine follow up. For the case discussed above, although the signed bond agreement clearly required the forfeiture of the bond for the defendant's failure to appear, there was not evidence in the case information or court docket to indicate the surety was subsequently notified.

3. Law Library Procedures

The Presiding Judge appointed his secretary to serve as the custodian of the law library and a private attorney to act as law library treasurer. Our review of the law library noted the following concerns.

A. The law library custodian receives $60 a month from law library funds as compensation for maintaining the accounting records; however, a formal agreement, signed by a Circuit Judge, could not be found which allowed this compensation. To ensure payment of the compensation is appropriate and adequately documented, a written agreement should be prepared and retained with law library records.

B. Perpetual inventory records of the law library assets, including books and furnishings are not maintained and a physical inventory is not periodically performed. Law library books and other property items, such as furniture and shelves, purchased from law library funds for placement in the library have not been tagged or identified as property of the law library. A physical inventory should be performed annually and compared to perpetual records to properly account for all law library assets. Without the proper identification, property items could be misplaced, lost, or stolen.

C. During our review we noted that the custodian did not maintain original invoices to support disbursements made prior to June 1, 1997. To demonstrate and ensure all purchases made from the law library account are reasonable and valid, original invoices should be retained for all disbursements.

Conditions similar to A and B were also noted in our prior report.

WE RECOMMEND the Presiding Judge:

A. Prepare and retain a formal written agreement authorizing compensation for maintenance of law library records.

B. Require the law library custodian to maintain perpetual inventory records identifying all property purchased with law library monies. Identification should be made with corresponding tag numbers and/or serial numbers. Further, an annual physical inventory of all law library assets should be performed and reconciled with the perpetual records.

C. Require the law library custodian to retain original invoices to support all disbursements made from the Law Library account.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Presiding Judge provided the following responses:

A. We will implement this recommendation.

B. We will take this recommendation under consideration.

C. We have implemented this recommendation.

This report is intended for the information of the management of the Twenty-Fourth Judicial Circuit, St. Francois County, Missouri, and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

Follow-Up on State Auditor’s Prior Recommendations

TWENTY-FOURTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
ST. FRANCOIS COUNTY, MISSOURI
FOLLOW-UP ON STATE AUDITOR'S PRIOR RECOMMENDATIONS

This section reports follow-up action taken by the Twenty-Fourth Judicial Circuit, St. Francois County, Missouri, on recommendations made in the Management Advisory Report (MAR) of our report issued for the five years ended December 31, 1990. The prior recommendations which have not been implemented, but are considered significant, have been repeated in the current MAR. Although the remaining unimplemented recommendations have not been repeated, the judicial circuit should consider implementing these recommendations.

1. Circuit Division's Accounting Controls and Procedures

A.1. Deposits were not made on a timely basis and checks were not restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt.

B. The Circuit Clerk allowed employees to cash personal checks from daily receipts.

C. Interest earned over several years, approximating $20,692, was omitted from the Circuit Clerk's monthly reports.

D. The Circuit Clerk did not maintain an investment ledger.

E. The Circuit Division had not entered into a depositary agreement which would require the bank with several Circuit Division accounts to pledge collateral securities to cover monies exceeding the amount insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC).

Recommendation:

The Circuit Clerk:

A. Make deposits daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100, and restrictively endorse all checks immediately upon receipt.

B. Discontinue the practice of cashing personal checks from daily receipts.

C. Ensure monthly reports include all interest income received and on hand.

D. Establish and maintain a complete investment ledger. This record should list all investment purchases, interest earned, redemptions, interest rates, certificate or account numbers, balances of investments, and the name of the financial institutions.

E. Enter into a depositary agreement with the bank to require collateral securities be pledged whenever balances exceed FDIC coverage. In addition, the Circuit Clerk should routinely monitor total amounts on deposit to ensure amounts pledged are sufficient.

Status:

A&B. Not implemented. See MAR No. 1.

C. Partially implemented. Interest income earned on all checking accounts is included on the monthly report. However, interest income earned on certificates of deposit and money market accounts is not. Although not repeated in the current MAR, the Circuit Clerk should consider fully implementing this recommendation.

D. Partially implemented. While the Circuit Clerk does not maintain an investment ledger, investment details are included on the monthly report and a file containing certificates of deposit information is maintained. These procedures appear adequate to account for investment activity.

E. Implemented.

2. Circuit Division's Accounting Procedures - Child Support Account

A. Both of the division's deputy clerks had the capability of accessing child support files and making changes. A record of on-line changes to case records existed, but there was no independent review of all changes made.

B. Delinquent child support payments were not adequately monitored.

C. Although 13 CSR 30-3.010 (5) F. requires the court to distribute interest earned on Title IV-D collections to the state Division of Child Support Enforcement, the Circuit Clerk did not remit the required amounts.

D. The monies the state intercepted for delinquent child support were not entered into the child support computer; therefore, the delinquent amounts owed may be overstated.

Recommendation:

The Circuit Clerk:

A. Assign supervisory personnel with no child support related duties to periodically review the record of on-line changes to child support information.

B. Implement procedures to monitor delinquent child support payments and issue delinquent notices in accordance with state law.

C. Remit interest earned on Title IV-D collections to the state Division of Child Support Enforcement as required by state and federal regulations.

D. Record intercepted monies on the child support system.

Status:

A&D. Implemented.
B. Not implemented. See MAR No. 1.

C. Not implemented. However, the interest amounts due the state were deducted from the child support incentive payments received from the state Division of Child Support Enforcement. In addition, the Circuit Clerk changed the child support account to a non-interest bearing account.

3. Associate Circuit Division's Accounting Controls and Procedures

A. Receipts were not deposited to the fee account on a timely basis and checks were not restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt.

B.1. At December 31, 1990, unclaimed or noncurrent cash bonds totaling $8,088 remained in the bond bank account.

2. A monthly listing of open items (liabilities) was not prepared and reconciled to the bank and book balance.

C. Approximately $442, which cannot be identified with specific cases, has been retained in the Associate Circuit Division's Fee Account for over nine years. Also, checks totaling $256 have been outstanding for over one year.

D. Fee sheets for several closed cases were not located.

E. Amounts due to the court for specific cases were not always pursued on a timely basis.

Recommendation:

The Associate Circuit Division Clerk:

A. Make deposits daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100, and restrictively endorse checks immediately upon receipt.

B.1. Forfeit any bonds for persons who failed to make the required court appearance and attempt to locate those defendants who have a cash bond due back to them and remit the bond amount. Any bond monies remaining unclaimed should be remitted to the state in accordance with state law.

2. Prepare a monthly open-items listing and reconcile the listing with reconciled bank and book balances.

C. Reissue old outstanding checks where the payee can be located and attempt to identify the $442 in specific court cases. Any unclaimed amounts should then be remitted to the state or county's Unclaimed Fees Fund as appropriate. Procedures should be established to routinely investigate checks remaining outstanding or monies remaining unclaimed over a specified period of time.

D. Properly maintain all closed fee sheets.

E. Pursue collection of amounts due on a timely basis.

Status:

A. Not implemented. Deposits are made approximately twice a week or more frequently when large amounts of cash are received. Checks are not restrictively endorsed upon receipt. Although not repeated in the current MAR, our recommendation remains as stated above.

B. Partially implemented. Unclaimed and noncurrent cash bonds were not noted in the bond bank account, and open items listings were prepared. However, some bonds were not properly forfeited. See MAR No. 2.

C. Partially implemented. The $442 is still in a court bank account. Efforts to resolve old outstanding checks have improved. Although not repeated in the current MAR, our recommendation remains as stated above.

D&E. Implemented.

4. Juvenile Officer's Procedures

A.1. Receipt slips issued for the receipt of restitution payments were not prenumbered and original receipt slips which were voided were not retained.

2. A monthly listing of open items (liabilities) was not prepared and reconciled to the bank and book balance.

B. To comply with a requirement of a federal Court Diversion Program, the juvenile division verbally contracted for group therapy and counseling services with a local mental health center.

Recommendation:

The Juvenile Officer:

A.1. Issue prenumbered receipt slips for all restitutions received and retain the original receipt slips for any voided receipts.

2. Prepare a monthly open-items listing which should be reconciled to the bank and book balance.

B. Enter into a written contract specifically defining the rights and duties of both parties as required by state law.

Status:

A. Implemented.

B. Partially implemented. While the juvenile office entered into a written agreement with the provider of group therapy and counseling, the contract amount was increased with a verbal agreement and the written contract was not amended. Although not repeated in the current MAR, the Juvenile Officer should consider fully implementing this recommendation.

5. Law Library Accounting Controls and Procedures

A. Neither the law library treasurer nor custodian were bonded, although both had access to and were responsible for law library monies.

B. The law library custodian received $40 a month from law library funds as compensation for maintaining the accounting records; however, a formal agreement, signed by the Circuit Judge, was not found which allowed this compensation.

C. Perpetual inventory records of the law library assets were not maintained and a physical inventory was not periodically performed. Also, some property, purchased with law library funds was not tagged or identified as property of the law library.

Recommendation:

A. Require all persons with access to cash be sufficiently bonded.

B. Prepare and retain a formal written agreement authorizing compensation for maintenance of law library records.

C. Require the law library custodian to maintain perpetual inventory records identifying all property purchased with law library monies. Identification should be made with corresponding tag numbers and/or serial numbers. Further, an annual physical inventory of all law library assets should be performed and reconciled with the perpetual records.

Status:

A. Implemented.

B&C. Not implemented. See MAR No. 3.

AUDIT REPORT

CITY OF JASPER, MISSOURI

YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31, 1998

From The Office Of State Auditor
Claire McCaskill

Report No. 99-22
March 30, 1999

Office Of The
State Auditor Of Missouri
Claire McCaskill

YELLOW SHEET

Some problems were discovered as a result of an audit conducted by our office in response to the request of petitioners from Jasper, Missouri.

NOTE: Recommendations, as well as responses from the city, which correspond with the findings below are included in the audit.

Procedures have not been established to ensure expenditures are properly allocated among the various funds benefitting from the expenditures and to ensure restricted revenues are expended only for their intended purposes.

The city pays wage and fringe benefit expenses from both the water and sewer fund and the general fund. However, these expenses are not consistently allocated and no documentation is available to support the method of allocation used.

It is essential that the city properly allocate expenses to the various funds. In December 1998, the board authorized an increase in water and sewer rates. Allocation of expenses is necessary for the city to ensure the water and sewer rates are sufficient to cover the cost of providing the service without generating profits to subsidize other city services. Furthermore, the uses of certain funds, such as capital improvements and transportation sales taxes and state motor vehicle-related revenues, are limited by state law for specified purposes.

In 1997, the city began developing a sports complex facility; however, it appears the city has not performed adequate planning for the project or sufficiently documented actions taken. The city should review the sports complex design and estimate the total cost of the facility to ensure the project is financially feasible. In addition, the city should ensure adequate planning is performed and documented for future developments to ensure financial feasibility, facilitate the projects, and help anticipate problems. Documentation of the planning process is essential in informing citizens and further helps in avoiding confusion and misunderstandings.

The city should also prepare formal annual plans for maintenance and improvement of city streets and sidewalks.

In regard to accounting procedures and controls, we found that duties are not adequately segregated, receipts are not deposited intact, and the composition of receipts is not reconciled to the composition of deposits. Board approval of disbursements is not adequately documented. An independent appraisal was not obtained for a purchase of real property. The Mayor co-signs checks but is not bonded. The city should consider reducing the number of bank accounts maintained. Annual reports of property tax collections and delinquent taxes are not prepared as required by law.

Budgets did not include some information required by state law and were not formally adopted prior to the beginning of each year. Published financial statements did not reflect some financial activity and indebtedness of the city.

Discrepancies concerning the city boundaries have not been resolved. We recommend the Board of Aldermen review the discrepancies regarding the city limits and seek legal counsel regarding any action that should be taken. The resolution of the matter should be sufficiently documented.

CLAIRE C. McCASKILL
Missouri State Auditor

To the Honorable Mayor
and
Members of the Board of Aldermen
City of Jasper
Jasper, Missouri 64755

The State Auditor was petitioned under Section 29.230, RSMo, to audit the city of Jasper, Missouri. Our audit of the city included, but was not limited to, the year ended December 31, 1998. The objectives of this audit were to:

1. Perform procedures we deemed necessary to evaluate the petitioners' concerns.

2. Review compliance with certain constitutional provision, statutes, ordinances, and attorney general's opinions as we deemed necessary or appropriate in the circumstances.

3. Review certain management practices which we believe could be improved.

Our audit was made in accordance with generally accepted government auditing standards and included such procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. We also reviewed board minutes, city policies and ordinances, and various city financial records.

Our audit was limited to the specific matters described above and was based on selective tests and procedures considered appropriate in the circumstances. Had we performed additional procedures, other information might have come to our attention which would have been included in the audit of the city.

The accompanying History and Organization is presented for informational purposes. This information was obtained from the city and was not subjected to auditing procedures applied in the audit of the city.

MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT

CITY OF JASPER, MISSOURI
SUMMARY OF FINDINGS

1. Restricted Revenues (page 8)

   Procedures have not been established for the proper allocation of expenditures and to ensure restricted revenues are expended only for their intended purposes.

2. Capital Improvements (pages 9-10)

   The city has not performed adequate planning or sufficiently documented its actions related to the construction of a sports complex facility and has not developed a formal plan for the construction, repair, and maintenance of streets and sidewalks.

3. City Boundaries (pages 10-11)

   Discrepancies concerning the city boundaries have not been resolved.

4. Accounting Controls and Procedures (pages 11-13)

   Duties are not adequately segregated. Receipts are not deposited intact, and the composition of receipts is not reconciled to the composition of deposits. Board approval of disbursements is not adequately documented. An independent appraisal was not obtained for a purchase of real property. The Mayor co-signs city checks but is not bonded. The city should consider reducing the number of bank accounts maintained. Annual reports of property tax collections and delinquent taxes are not prepared as required by state law.

5. Water and Sewer System (pages 13-15)

   Monthly accounts receivable listings are not reconciled to beginning accounts receivable, plus billings, less utility payments and adjustments. Utility credit adjustments are not adequately documented, reviewed, and approved. The total gallons of water pumped is not reconciled to gallons of water billed. The city needs to file a schedule of planned sewer improvements with the Department of Natural Resources.

6. Written Agreements (page 15)

   The city has not entered into written agreements for various services and cooperative agreements.

7. Budgets and Financial Reporting (pages 15-17)

   Budgets did not include some information required by state law and were not formally adopted prior to the beginning of each year. Published financial statements did not reflect some financial activity and indebtedness of the city.

8. Minutes and Ordinances (page 17)

   Board minutes are not signed by the City Clerk or Mayor and improvement is needed in the organization of city ordinances.

1. Restricted Revenues

Procedures have not been established to ensure expenditures are properly allocated among the various funds benefitting from the expenditures and to ensure restricted revenues are expended only for their intended purposes.

The city pays wage and fringe benefit expenses from both the water and sewer fund and the general fund. However, these expenses are not consistently allocated and no documentation is available to support the method of allocation used. The City Clerk indicated that the city attempts to pay wages and fringe benefits for the City Clerk and two of the water and street department employees from the water and sewer fund, while the Treasurer and the third employee of the water and street department are paid from the general fund. However, between June and August 1998, wages for all five employees were often paid from the water and sewer fund because the cash balance in the general fund was not sufficient to cover the expenses.

Time sheets are prepared by all employees, indicating the total hours worked. However, no documentation is maintained to separately indicate the number of hours related to streets, water and sewer, or other activities.

It is essential that the city properly allocate expenses to the various funds. In December 1998, the board authorized an increase in water and sewer rates. Allocation of expenses is necessary for the city to ensure the water and sewer rates are sufficient to cover the cost of providing the service without generating profits to subsidize other city services. Furthermore, the uses of certain funds, such as capital improvements and transportation sales taxes and state motor vehicle-related revenues, are limited by state law for specified purposes. Therefore, documentation and proper allocation of expenses is useful for both management and compliance purposes.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen ensure all expenditures are properly allocated to the various funds and the allocations are supported by adequate documentation.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We have already taken steps to improve the method of allocating expenditures to the various funds and will continue to do this.

2. Capital Improvements

A. In 1997, the city began developing a sports complex facility; however, it appears the city has not performed adequate planning for the project or sufficiently documented actions taken.

In February 1997, the city paid $40,000 for 27 acres of land located near the city lagoon and existing ball fields. The expenditure was paid $30,000 from the capital improvements sales tax fund and $10,000 from the transportation sales tax fund. City officials indicate that approximately 25 percent of the land is to be used for construction of a road and additional parking for the city ball fields, and 75 percent is to be used for development of the sports complex facility. However, board minutes contained no documentation of the board's intentions for the use of the land or justification for paying 25 percent of the cost from transportation sales tax monies.

In May 1997, the board authorized the city's recreation committee to determine the feasibility of developing a sports complex; however, no formal feasibility study was prepared. The City Engineer was paid $5,100 to design a 16-acre sports complex facility which includes the existing ball fields and extends onto the newly acquired land. This expenditure was paid primarily from a $5,000 donation which was restricted for that purpose. The City Engineer was also paid $2,435 from the capital improvements sales tax fund to develop the grading plans. In October 1998, the city entered into a contract not to exceed $35,000 for excavation work, to be paid from the capital improvements sales tax fund. The engineering plans did not include construction cost estimates, and there is no documentation to indicate the board approved the sports complex design or estimated the total cost of the project.

The city should review the sports complex design and estimate the total cost of the facility to ensure the project is financially feasible. In addition, the city should ensure adequate planning is performed and documented for future developments to ensure financial feasibility, facilitate the projects, and anticipate and help prevent potential problems. Documentation of the planning process further helps to avoid confusion or misunderstandings and to inform citizens.

B. In May 1997, the board discussed the need to establish goals for the improvement and repair of streets. They have also periodically discussed the need to repair sidewalks. However, the city has not established a city-wide plan for the construction, repair, or maintenance of streets and sidewalks. A formal plan of street and sidewalk improvements noting the more critical needs of the city is needed to support the expenditures made by the city. This plan is necessary to show whether financial resources are sufficient to meet the critical needs, to provide support for budget preparation and expenditures for street and sidewalk repairs, and to answer questions raised by the public.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Review the sports complex design and estimate the total cost to ensure the project is financially feasible. The board should ensure adequate planning is performed and sufficient documentation maintained for future developments to ensure financial feasibility, facilitate the projects, and anticipate and help prevent potential problems.

B. Prepare formal annual plans for maintenance and improvement of city streets and sidewalks.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. This project is a joint venture with the local school district and the youth baseball association and these entities have committed resources to the project. By working with these entities and obtaining donated labor and supplies when possible, the city is attempting to obtain the greatest value for the taxpayers and we believe the completed project will be a great asset to the community.

We will review the project and attempt to estimate the costs for those portions of the project that the city intends to complete.

B. We agree with this recommendation.

3. City Boundaries

In 1996, the city paid an engineering firm to draw a new city map. Since that time, several citizens have questioned the correctness of the city limits as reflected on the new map. In December 1997, the Missouri Department of Transportation relocated one city limit sign in response to complaints received from citizens, stating that they could find no confirmation that the section of land in question was within the Jasper city limits. In January 1998, the Jasper County Clerk provided the Board of Aldermen with a copy of the 1990 Census map prepared by the United States Geological Survey Department. That map reflected the city limits differently than the new city map, and the County Clerk indicated she could find nothing to support the annexations reflected on the city's map. The March 16, 1998 board minutes indicate the former City Attorney intended to file a copy of the 1939 ordinance defining city limits with the County Clerk's office in order to clear up any questions on the matter. As of December 31, 1998, the City Attorney had not filed the ordinance with the County Clerk, and the conflict between the county's records and the city's records had not been resolved.

The Board of Aldermen should review the situation and seek legal counsel regarding any action that should be taken. In addition, the resolution of the matter should be sufficiently documented in the board minutes.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen review discrepancies regarding the city limits and seek legal counsel regarding any action that should be taken. The resolution of the matter should be sufficiently documented.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We agree and will work with our city attorney to resolve this issue.

4. Accounting Controls and Procedures

A. The City Clerk performs all functions related to preparing the utility bills, receipting and recording utility payments and credit adjustments, depositing utility receipts, monitoring accounts for delinquencies, and initiating service shutoff orders. In addition, while the duties of property tax book preparation, billing, and collections appear to be adequately segregated between the City Clerk and City Treasurer, the City Clerk also serves as City Collector and collects property tax payments.

Attorney General's Opinion No. 24, 1955 to Dodds, concluded that in a fourth-class city the holding of the positions of City Clerk, City Treasurer, and City Collector, or any two of these three offices, by the same person at the same time would be incompatible. One person holding any two of these offices does not allow the separation of duties necessary for a proper evaluation and review of financial transactions. The current procedures jeopardize the system of independent checks and balances intended by state law.

To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. Internal controls would be improved by segregating the duties or receipting and depositing monies from that of preparing bills, recording payments, and following up on delinquent accounts. If proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be an independent review of the accounting records.

B. The following concerns were noted related to receipts:

1. Checks made payable to petty cash are cashed out of current collections. In addition, third party checks were cashed for a city official. As a result, receipts are not deposited intact.

2. The city receives cash and checks for the payment of utility bills, property taxes, and various other receipts. Receipts are posted to a daily receipt listing and reconciled to deposits in total. However, the method of payment (cash, check, money order, etc.) is not recorded on the listing. Consequently, the composition of receipts is not reconciled to the composition of deposits.

To ensure the proper handling and safeguarding of city monies, receipts should be deposited intact. In addition, the method of payment should be indicated on the daily receipt listing, and the composition of receipts should be reconciled to the composition of bank deposits.

C. The City Clerk provides the Board of Aldermen with listings of bills to be paid each month. However, the listings do not always include bills to be paid from the capital improvements and transportation sales tax funds. In addition, bills that are paid between board meetings and recurring expenditures such as utilities and payroll are not included on the listings.

To adequately document the board's review and approval of all disbursements, a complete and detailed listing of all bills paid from each fund should be prepared, signed or initialed by the board to denote their approval, and retained with the official minutes.

D. During 1997, the city paid $40,000 for the purchase of approximately 27 acres located contiguous with other city property. The city did not obtain an appraisal for the property. The Jasper County Assessor had appraised this property for $21,340 in 1997.

Independent appraisals are particularly necessary when amounts paid exceed the County Assessor's appraised value.

E. City checks require two signatures. The Mayor co-signs checks with the City Clerk or City Treasurer. While the City Clerk and City Treasurer are bonded, the Mayor is not. Failure to adequately bond all persons with access to assets exposes the city to risk of loss.

F. At December 31, 1998, the city had 13 checking and savings accounts and 5 certificates of deposit. Maintaining numerous bank accounts unnecessarily complicates bookkeeping functions.

G. The City Clerk/City Collector does not prepare annual reports of tax collections and delinquent taxes. Section 79.310 and 94.320, RSMo 1994, require the city collector to make annual reports of tax collections and delinquent taxes.

Detailed annual reports which comply with state law and are classified by type of tax would help provide assurance taxes have been properly collected, written off, or determined to be delinquent. Such a report would summarize all taxes charged to the city collector, monthly collections, delinquent credits, abatements, and additions. Without such a report, examined by the Board of Aldermen, any errors or irregularities that might occur are likely to go undetected.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Appoint separate individuals to the positions of City Clerk and City Collector, and segregate the duties of receiving and depositing monies from that of preparing bills, recording payments, and following up on delinquent accounts. If this is not possible, at a minimum, procedures for adequate independent reviews should be established.

B. Deposit receipts intact, and discontinue cashing checks from official receipts. In addition, the method of payment should be recorded on the daily receipt listing, and the composition of receipts should be reconciled to the composition of bank deposits.

C. Ensure complete listings of all expenditures from each fund are prepared, approved by the board, and filed with the board minutes.

D. Ensure appraisals are obtained prior to purchases of real property.

E. Obtain adequate bond coverage for all persons with access to assets.

F. Consider consolidating monies into fewer bank accounts.

G. Require the City Collector to prepare detailed annual reports as required by state law which summarize property tax activity and which can be used to facilitate the reconciliation of taxes charged, taxes collected, and delinquent taxes.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. Adequate segregation of duties is not possible with our limited number of employees. The City Treasurer is now performing independent reviews of utility receipts and deposits.

B&C. This has been implemented.

D&E. We agree with these recommendations.

F. We will consider reducing the number of bank accounts.

G. We agree and are working on this.

5. Water and Sewer System

A. The city does not reconcile month-end customer accounts receivable listings to beginning accounts receivable, plus monthly billings, less total utility payments and adjustments. Monthly reconciliations are necessary to ensure that all accounting records balance, transactions have been properly recorded, and any errors or discrepancies are detected on a timely basis. Complete documentation of the reconciliation should be retained to support conclusions and any corrections made and to facilitate independent reviews.

B. There is no supporting documentation or independent approval of utility credit adjustments. The City Clerk has the ability to record credit adjustments to the computer system without documenting each adjustment.

To ensure that all credit adjustments are valid and properly approved, someone independent of receipting and recording functions should review and approve all credit adjustments, and proper supporting documentation should be maintained of such adjustments.

C. The city does not compare the total gallons of water billed to customers to the gallons of water pumped. The City Clerk prepares monthly reports of the total number of gallons billed to customers and the water and street department records daily meter readings of the city's two water wells, so information is available to perform such reconciliations.

To help detect significant water loss on a timely basis and to help ensure all water usage is properly billed, the city should reconcile the total gallons of water pumped to the gallons of water billed on a monthly basis and investigate significant differences.

D. In 1993, the state and the Missouri Clean Water Commission filed a legal action against the city because of deficiencies in the wastewater treatment facility. As part of a Consent Judgement executed with the Missouri Clean Water Commission, the city adopted a municipal compliance plan which provided for modifications to be made to the existing wastewater treatment facility to enable the facility to meet appropriate effluent limitations for its discharge or eliminate the discharge. However, the modifications were not effective in bringing the facility into compliance. In 1997, the board authorized another engineering study to be performed of the water and wastewater systems. The results of the study and recommendations of the engineer were presented to the board and submitted to the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) in March 1998. Although the city has taken steps to implement some of the recommendations of the engineer, progress in bringing the wastewater treatment facility into consistent compliance has been slow. In a letter to the city dated September 21, 1998, the DNR requested a written schedule to be provided within 30 days reflecting tentative dates for completion of the various improvements outlined in the engineer's report. As of February 4, 1999, the city had not provided such a schedule to the DNR.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Require monthly accounts receivable listings to be reconciled to beginning accounts receivable, plus billings, less collections and other adjustments.

B. Require independent approval of all credit adjustments, and ensure adequate documentation is retained of such adjustments.

C. Compare the gallons of water pumped to the gallons billed on a monthly basis and investigate significant differences.

D. Work to expedite the improvements necessary to bring the wastewater treatment facility into consistent compliance. In addition, the DNR should be contacted regarding a tentative schedule for such improvements.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. We agree and are working with our computer programmer to implement this.

B. We are working on this.

C. We agree with this recommendation.

D. The city has purchased a dredge which we anticipate will be in use this Spring and will provide a solution to the immediate problem. We will continue to take steps to provide a more permanent solution.

6. Written Agreements

A. The city of Jasper and the surrounding rural area are served by the city fire department and the Jasper Farmer's Fire Protection Association (JFFPA), respectively. The JFFPA, registered as a benevolent corporation, collects membership fees and charges for fire protection services. The city allows the JFFPA to use the city-owned fire barn. In addition, the city and the JFFPA each pay one-half of many expenditures including equipment purchases and operating expenses such as utilities and repairs. The city has not entered into a written agreement with the JFFPA defining the duties and responsibilities of each entity.

B. The city appoints a local attorney to serve as City Attorney. The city has not entered into a formal written contract with the City Attorney defining the services to be rendered and compensation to be paid for the legal services. In addition, although the city did have a written agreement with the City Engineer, that agreement expired in November 1997 and has not been updated.

Written contracts are necessary to document the rights and responsibilities of all parties involved and to prevent misunderstandings. In addition, Section 432.070, RSMo 1994, requires contracts for political subdivisions to be in writing.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen obtain written agreements with the JFFPA, the City Attorney, and the City Engineer to ensure the rights and responsibilities of all parties are specifically outlined.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We agree with this recommendation.

7. Budgets and Financial Reporting

A. The city's budgets did not comply with state law or were otherwise insufficient as follows:

1. The budget for the year ended December 31, 1999, was not approved until February 8, 1999. In addition, the budget for the year ended December 31, 1998, was not prepared until October 1998, and no documentation was available to indicate that the budget was formally approved and adopted.

2. The budgets did not include some funds. For example, the capital improvements sales tax, local transportation sales tax, local use tax, police training, parks and recreation, and DARE funds were not included in the budgets.

3. The budgets did not reflect beginning available resources or projected ending fund balances and did not include budget messages or general budget summaries describing the important features of the budget and major changes from the preceding years.

4. The budgets included budgeted revenues and expenditures for the two preceding years. However, they did not include comparative statements of the estimated or actual revenues and expenditures for the two preceding budget years.

Section 67.010, RSMo 1994, requires each political subdivision of the state to prepare an annual budget with specific information. A complete and well-planned budget, in addition to meeting statutory requirements, can serve as a useful management tool by establishing specific cost expectations for each area. A complete budget should include appropriate revenue and expenditures estimations by classification, and include the beginning available resources and reasonable estimates of the ending available resources of all funds. The budget should also include a budget message and comparisons of actual revenues and expenditures for the two preceding years. Section 67.030, RSMo 1994, requires the board to adopt and approve the budgets prior to the beginning of the applicable fiscal year.

B. The city publishes semi-annual financial statements. The financial statements published for the six months ending June 30, 1998 and December 31, 1997, did not include some funds. For example, the DARE fund was not included in the published financial statement for the six months ending June 30, 1998. In addition, the published financial statements did not include the amount of indebtedness of the city. At December 31, 1998, the city had approximately $95,000 in capital lease obligations.

Section 79.160, RSMo 1994, requires the board of aldermen to prepare and publish semi-annually, a full and detailed account of the receipts, expenditures, and indebtedness of the city. Complete and accurate financial statements are necessary to keep the citizens informed of the financial activity and condition of the city.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Ensure annual budgets include all relevant information and are adopted prior to the beginning of the fiscal year, as required by state law.

B. Publish complete and accurate financial statements that provide the citizens an account of all of the financial activity and indebtedness of the city.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. We have made improvements with the 1999 budget and will continue to make improvements.

B. We agree with the recommendation.

8. Minutes and Ordinances

A. The board minutes are prepared by the City Clerk, but the minutes are not signed. The board minutes should be signed by the City Clerk as preparer and by the Mayor to provide an independent attestation that the minutes are a correct record of the matters discussed and actions taken during the board's meetings.

B. The city's ordinances were last codified in 1982. Since that time, approximately 98 ordinances have been passed. A summary listing and copies of these ordinances are filed in the back of the code book. However, old ordinances have not been removed from the book or clearly identified as having been repealed or superseded by subsequent ordinances. As a result, it is difficult to determine which city ordinances are currently in effect. In addition, city ordinances omit various policies and actions. For example, the city has not adopted a formal policy regarding public access to records or appointing non-elected city officials and establishing their salaries.

Since the ordinances represent legislation passed by the Board of Aldermen to govern the city and its residents, it is important that the city's ordinances be maintained in a complete, well-organized, and up-to-date manner. Such items as public access to records and the annual appointment of city officials and their compensation should be set forth in the ordinances to give the taxpayers information on how the city is to be governed.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Ensure board minutes are signed by the City Clerk and the Mayor to attest to their completeness and accuracy.

B. Update the city's ordinances and adopt ordinances regarding public access to records and the appointment and compensation of city officials.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. We agree with the recommendation.

B. We agree and are working on this.

This report is intended for the information of the city's management and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

AUDIT REPORT

VILLAGE OF RAYVILLE, MISSOURI

YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31, 1998

From The Office Of State Auditor
Claire McCaskill

Report No. 99-21
March 29, 1999

Office Of The
State Auditor Of Missouri
Claire McCaskill

YELLOW SHEET

Some problems were discovered as a result of an audit conducted by our office in response to the request of petitioners from the Village of Rayville, Missouri.

NOTE: Recommendations, as well as responses from the village, which correspond with the findings below are included in the audit.

The village contracts with a trash hauler to collect trash from all the homes in Rayville. For a number of years, village residents paid for this trash service through a property tax levy. A ballot proposal to extend this levy was defeated in the April 1996 election. In October 1996, the village began billing each resident $10 a month for the cost of the service. The fees charged to residents were established without a public vote.

The village does not have a formal bidding policy for the procurement of goods and services. In addition, adequate documentation was not maintained to fully support over $5,700 paid to the Chairman in expense reimbursements during the past several years.

All village monies are deposited into a money market mutual fund. This type of investment account is neither insured nor guaranteed by the U.S. Government and does not appear to be an appropriate investment of local public funds. In addition, the village cannot deposit cash into the account, resulting in some village funds being deposited first into the personal accounts of village officials.

The property tax levy for fire protection purposes has generated tax revenues that have exceeded the expenditures for fire protection. In January 1998, the village transferred approximately $3,300 in surplus monies from the Fire Fund to the Trash Fund. We recommend the Board of Trustees ensure any restricted revenues (including those of the Fire Fund) are used only for the purposes intended.

The village does not prepare annual budgets and has not published or posted semiannual financial statements as required by state law. The annual financial reports submitted to the state auditor's office are not accurate.

The board has not held public hearings for proposed property tax rates, prepared an ordinance establishing the approved tax levies each year, or established adequate delinquent tax collection procedures.

CLAIRE C. McCASKILL
Missouri State Auditor

To the Honorable Chairman
and
Board of Trustees
Village of Rayville
Rayville, Missouri 64084

The State Auditor was petitioned under Section 29.230, RSMo, to audit the village of Rayville, Missouri. Our audit of the village included, but was not limited to, the year ended December 31, 1998. The objectives of this audit were to:

1. Perform procedures we deemed necessary to evaluate the petitioners' concerns.

2. Review compliance with certain constitutional provisions, statutes, ordinances, and attorney general's opinions as we deemed necessary or appropriate in the circumstances.

3. Review certain management practices which we believe could be improved.

Our audit was made in accordance with generally accepted government auditing standards and included such procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. We also reviewed board minutes, village policies and ordinances, and various village financial records.

Our audit was limited to the specific matters described above and was based on selective tests and procedures considered appropriate in the circumstances. Had we performed additional procedures, other information might have come to our attention which would have been included in this report.

The accompanying History and Organization is presented for informational purposes. This information was obtained from the village and was not subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the village.

MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT

VILLAGE OF RAYVILLE, MISSOURI
SUMMARY OF FINDINGS

1. Trash Collection Fees (pages 10-11)

   The fee charged to residents for trash collection was established without a public vote. The village has not pursued collection of delinquent trash bills and has not established a formal delinquent trash fee write off policy.

2. Expenditures (pages 12-15)

   The village does not have a formal bidding policy. Adequate documentation was not maintained to fully support over $5,700 paid to the Chairman in expense reimbursements during the past several years. A payment was made to another village official which was not adequately documented. Board minutes do not identify the disbursements approved by the board at its monthly meeting. In 1998, the Chairman enclosed political advertisements in with regular mailings to village residents.

3. Village Bank Account (page 15)

   All village monies are deposited into a money market mutual fund. This type of investment account is neither insured nor guaranteed by the U.S. government and it may not be a proper investment of local public funds.

4. Accounting Controls and Procedures (pages 15-17)

   The Village Clerk also serves as Treasurer and Collector for the village resulting in duties which are not adequately segregated. The Chairman is collecting some receipts but he has not been properly authorized to do so and is not bonded. In addition, cash receipts are first deposited in the Village Clerk's or Chairman's personal bank accounts and then a check written to the village's mutual fund account. All monies collected are not recorded when received, deposits are not made on a timely basis, and checks and money orders are not restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt.

5. Fire Fund (pages 17-18)

   The property tax levy for fire protection purposes has generated tax revenues that have exceeded the expenditures for fire protection. In January 1998, the village transferred approximately $3,300 in surplus monies from the Fire Fund to the Trash Fund. This does not appear to be a proper use of these restricted revenues.

6. Budgets, Financial Reporting, and Minutes (pages 18-19)

   The village does not prepare annual budgets and has not published or posted semiannual financial statements as required by state law. The annual financial reports submitted to the State Auditor's office are not accurate. Board minutes are not signed by either the Village Clerk or the Chairman.

7. Property Tax Procedures (pages 19-20)

The board has not held public hearings for proposed tax rates, prepared an ordinance establishing the approved tax levies each year, or established adequate delinquent tax collection procedures.

8. Street Maintenance Plan (pages 20-21)

An annual maintenance plan for village streets has not been prepared.

1. Trash Collection Fees

A. The village contracts with a trash hauler to collect trash from all the homes in Rayville. For a number of years, village residents paid for this trash service through a property tax levy. A ballot proposal to extend this levy was defeated in the April 1996 election. In October 1996, the village began billing each resident $10 a month for the cost of the service (though an ordinance authorizing this fee was not formally written and approved until October 1997, when the village's ordinances were codified). The fees charged to residents were established without a public vote.

Article X, Section 22(a) of the Missouri Constitution, commonly known as the Hancock Amendment, prohibits political subdivisions from increasing existing taxes, licenses, or fees above levels authorized at the time of passage of the Hancock Amendment without voter approval. However, Section 67.042, RSMo 1994, allows political subdivisions to adjust existing fees and licenses to maintain funding of services provided at the time of passage of the Hancock Amendment. The Missouri Supreme Court, in its decision in Beatty v. Metropolitan St. Louis Sewer District, 867 S.W. 2d 217 (Mo. banc 1993) applied a five-pronged analysis to determine whether a governmental charge was a tax, thus requiring a public vote, or user fee which could be revised without a vote. This court case also indicated that if the analysis did not clearly indicate the charge is a user fee, the issue should be put to a vote.

Because this matter has been a concern of some citizens, the village should request that its attorney review this fee to determine whether it is or can be structured as a user fee, or whether it should be put to a public vote. If this matter is not resolved by clear legal authority or an election, the village might need to consider ending this municipal service and require the village's residents to contract privately for trash hauling.

B. The village has not adequately pursued collection of delinquent trash bills. As of October 1998, the village had approximately $3,800 in delinquent trash bills. This included twelve accounts which were at least twelve months past due.

The village ordinance that authorizes the trash fee states that "Should any property owner's cleanliness - trash service fee account reach or exceed a "amount due" total of $120, this account will be submitted to our city attorney for appropriate legal action and payment." As of December 31, 1998, no delinquent accounts had been turned over to the attorney.

To help ensure prompt collection of trash bills, the village should ensure delinquent accounts are turned over to the Village Attorney as provided by the applicable ordinance.

C. The village does not have a delinquent trash fee write off policy. During 1998, approximately $1,200 in delinquent trash fees were written off by the board. Although it appears most of these accounts related to customers who moved out of the village, we noted at least two instances where current customers' past due balances were forgiven if they paid for current service. In addition, documentation indicating the board's approval of amounts written off was not maintained.

To ensure delinquent accounts are properly handled and ensure equitable treatment of trash customers, the village should adopt policies for writing off delinquent accounts.

WE RECOMMEND:

A. The Board of Trustees request the Village Attorney to review the present trash fee and determine whether it is or can be structured as a user fee, or if it should be put to public vote.

Based on the resolution of the trash fee question discussed in Part A, if the village continues to bill village residents for trash service the Board of Trustees should:

B. Ensure delinquent trash accounts are pursued on a timely basis.

C. Establish a formal policy for trash account write offs and consistently apply the policy to all customers. In addition, board approval of any amounts written off should be documented.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. The village board indicated it believes the $10 monthly fee is very reasonable and the cost to the individual residents would be greater if the citizens were required to contract for these services privately. The board also indicated that by guaranteeing the payment to the hauling company, the village's residents realize a lower cost and better service. The Village Attorney is aware of this matter and it is the board's intent that this issue be put on the ballot as soon as practical for voter approval.

B. The village board indicated that as of February 1999, the village has taken action to pursue the delinquent accounts and the number of delinquents has been reduced. In addition, on March 1, 1999, the village provided its attorney with a list of delinquent accounts. The board indicated it would follow the procedures as outlined in the applicable ordinance in the future.

C. The village board concurs.

2. Expenditures

A. The village does not have a formal bidding policy. Based on discussions with village officials, it appears bids are not generally solicited for purchases of goods or services. We noted the following expenditures which were apparently not bid:

Item	Cost	Year(s)
Trash hauling	$5,460	1998
Road rock and oil	3,851	1996-1998
Pipe	2,254	1997-1998
Pipe installation	823	1998

Formal bidding procedures for major purchases provide a framework for economical management of village resources and help ensure the village receives fair value by contracting with the lowest and best bidders. Competitive bidding also helps ensure all parties are given an equal opportunity to participate in the village's business. Complete documentation should be maintained of all bids received and reason noted why the bid was selected.

Bids can be handled by telephone quotation, by written quotation, or advertised sealed bid. Various approaches are appropriate, based on dollar amount and type of purchase. Whichever approach is used, complete documentation should be maintained of all bids received and reasons noted why the bid was selected.

B. In addition to the regular compensation paid to village officials, we noted additional payments to village officials as follows:

1) The village has reimbursed the Chairman for various expenses incurred on behalf of the village. From May 1996 to December 31, 1998, the Chairman was paid over $5,700 in expense reimbursements. These expenses included street labor paid by him to other individuals ($1,937), gasoline ($1,286), postage ($697), copying charges ($358), and other miscellaneous items ($970). Expense reports to support approximately $500 in reimbursement payments were not maintained or could not be located. In addition, vendor-provided receipts were not always submitted with the Chairman's expense reports.

   It appears much of the gasoline expense represented fuel purchases for the Chairman's vehicle. While the Chairman indicated he makes numerous trips on behalf of the village (i.e. to haul off junk, make copies, etc.) no documentation was provided regarding the nature and dates of the trips, locations traveled, and number of miles traveled which correspond to the gasoline purchases. These fuel purchases involved approximately 1200 gallons of gasoline and the lack of documentation made it impossible to determine whether all this fuel was used for village purposes.

Expenses related to village activities should be paid directly by the village to the extent practical. Expenses incurred directly by village officials should be kept to a minimum and supported by adequate documentation. In addition, any gasoline reimbursements should be supported by reports documenting the actual miles driven, date, location and nature of trips.

It should be noted that recently the board took action to restrict the amount of reimbursable expenses the Chairman could incur without board approval.

2) In September 1996, a check for $500 was written to and cashed by the Village Clerk. According to the Clerk, the money was used to pay a number of boys in the village to help with street work. No documentation identifying who the money was paid to or the hours worked was maintained.

Disbursements of village funds should be made by check to the extent possible, and cash disbursements should be kept to a minimum. If cash disbursements are necessary, complete documentation of the transaction(s) should be maintained.

C. Supporting documentation was not maintained for other disbursements made by the village. Various payments for street work, spraying, and ditch work had no invoice or other documentation to support the payments. In addition, other invoices were not adequately detailed to support the work performed.

All disbursements should be supported by paid receipts and/or complete vendor-provided invoices to ensure the obligation was actually incurred and the disbursement represents an appropriate use of public funds. The village should require detailed invoices for all services which include the number of hours worked by day, the work performed, and the hourly rate charged.

D. The village has not entered into written contracts for various contracted services received. For example, the village has not entered into a formal written contract for its trash hauling services.

Section 432.070, RSMo 1994, requires contracts of political subdivisions be in writing. The village should enter into written contracts for services rendered or obtained. A written contract, signed by the parties involved, should specify the services to be rendered and the manner and amount of compensation to be paid. Written contracts are necessary to ensure all parties are aware of their duties and responsibilities and to provide protection to both parties.

E. Although there is an occasional reference to a specific invoice being approved for payment, the board minutes usually only make a general reference that invoices are approved for payment. In addition, a supplementary listing of all disbursements is not prepared to accompany the minutes.

To adequately document the board's review and approval of all disbursements, a complete and detailed listing of bills should be prepared, signed or initialed by the trustees to denote their approval, and retained with the official minutes. In addition, supporting documentation should be reviewed by the Board of Trustees before payment is made to ensure all disbursements represent valid operating costs of the village.

F. In 1998, the Chairman enclosed political advertisements for a local politician(s) in with regular mailings to village residents. Although it appears the village did not pay for the postage related to these mailings, this practice is inappropriate for a government entity and, at a minimum, gave the appearance public funds were being used to support or promote a candidate which is prohibited by Section 115.646, RSMo 1994.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Trustees:

A. Establish a formal bidding policy regarding the procurement of goods and services. Such a policy should require that competitive bids are solicited through advertising for any purchases over an established amount and that bids be solicited for any purchases over a lesser amount. In addition, documentation of the bidding process should be maintained in all cases.

B. Ensure expenses are paid directly by the village to the extent practical and cash disbursements are kept to a minimum. In addition, adequate documentation for all reimbursements and payments to village officials should be maintained. Further, reimbursements for gasoline expenses should be supported by the actual miles driven.

C. Ensure all disbursements are supported by paid receipts and/or vendor-provided invoices which contain an adequate description of the goods or services received.

D. Ensure formal written contracts are entered into for any services obtained by the village.

E. Ensure the approval of all disbursements is adequately documented by including a listing of all approved disbursements in the board minutes.

F. Ensure the practice of including political advertisements in village mailings is prohibited.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. The village board indicated it recently established a formal procurement policy. The board indicated it did solicit bids for the pipe and installation work; however, it agreed this was not adequately documented. The board indicated adequate documentation would be maintained in the future.

B,C, &E. The village board concurs.

D. The village board concurs and indicated it will enter into a contract with its trash hauler.

F. The village board concurs and indicated this will not happen again. The Chairman indicated that other than the cost of the envelopes, the village did not incur any costs related to this mailing. The postage was not paid by the village.

3. Village Bank Account

The village of Rayville maintains all of its monies in a money market mutual fund account through a local stock broker. Monies are deposited directly into this account and disbursements are made by check from the account. According to the fund's prospectus, the monies maintained in this account are neither insured nor guaranteed by the U.S. government. It appears this may not be an appropriate investment account for a municipality. In addition, the city cannot deposit cash into the account, resulting in village funds being commingled in the personal accounts of certain village officials (See MAR No. 4.B.)

It appears investments of local public funds are limited to insured or collateralized banking deposits or direct investments in government securities that can be held to maturity.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Trustees review this situation with its attorney and determine whether this account is a proper and legal investment for the village.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The village board indicated it will review the appropriateness of this account. In addition, the village will open a bank account into which all receipts will initially be deposited.

4. Accounting Controls and Procedures

A. The Board of Trustees has not appointed separate individuals to serve as Village Collector or Village Treasurer. Presently, the Village Clerk also serves as both the Village Collector and the Village Treasurer. She collects receipts (including property taxes), maintains the village's financial records, makes bank deposits, co-signs checks, reconciles the bank account, handles trash billings and collections, and serves as secretary to the board.

Attorney General's Opinion No. 24, 1955 to Dodds, concluded that in a fourth-class city the holding of the positions of City Clerk, City Treasurer, and City Collector, or any two of these three offices, by the same person at the same time would be incompatible. The statutes pertaining to villages are similar to those cited in this opinion, therefore, the opinion's conclusion appears applicable to villages also.

Holding all three of these offices does not allow the segregation of duties necessary for a proper evaluation and review of financial transactions. The current procedures jeopardize the system of independent checks and balances intended by state law.

B. The Chairman of the Board of Trustees and the Village Clerk currently both collect receipts for the village. The Chairman records his collections on a log and subsequently turns these monies over to the Village Clerk for deposit. It does not appear proper for the Chairman or any other member of the village board to be handling receipts(unless they have been authorized to serve as Village Treasurer). To maintain proper control over receipts, all monies should be received by an individual(s) authorized and bonded to handle village funds (i.e., the Village Clerk or an appointed Treasurer or Collector).

In addition, the financial entity which handles the city account will not accept cash deposits. As a result, any cash received by the Chairman or the Village Clerk is initially deposited into their personal bank accounts and a check is then written from their personal accounts to the village. Commingling village monies with personal funds is a poor practice and should be discontinued immediately.

C. All monies collected are not recorded when received. The village's primary receipts record is a check register maintained by the Village Clerk to which receipts are recorded when they are deposited.

To help ensure collections are properly recorded and deposited, all monies should be recorded on prenumbered receipt slips or a receipts ledger when received. The receipt records should indicate whether cash, checks, or money orders are received, and the composition should be reconciled to the bank deposits on a periodic basis.

D. Deposits are not made on a timely basis. During the year ended December 31, 1998, deposits were generally made only twice a month, with deposits averaging over $800.

To adequately safeguard cash receipts and reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, deposits should be made on a daily basis or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

E. Checks and money orders received are not restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt. To reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, checks and money orders should be restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Trustees:

A. Consider appointing separate individuals to the positions of Village Clerk, Village Collector, and Village Treasurer. If this is not possible, at a minimum, procedures for an adequate independent review of the record keeping functions should be established.

B. Ensure village monies are received only by village officials authorized and bonded to handle village funds. In addition, all city receipts should be deposited directly into city accounts and the practice of commingling village monies with personal funds should be discontinued immediately.

C. Ensure all monies received are recorded on prenumbered receipt slips or a properly maintained receipts ledger when the monies are received. In addition, the composition of receipts should be reconciled to deposits on a periodic basis.

D. Ensure deposits are made on a daily basis or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

E. Ensure checks and money orders are restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. The village board indicated that someone will perform an independent review of the records on a periodic basis. This review will be documented.

B-E. The village board concurs.

5. Fire Fund

In April 1996, city voters renewed a $.25 property tax levy for an additional three years for the purpose of providing revenue for fire protection. It appears this special purpose tax has been levied by the village for a number of years. The monies generated by this levy have been used by the village to contract with a local fire district to provide fire protection services.

During 1998, the fire levy generated approximately $1,130 in property tax revenues, and in that year the city disbursed $675 pursuant to the contract with the fire district. It appears property tax revenues have exceeded the amount disbursed to the fire district for a number of years, resulting in a fund balance of $4,313 at the end of 1997. In January 1998, the village transferred approximately $3,300 of this balance to the Trash Fund to help eliminate the negative balance which existed in that fund. This transfer did not appear proper since these tax revenues were restricted for fire protection purposes.

The property tax revenues related to the fire levy should be used only for fire protection purposes. If expenditures for fire protection services remain at the current level, the board should consider reducing the fire tax levy accordingly.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Trustees ensure any restricted revenues (including those of the Fire Fund) are used only for the purposes intended. In addition, in the future the board should set the fire tax levy at a level sufficient to meet the related expenditures without being excessive.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The village board concurs. In addition, the board indicated that it intends to lower the property tax levy for fire protection purposes which will be on the April 1999 ballot.

6. Budgets, Financial Reporting, and Minutes

A. The village does not prepare and adopt annual budgets. Section 67.010, RSMo 1994, requires the preparation of an annual budget which shall present a complete financial plan for the ensuing budget year.

A complete and well-planned budget, in addition to meeting statutory requirements, can serve as a useful management tool by establishing specific cost and revenue expectations for each area of the village operations and provide a means to effectively monitor actual costs and revenues. It will also assist in setting tax levies and informing the public about village operations and current finances.

B. Semiannual financial statements are not published or posted as required by law. Section 80.210, RSMo 1994, provides that the board of trustees is to prepare a correct statement of all monies received and expended on behalf of the village for the preceding six months and publish the financial statement in a local newspaper or post the statement in six public places within the village.

C. The annual financial reports submitted by the village to the State Auditor's office as required by Section 105.145, RSMo 1994, do not accurately reflect the balances and financial activity of the various funds. During our review of the annual report for the year ended December 31, 1997, we noted that the financial activity and balances reported for the various funds did not agree with the village accounting records or the monthly financial reports prepared for the village board. The annual report for 1998 had not been prepared at the time of our review.

The board should ensure the annual financial reports required pursuant to Section 105.145, RSMo 1994, accurately reflect the financial activity and balances of the various funds of the village.

D. Board minutes are prepared by the Village Clerk; however, they are not signed by either the Clerk or the Chairman. The board minutes should be signed by the Village Clerk and Chairman upon approval to provide an independent attestation that the minutes are a correct record of the matters discussed and actions taken during the board meetings.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Trustees:

A. Prepare and adopt annual budgets as required by state law.

B. Ensure semiannual financial statements are published or posted in accordance with state law.

C. Ensure the annual financial reports prepared and submitted to the State Auditor's office pursuant to Section 105.145, RSMo 1994, accurately reflect the financial activity and balances of the various funds of the village.

D. Ensure all board minutes are properly signed to attest to the accuracy.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A,B, &D. The village board concurs.

C. The village board concurs and indicated an accurate report has been prepared and submitted for 1998.

7. Property Tax Procedures

A. The Board of Trustees has not held public hearings on the village's proposed property tax levies for at least the past several years. Section 67.110, RSMo 1994, requires each governing body to hold at least one public hearing prior to approval of the proposed tax rates at which citizens may be heard. This section also provides guidance on what information is to be included at the public hearing.

B. The Board of Trustees has not prepared an ordinance establishing the approved tax levies for each year as required by Section 80.460, RSMo 1994.

C. The village does not prepare a delinquent tax list and turn it over to the County Collector as required by statute. Section 80.480, RSMo 1994, requires the Board of Trustees to annually turn over to the County Collector a delinquent tax list and certified copies of all tax bills included in the delinquent list. The County Collector is then responsible for collecting the amounts due, including any interest and penalty charges. At December 31, 1998, delinquent property taxes owed the village totaled over $3,100 for tax years 1997 and 1998.

Attorney General's Opinion No. 31, 1950 to Frank, concluded that the delinquent taxes of a village should be in the hands of the county collector by the first Monday in March of each year.

To ensure compliance with state law and to help ensure efficient collection of delinquent taxes, the village should annually prepare lists of delinquent taxes and turn them over to the County Collector for collection.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Trustees:

A. Hold a public hearing on proposed property tax rates as required by state law.

B. Establish the annual property tax levies by ordinance as required by state law.

C. Ensure a delinquent property tax list is turned over to the County Collector annually as required by statute.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A&B. The village board concurs.

C. The village board will take this recommendation under advisement.

8. Street Maintenance Plan

An annual maintenance plan for village streets has not been prepared. A formal maintenance plan should be prepared in conjunction with the annual fiscal budget and include a description of the streets to be worked on, the type of work to be performed, an estimate of the quantity and cost of materials needed, the dates such work could begin, the amount of labor required to perform the work, and other relevant information. The plan should be included in the budget message and be approved by the board. In addition, a public hearing should be held to obtain input from the village residents.

A formal maintenance plan would serve as a useful management tool and provide greater input into the overall budgeting process. Such a plan provides a means to more effectively monitor and evaluate the progress made in the repair and maintenance of streets throughout the year.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Trustees prepare a formal maintenance plan for village streets at the beginning of the fiscal year and periodically update the plan throughout the year. In addition, the board should review the progress made in the repair and maintenance of streets to make appropriate decisions on future projects.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The village board concurs.

This report is intended for the information of the village's management and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

CLAIRE C. McCASKILL
Missouri State Auditor

To the Honorable Mayor
and
Members of the Board of Aldermen
City of Verona
Verona, Missouri 65769

The State Auditor was petitioned under Section 29.230, RSMo, to audit the city of Verona, Missouri. The city had engaged Wallace, Harner & Associates, P.C., Certified Public Accountants (CPA firm) to perform a financial audit of the city for the year ended March 31, 1998. To minimize any duplication of effort, we reviewed the report and substantiating working papers of the CPA firm. Our audit of the city included, but was not limited to, the year ended March 31, 1998. The objectives of this audit were to:

1. Perform procedures we deemed necessary to evaluate the petitioners' concerns.

2. Review compliance with certain constitutional provisions, statutes, ordinances, and attorney general's opinions as we deemed necessary or appropriate in the circumstances.

3. Review certain management practices which we believe could be improved.

Our audit was made in accordance with applicable generally accepted government auditing standards and included such procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. We also reviewed board minutes, city policies and ordinances, and various city financial records.

Our audit was limited to the specific matters described above and was based on the selective tests and procedures considered appropriate in the circumstances. Had we performed additional procedures, other information might have come to our attention which would have been included in this report.

The accompanying History and Organization is presented for informational purposes. This information was obtained from the city and was not subjected to the auditing procedures applied during our audit of the city.

MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT

CITY OF VERONA, MISSOURI
SUMMARY OF FINDINGS

1. Restricted Revenues (page 8)

   The city has not established separate accounting records for state motor vehicle-related receipts and law enforcement training fees to ensure the monies are spent in accordance with the constitution and state law.

2. Expenditures and Related Items (pages 8-11)

   Bids or proposals were not always solicited in accordance with the city's purchasing policy. Christmas bonuses were paid to a city official and city employee which appear to represent additional compensation and are in violation of the Missouri Constitution. The city needs a written agreement to define its relationship with the local drug task force. The city maintains two bank accounts which are in the custody of the fire chief, and the city needs to make a clear distinction between the funds in these accounts regarding which funds are city funds and which funds are the volunteer firefighters' personal funds.

3. Accounting Controls and Procedures (pages 11-13)

   Accounting duties are not adequately segregated. Bank reconciliations are not properly documented. Checks are signed in advance by the Mayor, and the Mayor is not bonded. Listings of expenditures approved by the board do not classify amounts allocated to each fund. The method of payment is not recorded and the composition of receipts is not reconciled to bank deposits. Records are not adequate to ensure all dog pound redemption fees are calculated properly. Merchant license fees are not established by ordinance and there are no formal policies regarding follow-up on delinquent licenses.

4. Meetings, Minutes, and Records (pages 13-14)

   Closed meetings are not always documented and conducted in accordance with state law. Board minutes should be signed by the Mayor. The city has not established a policy regarding public access to city records.

5. City Ordinances and Budgets (pages 14-15)

   The city has some outdated codes and ordinances with which it does not comply. Improvements are needed regarding the city's annual budgets.

6. Sewer System Procedures and Records (pages 15-16)

   There are no supervisory or independent reviews of sewer rate calculations or adjustments. The board does not review delinquent accounts, and the city has no formal sewer disconnect procedures. The city's current sewer deposit requirements are not in compliance with its ordinance.

7. City Property (pages 16-17)

The city does not maintain inventory records for city property. Complete usage, maintenance, and fuel logs are not maintained for city vehicles.

1. Restricted Revenues

A. During the year ended March 31, 1998, the city deposited $21,220 of state motor vehicle-related receipts into the General Fund and incurred only $4,804 of street-related expenditures. Article IV, Section 30, of the Missouri Constitution, requires that motor vehicle-related receipts apportioned by the state of Missouri be used for street-related purposes, including policing, signing, lighting, and cleaning of roads and streets.

The city has not established a separate accounting for these receipts and related disbursements. From 1994 to 1998, the city received $72,603 in motor vehicle-related revenues but city records indicate only $50,907 was spent for street-related expenditures.

To ensure compliance with the Missouri Constitution, the city should maintain a separate fund or separate accounting of motor vehicle-related receipts and ensure these receipts are used only for the purposes allowed by the constitution. The unspent balance of street revenues should be accounted for separately along with future receipts.

B. Law enforcement training fees are not accounted for separately or maintained in a separate fund. During the year ended March 31, 1998, the city received approximately $180 in training fees and did not incur any training-related expenditures. Section 590.140, RSMo Supp. 1998, requires law enforcement training fees to be used only for the training of law enforcement officers. The city should determine law enforcement training fees collected and transfer the fees to a separate fund or maintain a separate accounting of the funds to ensure the fees are used in accordance with state law.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen establish separate funds or a separate accounting of state motor vehicle-related funds and law enforcement training fees to ensure compliance with the Missouri Constitution and state law.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We have already implemented this recommendation.

2. Expenditures and Related Items

A. The city's procurement policy states that bids shall be taken for all purchases of supplies and contractual services when the estimated costs exceed $1,000. However, bids or proposals were not solicited or bid documentation was not retained for the following purchases:

Item	Amount
Patrol car	$14,500
Fire department equipment	6,778
Radio equipment	3,264
Insurance	5,246
Radar gun	1,015

In addition, the city paid approximately $2,500 per year to a CPA firm for financial statement preparation and auditing services during fiscal years 1998 and 1997. The city has used the same firm for several years, and there is no documentation of when the city last solicited proposals for auditing services.

Bidding procedures for significant purchases help to ensure the city receives fair value by contracting with the lowest and best bidder. The city should ensure bids or proposals are solicited in accordance with its established policy and applicable documentation is retained.

B. Christmas bonuses were paid to city employees in December 1998 and 1997. The City Clerk received $55 and $50 during 1998 and 1997 respectively, and the individuals serving as police officers received $50 each for 1998 and 1997.

The bonuses appear to represent additional compensation for services previously rendered and violate Article III, Section 39 of the Missouri Constitution. Attorney General's Opinion No. 72, 1955 to Pray, states, "...a government agency deriving its power and authority from the Constitution and laws of the state would be prohibited from granting extra compensation in the form of bonuses to public officers after the service has been rendered."

C. The city paid $1,000 to the Southwest Drug Task Force in January 1998. The city did not obtain a contract outlining the services to be provided and did not obtain documentation of the use of funds. The city should obtain a written contractual agreement with the task force to document what the monies are to be spent on.

D. The city's volunteer fire department provides fire protection services for the city. The fire department has not been set up as a separate organization and is part of the city government.

The majority of the fire department's operating expenses are paid by the city and approved by the Board of Aldermen; however, the city has also established two bank accounts under its tax ID number (checking account and savings account) which are under the control and custody of the fire chief. Monies deposited into these accounts include donations, fund raising proceeds, grant proceeds, and board-approved stipend payments for firefighters' participation in meetings, training, and fire calls. Expenditures from these accounts are not reviewed by the board and are made at the fire chief's discretion. Our review of these bank accounts noted the following concerns:

1. Disbursements from the savings account are made in cash by the fire chief and supporting documentation, such as vendor invoices, is not maintained for these disbursements. During 1997 and 1998, approximately $2,900 was disbursed from the account, and the fire chief indicated the money was used mainly for T-shirts and jackets, Christmas dinners for volunteers and city officials and employees, and a donation to the wife of a deceased former alderman. The Board of Aldermen indicated that the savings account has always been considered the volunteer firefighters' personal funds because it mainly consists of the stipend payments to the volunteers, and the volunteers have elected to let the fire chief use this money for fire department-related purposes; however, the savings account is set up under the city's tax ID number as mentioned above, and the City Clerk makes deposits directly into the account. Therefore, this account functions as a city account.

2. Expenditures are paid by check from the checking account and the related invoices are filed at city hall by the City Clerk. However, the invoices are not filed in any particular order and at least one invoice could not be located. In addition, the invoices are not marked "paid" or otherwise canceled upon payment, and a duplicate payment of $147 was made by the city for an expenditure already paid by the fire department.

The Board of Aldermen should review this matter and establish a clear distinction between the city's fire department funds and the volunteer firefighters' personal funds. All city funds should be transferred to the City Clerk, who is the city's fund custodian, and all expenditures of city fire department funds should be made by check and reviewed and approved by the Board of Aldermen. The city's tax ID number should not be used for personal bank accounts. In addition, the board should seek reimbursement of the $147 vendor overpayment.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Ensure bids or proposals are solicited in accordance with the city's established procurement policy and all related documentation is retained.

B. Discontinue paying Christmas bonuses to city employees.

C. Enter into a written contract with the drug task force regarding the services provided by the task force.

D. Transfer custody of all city fire department funds to the City Clerk and ensure all expenditures are paid by check and are reviewed and approved by the board. In addition, invoices or other supporting documentation should be maintained for all expenditures, and invoices should be canceled to prevent duplicate payments. Finally, the board should seek reimbursement for the $147 overpayment and ensure the city's tax ID number is not used for personal bank accounts.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. We will review our current bidding policy, make changes to the policy if necessary, and ensure the policy is followed.

B. We will not pay any more bonuses.

C. We will review this and obtain a written agreement.

D. The money in the savings account has always been the volunteers' personal funds to be spent at their discretion. We will ensure the volunteers' money is moved into an account which does not have the city's ID number, and all city fire department funds will be placed in the custody of the City Clerk. We have already obtained reimbursement of the $147 overpayment.

3. Accounting Controls and Procedures

A. The board eliminated the City Collector's position in December 1996 and assigned the duties to the City Clerk. Currently, the City Clerk collects all receipts, maintains receipt and disbursement records, makes bank deposits, co-signs checks, handles all sewer billings and collections, and serves as secretary to the board.

Attorney General's Opinion No. 24, 1955 to Dodds, concluded that in a fourth-class city the holding of the positions of city clerk, city treasurer, and city collector or any two of these three offices, by the same person at the same time would be incompatible. Holding any two of these three offices does not allow the segregation of duties necessary for a proper evaluation and review of financial transactions. The current procedures jeopardize the system of independent checks and balances intended by state law.

Also, to safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. Internal controls could be improved by segregating duties to the extent possible. In addition, the board should require someone independent of the cash custody and record keeping functions to perform periodic reconciliations of receipts to deposits and checks issued to disbursement records, and review bank statements and bank reconciliations.

B. The City Clerk indicated she reconciles the bank accounts but does not retain documentation of the reconciliations. Complete documentation of the reconciliations should be prepared and retained to support conclusions and any corrections made and to facilitate independent reviews.

C. Checks issued on the bank accounts require signatures of both the City Clerk and Mayor; however, checks are sometimes signed in advance by the Mayor. Signing checks in advance does not allow for proper review of the documentation to support the disbursement and diminishes the control intended by dual signatures. In addition, the City Clerk is bonded but the Mayor is not bonded.

D. The Board of Aldermen reviews and approves monthly listings of expenditures; however, the listings do not identify the funds to which the expenditures are allocated. Also, the checkbook register does not always identify the fund to which expenditures are allocated. The expenditures are classified by fund on the annual expenditure reports.

To ensure proper classification of expenditures, the Board of Aldermen should review and approve the classification of expenditures charged to various funds on a monthly basis.

E. The method of payment (i.e., cash, check, or money order) is not recorded on the receipt listing or the utility payment stubs. To ensure all receipts have been recorded properly and deposited intact, the method of payment should be recorded on each receipt listing or utility payment stub and the composition of receipts should be reconciled to the composition of bank deposits.

F. The city operates a dog pound for dogs found running at large in the city. The city currently maintains an animal control log which identifies the type of dog picked up and date picked up but does not always document whether the dogs have been redeemed by the owner or taken to the local humane society. Varying amounts are charged for dog redemption based on the number of days the dog was in the city's pound.

To ensure all redemption fees are collected and properly accounted for, the city should maintain accurate records of the disposition of each dog, and the redemption fee due.

G. City ordinance requires merchants operating within city limits to purchase a merchants license; however, the license fees are not established by ordinance. The fees range from $25 to $150 based on the type of business. The license fees are due annually by January 1.

The city does not have a formal policy regarding delinquent licenses. Nine merchants purchased their 1998 licenses after January 1, including three in February and one in March. The city issued a summons to one merchant on February 24, 1998, who had failed to pay (who subsequently paid on February 25, 1998) but did not issue summonses to two other merchants who had not yet paid for their licenses.

To ensure that all merchants are treated equitably, the license fees should be established by ordinance and formal policies on delinquent licenses should be established and followed.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Consider appointing separate individuals to the positions of City Clerk and City Collector and provide for adequate segregation of duties. If this is not possible, procedures for independent reviews of accounting records should be established.

B. Ensure monthly bank reconciliations are performed and documented for all accounts.

C. Discontinue the practice of signing checks in advance, and obtain bond coverage for the Mayor.

D. Identify and approve all expenditures by fund type to ensure proper classification of expenditures.

E. Ensure the method of payment is recorded on each receipt listing or utility stub, and the composition of receipts is reconciled to the composition of deposits.

F. Ensure disposition is indicated on the animal control log to ensure all redemption fees are properly accounted for and collected.

G. Establish merchant license fees by ordinance and develop a formal, written policy for delinquent licenses to ensure that all merchants are treated equitably.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. We agree with the recommendation, but the city does not have sufficient resources to hire additional personnel. A designated board member will review the City Clerk's work.

B & D-F. These recommendations have already been implemented.

C. The Mayor has stopped signing checks in advance, and we agree that the Mayor should be bonded.

G. We agree with this recommendation.

4. Meetings, Minutes, and Records

A. The Board of Aldermen conducted several closed meetings during the year ended March 31, 1998; however, the minutes did not always document the related vote or the reasons for closing the meeting. Section 610.022, RSMo Supp. 1998, requires that before any meeting may be closed, the question of holding the closed meeting and the reason for the closed meeting shall be voted on at an open session.

Also, some topics discussed in closed meetings did not meet the criteria outlined in Section 610.021, RSMo Supp. 1998. For example, the board approved the purchase of a police car in a closed session on June 26, 1997 and agreed to obtain employee health insurance during the June 19, 1997 closed meeting. The board should restrict the discussion in closed sessions to the specific topics allowed by state law.

B. The board minutes are prepared and signed by the City Clerk, but the minutes are not signed by the Mayor. The board minutes should be signed by the Mayor to provide an independent attestation that the minutes are a correct record of the matters discussed and actions taken during the board's meetings.

C. The city does not have a formal policy regarding public access to city records. A formal policy regarding access to city records would establish guidelines for the city to make records available to the public. This policy should establish a person to contact and an address to mail requests for access to records. Section 610.023, RSMo Supp. 1998, lists requirements for making city records available to the public.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Hold a vote to go into closed session, state the reasons for going into closed session, publicly disclose the final disposition of applicable matters discussed in closed session, and ensure only allowable, specified subjects are discussed in closed session as required by state law.

B. Ensure board minutes are signed by the Mayor to attest to their completeness and accuracy.

C. Establish formal written policies and procedures regarding public access to city records.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. We agree and will ensure the Sunshine Law is followed for future meetings.

B&C. We agree and will implement these recommendations.

5. City Ordinances and Budgets

A. The city has not reviewed all city codes/ordinances to determine whether current city operations are in compliance. As a result, the city has some outdated codes and has not complied with other codes.

For example, City Code No. 24.120 requires all new ordinances and resolutions to be endorsed by the board member introducing the ordinance or resolution; however, this code has not been followed. Additionally, City Code No. 21.170 requires the mayor to call a special election to fill a vacancy on the board of aldermen unless the next general municipal election is less than 6 months away. The board, however, appointed an individual to fill a vacant board of aldermen position during April 1998 when the next general election was not until April 1999. The decision to appoint the individual instead of holding a special election was based on the City Attorney's advice because he believed the city ordinance contradicted an applicable state law.

As the above examples illustrate, the city should review its current ordinances and amend or rescind outdated ordinances and ensure all ordinances are complied with.

B. The city adopts annual budgets for the General Fund and the Sewer Fund. There is no documentation when the budgets for the year ended March 31, 1998 were approved and adopted by the Board of Aldermen. The City Clerk indicated the budgets were approved during or around August 1997. Section 67.080, RSMo 1994, provides that no expenditure of public monies shall be made unless it is authorized in the budget.

In March 1998, the city adopted budgets for the year ended March 31, 1999; however, the budgets did not include projected ending balances, actual (or estimated for years not yet ended) revenues and expenditures for the two preceding budget years, or a budget message.

In addition, the board does not periodically compare budgeted and actual revenues and expenditures, and actual expenditures exceeded budgeted amounts during the year ended March 31, 1998.

Sections 67.010 to 67.040, RSMo 1994, set specific guidelines as to the format and approval of the annual operating budget. A complete and well-planned budget, in addition to meeting statutory requirements, can serve as a useful management tool by establishing specific cost and revenue expectations for each area of city operations and provide a means to effectively monitor actual costs and revenues.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Consider updating the codification of city ordinances to help ensure all ordinances are current, reflect the board's intentions, and are complied with.

B. Prepare annual budgets in compliance with state law and periodically compare budgeted and actual revenues and expenditures.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. We agree with this recommendation.

B. The budgets that we are currently working on for the upcoming fiscal year will comply with state law. The current board has been comparing budgeted and actual expenses.

6. Sewer System Procedures and Records

A. Individual customer sewer rates are calculated annually by the City Clerk based on water usage readings provided by the independent water company. There is no supervisory or independent review of these calculations. In addition, the City Clerk is responsible for making adjustments to individual customer accounts due to invalid water meter readings or water leaks.

While reasons to adjust the billings may be valid, it appears most adjustments are made at the discretion of the City Clerk and are not formally reviewed by other city officials. Supervisory or independent review and approval of the rate calculations and adjustments helps to ensure such transactions are proper and reduces the possibility that improper or erroneous adjustments would go undetected.

B. The Board of Aldermen does not periodically review delinquent sewer accounts. Follow-up on delinquent accounts is performed by the City Clerk; however, the city has some old delinquent balances dating back to 1996.

The city should review delinquent accounts monthly and ensure appropriate follow-up procedures are performed. In addition, the board should review the old delinquent accounts for collectibility and write off those amounts determined to be uncollectible.

In addition, the city has no formal sewer disconnect procedures. The City Clerk indicated she will usually send out a disconnect notice after four months of non-payment and give the person 30 days to pay the bill. However, she indicated some accounts remained delinquent for several years before being disconnected. A formal policy for sewer disconnect procedures should be established and followed.

C. City ordinance requires a refundable deposit of $60 on all new sewer connections; however, the city only charges the $60 deposit on sewer reconnections. The City Clerk indicated she misunderstood the ordinance and thought that it only applied to reconnections. As a result, the city's current procedures are not in compliance with approved ordinances.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Require supervisory or independent review and approval for rate calculations and adjustments made to sewer billings.

B. Review delinquent sewer accounts on a monthly basis and write off old uncollectible accounts. In addition, the board should develop a formal sewer disconnect policy and ensure the policy is followed.

C. Collect sewer deposits in accordance with city ordinance.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. We have been verbally approving adjustments and we will document this approval in the future.

B. We agree and are working on this.

C. We will review this ordinance and take appropriate action.

7. City Property

A. The city has not prepared and maintained permanent, detailed property records for general fixed assets, including the cost of land, buildings, equipment, and furniture owned by the city. In addition, the city has not prepared and maintained permanent, detailed property records for the sewer system. Also, annual physical inventories are not performed.

Property records for general fixed assets are necessary to ensure accountability for all items purchased and owned and for determining the proper amount of insurance coverage.

To develop appropriate records and procedures for general fixed assets and the fixed assets of the sewer system, the city needs to undertake a comprehensive review of all property owned by the city. Assets should be counted, tagged for specific identification, and recorded by description and serial number in a detailed property ledger at historical cost or estimated historical cost if the original cost is not available. The city should properly record all fixed asset transactions, and ensure the accuracy of the recorded fixed assets. Periodically, the city should take physical counts of its assets and compare them to the detailed records.

B. The city has one patrol car, two fire trucks, and a brush buggy. Mileage or usage logs which document vehicle usage are not maintained for most vehicles. For the patrol car, the police officer documents odometer readings on daily activity logs; however, ending odometer readings do not always agree to the next day's beginning odometer reading and at least one daily log was missing. While some differences exist because the police officer drives the vehicle home at night, our review noted a gap of 103 miles between an ending and a beginning reading which was not accounted for.

Logs are necessary to document appropriate use of the vehicles and to support gasoline charges. The logs should include the purpose and destination of each trip, the daily beginning and ending odometer readings, and the operation and maintenance costs. These logs should be reviewed by a supervisor to ensure all mileage is recorded, the vehicles are being properly utilized, and help identify vehicles which should be replaced. Information on the logs should be reconciled to fuel purchases and other maintenance charges.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Establish property records for general fixed assets and the fixed assets of the sewer system that include all pertinent information for each asset, such as tag number, description, cost, acquisition date, location, and subsequent disposition. In addition, annual physical inventories should be performed.

B. Maintain complete and accurate mileage, usage, and maintenance logs for each vehicle. The logs should be reviewed by a supervisor periodically for completeness and reasonableness.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. We agree and will work to develop property records.

B. The patrol car mileage log is now complete and all miles are recorded. We will consider maintaining some type of usage and maintenance logs for the other vehicles.

This report is intended for the information of the city's management and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

AUDIT REPORT

CITY OF COTTLEVILLE, MISSOURI

TWO YEARS ENDED DECEMBER 31, 1998

From The Office Of State Auditor
Claire McCaskill

Report No. 99-19
March 24, 1999

Office Of The
State Auditor Of Missouri
Claire McCaskill

FACT SHEET

Some problems were discovered as a result of an audit conducted by our office in response to the request of petitioners from Cottleville, Missouri.

NOTE: Recommendations, as well as responses from the city, which correspond with the findings below are included in the audit.

During our review of Cottleville's Board of Aldermen meetings, especially closed meetings, we noted some of the following concerns. Formal written minutes are not maintained for closed meetings. Although minutes for closed meetings are not specifically required by law, minutes constitute the record of proceedings of the Board of Aldermen. Formal written minutes for closed meetings result in a better record of city transactions, proceedings, and decisions. In addition, minutes help the city demonstrate that closed discussions or business relate to the specific reason announced for closing the meeting pursuant to the Sunshine Law which applies to public meetings.

Furthermore, the board minutes and the meeting agendas do not document the specific reasons for going into a closed session. The tentative agenda and the minutes normally list litigation, real estate transactions, and personnel issues as the reason to go into closed session. While the board normally states three general reasons for going into closed session, the specific reason for going into closed session is not documented. (See the city's response on page 12)

In August 1997, the city entered into a loan agreement with the Mayor's brother. The Mayor's brother agreed to loan, interest free, such sums of money to the city as the city may request during the years 1997 through 2000, not to exceed $500,000. In February 1998, the city borrowed $284,295 through this agreement to finance the purchase of the property to be used to build a city hall. This loan was entered into without a vote of the city taxpayers.

Article VI, Section 26(c), of the Missouri Constitution allows cities to incur debt by bond issue only after approval of two-thirds of the qualified electors voting thereon. City officials indicated that before the money was borrowed, legal advice was obtained and since the borrowed amount was less than the total estimated revenues for 1998, plus the unencumbered balance from the previous year, the loan was legal. However, much of the city's balance and anticipated revenue was already obligated for 1998. (See the city's response on pages 19 & 20)

The city paid an engineering firm approximately $302,497 and $209,174 for the years ended December 31, 1998 and 1997, respectively. This engineering firm designates an employee to serve as "City Engineer" for the city and provides services by other employees as needed. The city entered into a written agreement with this firm on December 18, 1986, which establishes various compensation schedules for the services to be provided. The city entered into several additional contracts with this firm during 1997 and 1998 for large highway/street projects. The city did not solicit proposals for these engineering contracts.

We recommended that the city solicit proposals for engineering services in accordance with state law and ensure payments to the engineering firm comply with the written contract. (See the city's response on page 18)

Missouri State Auditor

To the Honorable Mayor
and
Members of the Board of Aldermen
City of Cottleville
Cottleville, Missouri 63338

The State Auditor was petitioned under Section 29.230, RSMo, to audit the city of Cottleville, Missouri. Our audit of the city included, but was not limited to, the two years ended December 31, 1998. The objectives of this audit were to:

1. Perform procedures we deemed necessary to evaluate the petitioners' concerns.

2. Review compliance with certain constitutional provisions, statutes, ordinances, and attorney general's opinions as we deemed necessary or appropriate in the circumstances.

3. Review certain management practices which we believe could be improved.

Our audit was made in accordance with applicable generally accepted government auditing standards and included such procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. We also reviewed board minutes, city policies and ordinances, and various city financial records.

Our audit was limited to the specific matters described above and was based on the selective tests and procedures considered appropriate in the circumstances. Had we performed additional procedures, other information might have come to our attention which would have been included in this report.

The accompanying History and Organization is presented for information purposes. This information was obtained from the city and was not subjected to auditing procedures applied during our audit of the city.

MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT

CITY OF COTTLEVILLE, MISSOURI
SUMMARY OF FINDINGS

1. Board Meetings, Minutes, and Policies (pages 9-12)

Board minutes are not signed by the City Clerk or the Mayor and minutes are not prepared for closed meetings of the board. The board minutes and the meeting agenda did not document the specific reasons for going into closed session, and board minutes did not always contain a record of votes taken and members in attendance. Minutes were not prepared for the special meeting held with the city of St. Peters. Notice, including a tentative agenda, was not posted for some meetings. Copies of tentative agendas are not maintained as official records of the city, and agendas did not include all ordinances and resolutions to be considered by the board. The city has not formally established a policy regarding access to city records. The minutes of a board meeting in which the mayor's brother was an interested party do not indicate the mayor did not preside.

2. City Ordinances and Resolutions (pages 12-14)

Improvement is needed in the organization of the city's ordinances. Three ordinances passed by the Board of Aldermen did not receive the required number of votes. The city does not permit video recording of meetings unless two-thirds of the members vote in favor of allowing such recording.

3. Disbursements (pages 14-18)

Various concerns were noted including the lack of bid documentation, the lack of written contracts, the lack of appraisals for real estate purchases, and disbursements for which a public purpose was not demonstrated or documented. In addition, the Board of Aldermen does not approve all disbursements and did not obtain proposals for engineering services. Payments to the city's accounting firm did not comply with the written agreement.

4. Loan Agreement (pages 19-20)

The city entered into a loan agreement with the mayor's brother to finance the purchase of property without a vote of the city taxpayers.

5. Receipt Procedures (pages 21-23)

Checks and money orders received are not restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt. In addition, rezoning application deposits do not appear to be handled in accordance with city ordinances. The city has not established a separate fund or separate accounting for waiver fees received, has not established who is responsible for collecting this fee or when it is to be collected, and does not document its reasons for granting the waivers. The Board of Aldermen sometimes waives or lowers the escrow amounts required by developers.

6. Interest on Highway Funds (pages 23-24)

The city has transferred $38,974 of interest money earned on highway project monies to the city general fund.

7. Municipal Court Division (pages 24-26)

The Court Clerk does not prepare monthly open-items listings of bonds held in the bond account. The duties of receiving, recording, and depositing fine and court cost monies collected by the municipal division are not adequately segregated. The court does not account for the numerical sequence of receipt slips issued by the police department. No reconciliation is performed between the composition of receipt slips issued by the court and the monies deposited. The court dockets do not always indicate the disposition of all cases. Fines and court costs assessed did not agree to the fee schedule for file cases reviewed. Neither the police department nor the court adequately accounts for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of tickets issued.

1. Board Meetings, Minutes, and Policies

A. Board meeting minutes are prepared by the City Clerk; however, they are not signed by the City Clerk or Mayor. In addition, some meeting minutes were not approved by the Board of Aldermen. The minutes should be prepared and signed by the City Clerk and approved by the board and signed by the mayor immediately upon approval by the board to provide attestation that the minutes are a correct record of the matters discussed and actions taken during the board meetings.

B. During our review of closed meetings, we noted the following concerns:

1) Formal written minutes are not maintained for closed meetings. Although minutes for closed meetings are not specifically required by law, minutes constitute the record of proceedings of the Board of Aldermen. Formal written minutes for closed meetings result in a better record of city transactions, proceedings, and decisions. In addition, minutes help the city demonstrate that closed discussions or business relate to the specific reason announced for closing the meeting pursuant to the Sunshine Law, Chapter 610, RSMo.

2) The board minutes and the meeting agendas do not document the specific reasons for going into a closed session. The tentative agenda and the minutes normally list litigation, real estate transactions, and personnel issues as the reason to go into a closed session. In addition, one instance was noted where a reason was not specified.

Section 610.021, RSMo, allows the board to close meetings to the extent the meetings relate to certain specified subjects, including litigation, real estate transactions, personnel issues, some competitive bidding issues, confidential or privileged communications with auditors, etc. Section 610.022, RSMo, requires a closed meeting, record or vote be held only for the specific reasons announced publicly at an open session. In addition, this law provides that public governmental bodies shall not discuss any other business during the closed meeting that differs from the specific reasons used to justify such meeting, record, or vote.

C. The board minutes do not include sufficient detail of matters discussed and actions taken. The board minutes did not always include a description of resolutions passed. In addition, the minutes did not always contain information required by law, such as records of votes taken and members in attendance.

Complete and accurate minutes provide an official record of board actions and decisions. Section 610.020, RSMo, states that "the minutes shall include the date, time, place, members present, members absent, and a record of votes taken".

D. On June 5, 1998, the Board of Aldermen held a special meeting with the city of St. Peter's Board of Aldermen. No minutes were prepared of this meeting. City officials indicate this was a social gathering of the two cities; however, both cities posted a notice and tentative agenda for this meeting.

Section 610.020, RSMo, requires minutes of open meetings to be taken by the public governmental body.

E. During our review of notices of meetings, the following concerns were noted:

1) The city normally holds its regular board meetings on the first Thursday of each month, and a work session on the second Tuesday of each month. According to city officials, the work session is a continuation of the regular board meeting. Documentation that notice was given of the board meetings could not be located for several meetings. The city's policy is to send the notice to the two local newspapers and to the post office and the local community college to be posted for regular meetings; however, notice is not always sent for work sessions. City personnel indicated the agenda from the regular meeting would still apply since the work session was a continuation of that meeting, and notice of the date and time was not posted since it was announced at the end of the regular meeting. In addition, the agenda was not posted at the college for several meetings due to a change in personnel at the college.

2) Copies of the tentative agendas are not maintained by the city attorney who is the official record custodian for the city. One of the petitioners asked to review agendas and the City Attorney indicated the city did not keep agendas as part of its official records. The City Clerk had a file of agendas, but apparently these were not made available to the petitioner.

3) Some ordinances and resolutions to be considered by the Board of Aldermen were not included on the tentative agendas posted. In order to allow citizens to voice their opinions on proposed ordinances and resolutions, they should be made aware of their consideration. The City Attorney indicated that he believed the law required tentative agendas only and that all ordinances and resolutions were not required to be included. The attorney indicated that the city is now trying to ensure all items are listed.

Section 610.020, RSMo, requires all public governmental bodies to give notice of their meetings at least twenty-four hours in advance through the news media or posting notice of the meeting. The notice is to include the time, date, and place of the meeting, as well as the tentative agenda. In addition, the notice is required to be posted at the principal office of the city or the building in which the meeting is to be held. To document compliance, the City Clerk should document the date, time, and location the notice was posted and retain this with the minutes. In addition, the city officials should try to ensure the public is made aware of all proposed ordinances and resolutions by including them on the tentative agenda posted.

F. The city has not formally established a policy regarding access to city records. The City Attorney, who serves as the official custodian of city records, has established some written rules for accessing the records; however, these rules have not been officially adopted by the Board of Aldermen.

Section 610.023, RSMo 1994, indicates that each public governmental body is to appoint a custodian who is to be responsible for the maintenance of that body's records and establishes guidelines for making city records available to the public. To ensure compliance with state law, the city should adopt formal policies regarding the location of city records, the persons responsible for maintaining each record, and procedures for citizens to request access to public records and how the city will handle these requests.

Written policies would establish procedures for the residents to follow and the cost for the requested information. In addition, written policies would help avoid misunderstandings regarding the availability of public city records.

G. The mayor did not vote on the issue of whether to grant a conditional use permit allowing a telecommunications tower to be placed on property owned by the mayor's brother. In addition, the mayor and the aldermen indicated that the mayor did not preside over that portion of the Board of Alderman's meeting dealing with that issue. However, the minutes of the meeting did not reflect that the mayor did not preside over that portion of the meeting.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Ensure minutes are approved for all meetings and require the City Clerk and Mayor to sign the board minutes to attest to the accuracy and completeness.

B.1. Ensure minutes are prepared for all closed meetings.

2. Ensure minutes and agenda state the specific reasons for going into a closed session, as required by state law.

C. Ensure all significant discussions, actions taken, and information required by state law are included in the minutes.

D. Ensure minutes are prepared, approved and maintained for all meetings, including special meetings.

E. Post notices, with tentative agendas for all meetings of the board at the principal office of the city or the building in which the meeting is to be held and retain adequate supporting documentation to demonstrate that the board provided the proper notice and tentative agendas. In addition, the board should ensure all proposed resolutions and ordinances are reflected on the tentative agendas posted.

F. Develop written policies regarding procedures to obtain access to, or copies of, public city records.

G. Ensure the minutes of board meetings accurately reflect when the mayor is present but declines to preside. Such documentation is particularly important when an issue includes a relative of the mayor.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. The city will ensure that minutes are approved for all meetings. Although not required by law, the city will consider the Auditor's recommendation that the City Clerk and Mayor sign the minutes in addition to Board of Aldermen approval of the minutes.

B.1. Minutes for closed session are not required by law. The city's Board of Aldermen does not take votes or make decisions in closed session. Such votes and decisions are reserved for open session. The city's minutes do reflect that discussions were held in closed session but that no decisions were made in closed session. No further minutes for closed session are required or necessary.

B.2. The city has been in compliance with this legal requirement and the city will continue such compliance.

C.,D.
E&G. The city accepts these recommendations.

F. The city does have a written policy regarding access to city records. Such policy is in the form of rules established by the custodian of records. The rule making authority of the custodian of records has recently been confirmed by ordinance.

AUDITOR'S COMMENT

B. The minutes of the meetings normally state the three general reasons for going into closed session. The specific reason for going into closed session is not documented.

2. City Ordinances and Resolutions

A. Improvement is needed in the organization of the city's ordinances. The city's ordinances have not been codified, thus hindering the city's ability to locate specific ordinances. There were several ordinances missing from the official ordinance books. In addition, during our review of ordinances, we noted the following concerns:

1) We noted several ordinances which appear to be outdated:

* During the year ended December 31, 1998, the City Clerk/Court Clerk and the Treasurer were paid $15,000 and $8,454, respectively. City ordinance 159, dated June 3, 1993, established the annual salary of the city clerk/court clerk and the treasurer at $10,800 and $7,800, respectively. The City Clerk indicated the salary increases were approved by the board through their approval of the budgets each year, however, the ordinances have not been updated.

* Ordinance 14 provides for notice of special meetings of the board of aldermen to be posted at six locations throughout the city; however, several of these locations no longer exist.

* Ordinance 106 provides for the regular meeting of the board of aldermen to be held each Thursday of the month; however, the regular meeting of the board is held on only the first Thursday of each month.

* During the year ended December 31, 1998, the prosecuting attorney was paid $100 per hour. City ordinance 36 established an hourly rate of $60 per hour for the prosecuting attorney. The written contract with the city attorney/prosecuting attorney establishes an hourly rate of $100 per hour, but the ordinance has not been updated.

2) The city has not adopted ordinances to address such items as personnel policies and salaries of the police officers.

Since the ordinances represent the legislation passed by the Board of Aldermen to govern the city and its residents, it is important that the city's ordinances be maintained in a complete, well-organized, and up-to-date manner. An index of all ordinances passed and repealed by the city could help keep track of additions and changes made to the city ordinances. Such items as compensation of city employees, and personnel policies and procedures, should be set forth in the ordinances to give taxpayers information on how the city is to be governed. Section 79.290, RSMo, requires the board of aldermen to fix the salaries of all city employees by ordinance.

B. At least three ordinances were passed by the Board of Aldermen without the proper number of votes. Each of these ordinances passed with a vote of two yes and two absent. Section 79.130, RSMo, requires ordinances to be approved by a majority of all the members of the board of aldermen. Thus passage of an ordinance requires three favorable votes of the board, or in the case of a tie, the mayor can cast the third positive vote.

C. City ordinance 282 indicates "video recording shall not be permitted of any meetings of the Board of Aldermen, Planning and Zoning Commission, Board of Adjustment or other public board or commissions of the City unless two-thirds of the members thereof present shall vote in favor of allowing such video recording". Attorney General's Opinion No. 151, 1995 to Wiggins, states that a city council does not have the authority to prohibit citizens from videotaping an open meeting in an unobtrusive manner. The city attorney indicated the board was made aware of this opinion and chose to leave the ordinance as it is.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Update and codify the city's ordinances and ensure a complete set of ordinances is maintained. In addition, the board should pass ordinances to address such items as compensation of employees and personnel policies.

B. Ensure the required number of positive votes is received for the passage of ordinances.

C. Review city ordinance 282 and Attorney General's Opinion 151 with legal counsel and make necessary revisions.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. Although not required by law, the city intends to update and codify its ordinances as recommended when the city is financially capable of doing so. The city has investigated codification and has been advised that it will cost approximately $7,000. Such expenditure of the taxpayers' money will have to be budgeted in a year when such funds are not required for critical public services such as police protection. The city will ensure that a complete set of ordinances is maintained. The city has recently updated its ordinances on compensation of employees as recommended. Although not required by law, the city will consider the recommendation that it pass ordinances on personnel policies.

B. The city accepts this recommendation.

C. An Attorney General's opinion does not constitute law in the State of Missouri. The city believes that its ordinance on this subject is in compliance with law. If, in the future, the Missouri legislature or courts should require that videotaping be allowed without consent of the Aldermen, the city will of course comply with the law.

3. Disbursements

A. The board minutes do not normally contain indication of board approval for disbursements, and the board does not normally review invoices before payment. A financial report, summarizing disbursements by fund and by classification, is prepared monthly by the budget officer for the preceding month's activities; however, this report is not seen and approved by the board prior to the disbursements being made, and is not included with the official minutes of the board's meetings. City ordinance 137 authorizes the mayor to direct the treasurer to make disbursements not to exceed $2,500 per month, and city ordinance 235 authorizes the mayor, city clerk, and treasurer to pay recurring expenses without approval of the board of aldermen. The mayor, city clerk, and treasurer are authorized to sign checks and the budget officer prepares the financial report and prepares the monthly bank reconciliation.

To adequately document the board's review and approval of all disbursements, a complete and detailed listing of bills should be prepared, signed or initialed by the board members to denote their approval, and retained with the official minutes. In addition, supporting documentation should be reviewed by the board or someone independent of the disbursement process before payment is made. Failure to properly review all invoices and supporting documentation, and to document authorization, increases the possibility of inappropriate disbursements occurring.

B. City ordinance 362 requires formal competitive bids to be obtained for any proposed capital expenditure for the purchase of vehicles, material or construction labor having a cost in excess of $5,000. The city's ordinance does not address disbursements which do not exceed $5,000; however, city officials indicated they do obtain price quotes for large purchases. The need for price quotes appears to be determined on an item by item basis. Documentation was not available to ensure prices quotes were obtained for the following disbursements:

Item	Amount
Radio equipment	$ 4,632
Computer	1,937

Formal bidding procedures for major purchases would provide a framework for economical management of city resources and help ensure the city receives fair value by contracting with the lowest and best bidders. Competitive bidding also helps ensure all parties are given equal opportunity to participate in the city's business. Not only can bids be obtained by telephone quotation, but bids can also be obtained by written quotation, by sealed bid, or by advertised sealed bid. Various approaches are appropriate, based on dollar amount and type of purchase. Whichever approach is used, complete documentation should be maintained of all bids received and reasons noted why the bid was selected.

C. The city paid an engineering firm approximately $302,497 and $209,174 for the years ended December 31, 1998 and 1997, respectively. This engineering firm designates an employee to serve as "City Engineer" for the city and provides services by other employees as needed. The city entered into a written agreement with this firm on December 18, 1986, which establishes various compensation schedules for the services to be provided. The contract provides a schedule of fees for specific services to be provided such as zoning applications, site plan review, etc. and provides compensation for optional services and construction inspections for the time and expense actually spent at the rates established in the exhibit attached to the contract. During our review of payments to this engineering firm, we noted the following concerns:

1) The city entered into several additional contracts with this firm during 1997 and 1998 for large highway/street projects. The city did not solicit proposals for these engineering contracts.

   Sections 8.289, and 8.291 RSMo, provide that when obtaining engineering services for any capital improvement project, at least three highly qualified firms should be considered. The firms should be evaluated on specified criteria including experience and technical competence, capacity and capability of the firm to perform the work in question, past record of performance, and the firm's proximity to and familiarity with the area in which the project is located.

2) Several of the contracts for the highway/street projects are simply for lump sum amounts and the others are for time and expenses actually spent plus a fixed fee. It would appear difficult for the city to determine if these amounts are reasonable without obtaining proposals from other firms. In addition, it would appear these contracts would be considered additional services as designated under the original contract and should have been compensated at the rates established by that contract. This contract does not appear to allow for an additional fixed fee. Engineering costs represented from 15 to 21 percent of the total costs of the projects.

   In addition, the hourly rates currently charged by the engineering firm for the additional services did not comply with the original contract. The City Engineer indicated these rates are the "standard hourly charge out rates" established by their firm each year; however, the contract does not appear to provide for this schedule to be updated annually.

   The city should ensure the payments to the engineering firm comply with all provisions of the contract agreement.

D. The city did not have formal written agreements with some companies and individuals providing services. During the two years ended December 31, 1998, the following amounts were paid for various services without a contract or adequate written documentation:

Construction of walking trail	$10,000
Special counsel	5,299
Sewer study	3,239

Formal written agreements are necessary to document each party's duties and responsibilities and to prevent misunderstandings. Section 432.070, RSMo, requires political subdivisions' contracts be in writing.

E. In February 1998, the city purchased nine acres of land on which to build a city hall and police station for approximately $294,000. The city did not advertise that it was looking for available land to purchase and the city purchased the property without obtaining an independent appraisal. As a result, there is less assurance the price paid for the property was reasonable or represented the fair value of the property.

F. The city paid an accounting firm approximately $21,635 and $17,800 for the years ended December 31, 1998 and 1997, respectively. The city entered into written agreements with this firm each year. The agreements provide total amounts to be paid for specific services (budgets, bank reconciliations, etc.), and an hourly rate for additional services not specified in the agreement. The amounts paid for the two years ended December 31, 1998, did not agree to the written agreements for the specific services. In addition, the agreements did not specify the hourly rate to be charged for the specific services, and the invoices from the firm did not show the hours worked. It would appear difficult for the city to determine if these amounts are accurate or hours reasonable without reviewing the hours worked on each area of service.

The city should ensure the payments to the accounting firm comply with the provisions of the agreements. In addition, the city should require the accounting firm to include the number of hours billed for each type of service and review these hours for reasonableness.

G. During the two years ended December 31, 1998, approximately $211 of disbursements were made for which a public purpose was not demonstrated or documented. Monies were spent on flowers for illnesses and condolences, and a donation to a scholarship fund.

The disbursements do not appear to be necessary and prudent uses of public funds.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Ensure the approval of all disbursements is adequately documented by including a listing of all approved disbursements in the board minutes, and requiring supporting documentation be reviewed by the board or someone independent of the disbursement process before payment is made.

B. Consider expanding their current bid policy to include less formal bid requirements for various price levels under the $5,000 currently established.

C. Solicit proposals for engineering services in accordance with state law and ensure payments to the engineering firm comply with the written contract.

D. Enter into written agreements for all services.

E. Obtain an independent appraisal for any property being considered for purchase.

F. Ensure payments to the accounting firm comply with the written agreement. In addition, the Board of Aldermen should require the accounting firm to document the number of hours being billed for each service, and ensure these hours are reviewed for reasonableness.

G. Ensure disbursements are a necessary and prudent use of public funds.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. Disbursements-Most of the expenditures paid by the City Treasurer are covered under City Ordinances 137 and 235. To have bills pre-approved and timely paid is difficult to comply with. However, the city will take action to comply as best as it can under the circumstances.

B. The law does not require a fourth class city to engage in competitive bidding. None the less, the city has enacted a competitive bid ordinance. Therefore, the city has already done more than is required by law. The city will consider the recommendation that its voluntarily imposed bidding ordinance be made even more stringent, although that is not required by law.

C&D. The city accepts these recommendations.

E. Although not required by law, the city will consider this recommendation.

F. Disbursements: The annual agreement provides for total amounts to be paid for specific services as outlined in the annual engagement letter provided that certain documents are received in a complete manner and on a timely basis. An hourly rate for "additional services" is specified in the agreement at a billing rate of $75 per hour. The additional services as noted in the engagement letter for 1997 and 1998 refers to all additional services and does not limit itself to services covered or not covered in the agreement. It is the intention that all additional services are to be billed at $75 per hour. Additional services have the hours noted in most occasions and when they are not, the hours can be derived by dividing the dollar amount by $75 an hour.

On future billings all line items will give a notation as to hours being billed.

G. The city does not agree that its minuscule expenditures for sympathy cards and flowers for seriously ill or deceased employees is an unnecessary or imprudent use of public funds.

4. Loan Agreement

In August 1997, the city entered into a loan agreement with the Mayor's brother. The Mayor's brother agreed to loan, interest free, such sums of money to the city as the city may request during the years 1997 through 2000, not to exceed $500,000. In February 1998, the city borrowed $284,295 through this agreement to finance the purchase of the property to be used to build a city hall. This loan was entered into without a vote of the city taxpayers.

Article VI, Section 26(a), of the Missouri Constitution states:

> No county, city, incorporated town or village, school district or other political subdivision of the state shall become indebted in an amount exceeding in any year the income and revenue provided for such year plus any unencumbered balances from previous years, except as otherwise provided in this constitution.

Article VI, Section 26(c), of the Missouri Constitution allows cities to incur debt by bond issue only after approval of two-thirds of the qualified electors voting thereon. City officials indicated that before the money was borrowed, legal advice was obtained and since the borrowed amount was less than the total estimated revenues for 1998 plus the unencumbered balance from the previous year, the loan was legal. However, much of the city's balance and anticipated revenue was already obligated for 1998. Additionally, extending the contract over a period of 20 years without the right of withdrawal obligates the city for future periods. The city is obligated to make $14,215 in annual debt payments. This transaction appears to violate the intent of the Missouri Constitution on legal indebtedness absent a vote of city taxpayers.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen not enter into such long-term debt without the vote of city taxpayers.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The City disagrees with the State Auditor's legal conclusion that the city's loan agreement appears to violate the intent of the Missouri Constitution. Although the State Auditor quotes Article VI Section 26(a) of the Missouri Constitution, set forth below, the State Auditor chooses to ignore the important clause of that Section which the city has shown in bold print.

"No county, city, incorporated town or village, school district or other political subdivisions of the state shall become indebted in any amount exceeding in any year the income and revenue provided for such year plus any unencumbered balances from previous years, except as otherwise provided in this constitution."

The State Auditor and the city agree that the last phrase "... except as otherwise provided in this constitution" means a vote of the people in this context.

In the city's opinion, the bolded phrase sets a bench mark for the amount a municipality may borrow without a vote of the people. The reason for this is two fold. First, it sets a limit on how much the city's Board of Aldermen can cause the city to go into debt on their own. Any debt in excess of that bench mark should be approved by a public vote before it is incurred. Second, it allows the Board of Aldermen to incur debt below that bench mark without having to go through the time consuming and expensive (about $7,000) process of submitting the proposed debt to the voters at an election . This seems clear and reasonable.

However, the State Auditor's opinion on this topic infers additional requirements concerning budgets and expenditures that do not appear in Article VI Section 26(a) of the Missouri Constitution. During a conference, the State Auditor's representatives verbally informed the city that the city had failed to comply with the intent of Section 26(a) because, in the opinion of the State Auditor, a public vote is required for a municipality to borrow any money if that municipality has budgeted its projected revenues and unencumbered balances for expenditure, regardless of the italicized phrase in section 26(a). The city asked the State Auditor's representatives if this would mean that a municipality could borrow money without a public vote only if the municipality had a surplus of money at least equal to the amount to be borrowed. The State Auditor's representatives concurred with that extension of their logic. The city then asked the State Auditor's representatives if it would be fiscally imprudent for a municipality to borrow money and pay interest when it already had a surplus of that amount of money. The State Auditor's representative replied that such an action would seem to be imprudent. The foregoing conversation demonstrates the illogic of the State Auditor's position. For the State Auditor's opinion to be correct, one would have to assume that the drafter's of Section 26(a) intended either that (1) municipalities should only borrow money without a vote when they don't need the money since they already have it, or (2) the italicized part of Section 26(a) inserted for no reason and is meant to be ignored. The illogic of those assumptions is underscored by the fact that nowhere in Section 26(a) is there any reference to budgets or expenditures. They are simply not part of the calculation set forth in Section 26(a). The city believes that the city's interpretation of Section 26(a) is more logical that the State Auditor's interpretation. Therefore, the city respectfully disagrees with the State Auditor's legal conclusion.

AUDITOR'S COMMENT

The State Auditor's office has decades of experience with Article VI, Section 26(a) of the Missouri Constitution because the State Auditor is charged with registering local municipal debt that is authorized under the various subsections of this provision. The only type of financial obligation a municipality may incur under this section without voter approval is one that can be paid out of current revenues or surplus. This allows municipalities to borrow without voter approval by issuing tax anticipation notes that can be paid out of anticipated current revenues. If a note, obligation, or debt cannot be paid out of current revenues and surplus by year end, then the municipality has violated the constitution by incurring debt, i.e. spending more that it had to spend.

5. Receipt Procedures

A. Checks and money orders received are not restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt. To reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, checks and money orders should be restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt.

B. Rezoning application deposits do not appear to be handled in accordance with City Ordinance 291, Section 2, which states:

> . . . applicants for rezoning shall henceforth be required to make a deposit of $300 towards publication costs. Such deposit shall be used by the City to pay for the actual publication and processing expenses incurred by the City in publishing legal notices and processing such rezoning application. In the event that there is any sum remaining of said deposit after payment of actual publication and processing expenses, such sum shall be refunded to the applicant. In the event that such publications and processing expenses shall exceed the deposit by the applicant, the applicant shall be obligated and required to pay to the City such excess amount of actual publication and processing expenses as a prerequisite for the granting of such rezoning application.

City officials indicated they do not monitor these costs. The $300 is treated as a fee for the rezoning application and deposited to the general fund. The Board of Aldermen should develop procedures to monitor the publication and processing expenses affiliated with the zoning application, refund any excess deposits, and collect any excess expenses as required by their ordinance or revise the ordinance.

C. During the three years ended December 31, 1998, the city deposited $14,524 in waiver fees into the General Fund. City ordinance 52, Section 5.10(f) states:

> If requested by the Developer or by the Village of Cottleville, the City at its option, may waive the construction of a detention basin for the development. If the waiver is granted, the developer shall pay an amount equal to $1,000 per acre for the tract of land the development is to occur on.

City ordinance 49 indicates this money is to be used in a public improvement fund for maintenance and construction of public improvements

During our review of these fees, we noted the following concerns:

1) The city has not established a separate fund or separate accounting for these receipts and related disbursements.
To ensure compliance with city ordinance, the city should establish a separate fund or accounting of receipts of waiver fees and ensure these receipts are used only for the purposes allowed by city ordinance.

2) As of December 31, 1998 the $1,000 per acre had not been collected for one of the waivers granted by the Board of Aldermen in 1997. City officials indicated the city ordinance does not specify when this money is to be collected, and does not indicate who is responsible to ensure it is collected. The Mayor indicated the developers often wait until the development is complete to pay this money to the city and this development is not yet complete.

   To ensure these fees are collected in accordance with the city ordinance, the Board of Aldermen should establish procedures to indicate to whom this fee should be paid and when the fee is due.

3) During our review of the two waivers granted during the two years ended December 31, 1998, we noted the city's reasons for granting this type of waiver were not documented in the minutes of the Board of Aldermen, or the City Engineer's files. The City Engineer indicated these waivers were granted due to the location of these properties. He indicated they were located near the flood plain, thus it would not be feasible to comply with the ordinance.

   To ensure this waiver is applied fairly to all developers, the Board of Aldermen should ensure their reasons for granting the waiver are fully documented.

D. City ordinance 134 requires the developer to post a lenders or escrow agreement insuring or guaranteeing the stabilization and revegetation of the site. The August 21, 1997, minutes indicate the board waived this escrow agreement for a local not-for-profit organization. According to city personnel, the escrow agreement was waived because the work done involved only leveling and seeding lots into playing fields. In addition, the city engineer, indicated the Board of Aldermen sometimes lowers the escrow amount required if the developer provides the city with an estimate of the cost of the revegetation of the site. City ordinance 134 does not establish a policy which allows the Board of Aldermen to waive or lower this requirement. In addition, the Board of Aldermen did not clearly reflect why this requirement was waived in this case.

   To ensure this ordinance is applied fairly to all developers, the Board of Aldermen should establish a formal policy which indicates the conditions in which this requirement will be waived or reduced, and ensure their reasons for granting the waiver are fully documented.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Ensure checks and money orders are restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt.

B. Develop procedures to monitor the actual publication and processing expenses associated with each zoning application, to refund any excess deposit, and to bill developers for any excess expenses.

C.1. Establish a separate fund or accounting of receipts of waiver fees and ensure these fees are used only for the purposes allowed by city ordinance.

2. Establish procedures to indicate to whom and when the waiver fee should be paid.

3. Ensure the reasons for granting waivers are fully documented.

D. Establish a formal policy which specifies the conditions in which the escrow agreement required by city ordinance 134 will be waived or reduced, and ensure their reasons for granting the waiver are fully documented.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. Receipt procedures-Checks and money orders are being endorsed immediately upon receipt, even though not required by the statute.

B,C, & D. The city accepts these recommendations.

6. Interest on Highway Funds

In December 1994, the city entered into a contract with St.Charles County to provide funding for a highway project. During the three years ended December 31, 1997, the city received $1,087,500 from St. Charles County for this project. The county paid these monies to the city in monthly increments as stated in the contract. The city has invested these funds in certificates of deposit until the funds will be needed for the project. During the two years ended December 31, 1998, the city transferred $38,974 of interest income earned on these investments to the city general fund.

The contract does not specify how the interest on these funds is to be handled. City officials indicated the interest was transferred in an attempt to recoup some of their administrative expenses; however, the contract does not provide for the city to claim their administrative expenses. County officials indicated they did not intend for the city to keep the interest on these funds, and, that if the city required additional funds for this project, they would require them to first use the interest that should have accumulated.

While the city has not violated any contract provisions, the transfer of these interest monies could create future problems with the county regarding any additional funding for this project. The funds of the city are established as separate accounting entities to account for specific activities of the city. Generally accepted accounting principles require revenues and expenses associated with specific activities be reflected in the fund established to account for those activities. The city should reserve the interest funds with the highway monies until the completion of the project. The accumulated interest funds could then be used for any cost overages encountered.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen require the City Treasurer to credit the interest on the highway funds to those funds.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

Although not required by law or by contract with the St. Charles County Road Board, the city has segregated such interest and the city has assured the Road Board in writing that the interest will be accounted for.

7. Municipal Court Division

A. The Court Clerk does not prepare monthly open-items listings of bonds held in the bond account. We prepared a listing as of December 31, 1998, which indicated open items in excess of the bank balance by approximately $600. This shortage appears to have been carried forward from a shortage noted in our prior audit.

Monthly open-items listings should be prepared and reconciled to the bank accounts to ensure proper accountability over open cases and ensure monies held in trust by the court are sufficient to meet liabilities.

B. During our review of fine and cost receipts, we noted the following concerns:

1) The duties of receiving, recording, and depositing fine and court cost monies collected by the municipal division are not adequately segregated. Currently, the Court Clerk performs all of these duties. To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. Since this is an office of one employee and proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be a documented independent comparison of receipt slips issued to amounts deposited. This review should include accounting for the numerical sequence of receipt slips issued, and reconciliation between the composition of receipt slips issued by the court and the composition of monies deposited to the municipal court division bank account.

2) The police department accepts payments for fines and costs when the Court Clerk is unavailable. The police department issues a prenumbered receipt slip for all monies collected; however, the Court Clerk does not account for the numerical sequence of all police department receipt slips. To ensure all monies received by the police department are transmitted to the court, the numerical sequence of police department receipt slips should be accounted for properly, and the composition of receipt slips issued should be reconciled to the composition of monies transmitted.

3) The municipal court division accepts cash, checks, and money orders for the payment of fines and court costs. Receipt slips are issued by the clerk; however, no reconciliation is performed between the composition of receipt slips issued and the monies deposited. During our review, we noted a check which was deposited but was not receipted by the court and one deposit for $20 less than the receipt slips issued.

To ensure receipts are deposited intact, the composition of receipt slips issued should be reconciled to the composition of deposits. This type of reconciliation would ensure the types of errors noted above are identified and corrected on a timely basis.

C. The Court Clerk prepares a court docket which includes all cases commenced before the Municipal Judge; however, these court dockets do not always indicate the disposition of all cases. To ensure the proper disposition of all cases has been entered into the court records, the disposition of all cases should be recorded on the court docket and subsequently reviewed by the Municipal Judge.

D. During our review, we noted five cases in which the amount of fines and costs assessed was greater than the fine and cost schedule authorized by the Municipal Judge. The Court Clerk indicated she had mistakenly used an outdated schedule on these cases. All fines and costs paid at the Traffic Violation Bureau (TVB) should be in accordance with the fee schedule authorized by the Municipal Judge to ensure fines and costs are fairly assessed to all violators and compliance with state law.

E. Neither the police department nor the court adequately accounts for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of tickets issued. The police department does have a computer system where they enter all tickets issued, except parking tickets issued by non-commissioned police officers. The computer system has the capability of listing tickets in numerical sequence; however, no one reviews this information for missing ticket numbers, nor is the disposition of the tickets noted.

Without a proper accounting of the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all tickets issued, the police department and the court cannot be assured all tickets issued were properly submitted to the court for processing, voided, or not prosecuted. A record of the ultimate disposition of each ticket should be maintained to ensure all tickets have been accounted for properly.

Conditions A, B.1., C, and D were also noted in our prior report of the municipal court.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Cottleville Municipal Court Division:

A. Prepare and reconcile monthly open-items listings to the court's bank accounts. In addition, the shortage noted above should be investigated to determine the proper resolution of these monies.

B.1. Establish a documented review of municipal court division records by an independent person.

2. Account for the numerical sequence of all police department receipt slips and reconcile the composition of receipt slips issued to the composition of monies transmitted.

3. Reconcile the composition of receipt slips issued to the composition of monies deposited.

C. Require the disposition of all cases to be documented on the court docket and approved by the Municipal Judge.

D. Assess fines and costs in accordance with the fee schedule authorized by the Municipal Judge.

E. Work with the police department to ensure records are maintained to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all tickets issued.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. A monthly listing of open items will be prepared and reconciled to the court bank accounts even though not required by statute.

The shortage, if appropriate, will be reimbursed by the General Fund.

B.1. Although not required by law, the city will establish a documented review of the Municipal Court Division records by an independent person as is practical in the circumstances.

2. Although not required by law, the city will account for the numerical sequence of all police department receipt slips and reconcile the composition of receipt slips to the composition of the monies transmitted.

3. Although not required by law, the city will reconcile the composition of receipt slips issued to the composition of monies deposited.

C,D, &E. The city accepts these recommendations.

This report is intended for the information of the management of the city of Cottleville and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

AUDIT REPORT

CITY OF APPLETON CITY, MISSOURI

YEAR ENDED SEPTEMBER 30, 1998

From The Office Of State Auditor
Claire McCaskill

Report No. 99-18
March 23, 1999

Office Of The
State Auditor Of Missouri
Claire McCaskill

Some problems were discovered as a result of an audit conducted by our office in response to the request of petitioners from Appleton City, Missouri.

NOTE: Recommendations as well as responses from the city which correspond with the findings below are included in the audit.

The city did not have formal written bid policies and procedures. There were significant problems with accounting controls and procedures including failure to perform reconciliations of account balances, billings and collections for the utility system.

Payroll was not correctly calculated for employees contributing to a deferred compensation retirement plan and there needs to be a formal policy for public access to city records.

The Depreciation and Replacement Account for the Waterworks and Sewer Fund is not properly funded. Revenues from the water and sewer system do not appear to cover the costs of operating the system. Timely audits are needed of the water and sewer system.

The city received reimbursements of $18,995 from a federal grant for community policing, that do not appear to have been allowable.

Historical information regarding the city of Appleton City's governmental structure can be found on pages 4-6.

See Summary of Findings on pages 8-9.

HISTORY AND ORGANIZATION

CITY OF APPLETON CITY, MISSOURI
HISTORY AND ORGANIZATION

The city of Appleton City is located in St. Clair County. The city was incorporated in 1870 as a fourth-class city. The population of the city in 1990 was 1,299.

The city government consists of a mayor and four-member board of aldermen. The four board members are elected in staggered elections for two-year terms. The mayor is elected for a two year term, presides over the Board of Aldermen meetings, and votes only in the case of a tie. The Mayor, Board of Aldermen, and other principal officials at September 30, 1998, were:

MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT

CITY OF APPLETON CITY, MISSOURI
SUMMARY OF FINDINGS

1. Expenditures (pages 10-13)

   The city does not have formal written bidding polices and procedures. Bids were not solicited or bid documentation retained for purchases totaling over $57,000, and proposals for some professional services were not solicited. Adequate documentation was not maintained to support some disbursements and the city did not have formal written agreements with some companies and individuals providing services. The city did not prepare IRS 1099-MISC forms for some applicable situations. Appraisals were not obtained for land purchases.

2. Community Oriented Policing Services (COPS) Grant (pages 13-14)

   The city received reimbursements of $18,995 from a federal grant which did not appear allowable.

3. Accounting Controls and Procedures (pages 14-16)

   Duties are not adequately segregated for utility and property tax collections. Reconciliations of account balances, billings, collections, and adjustments are not performed. Monthly and annual reports of property taxes are not submitted to the Board of Aldermen as required by state law. Listings of monthly disbursements are not signed or initialed to indicate the board's approval.

4. Waterworks and Sewer System (pages 16-17)

   The Depreciation and Replacement Account is not properly funded. Revenues from the water and sewer system do not appear to cover the costs of operating the system. The city has not ensured timely annual audits of its water and sewer system were performed.

5. Payroll and City Policies (pages 17-18)

   The city incorrectly calculated payroll for city employees contributing to a deferred compensation retirement plan. The city did not have supporting documentation for compensatory time payments totaling $5,961. The city does not have a formal policy regarding public access to city records.

6. Budgets and Financial Reporting (pages 18-19)

   Budgets do not meet some statutory requirements. The city does not publish financial statements as required by state law. Board minutes are not signed.

7. Traffic Violations (pages 19-20)

Receipt slips are not issued for some monies received by the city for fines and court costs. The city does not obtain receipt slips for monies it transmits to the associate court. Neither the police department nor the court maintains adequate records to account for all traffic tickets issued by the police department.

8. City Property (pages 20-21)

The city has not established a detailed record to account for fixed assets owned by the city. The city's oil distributor was sold without documentation of board approval.

1. Expenditures

A. The city does not have formal written bidding policies and procedures. As a result, the decision of whether to solicit bids for a particular purchase is made on an item by item basis. Although the city did solicit bids for many significant purchases, we noted the following purchases for which no bid documentation was retained:

Used road grader	$26,000
Rock	24,340
City Hall repair	4,641
Pool supplies	2,380

Formal bidding procedures for major purchases would provide a framework for economical management of city resources and help ensure the city receives fair value by contracting with the lowest and best bidders. Competitive bidding also helps ensure all parties are given an equal opportunity to participate in the city's business. Not only can bids be obtained by telephone quotation, but bids can also be obtained by written quotation, by sealed bid, or by advertised sealed bid. Various approaches are appropriate, based on the dollar amount and type of purchase. Whichever approach is used, complete documentation should be maintained of all bids received and the reasons for selecting the winning bid.

B. The city did not solicit requests for proposals for some professional services. Without requesting proposals for professional services, the city has not ensured it has received quality services at a fair price.

1) The city hired two law firms to provide various legal services and to serve as the city's prosecuting attorney. The firms were paid approximately $12,840 during fiscal year 1998.

2) A lobbyist was hired to help the city get selected as the site of a new state prison. The lobbyist was paid $3,500 for his services. No invoices or contract was available to support these payments. In addition, payments to the lobbyist were not included on disbursement listings or in board minutes which are reviewed and approved by the board.

3) The city hired two engineering firms to provide various services for the city. The firms were paid approximately $3,160 during fiscal year 1998. Section 8.289, RSMo 1994, requires that agencies or political subdivisions which utilize engineering or land surveying services request annual statements or qualifications and performance data from firms. Section 8.291, RSMo 1994, further requires that when negotiating for a contract, the agency or political subdivision must list three highly qualified firms and select the firm considered best qualified and capable of performing the desired work.

C. 1) No supporting documentation, such as receipts or invoices, was available to support payments totaling $25,319 to the prior public works supervisor and some of his relatives. We discussed this matter with the former public works supervisor and he stated that adequate supporting documentation had been submitted to the city. However, the only documentation available at the city to support the expenditures were notations made by the treasurer in the fund ledger. Supporting documentation was not available for the following payments:

Amount	Description on ledger	Month
$ 1,500	Contract labor	October 95
20	Phone	October 95
112	Mileage	October 95
400	Air compressor	November 95
540	Contract labor	November 95
133	Mileage	November 95
80	Coveralls	November 95
522	Reimbursement for Pipe	December 95
900	Contract labor	December 95
62	No description	December 95
1,200	Contract labor	January 96
1,200	Contract labor	February 96
120	Mileage and meal reimbursement	March 96
1,497	Sewer Work	March 96
879	No description	March 96
11,635	Sewer work	April 96
540	Contract labor	April 96
239	Mileage and meal reimbursement	April 96
375	Contract labor	June 96
210	Contract labor	July 96
45	Contract labor	October 96
444	Mileage	December 96
72	Mileage	February 97
1,118	Work on city hall	February 97
1,210	Contract labor	March 97
54	Mileage	March 97
62	Mileage	May 97
150	Back hoe repair	May 97

2) Supporting documentation was not maintained for several other purchases including the purchase of a road grader ($26,000), payments to a lobbyist for the prison ($3,500), and pool supplies ($2,380).

All disbursements should be supported by paid receipts and/or complete vendor provided invoices to ensure the obligation was actually incurred and the disbursement was an appropriate use of public funds. Invoices for services should include the number of hours worked by day, the work performed, the hourly rate being charged, and a list of any materials used, and the associated costs. Finally, the city should require that mileage reimbursement requests include the date, purpose, location traveled to and from, and total miles traveled.

D. The city has not entered into written contracts for various contracted services received. For example, the city has not entered into formal written contracts for repairs to city hall, sewer work, legal services or park mowing.

Section 432.070, RSMo 1994, requires contracts of political subdivisions be in writing. The city should enter into written contracts for services rendered or obtained. A written contract, signed by the parties involved, should specify the goods or services to be provided and the manner and amount of compensation to be paid. Written contracts are necessary to ensure all parties are aware of their duties, rights, and responsibilities and to provide protection to all parties.

E. For calendar year 1997, the city did not prepare IRS 1099-MISC forms for some applicable situations such as lobbying services and construction work on city hall. In addition, form 1099s were not always sent as applicable for some of the payments noted in C. above.

Section 6041 of the Internal Revenue Code requires non-employee compensation paid of at least $600 in a calendar year to an individual or unincorporated business to be reported to the IRS.

F. In January 1996, the city purchased the lot next to city hall for $7,000. Also, in 1995 the city purchased a lot in town for $17,118. The city purchased this second lot to resell smaller individual lots. The city did not obtain an independent appraisal on the purchase of either property. As a result, there is less assurance the price paid for the property was reasonable or represented the fair value of the property.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Establish formal bidding policies with provisions for documentation of the justification for selecting and rejecting bids.

B&C. Request proposals for professional services engaged by the city and obtain the information required by state law. We also recommend the board ensure adequate supporting documentation is maintained to support all city disbursements, including documentation that all disbursements have been approved by the board.

D. Enter into formal written contracts, in accordance with state law, which specify the goods or services to be provided and the amount of compensation. These contracts should adequately detail the rights and duties of all parties to the respective contracts and should be properly updated and/or extended when necessary.

E. Ensure IRS 1099-MISC forms are prepared and submitted as required.

F. Obtain an independent appraisal for any property being considered for purchase.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A,D. &F. We will implement these recommendations.

B,C. &E. We have implemented these recommendations.

2.	Community Oriented Policing Services (COPS) Grant

The city received federal assistance from the U.S. Department of Justice under the COPS FAST program to increase the number of law enforcement officers. In May 1995, the city received a grant award of $45,166 for one additional full-time officer which increased the number of city officers to five. Under the grant provisions, the city was required to provide 25 percent of the cost of employing the additional officer until the grant expired on February 28, 1998.

However, since September 1996, the city has only employed and paid three or four officers. According to the grant requirements, the city no longer qualified for federal reimbursement under the COPS Fast Program after September 1996 since the city no longer employed a fifth officer. Based on city payroll records for the period of time the city employed a fifth officer, it appears the city spent $16,455 for salary and benefits of the officer. The city would have been required to pay 25 percent of this amount, leaving $12,341 to be reimbursed through the federal grant. However, the city requested and has received a total of $31,336 in grant monies. As a result, it appears the city owes $18,995 to the Department of Justice for excess reimbursements.

The Board of Aldermen should contact the applicable federal grantor agency to resolve this issue. In addition, the city should ensure future compliance with all federal regulations.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen consult with the grantor agency to resolve this issue. In addition, the Board of Aldermen should ensure future compliance with all federal regulations and only claim reimbursement for allowable costs.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We will implement these recommendations. In addition, we intend to increase oversight over the operation of the police department.

3. Accounting Controls and Procedures

A. The city operates a combined waterworks and sewer system that provides service to approximately 630 customers. A review of the city's utility billing and collection records and procedures disclosed the following concerns:

1. There is no independent oversight or adequate segregation of duties related to the city's utility system. The Utility Clerk performs all functions related to generating monthly utility bills, receipting, recording, and depositing utility payments, and making credit adjustments. In addition, documentation of credit adjustments is not retained.

   To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. Internal controls would be improved by segregating the duties of receipting and depositing monies from that of preparing bills, recording payments, and following up on delinquent accounts. If a proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be an independent review of the reconciliations between utility payments recorded and deposits, and an independent review and approval of credit adjustments and delinquent account follow-up.

2. The city does not reconcile beginning accounts receivable plus monthly billings, less total utility payments and adjustments, to the ending accounts receivable. The individual customer account balances could then be totaled and agreed to the ending accounts receivable balance. This would help to ensure all amounts have been properly recorded to individual customer account records and that delinquent balances are accurate.

B. Property tax collection duties are shared by the City Clerk and Utility Clerk. The City Clerk prepares and presents to the Board of Aldermen a report of delinquent taxes identifying the individual delinquent taxpayers and amounts owed; however, no report is prepared summarizing the amount of taxes to be collected, total collections, additions or abatements, and delinquent amounts. In addition, an independent reconciliation of paid tax statements to amounts recorded on the general ledger and deposited in the bank is not performed.

Sections 79.310, and 94.320, RSMo 1994, require lists to be submitted to the Board of Aldermen indicating the amount of taxes collected and taxes remaining delinquent. The board is to examine and approve the lists and charge the tax collector with the collection of the delinquent taxes. Section 94.330, RSMo 1994, requires monthly reports of delinquent taxes collected to be submitted to the board. This section also provides the board may declare worthless any and all personal delinquent taxes they deem uncollectible.

A detailed annual report which complies with state law and is classified by type of tax would help provide assurance taxes have been properly collected, written off, or determined to be delinquent. Such a report would summarize all taxes charged to the tax collector, monthly collections, delinquent credits, abatements and additions. Without such a report, examined by the Board of Aldermen, any errors or irregularities that might occur are less likely to be detected. In addition, an independent reconciliation of paid tax statements to the amounts recorded on the general ledger and deposited in the bank would provide more assurance that all amounts collected were appropriately handled.

C. The City Treasurer prepares a listing of all disbursements made for the board to approve. These listings are not signed or initialed to indicate the board's approval. Good business practices require all disbursements to be closely scrutinized by the board and properly authorized. Failure to properly review supporting documentation and document the board's approval of disbursements increases the possibility of inappropriate disbursements occurring.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A.1. Segregate the duties of receipting and depositing monies from that of preparing bills and recording payments. If proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be an independent review of the reconciliations between utility payments deposited and recorded, and an independent review of and approval for credit adjustments and delinquent account follow-up.

2. Ensure records are maintained documenting beginning accounts receivable, plus billings, less payments and adjustments, and ending accounts receivable. In addition, the individual customer accounts receivable balances should be periodically reconciled to the ending accounts receivable balance.

B. Require monthly and annual reports be prepared as required by state law. The Board of Aldermen should examine the reports for propriety and accuracy. In addition, an independent reconciliation of paid tax statements to the general ledger and bank deposits should be performed.

C. Ensure detailed and complete listings of bills are prepared, the board's approval is reflected on the listing, and the listing is retained. In addition, the Board should ensure it performs adequate reviews of all disbursements and the supporting documentation.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A&B. We have implemented these recommendations.

C. We will implement this recommendation.

4. Waterworks and Sewer System

In October 1987, the city issued $225,000 in revenue bonds to help finance the construction of extensions and improvements to the existing waterworks and sewer system. In conjunction with the issuance of the bonds, the city made certain covenants in the related bond ordinance. Our review of the Waterworks and Sewer Fund, the revenue bond covenants, and the city's compliance with those covenants disclosed the following concerns:

A. The revenue bond covenant requires the Depreciation and Replacement Account to be funded by a monthly transfer of $400 until the balance reaches $19,200. These funds shall be expended only for replacement of the existing sewerage system. However, the city has not been making the required monthly transfers since the balance went below $19,200 in November 1996. As a result, at the time of our review in November 1998, $9,600 was due the Depreciation and Replacement Account.

The failure of the city to adequately maintain the required reserve account could allow the bondholders to take legal action to force compliance or immediate payment of all outstanding bonds.

B. The 1987 bond covenant requires the city to maintain and collect rates, fees, and charges, sufficient to pay the cost of the operation and maintenance of the system; pay the principal of and interest on the bonds; and provide reasonable and adequate reserves for the payment of the bonds and the interest. For fiscal years ended September 30, 1997 and 1998, disbursements for operation and maintenance costs and principal and interest payments exceeded water and sewer receipts by $17,586 and $19,781 respectively. Also the combined cash balance of the water and sewer accounts has declined from $60,576 at October 1, 1996 to $23,209 at September 30, 1998.

The city needs to ensure the current rates are sufficient to pay all costs of operation and maintenance.

C. The city has not ensured timely annual audits of its water and sewer system are performed. Section 250.150, RSMo 1994, requires the city to obtain annual audits of the water and sewer system, and the cost of the audits is to be paid from the revenues received from the system. The last audit report issued on the system covered the year ended September 30, 1995. An audit of the two years ended September 30, 1997 is currently underway.

Besides being required by state law, timely audits of the Waterworks and Sewer Fund (and other city funds) would better enable the city to:

1. Ascertain the stewardship of the public officials who handle and are responsible for the financial resources of the city.

2. Determine the propriety and accuracy of its financial transactions.

3. Ensure revenues of the sewer system are adequate to meet the expenses of providing this service.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A&B. Comply with the provisions of the bond covenants, and compare current rates charged for services with the related operating and maintenance costs to determine if adjustment in service rates are needed to meet bond covenant requirements.

C. Ensure annual audits of the water and sewer system are conducted in a timely manner.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We will implement these recommendations.

5. Payroll and City Policies

A. City employees can contribute a portion of their salary to a deferred compensation retirement plan. The former City Clerk incorrectly added the amount of each employee's contribution to the employee's gross salary which resulted in the city paying for the contributions instead of the employees. This retirement plan began in late 1994, and the city calculated it has paid $12,621 in excess contributions to the plan from 1994 to 1998.

B. During 1997, the city paid the police chief and an officer $4,898 and $1,063, respectively, for compensatory time earned. However, records of leave and compensatory time earned, taken, and accumulated were not maintained by the city.

Adequate leave records are necessary to ensure payments and balances are accurately calculated.

C. The city does not have a formal policy regarding public access to city records. A formal policy regarding access to city records would establish guidelines for the city to make the records available to the public. This policy should establish a person to contact and an address to mail requests for access to records. Section 610.023, RSMo 1994, lists requirements of making city records available to the public.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Ensure retirement plan contributions are correctly deducted from employee's gross salary and determine what action the city needs to take to obtain reimbursement for the excess contributions and whether amounts reported to the IRS as income need to be revised.

B. Ensure records of compensatory and leave time earned, taken, and accumulated are properly maintained.

C. Establish a written policy and procedures regarding public access to city records.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. We have corrected the current method of handling these withholdings. We will discuss this issue with our legal counsel to determine what additional action we should take.

B&C. We will implement these recommendations.

6. Budgets and Financial Reporting

A. The budgets for the years ended September 30, 1998 and 1999 do not include a budget message or general budget summaries describing the important features of the budgets and major changes from the preceding years. They also do not include a statement of estimated or actual revenues and expenditures for the two preceding budget years, or the beginning and estimated ending available resources.

Section 67.010, RSMo 1994, requires each political subdivision of the state to prepare an annual budget with a budget message and comparisons of actual revenues and expenditures for the two preceding fiscal years. Prior year comparisons of actual revenues and expenditures need to be included to help ensure accurate amounts are budgeted. A budget should include appropriate revenue and expenditure estimations by classification, and include the beginning available resources and reasonable estimates of the ending available resources. A complete and well-planned budget, in addition to meeting statutory requirements, can serve as a useful management tool by establishing specific cost expectations for each area.

B. The city does not publish semi-annual financial statements in accordance with state law. Instead the city prepares and publishes one financial statement which only covers the first six months of the fiscal year. Section 79.160, RSMo 1994, requires the Board of Aldermen to prepare and publish semi-annual financial statements.

C. Board minutes are prepared by the City Clerk, but are not signed. The board minutes should be signed by the City Clerk as preparer and by the Mayor to provide an independent attestation that the minutes are a correct record of the matters discussed and actions taken during the board's meetings.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Prepare budgets that contain all information as required by state law.

B. Publish semiannual financial statements as required by state law.

C. Ensure board minutes are signed by the City Clerk as preparer and the Mayor to attest to their completeness and accuracy.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A&B. We will implement these recommendations.

C. We have implemented this recommendation.

7. Traffic Violations

Court cases for the city of Appleton City are heard once a month at city hall by the Associate Circuit Judge. The city operates a traffic violations bureau (TVB) to receive payment of fines and court costs at times other than during court. We noted the following concerns:

A. The city does not issue receipt slips for some court monies received at the TVB. A prenumbered receipt slip is only issued if the defendant pays in cash. To adequately account for all receipts and ensure all receipts are transmitted intact to the Associate Circuit Court, receipt slips should be issued for all monies received and their numerical sequence should be accounted for properly.

B. The city does not obtain receipt slips for monies it transmits to the associate court. To provide proper assurance all monies have been transmitted and to allow reconciliations of transmittals to receipt records, a receipt slip should be obtained from the associate court.

C. Neither the police department nor the court maintains adequate records to account for all traffic tickets issued by the police department. Although ticket books appear to be assigned in numerical order by the police department, the numeric sequence of tickets issued is not accounted for and compared to the listing of cases disposed of by the Associate Court.

Without a proper accounting of the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of traffic tickets, the police department and the court cannot be assured that all tickets issued were properly submitted to the court for processing. A complete log listing each ticket number, the date issued, and violator's name would ensure all tickets issued were properly submitted to the court for processing, properly voided, or not prosecuted. In addition, this listing should be compared to the monthly listing of cases disposed of by the Associate Court to ensure all tickets have been accounted for properly.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Ensure receipt slips are issued for all monies received and account for the numerical sequence.

B. Ensure receipt slips are obtained for monies transmitted to the Associate Court.

C. Ensure records are maintained to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all traffic tickets.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We are currently reviewing these procedures and will make needed improvements.

8. City Property

A. The city has not established property records to account for its general fixed assets or assets of the Water and Sewer Fund. Property records for fixed assets are necessary to ensure accountability for all property owned by the city and for required financial reporting.

B. In August 1993, the Mayor at the time, sold an oil distributor to the city of Montrose for $300. No documentation could be located indicating board approval of the sale.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Establish property records for general fixed assets and fixed assets of the Water Fund and Sewer Funds that include all pertinent information for each asset, such as tag number, description, cost, acquisition date, location, and subsequent disposition, if applicable. In addition, an actual physical inventory of the various property items should be performed periodically.

B. Ensure board approval is documented for the disposal of all city equipment.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. We will implement this recommendation.

B. We have implemented this recommendation.

This report is intended for the information of the city's management and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

AUDIT REPORT

CITY OF CAINSVILLE, MISSOURI

YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31, 1997
AND THE FIVE MONTHS
ENDED MAY 31, 1998

From The Office Of State Auditor
Claire McCaskill

Report No. 99-17
March 22, 1999

Office Of The
State Auditor Of Missouri
Claire McCaskill

YELLOW SHEET

Some problems were discovered as a result of an audit conducted by our office in response to the request of petitioners from Cainsville, Missouri.

NOTE: Recommendations as well as responses from the city which correspond with the findings are included in the audit.

During our review of the city's published financial statements, we discovered the city had not published semiannual financial statements as required by law. Prior to 1997, it appears no financial statements were published by the city. The city did publish a financial statement for 1997; however, that statement covered the entire year and did not include the city's indebtedness. State law requires the board of aldermen to prepare and publish semiannual financial statements. The law states that a city cannot legally disburse funds until these financial statements are published. Not only are these financial statements necessary to meet statutory requirements, they provide information to citizens regarding the operations and financial condition of their city government and how their tax dollars are being spent.

The City of Cainsville does not have a formal bidding policy. As a result, the decision of whether to solicit bids for a particular purchase is made on an item-by-item basis. Although it appears the city did solicit bids for some purchases, we noted instances where bids were either not solicited or bid documentation was not kept. Examples include $5,222 for gravel, $5,043 for insurance, and $1,053 for a lawn mower. Formal bidding procedures for major purchases provide a framework for economical management of city resources and help ensure the city receives fair value by contracting with the lowest and best bidders. Competitive bidding also helps ensure all parties are given an opportunity to participate in the city's business.

The city's property tax rate has exceeded the maximum authorized by state statute. Public hearings have not been held prior to establishing property tax rates, and the board did not establish annual tax rates by ordinance. No independent verification of the tax books is performed. Furthermore, the city collector does not prepare an annual report of taxes collected or a list of delinquent taxes, and that official is not bonded.

The board of aldermen has not appointed an individual to serve as city treasurer, and there is no independent review or supervision of the work performed by the city clerk.

Historical information regarding Cainsville City Government be found on pages 4-5.

CLAIRE C. McCASKILL
Missouri State Auditor

To the Honorable Mayor
and
Board of Aldermen
City of Cainsville
Cainsville, Missouri 64632

The State Auditor was petitioned under Section 29.230, RSMo, to audit the city of Cainsville, Missouri. The city had engaged Schleisman White & Associates, P.C., Certified Public Accountants, (CPA firm), to perform a financial audit for the city for the year ended December 31, 1997, and the five months ended May 31, 1998. To minimize any duplication of effort, we reviewed the report and substantiating workpapers of the CPA firm. Our audit of the city included, but was not limited to, the year ended December 31, 1997, and the five months ended May 31, 1998. The objectives of this audit were to:

1. Perform procedures we deemed necessary to evaluate the petitioners' concerns.

2. Review compliance with certain constitutional provisions, statutes, ordinances, and attorney general's opinions as we deemed necessary or appropriate in the circumstances.

3. Review certain management practices which we believe could be improved.

Our audit was made in accordance with generally accepted government auditing standards and included such procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. We also reviewed board minutes, city policies and ordinances, and various city financial records.

Our audit was limited to the specific matters described above and was based on the selective tests and procedures considered appropriate in the circumstances. Had we performed additional procedures, other information might have come to our attention which would have been included in this report.

The accompanying Management Advisory Report presents our findings and recommendations arising from our audit of the city of Cainsville, Missouri.

MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT

CITY OF CAINSVILLE, MISSOURI
SUMMARY OF FINDINGS

1. Expenditures (pages 9-10)

Formal bidding procedures have not been established. The city has not established a separate fund or accounting for motor vehicle-related receipts to ensure these amounts are spent only on street-related purposes. Board minutes do not identify the disbursements approved by the board at its monthly meeting. Invoices were not properly canceled after being paid and the receipt of goods and services was not always indicated on invoices prior to payment.

2. Budgetary and Financial Reporting Procedures (pages 11-12)

The city approved General Fund expenditures in excess of budgeted amounts during 1997. The city has not published semi-annual financial statements as required by state law. The financial statements which were published for 1997 did not include the city's indebtedness as required.

3. Water System (pages 12-13)

There is no independent oversight of the duties related to the billings and record keeping for the city's water system. Monies related to direct sales at the water plant are not turned over to the City Clerk on a timely basis and there is no meter to monitor these water sales.

4. Property Tax Rate and Procedures (pages 13-15)

The city's property tax rate has exceeded the maximum authorized by state statute. Public hearings have not been held prior to establishing the property tax rates, and the board did not establish the annual tax rates by ordinance. No independent verification of the tax books is performed. The City Collector does not prepare an annual report of taxes collected or a list of delinquent taxes. The City Collector is not bonded.

5. Trash Fees (pages 15-16)

A portion of the monthly fee charged to city residents for trash collection service is intended to cover the city's administrative costs in providing the service; however, the city has not identified the administrative costs incurred.

6. Street Maintenance Plan (pages 16-17)

An annual maintenance plan for city streets has not been prepared.

7. Ordinances, Policies, and Minutes (pages 17-18)

Some of the city's ordinances were not filed in the official ordinance book, ordinances have not been established in all instances where needed, and the city has not operated in accordance with some established ordinances. The city does not have a formal policy regarding public access to city records. The board minutes are not signed by the Mayor or a designated member of the board to attest to the accuracy.

8. Accounting Controls and Procedures (pages 18-20)

A separate individual has not been appointed to serve as City Treasurer and there is no independent review or supervision of the work performed by the City Clerk. Prenumbered receipt slips are not issued for monies received by the city and deposits are not made on a timely basis.

9. Fixed Asset Records (page 20)

The city has not maintained adequate records to account for fixed assets.

1. Expenditures

A. The city does not have a formal bidding policy. As a result, the decision of whether to solicit bids for a particular purchase is made on an item-by-item basis. Although it appears the city did solicit bids for some purchases, we noted instances where bids were either not solicited or bid documentation was not retained. Examples include $5,222 for gravel, $5,043 for insurance, and $1,053 for a lawn mower.

Formal bidding procedures for major purchases provide a framework for economical management of city resources and help ensure the city receives fair value by contracting with the lowest and best bidders. Competitive bidding also helps ensure all parties are given an opportunity to participate in the city's business.

Bids can be handled by telephone quotation, by written quotation, by sealed bid, or by advertised sealed bid. Various approaches are appropriate, based on dollar amount and type of purchase. Whichever approach is used, complete documentation should be maintained of all bids received and reasons noted why the bid was selected.

B. During the year ended December 31, 1997, and the five months ended May 31, 1998, the city received motor vehicle-related receipts totaling $14,937 and $6,073, respectively, from the state. The city has historically deposited these receipts into the General Fund rather than establishing a separate fund to account for the receipt and disbursement of these monies. Article IV, Section 30, of the Missouri Constitution, requires that motor vehicle-related receipts apportioned by the state of Missouri be expended for street-related purposes.

Although street-related disbursements are paid from the General Fund, these disbursements are not specifically identified in the city's accounting records. As a result of this situation, receipts legally restricted for street purposes may have been used for other municipal purposes. The city should perform a detailed review of the motor vehicle-related receipts and disbursements that have been handled in the General Fund and determine if there is any remaining balance. The unspent balance of street revenues should be accounted for separately along with future receipts.

To ensure compliance with the Missouri Constitution, the city should maintain a separate fund or accounting of motor vehicle-related receipts and ensure these revenues are used only for the purposes allowed by the constitution.

C. The board minutes do not identify the disbursements approved by the board at its monthly meetings. Generally, the only reference in the minutes is a notation that a motion was made and approved to pay bills.

To adequately document the board's review and approval of all disbursements, a complete and detailed listing of bills should be prepared, signed or initialed by the aldermen to denote their approval, and retained in the official minutes.

D. Invoices supporting payments are not marked paid. Canceling invoices and all other supporting documentation reduces the possibility of duplicate payments.

E. Indication of the receipt of goods or services is not always indicated prior to an expenditures being approved for payment. The documentation of receipt of goods or services is necessary to ensure the city actually received the items or services being paid.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Establish formal bidding policies and procedures.

B. Determine if there is an unspent balance of motor vehicle-related receipts in the General Fund and establish a separate fund or accounting of state motor vehicle-related monies to ensure compliance with the Missouri Constitution.

C. Ensure the approval of all disbursements is adequately documented by including a listing of all approved disbursements in the board minutes.

D. Ensure that all invoices are canceled or marked paid when payment is made.

E. Ensure the receipt of goods or services is indicated on the invoice prior to payment.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Board of Aldermen provided the following responses:

A. A formal bidding policy has been established.

B. Motor-vehicle money is now maintained in a separate fund.

C. We now have lists of disbursements signed by all board members.

D. Invoices are now canceled when they are paid .

E. All goods are signed for now and an indication of this is made on the invoice.

2. Budgetary and Financial Reporting Procedures

A. During the year ended December 31, 1997, the city approved General Fund disbursements of $18,625 in excess of the budgeted amount. The city did not prepare an amended budget for this fund nor did the city set forth any reasons for exceeding the budgeted amount in the board minutes or adopt a resolution authorizing the additional expenditures. The city did amend the Water Fund budget for the year ended December 31, 1997; however, the city did not identify the dollar amount of the budget increase or adopt a formal resolution doing so.

Section 67.040, RSMo 1994, requires political subdivisions to keep expenditures within amounts budgeted. If these are valid reasons which necessitate excess expenditures, a resolution should be adopted by the governing body setting forth the amount of the budget increase and the facts and reasons for such.

B. During our review of the city's published financial statements, the following concerns were noted:

1. The city has not published semiannual financial statements as required by law. The city published financial statements for 1997; however, they covered the entire year. Prior to 1997, it appears no financial statements were published by the city.

2. The financial statements published for 1997 did not include the city's indebtedness. Those financial statements did not include the city's water revenue bonds at December 31, 1997.

Section 79.160, RSMo 1994, requires the board of aldermen to prepare and publish semiannual financial statements. These financial statements should present a statement of receipts and expenditures and indebtedness of the city for the preceding six months. In addition, Section 79.165, RSMo 1994, states the city cannot legally disburse funds until the financial statement is published.

The publishing of the financial statements, besides meeting statutory requirements, provides information to citizens regarding the operations and financial condition of their city government and how their tax dollars are being spent.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Ensure the expenditures are kept within budgeted amounts. If it is necessary to incur additional expenditures, a resolution setting forth the amount of the increase and reason(s) for such should be adopted.

B. Publish semiannual financial statements as required by state law. The financial statements should include all required information, including the indebtedness of the city.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Board of Aldermen provided the following responses:

A. We currently make budget amendments with motions at meetings, and we will in the future make formal resolutions.

B. We will publish semi annual financial statements and include indebtedness for water and sewer.

3. Water System

The city operates a water system which provides service to over 200 customers. Our review of the related billing and collection records and procedures disclosed the following concerns:

A. There is no independent oversight of duties related to the water system. At the time of our review, the Water Plant Operator was responsible for all functions related to generating and billing monthly utility bills, recording utility payments, making credit adjustments, and monitoring delinquent accounts. The city's computerized utility system generates a billing register that shows the current billing and last payment information for each customer. However, these reports were maintained by the Water Plant Supervisor and not filed with the City Clerk.

To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. To ensure that the utility billings and related records are handled properly, there should be an independent reconciliation of bank deposits to recorded utility payments, an independent review and approval of credit adjustments, and delinquent account follow-up.

B. The city sells water directly to individuals who fill water tanks from a coin-operated pump at the city's water plant. The cost is twenty-five cents for 25 gallons of water. The monies from these sales are not collected and deposited on a timely basis. We noted these monies were generally turned over to the City Clerk and deposited only once a month during 1997. In addition, we noted the amount of water plant sales has decreased significantly in recent years. Recorded revenues from these sales totaled $4,228, $2,024, $681, and $528, in 1995, 1996, 1997, and 1998 (through July), respectively.

We were informed that more people living outside the city have been hooked up to rural water districts in recent years; however, it could not be determined if this accounted for the reduction in revenues. The city does not have a meter to monitor the amount of water sold through the coin-operated pump. As a result, the water sold in this manner cannot presently be compared to the amount of monies received and deposited.

To ensure receipts from water plant sales are accounted for properly, the monies should be collected and deposited on a timely basis. In addition, the board should monitor revenues from direct water sales at the plant and investigate any unusual fluctuations. Further, the city should install a meter at the plant so these direct sales can be compared to the amount of monies received and deposited.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen

A. Ensure a periodic independent review of the billing and accounting functions of the water system is performed. This would include a reconciliation of bank deposits to recorded payments, review and approval of credit adjustments, and delinquent account follow-up.

B. Ensure monies related to direct water plant sales are collected and deposited on a timely basis. In addition, the board should monitor these revenues for reasonableness and take steps to meter this water usage so the total gallons sold can be compared to the monies received and deposited.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Board of Aldermen provided the following responses:

A. The City Clerk now handles the billing and collection duties of the water system. The clerk compares bank deposits to payments each month and delinquent accounts are acted on at board meetings.

B. Monies from the water plant will be collected each week on Monday by two individuals and be turned over to the City Clerk. We have obtained a new meter to account for sales at the water plant.

4. Property Tax Rate and Procedures

A. The city's total property tax rate has exceeded the maximum authorized by state statutes. The city's total tax rates for 1998, 1997, and 1996 were $1.77, $1.73, and $1.89, respectively. However, Section 94.250, RSMo 1994, provides that a fourth class city's tax levy shall not exceed $1.00 for general municipal purposes, except by a two-thirds vote and only for a period of four years at any one time. It appears this situation has existed for a number of years and there was no indication whether the additional levies (above $1.00) had ever been approved by a vote of the people.

The city should review this situation with the City Attorney and set future tax rates in accordance with state law. Any tax levy above $1.00 would need to be approved by the voters.

B. Public hearings have not been held prior to establishing the property tax rates. Section 67.110, RSMo 1994, states a public hearing is to be held on proposed rates of tax prior to the board's approval of the rates. Also, the board did not establish the annual tax rates by ordinance as required by Section 94.210, RSMo 1994.

C. The City Collector manually prepares the tax books from assessment data received from the county. No independent verification of the tax book information or totals is performed by the City Clerk.

Section 94.290, RSMo 1994, requires the city clerk to make the tax books and charge the city collector with the full amount of taxes levied. Without this proper segregation of duties between the City Clerk and City Collector, the internal control over this process is weakened. Verification of tax book information and totals is necessary to ensure the amount of taxes charged to the City Collector is complete and accurate.

D. While the City Collector prepares monthly reports of taxes collected, an annual report of amounts collected as well as amounts uncollected is not prepared as required. In addition, an independent reconciliation of paid tax statements to the monthly reports is not performed.

Sections 79.310, 94.320, and 94.330, RSMo 1994, require the city collector to make reports to the board of aldermen of the amount of taxes collected and to prepare lists of delinquent taxes. The board is to examine and approve the lists and charge the city collector with the lists to collect the taxes due. Section 94.330, RSMo 1994, also provides that the board of aldermen may declare worthless any and all personal delinquent taxes which they may deem uncollectible.

An annual report which complies with state law would help provide assurance taxes have been properly collected, written off, or determined to be delinquent. In addition, an independent reconciliation of paid tax statements to monthly reports would provide more assurance that all amounts collected were appropriately handled.

E. The City Collector is not bonded. City Ordinance 1987-A, Section 1-320, requires the posting of a bond by the City Collector before entering the duties of the office.

The failure to adequately bond all persons with access to assets exposes the city to risk of loss.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Review this matter with the City Attorney and ensure the city complies with state statutes when setting future tax levies.

B. Hold public hearings on proposed property tax rates and establish the annual levies by ordinance as required by state law.

C. Require the City Clerk to extend the current tax books and charge the City Collector with the amount of taxes, or at a minimum, document procedures performed to verify the accuracy of the tax book totals.

D. Require the City Collector to prepare annual reports of taxes collected and delinquent taxes. In addition, an independent reconciliation of paid tax statements to the monthly reports should be performed.

E. Obtain adequate bond coverage for the City Collector.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Board of Aldermen provided the following responses:

A. We are planning to have the City Attorney help us get this on the August 1999 ballot to be voted on.

B. We do currently hold public tax hearings and we will in the future adopt tax rates by ordinance.

C. The City Clerk currently checks the Collector's books and initials all columns added and penalties figured.

D. The Collector gives the board a monthly report of taxes and penalties collected. She will also give an annual report.

E. The Collector is now bonded.

5. Trash Fees

The city charges its residents a monthly fee of $8 for trash collection and this fee is included along with the water charges in the monthly utility bills. Seventy-five cents of the fee is intended to cover the city's administrative costs for providing trash service and the remainder is to be paid the contractor who provides the trash collection service. The city has not identified the administrative costs incurred related to providing the trash service and collection of the fee; therefore, it could not be determined whether the administrative portion of this fee is reasonable.

Until early 1998, the city maintained a separate Trash Fund into which the trash fees were deposited and from which disbursements were made to the contractor. The user fee collections from city residents have exceeded the total annual disbursements to various contractors by an average of $1,700 per year from 1993 through 1997. The city closed the Trash Fund in January 1998, and transferred the $8,453 balance to the General Fund. Trash fees are currently being deposited into the General Fund and disbursements to the contractor are being made from the General Fund.

User fee charges should be set at a level to cover the cost of providing a particular service. The administrative costs of providing this service should be identified and documented. If the current revenues generated by the administrative portion of this fee exceed the estimated administrative costs incurred in providing this service, consideration should be given to reducing the fee accordingly.

In November 1998, the city increased the trash fee to $9 due to a corresponding $1 increase in the rate charged by the contractor.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen determine the administrative costs associated with the trash collection service and ensure these costs are comparable to the administrative portion of the fees collected from city residents.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Board of Aldermen provided the following response:

The board will try to determine the administrative costs for trash service and decide if the fee is appropriate.

6. Street Maintenance Plan

An annual maintenance plan for city streets has not been prepared. A formal maintenance plan should be prepared in conjunction with the annual fiscal budget and include a description of the roads to be worked on, the type of work to be performed, an estimate of the quantity and cost of materials needed, the dates such work could begin, the amount of labor required to perform the work, and other relevant information. The plan should be included in the budget message and be approved by the board. In addition, a public hearing should be held to obtain input from the city residents.

A formal maintenance plan would serve as a useful management tool and provide greater input into the overall budgeting process. Such a plan provides a means to more effectively monitor and evaluate the progress made in the repair and maintenance of streets throughout the year.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen prepare a formal maintenance plan for city streets at the beginning of the fiscal year and periodically update the plan throughout the year. In addition, the board should review the progress made in the repair and maintenance of streets to make appropriate decisions on future projects.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Board of Aldermen provided the following response:

The board will try to come up with a future street maintenance plan.

7. Ordinances, Policies, and Minutes

A. Our review of the city ordinances disclosed the following concerns:

1. The city's ordinance book does not appear to be complete. Some ordinances noted in the board minutes as being approved were not filed in the official ordinance book.

2. The city has not adopted ordinances in all appropriate instances. For example, ordinances have not been established to set the annual property tax rates, the trash fee, or the city's water rates and related fees.

3. The city has not operated in accordance with some established ordinances. For example, the ordinance addressing compensation for the board of aldermen and the mayor was not revised in 1991 to reflect salary increases approved by the board. In addition, the city's ordinances provide that new officers are to take office on the first Tuesday in May, after the April election. However, the city has been swearing in city officials at the April board meetings for a number of years and the new officials take office when they are sworn in.

Since ordinances represent legislation which has been passed by the Board of Aldermen to govern the city and its residents, it is important that the ordinances be maintained in a complete and up-to-date manner. Ordinances should be passed where necessary, and the board should ensure it operates in accordance with established ordinances or revise the applicable ordinances, as needed.

B. The city does not have a formal policy regarding public access to city records. A formal policy would establish guidelines for the city to make the records available to the public. This policy should establish a person to contact, provide an address to mail requests for access to records, and establish a cost to provide copies of public records.

Section 610.023, RSMo 1994, lists requirements for making city records available to the public. In addition, Section 610.026, RSMo 1994, allows the city to charge fees for copying public records; however, the fees shall not exceed the city's actual cost of document search and duplication.

C. The board minutes are signed only by the City Clerk as preparer. The board minutes should also be signed by the Mayor or a designated member of the Board of Aldermen to provide an independent attestation that the minutes are a correct record of the matters discussed and actions taken during the board's meetings.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Ensure the city's ordinances are maintained in a complete and up-to-date manner. New ordinances should be passed as needed and the board should ensure it operates in accordance with established ordinances.

B. Establish a formal written policy and procedures regarding public access to city records.

C. Ensure the board minutes are signed to by the Mayor or a designated member of the board to attest to their accuracy.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Board of Aldermen provided the following responses:

A. The city will put all ordinances in a bound book for the record. New ordinances will be passed as needed and the board will ensure it operates in accordance with established ordinances.

B. The city will put together a public access policy.

C. The board minutes will be signed by the Mayor and City Clerk.

8. Accounting Controls and Procedures

A. The Board of Aldermen has not appointed a separate individual to serve as City Treasurer. The City Clerk also serves as the City Treasurer, and with the exception of the functions related to the collection of property taxes and the billing of utilities, this individual is responsible for most of the record keeping duties of the city. These duties include receiving and depositing monies, handling the utility collections, preparing invoices for payment, preparing and co-signing checks, performing bank reconciliations, and preparing financial reports. Neither the board nor other personnel independent of the cash custody and record keeping functions provide adequate supervision or an independent review of the work performed by the City Clerk.

Attorney General's Opinion No. 24, 1955 to Dodds, concluded that in a fourth-class city the holding of the positions of City Clerk, City Treasurer, and City Collector, or any two of these three offices, by the same person at the same time would be incompatible. This situation does not allow the segregation of duties necessary for a proper evaluation and review of financial transactions. The current procedures jeopardize the system of independent checks and balances intended by state law.

This condition was similarly reported by the city's independent auditors.

B. Receipt slips are not issued for all monies received. To help ensure receipts are properly recorded and deposited, prenumbered receipt slips should be issued for all monies received. Doing so would provide better accountability over monies received. The receipt slips should indicate the method of payment (ie. cash, checks, or money order) and the composition should be reconciled to the bank deposits on a periodic basis.

C. Deposits are not made on a timely basis, with deposits being made approximately once a week. To adequately safeguard cash receipts and reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, deposits should be made daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Consider appointing separate individuals to the positions of City Clerk and City Treasurer. If this is not possible, at a minimum, procedures for an adequate independent review of the record keeping functions should be established.

B. Require prenumbered receipt slips to be issued for all monies received. In addition, the method of payment should be recorded on the receipt slips and the composition of receipts should be reconciled to deposits on a periodic basis.

C. Ensure deposits are made on a daily basis or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Board of Aldermen provided the following responses:

A. We do not feel that it is feasible for the city to have a Clerk and a Treasurer. We will however, try to appoint a Treasurer on the board to oversee duties. Also, the Mayor performs a review of the City Clerk's records.

B. Receipt slips will be issued for all monies received.

C. Anytime money is accumulated larger than $100, the City Clerk now goes to the bank.

9. Fixed Asset Records

The city has not maintained adequate property records to account for its general fixed assets or assets of the Water Fund. Our review noted the following:

A. The city's fixed asset listing does not include all property owned by the city. Although the financial statements presented in the most recent CPA audit reports included approximately $14,000 in water plant equipment, the city's listing does not include any of this equipment. In addition, the listing does not include any of the office equipment owned by the city.

B. The fixed asset listing does not include the cost or estimated cost for most items. This information was included for only two items purchased in 1998. In addition, the listing does not include make, model, and serial number for the property items.

C. The city has not tagged or otherwise identified the fixed assets as property of the city.

Adequate fixed asset records are necessary to secure better internal control over assets and provide a basis for determining adequate insurance coverage.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen ensure:

A. All property owned by the city is included on its fixed asset listing.

B. The fixed asset listing includes all necessary information including the cost or estimated cost of all property items, and the make, model, and serial number, if applicable.

C. All city-owned property items are tagged or otherwise identified as city property.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Board of Aldermen provided the following response:

A new fixed asset list is in the process of being prepared. The city will tag its property, such as the computer and copy machine.

This report is intended for the information of the city's management and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

PATTONSBURG R-II SCHOOL DISTRICT

DAVIESS COUNTY/DEKALB COUNTY/GENTRY COUNTY, MISSOURI

YEAR ENDED JUNE 30, 1998

From The Office Of State Auditor
Claire McCaskill

Report No. 99-16
March 22, 1999

AUDIT REPORT

Office Of The
State Auditor Of Missouri
Claire McCaskill

Some problems were discovered as a result of an audit conducted by our office in response to the request of petitioners from the Pattonsburg R-II School District.

NOTE: The following findings are included in the report. Recommendations as well as responses from the district which correspond with the findings below are included in the report.

A problem with accounting reports from the district, to the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education (DESE), led to an overpayment of state aid to the district. A mistake was made when state assessed railroad and utility taxes were not properly recorded on accounting records. The district stated similar mistakes will be avoided in the future due to accounting system upgrades.

Expenditures exceeded budgeted amounts in various district funds. The district has agreed to implement audit recommendations to solve this problem. The district points to recovery efforts from past flooding and fire as being obstacles in the past. Again, the district stated it will seek to improve budgeting procedures in the future.

Major purchases and construction projects totaling just less than $300,000 were undertaken without competitive bidding. The district agrees that policies concerning bidding would have to be reviewed. Our recommendations include written agreements for all leases and solicitation of bids for all major purchases and construction projects.

Other findings relating to employee leave records, mileage calculations, and tuition costs are also addressed in the audit.

CLAIRE C. McCASKILL
Missouri State Auditor

To the Board of Education
Pattonsburg R-II School District
Pattonsburg, MO 64670

The State Auditor was petitioned under Section 29.230, RSMo, to audit the Pattonsburg R-II School District. The school board had engaged Lockridge, Constant, and Conrad, LLC, Certified Public Accountants (CPAs), to perform an audit of the district for the year ended June 30, 1998. To minimize any duplication of effort, we reviewed the report and substantiating workpapers of the CPA. Our audit of the school district included, but was not limited to, the year ended June 30, 1998. The objectives of this audit were to:

1. Perform procedures we deemed necessary to evaluate the petitioners' concerns.

2. Review compliance with certain constitutional provisions, statutes, and attorney general's opinions as we deemed necessary or appropriate in the circumstances.

3. Review certain management practices which we believe could be improved.

Our audit was made in accordance with applicable generally accepted government auditing standards and included such procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. We also reviewed board minutes, school district policies, and various school district financial records.

Our audit was limited to the specific matters described above and was based on the selective tests and procedures considered appropriate in the circumstances. Had we performed additional procedures, other information might have come to our attention which would have been included in this report.

The accompanying History and Organization is presented for informational purposes. This information was obtained from the district and its audited financial reports and was not subjected to auditing procedures applied during our audit of the district.

MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT

PATTONSBURG R-II SCHOOL DISTRICT
DAVIESS COUNTY/DEKALB COUNTY/GENTRY COUNTY, MISSOURI
SUMMARY OF FINDINGS

1. Accounting System and Financial Reporting (pages 8-10)

   District transactions were not always properly recorded on the accounting system or the Annual Secretary of the Board Report submitted to the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education. State assessed railroad and utility taxes were not properly recorded on accounting records, resulting in an overpayment of approximately $44,000 in state aid for the 1997-98 school year.

2. Budgets and Published Financial Statements (pages 10-12)

   Actual expenditures exceeded budgeted amounts in various district funds and budget documents did not contain some information required by state law. In addition, a summary of the district's audit report is not published as required by state law.

3. Bidding and Procurement Procedures (pages 12-14)

   Bids were not obtained or bid documentation retained for construction and major purchases totaling approximately $298,000. Written contracts were not obtained for leases.

4. Expenditures (pages 14-16)

   Expenditures were not always adequately supported by purchase orders or approved invoices. Some invoices did not contain an authorized signature showing approval or receipt and some employee reimbursements were not accounted for adequately. Additional compensation paid to employees was not always reported on W-2's, and IRS Forms 1099-MISC were not always prepared. Some expenses do not appear to be a prudent use of public funds.

5. Personnel Contracts and Procedures (pages 16-18)

   The district does not have a formal written policy for vacation leave and leave records are not maintained for some employees. Written employment contracts were not always prepared, retained and signed by the board president. During the year ended June 30, 1997, the district received exceptional pupil funding for a teacher's aide, although this individual primarily performed clerical duties. In addition, insurance proceeds designated for employees' personal items lost in a fire have not been disbursed.

6. Pupil Transportation Procedures (pages 19-20)

   State guidelines for calculating actual mileage are not followed. Student count reports did not agree with attendance records for some count days.

7. Non-Resident Pupils (pages 20-21)

The district serves students from another school district at a tuition rate which does not comply with its admissions policy for charging tuition to non-resident students.

8. Parents as Teachers (PAT) Program (pages 21-24)

The district currently does not have an operating PAT program. Final reports submitted to the Missouri Department of Elementary and Secondary Education were not supported by documentation on file. The district does not have guidelines outlining compensation of the PAT employees. Records maintained for the PAT library are incomplete.

9. Student Activity Funds (pages 24-26)

The high school cheerleader fund was held outside the school district treasury. Student activity fund records were not complete and proper controls over receipts and expenditures were not established. In addition, student activity fund transactions were not always correctly recorded on accounting records.

10. Board Policies and Procedures (pages 26-27)

Minutes did not always include the information supporting a closed meeting as required by state law. In addition, board minutes are not signed when approved. The school board policy manual is not on file.

11. General Fixed Asset Records and Procedures (pages 27-28)

The district has not established adequate records for property owned by the district.

1. Accounting System and Financial Reporting

The school district maintains a computerized accounting system for processing revenue and expenditure transactions. Our review of the accounting system, financial procedures, and related financial reports revealed the following areas of concern:

A. To establish consistency and accountability among school districts, the Missouri Department of Elementary and Secondary Education (DESE) provides districts with financial recording guidelines in the Missouri Financial Accounting Manual. The DESE has established account codes to track revenues, expenditures, and other transactions. During our review, we noted numerous instances in which the DESE guidelines were not followed, and incorrect accounting codes were used when recording transactions. Some instances are noted below:

1) During the year ended June 30, 1998, expenditures totaling $450 which should have been coded to the district's professional development program were incorrectly coded to substitute teacher salaries. Transfers were made to correct the errors after we brought this to the district's attention. The DESE requires the school districts to track professional development expenditures under a separate account code to ensure compliance with Section 160.530, RSMo 1994. Without proper coding and tracking of professional development expenditures, the district is unable to effectively monitor compliance with state law.

2) During the two years ended June 30, 1998, the district did not adequately track and account for "Children At-Risk" program expenditures. For the year ended June 30, 1997, expenditures coded to the "Children At-Risk" program totaled only $5,692, while the district reported program expenditures of approximately $95,000 on the Annual Secretary of the Board Report (ASBR) submitted to the DESE. District personnel indicated that, at year-end, expenditures allowable under the "Children At-Risk" program are combined to determine the total expenditures reported on the ASBR; however the district could not locate documentation to support the amount reported on the 1997 ASBR.

During the year ended June 30, 1998, the entire salary of a district teacher was charged to the "Children At-Risk" program, although a portion of her salary was reimbursed through a federal program. Only the portion of the salary paid by the district should be coded to the "Children At-Risk" program.

The DESE requires districts to track "Children At-Risk" program expenditures under a separate account code, report total program expenditures on the district's ASBR, and classify any unspent funding as a restricted fund balance. By not properly recording transactions on the accounting system and the ASBR, the district is not in compliance with the DESE guidelines and cannot adequately monitor "Children At-Risk" program expenditures.

B. The school district receives state assessed railroad and utility taxes annually which are collected by the various counties in which the district lies. Pursuant to Section 151.150, RSMo 1997 Supp., the counties apportion the railroad and utility taxes among the school districts for school purposes and capital projects. The amount to be distributed for school purposes is based on each district's September membership, while the amount to be distributed for capital projects is based on the capital project levy. During the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997, the district received $31,293 and $45,786, respectively, in railroad and utility taxes.

The district receives state aid which is calculated and distributed by the DESE. The amount of state aid is based on a formula established under Section 163.031, RSMo 1997 Supp. The amount received during the previous year for school purposes from state assessed railroad and utility taxes is deducted from the district's current year entitlement under this formula.

During the year ended June 30, 1997, the district incorrectly recorded the state assessed railroad and utility tax receipts to the revenue code for “current taxes” instead of “state assessed railroad and utility taxes”, the correct revenue code. Because of this error, the DESE did not include approximately $44,000 received for school purposes from railroad and utility taxes as a deduction from the district's 1997-98 entitlement. As a result, it appears the district received approximately $44,000 more in state aid than it was entitled to during the 1997-98 school year. This same recording error was made during the 1997-98 school year; however, after bringing the error to the district's attention, a transfer was made to correctly report the 1997-98 receipts under the proper revenue code. As a result, the 1998-99 state aid will not be affected.

Proper classification of receipts is necessary to ensure accuracy of the district's financial statements and the accuracy of the state aid calculation.

The DESE account code structure is designed as a means of efficient recordkeeping as well as a basic management tool. It also allows comparability of financial transactions among districts. Without consistent adherence to the DESE account code guidelines, the district's financial reports do not properly reflect the financial transactions of the district.

WE RECOMMEND the School Board:

A. Require the DESE guidelines be followed when posting district transactions to ensure that financial reports are accurate and complete. In addition, the Board should ensure "Children At-Risk" program expenditures are adequately recorded and accounted for on the accounting system and financial reports submitted to the DESE, and file an amendment for fiscal years 1998 and 1997 with the DESE, if necessary.

B. Ensure all state assessed railroad and utility taxes are properly recorded in the accounting records and resolve the overpayment for 1997-98 with the DESE.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. The district has installed a new financial accounting program in January 1998 that should prevent these errors from occurring again. In addition, we will instruct our staff to ensure the expenditures for "Children at Risk" are properly coded and designated as they are handled. We will review the errors noted for the "Children at Risk" program and determine if an amendment is required.

B. We will discuss this issue with DESE to determine the proper method to handle this error.

2. Budgets and Published Financial Statements

A. The budgets prepared by the district for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997, failed to comply with Chapter 67 of the Missouri statutes (the budget law). The annual budgets do not include actual (or estimated for the year not ended) receipts and disbursements for two preceding budget years. In addition, budgets did not include estimated beginning and ending balances for each fund. Without this information, the district cannot adequately evaluate available resources and financial condition.

A complete and well-planned budget, in addition to meeting statutory requirements, can serve as a useful management tool by establishing specific cost expectations for each area and provide a means to effectively monitor actual costs.

B. For the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997, the school district's actual expenditures exceeded the amounts originally budgeted for the following funds as illustrated below:

Fund	Budgeted Expenditures	Actual Expenditures	Actual Over Budgeted
Year Ended June 30, 1998
General Fund	$ 437,301	609,987	172,686
Special Revenue Fund	777,130	790,310	13,180
Capital Projects Fund	112,850	1,935,924	1,823,074
Year Ended June 30, 1997
General Fund	385,951	647,677	261,726
Capital Projects Fund	16,850	877,705	860,855

On June 15, 1998, the school board approved a budget amendment to agree actual expenditures to budgeted expenditures; however, the amendment was made after the expenditures had been incurred. A similar amendment was made in June 1997 for the 1997 budget. It appears the amendments were made for statutory compliance only and circumvented the intended use of the budget as a management tool.

The budget process provides a means to allocate financial resources in advance. Failure to adhere to the expenditure limits imposed by the budgets weakens the effectiveness of this process. Section 67.040, RSMo 1994, allows for budget increases, but only after the governing body officially adopts a resolution setting forth the facts and reasons. Section 67.080, RSMo 1994, provides that no expenditure of public monies shall be made unless it is authorized in the budget. The School Board should require that timely budget to actual comparisons are received and reviewed prior to approving expenditures.

C. Annual financial statements, as presented in the district's audit report, are not published as required by state law. Section 165.121, RSMo 1994 requires that a summary of the district's audit report including a statement of receipts, disbursements, and balances of each fund, be made and published in a newspaper within the county.

In addition to compliance with state law, published financial statements provide residents information about how district resources are being used and the resources available to meet the needs of the students.

WE RECOMMEND the School Board:

A. Adopt annual budgets with complete information required by Chapter 67, RSMo.

B. Ensure expenditures for individual funds do not exceed the amounts approved in the budget, unless proper and timely amendments are made prior to the expenditures.

C. Prepare and publish a summary of the district's audit report as required by state law.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. We will implement this recommendation.

B. Because of the many changes and problems occurring in the district over the past few years due to flooding and the fire, it has been difficult to make budget changes prior to expending funds from the specific accounts. We will improve this procedure in the future.

C. We will follow this required procedure.

3. Bidding and Procurement Procedures

A. The school district is completing a multi-million dollar construction project to build new school facilities for all grade levels. Bids were not always solicited or advertised by the school district nor was bid documentation always retained for various expenditures relating to this construction project. Examples of expenditures without documentation of bids and/or advertisement are as follows:

Item	Cost
Telephone equipment	$ 23,745
Dirt work	21,700
Dozing	10,509
Outer doors	4,232
Propane tank bases	4,000
Rock	2,687

The Superintendent indicated that, for some items, several vendors were contacted, and the telephone equipment was available from only one vendor. Documentation of these inquiries and sole source procurement situations, however, was not maintained. Section 177.086, RSMo 1997 Supp. requires that school districts advertise bids for construction of facilities which may exceed an expenditure of $12,500. In addition, bidding procedures for construction projects provide a framework for economical management of school district resources and help assure the district that it receives fair value by contracting with the lowest and best bidder. Documentation of bids should always be retained as evidence of the district's established bidding procedures and to show statutory requirements are followed.

B. The school district did not always solicit bids or retain bid documentation for other major purchases or leases. While district employees indicated bids are sometimes solicited through telephone quotes or other direct contacts with vendors, documentation showing vendors contacted, prices quoted, and reasons for selecting the successful vendor was not retained for many purchases reviewed.

Examples of expenditures for items purchased or leased without documentation of bids are as follows:

Item	Cost
School bus lease/purchase	$146,765
Trailer leases	44,600
Computers	20,076
Science lab equipment	9,900
Lockers	5,810
Piano	3,495

The district's purchasing procedures could be made more effective by adopting a written policy identifying specific bid procedures that are required for each type or size of expenditures. Bids can be handled by telephone quotation, by sealed bid, or by advertised sealed bid. Different approaches may be appropriate, depending on the dollar amount of the purchase. Written documentation of bids also provides evidence that the board has complied with its procurement policy. Bid documentation should include a list of vendors contacted, a copy of the bid specification, copies of all bids received, justification for awarding the bid, and documentation of discussions with vendors.

C. The school district did not obtain a written lease agreement for the school bus lease/purchase shown above. Written agreements are necessary to ensure both parties are aware of the terms of the agreement. In addition, Section 432.070, RSMo 1994, requires contracts for political subdivisions to be in writing.

WE RECOMMEND the School Board:

A&B. Solicit bids for construction projects in accordance with state law and establish specific bid policies and procedures which require formal solicitation of bids for all major purchases. Such bid policies should include criteria on how bids are to be solicited and when formal advertising should be used. Documentation of bids received and the bid process should be retained. If sole source procurement is necessary, the district should retain documentation of these circumstances.

C. Ensure written agreements are obtained for all leases outlining the terms of the agreement.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A&B. We have broken the school construction project down into various smaller projects that cost less than $12,500 and did not formally bid many of these projects. The Superintendent did obtain phone bids but documentation of these bids was not kept. We will review our current policy to determine what changes will improve our bidding and record keeping procedures.

We will review our current procedures and determine how to adapt our procedures and policies related to large purchases. Also, we will examine what constitutes a "large purchase".

C. We will implement this recommendation for all future leases.

4. Expenditures

A. The school district has established formal payment procedures; however, the procedures are not always followed. Current policy requires an itemized invoice and a receiving document containing the signature of an authorized employee on file before a payment can be processed. In addition, the invoice must have been received in response to a purchase order approved by the Superintendent.

1) Several payments were processed without an original invoice or other adequate supporting documentation. One example included a payment in the amount of $4,900 to an individual for dirt work at the new school. In addition, during June 1997 the district paid a state activity organization $1,512 for registration and travel expenses for a student and a teacher to attend a national competition in San Diego, California. There was no invoice supporting the expenditure which outlined the costs associated with the trip. Also, a teacher was paid $1,250 for administration of two grants. Time sheets were not provided to support the hours claimed. Other expenditures made for which there was no invoice or supporting documentation included $925 for accounting services/training, $370 for custodial services, $325 for a teacher workday lunch, and $240 for teacher gifts.

Employees may purchase equipment, materials and supplies, and group airline tickets and hotel accommodations directly and are reimbursed by the school district. There is often no approved purchase order or any other type of documentation supporting the expense claim such as an invoice or a copy of a credit card slip. For example, during April 1998, the Superintendent was reimbursed $261 for hotel accommodations for a cheerleading competition. Payment was made without an approved purchase order or invoice from the hotel. Additionally, a district teacher was reimbursed $277 for testing materials and books. A purchase order was prepared and approved, however, no invoices or documentation to support the payment was obtained.

2) Some payments were processed without a properly approved purchase order or documentation of advance authorization by the Superintendent.

3) Several invoices did not contain an indication of approval or receipt of goods or services. The Superintendent indicated he reviewed and approved all expenditures before payment; however, it appears this approval is not always formally documented.

To ensure the obligation was actually incurred and properly approved, all expenditures should be supported by properly approved purchase orders and original invoices containing indication that goods or services have been received.

B. Reimbursements made to employees for travel expenses were seldom supported by adequate documentation of actual expenses incurred. Many employee expense reports did not contain sufficient information such as the date of trip, trip origin, destination, and purpose. In addition, invoices for hotels, phone calls, and other expenses reimbursed by the district could not be located. Without a detailed travel expense report including documentation supporting the expenses claimed, the district cannot determine the propriety of payments made for travel expenses.

Failure to require adequate supporting documentation for expenditures increases the risk that the school will pay for items not intended for school purposes.

C. Some district personnel perform additional duties beyond the regular scope of work. Payments totaling approximately $3,000 were made to employees for administering grants, coordinating the Parents as Teachers program, writing classroom curriculum, and custodial work. These employees were compensated for additional duties; however, the additional compensation was not reported on Forms W-2 or Forms 1099-MISC, and payroll deductions were not withheld from the payments.

Additionally, the school district does not always issue Forms 1099-MISC to individuals or unincorporated businesses which provide services to the district. Expenditures for services totaling approximately $1,500 were paid and not reported to the Internal Revenue Service on a Form 1099-MISC.

The Internal Revenue Code (IRC) generally indicates individuals treated as employees should have all compensation reported on Forms W-2. The IRC further requires payments totaling $600 or more in a year to non-employees and businesses which are not corporations be reported on Forms 1099-MISC.

D. Expenditures totaling approximately $500 were paid from school funds for gifts for the teachers and flowers for funerals. These expenditures do not appear to be necessary and prudent uses of public funds.

WE RECOMMEND the School Board:

A. Require purchase orders be prepared for all payments and original invoices containing approval and indication of receipt of goods or services be on file before processing payments in accordance with district policy.

B. Require detailed travel expense reports be submitted. These reports should include information such as trip date, origin, destination, and purpose; and should contain invoices or receipts to support expenses claimed for reimbursement.

C. Report all additional compensation paid to employees and non-employees on Forms W-2 or 1099-MISC and amend previous years' Forms W-2 to reflect compensation amounts not originally included on the forms.

D. Ensure expenditures are necessary and a prudent use of public funds.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A-C. We will try to implement these recommendations as they pertain to improving our procedures.

D. We feel that these types of expenditures are necessary and supportive of staff and school personnel morale. We will examine these procedures and try to formalize a policy on these types of expenditures.

5. Personnel Contracts and Procedures

During our review of district personnel contracts and policies, we noted the following areas of concern:

A. The school district does not have a formal written policy for vacation leave for twelve month employees. The Superintendent indicated he receives three weeks of vacation per year, and all other twelve month employees receive two weeks per year; however, this has not been formally documented in a board policy or individual employment contracts. In addition, leave records are not formally or centrally maintained for all employees. A new board policy, which has been presented to the board but not yet approved, indicates that administrators employed on twelve month contracts shall have vacation provided in their individual contracts; however no policy has been developed for support staff employees. Formal written policies should be established to clearly define employee benefits and to avoid any misunderstandings.

B. The district enters into written employment contracts with school district employees. Our review of employment contracts noted the following weaknesses:

1) The school district could not locate a written employment contract with the Superintendent covering fiscal years 1998 and 1999. In addition, there is no documentation of a written contract with the High School Principal for the 1997-98 school year.

A regular district teacher also served as the Parents as Teachers program coordinator. Payments to this individual were dependent upon the district funding received by the DESE; however, these terms were not outlined in a formal agreement between the school district and the employee.

The proposed new board policies for Superintendent and professional staff require that employment shall be secured through a written contract indicating days of service and compensation to be paid. Written contracts are necessary to ensure all parties are aware of their duties and responsibilities.

2) Teacher contracts are signed by the employee but not by the board president. Section 168.108, RSMo 1994 states that teacher contracts shall be signed by the permanent teacher and the president of the board of education.

C. During the year ended June 30, 1997, the district received $3,038 of Exceptional Pupil Funding from the DESE. For that school year, the district claimed and received $1,721 of exceptional pupil funding for a teacher's aide position. The district reported to the DESE that this individual worked one-half time, or 950 minutes per week, in the special education program. Per discussions with district personnel, this individual primarily performed duties for the special education teacher such as typing and clerical duties, and spent very little instructional time with the students. The district did not require this individual to maintain records of time worked to support the amounts reported to the DESE.

Section 162.975, RSMo 1994 states that a district shall receive exceptional pupil funding for professionals and paraprofessionals employed to work with handicapped children. Furthermore, the DESE guidelines for exceptional pupil funding authorize reimbursement for only those personnel required to implement special education and related services in a particular class. Individuals who perform secretarial, rather than instructional, duties do not appear to fall within these guidelines for authorized personnel to receive DESE exceptional pupil funding. Adequate record-keeping is necessary to ensure that the district only claims individuals and time worked which is allowable for reimbursement.

D. During the two years ended June 30, 1998, the district received proceeds from an insurance claim as a result of a fire at the school building on May 18, 1996. After the fire, employees were instructed to list all items destroyed in their classrooms and offices, including personal items. Documentation in district files include lists of personal items lost by employees ranging from $68 to $1,236 each. The inventory listings submitted by the district to the insurance company included personal items, some of which were reimbursed to the district.

The Superintendent indicated that the district intends to reimburse employees for personal items lost which were covered by the insurance settlement. The district intends to make the payments after the district has paid all expenses related to the fire; however, no action has yet been taken. In order to resolve this matter, the school board should review the situation and determine how to handle the insurance proceeds received for personal items in a timely manner.

WE RECOMMEND the School Board:

A. Establish formal written policies for twelve month employees' vacation leave. In addition, formal leave records should be maintained for all employees receiving sick and vacation leave benefits.

B.1. Enter into written agreements with all employees that clearly detail the work to be performed and the compensation to be paid.

2. Ensure all teacher contracts are signed by the board president as required by state law.

C. Ensure that state laws and the DESE guidelines are followed and adequate documentation is retained when submitting information for exceptional pupil funding. The board should file an amendment with the DESE for the amounts claimed for the 1996-97 school year.

D. Resolve the issue of the fire insurance proceeds received for employees' personal items.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. We will develop a policy to cover leave for twelve month employees and design and maintain a procedure for keeping formal leave records on personnel and approved leaves.

B.1. We will implement this recommendation.

B.2. The approval of the offer of a contract in the Board minutes is a legally binding commitment but we will have the Board president sign all future personnel contracts to provide a more precise record of the personnel obligations of the district.

C. The district no longer receives Exceptional Pupil Funding on the position in question. We will obtain from DESE the proper method of returning the difference in funding between a teacher aide and a clerk. Additionally, we will adjust, with guidance from DESE, any problems with the funding for this prior position.

D. We will review the claims for validity and will reimburse the claims at the limits established by the insurance company for the loss of personal items.

6. Pupil Transportation Procedures

The district operates a transportation system which transports approximately 113 students per day. In the year ended June 30, 1998, district buses served five routes traveling approximately 420 miles per day in addition to providing transportation for other district activities including field trips, after-school activities, and sports activities. Section 163.161, RSMo 1994 provides for state aid to be distributed to districts for transporting students. For the year ended June 30, 1998, the district received $50,636 in state aid.

The district receives transportation state aid based on several factors, including the average number of students transported, number of miles traveled, and actual allowable transportation costs. The DESE has established guidelines, outlined in the Missouri State Transportation Aid Document Preparation Manual for districts to follow when applying for transportation aid. During our review of the district's procedures for tracking transportation information and applying for state aid, we noted the following concerns:

A. Section 163.161, RSMo 1994 requires the DESE to approve, at the beginning of the school year, all bus routes and determine the total miles each district should have for effective and economical transportation of the pupils. For the 1997-98 school year, the DESE approved a total of 462 daily miles for the district's five bus routes and a daily vocational school route which is contracted from another school district.

The DESE guidelines for tracking actual mileage during the year require the district to obtain beginning and ending odometer readings for the school year. The district is to track actual disapproved route miles, such as activity trips, and subtract these miles from the total miles calculated from the odometer readings.

The district may not follow the DESE guidelines when reporting actual mileage for the school year. Odometer readings are not maintained and used to calculate actual miles traveled. Instead, the district claims actual mileage by multiplying the original approved daily mileage by the number of days in session. For the 1997-98 school year, the district claimed a total of 80,388 miles.

This procedure may not provide an accurate accounting for actual miles traveled during the year. Bus routes may change as students move to and from the district and when students are absent from school. Procedures should be implemented by the district to ensure that mileage information submitted to the DESE is accurate.

B. The DESE requires school districts to take a count of students transported on the second Wednesday of each month during the school year. The monthly totals are used to calculate the eligible average daily transported (ADT) student to be reported on the application for state transportation aid.

Student counts reported by the district are not always accurate. We reviewed student counts taken by the district on September 10, 1997, and January 15, 1998 and compared the children claimed in the counts to attendance records for the count days. Six students claimed on the September count were either absent from school on the count day or were no longer enrolled in the district. In addition, ten students claimed on the January count were reported as absent on the count date. As a result of these errors, the district may receive more state aid than it is entitled to receive.

Procedures should be established to ensure student counts are accurate. One way to achieve this could be to compare student counts to attendance records on a test basis. To ensure the amount of state aid received is accurate, records should be maintained which adequately support the information reported on the application for state transportation aid.

WE RECOMMEND the School Board:

A. Follow DESE guidelines for calculating actual mileage to be claimed on the application for state transportation aid.

B. Ensure that student count reports used to calculate ADT accurately reflect the actual students transported on the transportation count days.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. We will review our procedures to ensure they comply with DESE guidelines for accurate reporting.

B. We will check our attendance records more closely to ensure counts are accurate.

7. Non-Resident Pupils

The school board is authorized by Section 167.151, RSMo 1994 to admit non-resident students and prescribe the tuition fee to be paid. The most recent school board policy on file, adopted on June 12, 1994, indicates tuition rates shall be determined annually on the basis of the per-pupil cost for the preceding year. During the year ended June 30, 1998, the school district did not comply with its admissions policy for charging tuition to non-resident students attending the school district.

The district has an informal arrangement with the North Daviess R-III School District to allow residents of that district to attend the Pattonsburg R-II School District. This agreement has not been formally documented in writing. The agreement requires the Pattonsburg R-II School District to track the average daily attendance (ADA) for the North Daviess R-III School District residents. The North Daviess R-III School District in turn pays tuition to the Pattonsburg R-II School District at a rate of one-half of the state aid received per calculated non-resident ADA.

For the year ended June 30, 1998, 18 students from the North Daviess R-III School District attended the Pattonsburg R-II School District, at a calculated ADA of 13.36. The Pattonsburg R-II School District received $20,456, or $1,531 per calculated ADA, from the North Daviess R-III School District for serving its students. Pattonsburg R-II School District's per pupil cost for the 1996-97 school year was $6,753. In addition to not complying with board policy, the district is not recovering its costs for the services provided to the North Daviess R-II School District students.

WE RECOMMEND the School Board either comply with or re-evaluate its admissions policy regarding recovery of costs incurred for educating non-resident students. In addition, the Board should enter into a written contract with North Daviess R-III School District regarding non-resident students attending the district schools.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We will take this issue under study for future years and review the validity and financial concerns of this finding.

8. Parents as Teachers (PAT) Program

The school district has been approved by the DESE to offer a parent education program under the Early Childhood Development Act (ECDA). The ECDA authorizes state funding to school districts that provide developmental screening and parent education to families with infants, toddlers, and preschool children. For the two years ended June 30, 1998, the school district received approximately $1,300 for services provided under the Parents as Teachers (PAT) program. During our review of the Parents as Teachers Program, we noted the following concerns:

A. According to district PAT documentation, the district served four families during the 1997-98 school year and three families during the 1996-97 school year. The families were each visited by the former PAT Coordinator one to four times during the school year. During an April 1998 review conducted by the DESE, it was noted that the district was providing PAT services at a five percent level during 1996-97, as compared to the state average of 42 percent.

The school district currently does not have an operating PAT program. The former PAT Coordinator resigned at the end of the 1997-98 school year. The school district advertised the vacant PAT position in July 1998, but the position has not been filled.

Section 178.693, RSMo 1994 requires that if a district fails or is unable to offer an approved program of parent education, the district shall enter into a contract with another district, public agency or state approved not-for-profit agency offering an approved program of such services.

B. The school district is reimbursed by the DESE for personal visits and screening tests performed through the Parents as Teachers Program, as reported on the final report.

1) The district was reimbursed $369 for nine personal visits during the 1997-98 school year and $390 for nine visits during the 1996-97 school year. Each of these visits was supported by a personal visit report prepared by the former PAT Coordinator.

   Responses to our confirmations and to questionnaires disseminated by a parent group to these families indicated three visits in the 1996-97 school year claimed by the district were not made or did not include instruction by the former PAT Coordinator. The former PAT Coordinator stated all of the visits claimed were made.

2) The district claimed and was reimbursed $435 for 29 screening tests during the 1996-97 school year. No screening tests were claimed during the 1997-98 school year.

   During our review of the 1996-97 screening tests, we found documentation for only 22 screening tests rather than the 29 tests claimed. The former PAT Coordinator indicated that the district documentation was accurate and that the number of screening tests recorded on the final report was apparently incorrect. After our fieldwork completion date, documentation for an additional six tests was located leaving one test for which documentation could not be found.

The DESE guidelines for the PAT program require the district to maintain records to verify the services provided. Accurate and complete records are necessary to support reimbursement claims.

C. The district had a verbal agreement with the former PAT Coordinator to pay her the full amount of the PAT funding received by the district. The screening tests noted above were performed by the district's kindergarten and preschool teachers, rather than the PAT Coordinator. The former PAT Coordinator indicated that she has performed the screening tests in the past; however, she was not involved in the process during the 1996-97 year. Since the district pays the PAT Coordinator the amount of funding received from the DESE, it appears she was paid $435 for services she did not provide.

D. During the 1996-97 school year, the district applied for and received a $4,690 Incentives for School Excellence Grant from the DESE to develop a PAT library. Items purchased with this grant included a laptop computer, books, games, and toys. The former PAT Coordinator was paid $750 for administrative work on this grant which consisted of ordering the items. The books, games, and toys were stored in boxes and the laptop computer was not in the possession of the district on September 24, 1998. The former PAT Coordinator indicated a parent had checked it out in May 1998. Although we were able to confirm this with the parent, it was not documented on a sign-out sheet. Sign out sheets maintained by the former PAT Coordinator, document the use of the PAT library by only two other families on one occasion.

The final report for the incentives grant which was submitted to the DESE indicated that 25 students had participated in the grant program. In addition, the district reported that 87 percent of the families enrolled in the PAT program had utilized the library on a monthly basis. As noted in A. above, the district claimed serving only three families during the 1996-97 school year. The former PAT Coordinator was unable to locate the documentation to support the information reported to the DESE.

Adequate records of items checked out and returned to the library is necessary to document and track the disposition of all district assets. In addition, final reports submitted to the DESE should be accurate and supported by documentation.

WE RECOMMEND the School Board:

A. Establish procedures to ensure that an effective PAT Program is in operation. If necessary, the board should contract with another entity to provide the services.

B. Ensure final reports submitted to the DESE are accurate and adequately supported by documentation. If necessary, the board should file an amended final report, for the 1996-97 year, and resolve any overpayments for the screenings. In addition, the board should investigate the differences between the visits claimed and the parental responses and determine whether any money is due back to the state.

C. Develop guidelines for paying individuals employed in the PAT program to ensure payments are made only for services provided. In addition, the Board should review payments to the former PAT Coordinator to determine if they were proper and whether any monies should be paid back to the district.

D. Ensure instructional materials are made available to parents and complete records are maintained for the PAT library; including name of individual checking out the item, date received, and date returned. Return dates should also be established for items checked out of the library. In addition, the Board should ensure that final grant reports submitted to the DESE are accurate and adequately supported by documentation.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. We have begun the work on continuing and improving our PAT program.

B&C. We will review this situation and take whatever action is determined to be necessary. The expanded PAT program will be designed with procedures to document visits made, services provided, and screenings done.

D. We will design, in the expanded PAT program, a check-out system for instructional materials designated for the PAT program. The procedures designed for the expanded PAT program will insure that all future reports submitted to DESE will be accurate, complete, and signed by the personnel providing the service and the families receiving the services.

9. Student Activity Funds

Individual school organizations have a separate activity account which includes the organization's fundraising monies. During our review of student activity fund procedures, we noted the following areas of concern:

A. Prior to February 1998, the high school cheerleader organization fund was maintained outside of the school district's accounting system by the Superintendent's wife who was the cheerleader sponsor. During February 1998, the cheerleader sponsor turned the $652 account balance over to the district.

During our review of the cheerleader account disbursements from April 1997 to June 1998, we noted the following:

1) While the cheerleading funds were held outside of the district, the district did not effectively monitor the activities and transactions of the account. Although the Superintendent indicated that he approved all expenditures made by the sponsor, this approval was not documented.

The district does not have a current written policy for accounting records, internal controls, and procedures for any student activity funds. Allowing district funds to be maintained outside of the school district without adequate monitoring increases the risk of misuse of these monies. A proposed policy has been submitted to the school board which requires all funds, including student activity funds, be maintained under the jurisdiction of the superintendent and the school principals.

2) Disbursements were not always made by check. We noted instances in which disbursements were made from cash receipts on hand.

To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, deposits should be made intact and all disbursements should be made by check.

3) Adequate documentation was not retained to support many cheerleading expenditures. We noted purchases of trophies, shirts, and advertisements for which no supporting documentation could be found. For other expenditures reviewed, the only documentation available was a canceled personal check written by the cheerleader sponsor who was reimbursed by the cheerleading account. There was no invoice or other documentation to support the expenditures. Adequate documentation is necessary to ensure that all expenditures are reasonable and necessary. In addition, maintaining proper controls over cash disbursements decreases the risk of unauthorized disbursements.

B. In April 1998, the Superintendent was issued a check for $3,344, the balance in the senior class account, to pay for senior trip expenses. An itemized expense report accounting for these funds and supporting documentation was not prepared or retained.

C. During July 1998, five students and a teacher attended the Future Homemakers of America (FHA) National Convention in New Orleans. The school board approved payment of travel expenses and registration for one student and the teacher. Although the cost of airline tickets for the remaining students, totaling $896, was to be paid from the FHA student activity fund, the amount was charged to a district operating account instead. As a result district funds were used for this expense. Proper coding of student activity receipts and disbursements is necessary to ensure that the school district does not pay for expenditures that are the responsibility of a student organization.

WE RECOMMEND the School Board:

A.1. Ensure all student activity accounts are maintained by the school district and that there is adequate supervisory review of those accounts.

2. Require disbursements be made by check only.

A.3. &B. Require adequate documentation be retained to support all expenditures made from the student activity funds. In addition, the board should request an accounting of monies paid to the Superintendent for the senior class trip. Any monies not adequately accounted for should be reimbursed to the district.

C. Ensure expenditures from student activity funds are properly coded to accounting records, and make necessary correcting entries to charge FHA expenditures to the appropriate fund.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A&B. We will review our policy governing student activity funds. The Board has requested a financial report on the student activity fund balances to examine how these funds are managed.

C. This coding error has been corrected.

10. Board Policies and Procedures

A. During our review of the minutes of school board meetings, we noted the following concerns:

1) The school board frequently holds closed meetings. When the board closes its meetings, a vote is taken and documented; however the minutes do not always indicate the reasons for closing the meeting. Section 610.022, RSMo 1994, requires that before any meeting may be closed, the question of holding the closed meeting shall be voted on at an open session. The vote and the specific reason listed in Chapter 610 for holding the closed meeting should be entered into the minutes. Although the reason for the closed meeting is usually posted publicly on the meeting agenda, it is not always documented in the regular minutes as required by Chapter 610.

2) The board minutes are prepared by the board secretary and approved by the board at subsequent meetings. The board minutes are not signed at the time of board approval, but are usually signed at the end of the fiscal year. The minutes from July 1997 to September 1998 had not been signed at the time of our review. The board minutes should be signed at the time they are approved by the board secretary as preparer and the president of the school board to provide an independent attestation that the minutes are a correct record of the matters discussed and actions taken during the board meeting.

B. The district adopted the official Board of Education Policies and Regulations Manual developed by the Missouri School Board Association (MSBA) in October 1991. This manual includes policies and procedures relating to expenditures, bidding, budgets, and personnel issues. At the time of our review, district personnel were unable to locate a copy of the district policy manual. As a result, it was unclear what district policies had been established by the school board. The school board is in the process of reviewing proposed new board policies. To adequately inform district personnel of district policies and to ensure compliance with the policies, these policies should be maintained by the district and made available to all employees.

WE RECOMMEND the School Board:

A.1. Ensure minutes are prepared and retained for all closed meetings and that documentation is adequate to demonstrate compliance with state law.

2. Ensure board minutes are signed by the Board President and Board Secretary upon approval to attest to their completeness and accuracy.

B. Ensure board policies are developed and maintained by the district.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. This recommendation will be implemented.

B. We are in the process of approving a new policy service manual for district activities. After this is completed, we will ensure copies are maintained in the proper locations.

11. General Fixed Asset Records and Procedures

A. The school district has not established a permanent detailed record of the property owned by the district. The district requires teachers to prepare an annual inventory list of their classrooms; however, a supervisory review of changes made from year to year is not performed. Adequate property records are necessary to secure better internal control over property, provide a basis for determining proper insurance coverage, and provide assurance to the public that assets purchased with school monies are being utilized by the school district.

Without these records, the district does not have a reliable record of property owned. In addition, the district is unable to prepare and present in its financial statements a statement of changes in general fixed assets or a general fixed assets account group, as required by generally accepted accounting principles.

B. Prenumbered inventory tags that identify fixed asset items as "Property of Pattonsburg R-II School District" are not utilized by the district. Prenumbered tags, when affixed to property items, allow for identification of the property in the records and limit the potential for personal use of school district assets.

WE RECOMMEND the School Board:

A. Require general fixed asset records be maintained on a current basis.

B. Ensure prenumbered inventory tags that label each item as "Property of Pattonsburg R-II School District" are attached to all property and equipment.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A&B. We are in the process of developing records of fixed assets owned by the District. We would like to develop an inventory system which would utilize tags labeled with a bar coding system to better maintain our inventories in an accurate manner.

This report is intended for the information of the school board and district's management. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

AUDIT REPORT

CITY OF CAMDEN, MISSOURI

YEAR ENDED JUNE 30, 1998

From The Office Of State Auditor
Claire McCaskill

Report No. 99-15
March 18, 1999

Office Of The
State Auditor Of Missouri
Claire McCaskill

YELLOW SHEET

Some problems were discovered as a result of an audit conducted by our office in response to the request of petitioners from Camden, Missouri.

NOTE: Recommendations as well as responses from the city which correspond with the findings below are included in the audit.

The city did not have formal written bid policies and procedures. Also, the city did not have any written agreements with any contractors or individuals who provided street related services. Invoices relating to street services were somewhat incomplete listing only the numbers of hours worked by individuals, and not listing days worked or locations where work was performed.

The Board of Aldermen had not been reviewing and approving the payment of city expenditures prior to disbursements being made. The board simply reviewed previous month expenditures. Expenditures made from city funds should be reviewed and approved by the Board of Aldermen before payment is made to ensure all disbursements represent valid operating costs of the city.

The board had not appointed an individual to serve as City Treasurer or City Collector. The City Clerk is currently serving as both City Treasurer and City Collector. An Attorney General's Opinion concludes that one person holding any more than one of these offices doesn't ensure a system of checks and balances intended by state law.

Furthermore, receipt slips were not being issued for monies received by the city. To adequately account for all receipts, prenumbered receipt slips should be issued for all monies received.

Two instances are noted in which individuals did not meet the statutory qualifications for holding city office when elected.

> In April 1998, Alderwoman Cravens was nineteen when she was elected to the board. By law she should have been at least twenty-one years of age.
> In April of 1997, Alderman Edelbrock was elected Mayor even though he wasn't a registered voter of the city until March 1998. Mr. Edelbrock resigned as Mayor in April of 1998, and was appointed to serve on the board of Alderman after he registered to vote.

To the Honorable Mayor
and
Board of Aldermen
City of Camden
Camden, Missouri 64017

The State Auditor was petitioned under Section 29.230, RSMo, to audit the city of Camden, Missouri. Our audit of the city included, but was not limited to, the year ended June 30, 1998. The objectives of this audit were to:

1. Perform procedures we deemed necessary to evaluate the petitioners' concerns.

2. Review compliance with certain constitutional provisions, statutes, ordinances, and attorney general's opinions as we deemed necessary or appropriate in the circumstances.

3. Review certain management practices which we believe could be improved.

Our audit was made in accordance with generally accepted government auditing standards and included such procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. We also reviewed board minutes, city policies and ordinances, and various city financial records.

Our audit was limited to the specific matters described above and was based on the selective tests and procedures considered appropriate in the circumstances. Had we performed additional procedures, other information might have come to our attention which would have been included in this report.

The accompanying History and Organization is presented for informational purposes. This information was obtained from the city and was not subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the city.

MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT

CITY OF CAMDEN, MISSOURI
SUMMARY OF FINDINGS

1. Expenditures (pages 9-11)

The city does not have a formal bidding policy. The Board of Aldermen does not review and approve the payment of city expenditures prior to the disbursements being made. The city did not have any written agreements with any contractors or individuals who provided street-related services and the related invoices were not adequate. Instances were noted in which expenses related to General Fund activities were paid from the Street Fund; however, these amounts were offset by unrestricted revenues deposited to the Street Fund. The receipt of goods and services was not always indicated on invoices prior to being approved for payment.

2. Payments to City Officials and Payroll Matters (pages 11-13)

In addition to the regular compensation allowed, additional payments totaling approximately $4,000 were made to various former or current city officials. In December 1997, the city's elected officials and City Clerk received Christmas bonuses of $25 and $50, respectively. The city did not properly report the total compensation paid, withhold payroll taxes, or pay the employer's share of social security on salaries and bonuses paid the Board of Aldermen and City Clerk. The City Clerk is not required to submit a monthly time sheet. Ordinances have not been adopted to establish the compensation and duties of the city's elected officials and the City Clerk.

3. Budgets and Financial Reporting (pages 13-14)

The city does not prepare or adopt annual budgets, and semi-annual financial statements have not been published as required by state law.

4. Qualifications of City Officials (page 14)

Two instances were noted in which individuals did not meet the statutory qualifications for holding city office when elected.

5. Accounting Controls and Procedures (pages 15-16)

The board has not appointed separate individuals to serve as City Treasurer or City Collector. Receipt slips are not issued for monies received by the city and the method of payment is not recorded. Checks are not restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt. The Mayor can sign checks but is not bonded.

6. Fixed Assets (pages 16-17)

The city does not maintain property records to account for its fixed assets. It appears the city gave a tractor to a local contractor in exchange for work done on the city's streets. In addition, the city allowed an individual who had been hired to do trimming work to keep a chainsaw owned by the city. No documentation could be located indicating the board approved either of these decisions.

7. Property Tax Procedures (pages 17-18)

Monthly and annual reports are not prepared summarizing the amount of property taxes collected as well as those that remain delinquent. Public hearings have not been held prior to establishing the property tax rates and the annual tax rates have not been established by ordinance.

8. Street Maintenance Plan (page 18)

An annual maintenance plan for city streets has not been prepared.

9. Board Minutes and Ordinances (pages 19-20)

The board minutes are not signed by either the City Clerk or the Mayor. The board minutes do not always adequately document matters discussed and actions taken. The city's ordinances are not complete and up-to-date. The city does not have a formal policy regarding public access to city records.

1. Expenditures

A. The city does not have a formal bidding policy. As a result, the decision of whether to solicit bids for a particular purchase is made on an item-by-item basis. During the past several years, bids were either not solicited or bid documentation was not retained in some instances. Examples include $4,500 for a tractor, $5,000 for a skid loader, and $5,172 for street work and materials.

Formal bidding procedures for major purchases provide a framework for economical management of city resources and help ensure the city receives fair value by contracting with the lowest and best bidders. Competitive bidding helps ensure all parties are given an opportunity to participate in the city's business. Bids can be handled by telephone quotation, by written quotation, by sealed bid, or by advertised sealed bid. Various approaches are appropriate, based on dollar amount and type of purchase. Whichever approach is used, complete documentation should be maintained of all bids received and reasons noted why the bid was selected.

B. The Board of Aldermen does not review and approve the payment of city expenditures prior to the disbursements being made. A financial report is prepared monthly by the City Clerk which includes a detailed listing of all expenditures by fund; however, the expenditures represent the preceding month's activities.

Expenditures made from city funds should be reviewed and approved by the Board of Aldermen before payment is made to ensure all disbursements represent valid operating costs of the city. In addition, to adequately document the board's review and approval of all disbursements, a complete and detailed listing of bills should be prepared, signed or initialed by the aldermen to denote their approval, and retained with the official minutes.

C. The city did not have any written agreements with any contractors or individuals who provided street-related services during the year ended June 30, 1998. Section 432.070, RSMo 1994, requires all contracts of the city to be in writing. A written contract is necessary to document the duties and responsibilities of both parties and to prevent misunderstandings.

In addition, the invoices submitted for street work listed only the total hours worked for a time period and did not generally include the days the work was performed, the specific work performed, or the location of the work. Invoices for street work should include sufficient detail to adequately document the time, nature, and location of any street work performed.

D. We noted instances in which expenses related to General Fund activities totaling $1,661 were paid from the Street Fund. These included attorney fees, fire protection, 911 services, farm expenses, and city hall utilities. In addition, in September 1997 the city loaned $600 to the General Fund from the Street Fund due to the low cash balance in the General Fund. This money had not been repaid as of January 1999. However, it appears these amounts were more than offset by unrestricted (general) revenues which were deposited to the Street Fund or applied directly to expenses of the Street Fund. During the year ended June 30, 1998, city sticker revenues totaling $352 were deposited to the Street Fund. In addition, utility franchise taxes totaling $3,147 were netted by the utility company against the cost of electricity for the city's street lights.

   The city should ensure expenses related to general municipal activities are paid from the General Fund and that restricted revenues deposited to the Street Fund are used only for street-related purposes. In addition, revenues not specifically restricted for street purposes should be deposited to the General Fund.

E. Receipt of goods or services is not always indicated on the invoice prior to an expenditure being approved for payment. The documentation of the receipt of goods or services is necessary to ensure the city actually received the items or services being paid.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Establish formal bidding policies and procedures, including documentation requirements regarding the bids or quotes received and justification for the bid selected.

B. Review and approve the expenditure of city funds prior to the disbursements being made. In addition, the approval of disbursements should be adequately documented by including a listing of all approved disbursements in the board minutes.

C. Enter into written contracts for all services (including street-related work) which define the duties and responsibilities of both parties. In addition, the board should ensure invoices submitted for services include sufficient detail to adequately document the time, nature, and location of the work performed.

D. Ensure restricted revenues deposited to the Street Fund are used only for street purposes. In addition, revenues not specifically restricted for street purposes should be deposited to the General Fund.

E. Ensure the receipt of goods or services is indicated on invoices prior to them being approved for payment.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A-E. The Board of Aldermen concurs.

2.	Payments to City Officials and Payroll Matters

A. In addition to the regular compensation allowed to the city's elected officials, we noted the following additional payments to former or current city officials while they were serving as elected city officials:

* During the period January 1995 through April 1998, while serving as a city official, Alderman Edelbrock was paid a total of $1,925 for snow removal and street work.

* During the period January 1995 through February 1996, former Mayor Schreier was paid a total of $1,392 for street work.

* During the period April 1998 through September 1998, former Alderman Dunwoodie was paid $588 for street work.

* During the period May 1995 to October 1995, former Alderwoman Pauley was paid $100 for mowing.

These services were not bid and supporting documentation could not be located or was inadequate to support most of these transactions. In addition, authorization of this work was generally not documented in the board minutes.

Some of these payments also represent potential violations of state law. At the time these transactions occurred, Section 105.454, RSMo 1994, prohibited financial transactions between a city and an officer or employee (or spouse, dependent child, or business and corporate interest of the officer or employee) of that city that involved more than $500 per year unless there had been public notice to solicit proposals and (except for real property) competitive bidding, provided that the bid or offer was the lowest received. In 1998, this threshold was changed to $500 per transaction or $1,500 per year.

In addition, none of these payments were reported on IRS 1099-Misc forms. Sections 6041 to 6051 of the Internal Revenue Code require that nonwage payments of at least $600 in one year to an individual or unincorporated business be reported to the federal government on 1099-Misc forms.

B. In December 1997, the mayor and board members each received Christmas bonuses of $25 and the City Clerk received a Christmas bonus of $50. Similar bonuses were paid in 1996.

These bonuses appear to represent additional compensation for services previously rendered and, as such are in violation of Article III, Section 39 of the Missouri Constitution and Attorney General's Opinion No. 72, 1955 to Pray, which states, "...a government agency deriving its power and authority from the constitution and laws of the state would be prohibited from granting extra compensation in the form of bonuses to public officers after the service has been rendered."

C. For the year ended June 30, 1998, the city only reported, withheld payroll taxes, and paid the employer's share of social security on the regular wages paid to the City Clerk. Salaries paid to the elected city officials and bonuses paid were not reported nor were payroll taxes properly withheld and paid on these amounts. Similar problems were noted for the year ended June 30, 1997.

   The Internal Revenue Code requires employers to report wages on W-2 forms and withhold federal income taxes. Similarly, Chapter 143, RSMo 1994, includes requirements for reporting wages and withholding state income taxes. State and federal laws require employers to withhold payroll taxes and pay the employer's share of social security on the compensation paid to employees. Section 105.300, RSMo 1994, defines an elective or appointive officer or employee of a political subdivision as an employee for social security tax purposes.

D. The City Clerk is paid based on the number of hours worked; however, the city does not require that individual to submit a monthly time sheet or other detailed record as documentation to support the number of hours worked. Time sheets or similar records are necessary to document hours actually worked, substantiate payroll expenditures, and provide the board with a method to monitor hours worked.

E. The city has not adopted ordinances to establish the compensation and duties of the city's elected officials and the City Clerk. Sections 79.270 and 79.290, RSMo 1994, require the compensation and duties of city officials and employees to be set by ordinance.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Refrain from entering into business transactions with city officials unless such services or transactions are properly bid in accordance with state law. In addition, the board should ensure such payments are reported to the IRS, if applicable.

B. Discontinue paying Christmas bonuses to elected city officials and employees.

C. Ensure all compensation paid to city officials is properly reported and appropriate payroll taxes are withheld and paid. In addition, the city should consider filing amended W-2 forms for the unreported employee compensation.

D. Require the City Clerk to prepare monthly time sheets or other similar documentation to support the hours worked.

E. Establish the duties and compensation of all city officials and employees by ordinance as required by statute.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. The Board of Aldermen concurs and indicated the snow removal services were bid out this year.

B. The Board of Aldermen concurs and indicated such bonuses were not paid in December 1998.

C. The Board of Aldermen indicated it will implement this recommendation effective in 1999.

D. The Board of Aldermen indicated this recommendation has already been implemented.

E. The Board of Aldermen concurs.

3. Budgets and Financial Reporting

A. The city does not prepare and adopt annual budgets. Section 67.010, RSMo 1994, requires the preparation of an annual budget which shall present a complete financial plan for the ensuing year.

A complete and well-planned budget, in addition to meeting statutory requirements, can serve as a useful management tool by establishing specific cost and revenue expectations for each area of city operations. A budget can also provide a means to effectively monitor actual costs by periodically comparing budgeted amounts to actual expenditures. A complete budget should include separate revenue and expenditure estimations by fund, and include the beginning available resources and reasonable estimates of ending available resources. The budget should also include a budget message and comparisons of actual or estimated revenues and expenditures for the two preceding fiscal years.

B. The city has not published semi-annual financial statements as required by state law. Section 79.160, RSMo 1994, requires the board of aldermen to prepare and publish semi-annual financial statements. These financial statements are to include a statement of receipts and expenditures and indebtedness of the city for the preceding six month period. In addition, Section 79.165, RSMo 1994, states the city cannot legally disburse funds until the financial statement is published.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Prepare annual budgets in accordance with state law, and make periodic comparisons between budgeted and actual revenues and expenditures.

B. Publish semi-annual financial statements as required by state law.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A&B. The Board of Aldermen concurs.

4. Qualifications of City Officials

Two instances were noted in which individuals did not meet the statutory qualifications for holding city office when elected as follows:

A. Alderwoman Cravens was nineteen when she was elected in April 1998 to a one-year term to complete the term of an open seat on the Board of Aldermen. Section 79.070, RSMo 1994, provides that no person shall be an aldermen unless that individual is at least twenty-one years of age.

B. Alderman Edelbrock was elected Mayor in April 1997; however, he did not become a registered voter of the city until March 1998. Alderman Edelbrock also served on the Board of Aldermen prior to being elected Mayor.

Elected city officials are required to be registered voters of that particular municipality. Section 79.250, RSMo 1994, states that "All officers...shall be voters under the laws and constitution of this state and the ordinances of the city... except that appointed officers need not be voters of the city."

Mr. Edelbrock resigned as Mayor in April 1998 and was subsequently appointed to serve on the Board of Aldermen. He did meet the voter qualification to hold office at the time of this appointment.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen ensure candidates for city office possess the statutory qualifications for holding office.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Board of Aldermen concurs.

5. Accounting Controls and Procedures

A. The board has not appointed individuals to serve as City Treasurer or City Collector. The City Clerk is currently serving as the City Treasurer and City Collector. She collects all receipts, maintains receipt and disbursement records, makes bank deposits, signs checks, reconciles the bank accounts, and serves as secretary to the board. Neither the board nor other personnel independent of the cash custody and record-keeping functions provide adequate supervision or review of the work performed by the City Clerk.

Attorney General's Opinion No. 24, 1955 to Dodds, concluded that in a fourth-class city the holding of the positions of City Clerk, City Treasurer, and City Collector, or any two of these three offices, by the same person at the same time would be incompatible. One person holding all of these offices does not allow the separation of duties necessary for a proper evaluation and review of financial transactions. The current procedures jeopardize the system of independent checks and balances intended by state law.

B. Our review of the controls over receipts noted the following concerns:

1. Receipt slips are not issued for monies received by the city. To adequately account for all receipts, prenumbered receipt slips should be issued for all monies received and the numerical sequence should be accounted for properly.

2. The method of payment received (i.e. cash, check, money order) is not recorded on the receipts ledger. To ensure all receipts have been recorded properly and deposited intact, the method of payment received should be recorded on each receipt slip and the composition of receipt slips should be reconciled to the composition of bank deposits.

3. Checks are not restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt. Instead, they are endorsed when the deposit is made. To reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, checks should be restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt.

C. The Mayor can sign checks but is not bonded. Failure to adequately bond all persons with access to assets exposes the city to risk of loss.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Consider appointing separate individuals to the positions of City Treasurer and City Collector. At a minimum, there should be a documented periodic supervisory review of the City Clerk's records, including the bank reconciliations.

B.1. Require prenumbered receipt slips to be issued for all monies received, and ensure the numerical sequence of receipt slips is accounted for properly.

2. Ensure the method of payment is recorded on each receipt slip and the composition of receipts is reconciled to the composition of bank deposits.

3. Restrictively endorse all checks immediately upon receipt.

C. Consider obtaining bond coverage for the Mayor or any other city official authorized to sign checks.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. The Board of Aldermen indicated an individual on the board has recently been performing a review of the City Clerk's records. This will be documented in the future.

B.1. &2. The Board of Aldermen concurs.

3. The Board of Aldermen indicated this recommendation has already been implemented.

C. The Board of Aldermen concurs.

6. Fixed Assets

A. The city does not maintain property records to account for its fixed assets. In addition, the city has not tagged or otherwise identified items as belonging to the city.

Property records for general fixed assets are necessary to ensure accountability for all items purchased and owned by the city and provide a basis for determining adequate insurance coverage.

B. During our review of fixed asset purchases and dispositions, we noted the following concerns:

1. During the fall of 1997, it appears the city gave a tractor to a local contractor in exchange for work done on the city's streets. No records could be located by the city to support this transaction or to document that the board approved the exchange of this property for services. In addition, no records were available to support the value of the tractor when disposed of; however, the contractor indicated he allowed approximately $1,200 for the value of the tractor.

2. In July 1996, the city purchased a lightweight chainsaw for $115 to be used to trim trees and shrubs. In March 1998, the city purchased a heavier duty chainsaw. According to an alderman, the city allowed the individual who had been hired to do the trimming work to keep the lightweight chainsaw because it was worn out. No documentation could be located indicating the board approved this decision.

The Board of Aldermen should review these transactions and determine whether these property dispositions were valid and appropriate. In addition, in the future, board approval of the disposition of city assets should be obtained and documented in the minutes.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Establish property records for its general fixed assets that record all pertinent information for each asset, such as tag number, description, cost, acquisition date, location, and subsequent transactions. In addition, the city should properly tag or otherwise identify all city property.

B. Review the circumstances surrounding the disposition of these property items and determine if the dispositions were valid and appropriate. In addition, in the future, board approval should be obtained and documented related to the disposal of any city-owned property.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A&B. The Board of Aldermen concurs.

7. Property Tax Procedures

A. The City Clerk's duties include collecting and depositing property tax receipts. Monthly and annual reports are not prepared summarizing the amount of property taxes collected as well as those that remain delinquent.

Sections 79.310, 94.320, and 94.330, RSMo 1994, require reports to be submitted to the board of aldermen indicating the amount of taxes collected and taxes remaining delinquent. The board is to examine and approve the lists and charge the tax collector with the collection of the delinquent taxes. Section 94.330, RSMo 1994, also provides that the board may declare worthless any and all personal delinquent taxes which they may deem uncollectible.

Monthly and annual reports which comply with state law would help provide assurance taxes have been properly collected, written off, or determined to be delinquent.

B. Public hearings have not been held prior to establishing the property tax rates. Section 67.110, RSMo 1994, states at least one public hearing is to be held on proposed rates of tax prior to the board's approval of the rates. Also, the board did not establish the annual tax rates by ordinance as required by Section 94.210, RSMo 1994.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Require monthly and annual reports of property taxes collected and delinquent as required by state law.

B. Ensure public hearings are held on proposed property tax rates and establish the annual levies by ordinance as required by state law.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A&B. The Board of Aldermen concurs.

8. Street Maintenance Plan

An annual maintenance plan for city streets has not been prepared. A formal maintenance plan should be prepared in conjunction with the annual fiscal budget and include a description of the roads to be worked on, the type of work to be performed, an estimate of the quantity and cost of materials needed, the dates such work could begin, the amount of labor required to perform the work, and other relevant information. The plan should be included in the budget message and be approved by the board. In addition, a public hearing should be held to obtain input from the city residents.

A formal maintenance plan would serve as a useful management tool and provide greater input into the overall budgeting process. Such a plan provides a means to continually and more effectively monitor and evaluate the progress made in the repair and maintenance of streets throughout the year.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen prepare a formal maintenance plan for city streets at the beginning of the fiscal year and periodically update the plan throughout the year. In addition, the board should review the progress made in the repair and maintenance of streets to make appropriate decisions on future projects.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Board of Aldermen concurs.

9. Board Minutes and Ordinances

A. The board minutes are prepared by the City Clerk; however, the minutes are not signed by either the City Clerk or the Mayor. The board minutes should be signed by the City Clerk as preparer and by the Mayor to provide an independent attestation that the minutes are a correct record of the matters discussed and actions taken during the board's meetings.

B. The board minutes do not always adequately document matters discussed and actions taken. For example, in April 1998 the mayor resigned; however, at that same meeting this individual was apparently appointed to an open seat on the Board of Aldermen. While the resignation was documented in the minutes, the vote related to the subsequent appointment was not. In another instance, the board minutes did not document an alderman's refusal to accept compensation for serving as a board member. In addition, the minutes did not include some information required by state statute. There were numerous instances where the minutes indicated that a decision was made but did not indicate the number of votes for and against.

Section 610.020, RSMo 1994, states that the minutes shall include the date, time, place, members present, members absent, and a record of votes taken. Complete and accurate minutes provide an official record of board actions and decisions.

C. The city's ordinances are not complete and up-to-date. It appears some of the city's ordinances are missing while others are old and outdated. In addition, as noted in other parts of this report, ordinances have not been adopted in some instances where required. For example, the city has not adopted ordinances to establish the compensation and duties of city officials or to establish the annual property tax rates as required by law.

Since ordinances represent legislation which has been passed by the Board of Aldermen to govern the city and its residents, it is important that the ordinances be maintained in a complete and up-to-date manner.

D. The city does not have a formal policy regarding public access to city records. A formal policy regarding access to and obtaining copies of city records would establish guidelines for the city to make the records available to the public. This policy should establish a person to contact and an address to mail such requests, and should establish a cost for providing copies of public records.

Section 610.023, RSMo 1994, lists requirements for making city records available to the public. Section 619.026, RSMo 1994, allows the city to charge fees for copying public records, but the fees shall not exceed the city's actual cost of document search and duplication.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Ensure board minutes are signed by the Mayor and the City Clerk to attest to their completeness and accuracy.

B. Ensure all significant discussions, actions taken, and information required by state law are included in the minutes.

C. Ensure a complete and up-to-date set of ordinances is maintained. This would include passing new ordinances where appropriate and required.

D. Establish a formal written policy and procedures regarding public access to city records.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. The Board of Aldermen indicated this recommendation has already been implemented.

B-D. The Board of Aldermen concurs.

This report is intended for the information of the city's management and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

AUDIT REPORT

STATEWIDE SINGLE AUDIT
YEAR ENDED JUNE 30, 1998

From The Office Of State Auditor
Claire McCaskill

Report No. 99-14
March 9, 1999

Office Of The
State Auditor Of Missouri
Claire McCaskill

YELLOW SHEET

Some problems were discovered as a result of the Single Federal Audit conducted by our office. The Single Audit meets federal requirements and covers expenditures of federal awards totaling $4.7 billion by the state during the year ended June 30, 1998. The Single Audit is the most comprehensive government audit conducted by the state auditor's office; almost two-thirds of the federal funding involved goes to the Missouri Department of Social Services. Our findings and recommendations, as well as agency responses, begin on page 26. The following findings are especially noteworthy.

Department of Social Services / Division of Family Services:

< Thousands of individuals were receiving welfare benefits who have not had their Social Security number verified and entered into the state computer system which is fundamentally important to ensure the ability to check for fraud, overpayment, or duplicate payments. We found that more than nine-thousand welfare recipients did not have a social security number in the state's computer system. (See Eligibility-Social Security Number # 98-18 / pages 47-48)

< The lack of action by caseworkers has in some cases led to the continuation of welfare benefits even when the person has died. (See Eligibility-Death Match #98-16 / pages 44-46)

Missouri Department of Transportation:

< The state transportation department needs to ensure that local agencies solicit bids from at least three engineering firms for bridge projects. Other audits have noted that some counties do not solicit bids which is restrictive and exclusive, and contrary to state law. (See Subrecipient Monitoring # 98-8 / pages 33-35)

Department of Social Services / Division of Medical Services:

< We discovered that some nursing homes are being paid by the state for patients who are in hospice care. In addition, the hospice care is also being paid for by the state. During the year ended June 30, 1998, overpayments of $159,380 were noted. It appears this double dipping may have existed since May 1989, when hospice providers began receiving nursing home per diems. (See Nursing Home and Hospice Claim Overpayments # 98-25 / page 55)

(over)

< We also discovered that medicaid benefits totaling $108,221 were paid for persons after they had died. (See Ineligible Payments #98-24 / page 54)

< The Division of Medical Services has not collected $423,670 owed to the state from drug companies. (See Drug Rebate Program #98-26 / pages 55-56)

< The division also overpaid $301,096 to one hospital and has not collected $815,972 owed to the state from another hospital. (See Hospital Overpayments #98-28 / pages 58-60)

Department of Elementary and Secondary Education:

< The state may have to return $261,149 to the federal government because the grant funds were not used by the federal government's deadline. (See Period of Availability of Funds #98-5 / pages 30-31)

INTRODUCTORY SECTION

CLAIRE C. McCASKILL
Missouri State Auditor

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

Honorable Mel Carnahan, Governor
and
Members of the General Assembly

I am pleased to submit the report on the Single Audit of the state of Missouri, covering the fiscal year ended June 30, 1998.

The United States Congress passed the Single Audit Act of 1996 to establish new requirements for audits of states, local governments and non-profit organizations with respect to federal award programs. The Office of Management and Budget (OMB) revised Circular A-133, Audits of States, Local Governments, and Non-Profit Organizations to prescribe policies, procedures, and guidelines to implement the new Single Audit Act.

The Single Audit conducted by my office meets the requirements of the Single Audit Act of 1996 and covers expenditures of federal awards totaling nearly $4.7 billion by the state during the year.

The following charts and graphs provide summary information related to the expenditure of federal awards for the state of Missouri.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON COMPLIANCE WITH REQUIREMENTS APPLICABLE TO EACH MAJOR PROGRAM, INTERNAL CONTROL OVER COMPLIANCE, AND SUPPLEMENTARY SCHEDULE OF EXPENDITURES OF FEDERAL AWARDS IN ACCORDANCE WITH OMB CIRCULAR A-133

Honorable Mel Carnahan, Governor
and
Members of the General Assembly

Compliance

We have audited the compliance of the state of Missouri with the types of compliance requirements described in the U.S. Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Circular A-133 Compliance Supplement that are applicable to each of its major federal programs for the year ended June 30, 1998. The state's major federal programs are identified in the summary of auditor's results section of the accompanying schedule of findings and questioned costs. Compliance with the requirements of laws, regulations, contracts and grants applicable to each of its major federal programs is the responsibility of the state's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the state's compliance based on our audit.

We conducted our audit of compliance in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards; the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States; and OMB Circular A-133, Audits of States, Local Governments, and Non-Profit Organizations. Those standards and OMB Circular A-133 require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether noncompliance with the types of compliance requirements referred to above that could have a direct and material effect on a major federal program occurred. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence about the state's compliance with those requirements and performing such other procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion. Our audit does not provide a legal determination on the state's compliance with those requirements.

In our opinion, the state of Missouri complied, in all material respects, with the requirements referred to above that are applicable to each of its major federal programs for the year ended June 30, 1998. However, the results of our audit procedures disclosed instances of noncompliance with those requirements that are required to be reported in accordance with OMB Circular A-133 and which are described in the accompanying schedule of findings and questioned costs as items 98-1 to 98-12 and 98-14 to 98-28.

Internal Control Over Compliance

The management of the state of Missouri is responsible for establishing and maintaining effective internal control over compliance with requirements of laws, regulations, contracts and grants applicable to the federal programs. In planning and performing our audit, we considered the state's internal control over compliance with requirements that could have a direct and material effect on a major federal program in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on compliance and to test and report on internal control over compliance in accordance with OMB Circular A-133.

We noted certain matters involving the internal control over compliance and its operation that we consider to be reportable conditions. Reportable conditions involve matters coming to our attention relating to significant deficiencies in the design or operation of the internal control over compliance that, in our judgement, could adversely affect the state's ability to administer a major federal program in accordance with applicable requirements of laws, regulations, contracts and grants. Reportable conditions are described in the accompanying schedule of findings and questioned costs as items 98-1 to 98-12 and 98-14 to 98-28.

A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of one or more of the internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that noncompliance with applicable requirements of laws, regulations, contracts and grants that would be material in relation to a major federal program being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. Our consideration of the internal control over compliance would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal control that might be reportable conditions and, accordingly, would not necessarily disclose all reportable conditions that are also considered to be material weaknesses. However, we believe none of the reportable conditions described above is a material weakness.

Schedule of Expenditures of Federal Awards

We have audited the general purpose financial statements of the state of Missouri as of and for the year ended June 30, 1998, and have issued our report thereon dated December 18, 1998. That report expressed a qualified opinion on the general purpose financial statements because we were not allowed access to tax returns and related source documents for income taxes and because insufficient audit evidence exists to support the state of Missouri's disclosures with respect to year 2000 issues. Except as discussed in the preceding sentence, we conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States.

Our audit was performed for the purpose of forming an opinion on the general purpose financial statements taken as a whole. The accompanying Schedule of Expenditures of Federal Awards is presented for purposes of additional analysis as required by OMB Circular A-133 and is not a required part of the general purpose financial statements. The state of Missouri has excluded federal award expenditures of public universities from the accompanying Schedule of Expenditures of Federal Awards. The information in the Schedule of Expenditures of Federal Awards has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the general purpose financial statements and, in our opinion, except for the exclusion of federal award expenditures of public universities, is fairly stated, in all material respects, in relation to the general purpose financial statements taken as a whole.

This report is intended for the information of the state's management, federal awarding agencies and pass-through entities, and other applicable government officials. However this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

STATE OF MISSOURI
NOTES TO THE SCHEDULE OF EXPENDITURES OF FEDERAL AWARDS

1. Significant Accounting Policies

A. Purpose of Schedule and Reporting Entity

The accompanying Schedule of Expenditures of Federal Awards of the state of Missouri has been prepared to comply with U.S. Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Circular A-133, Audits of States, Local Governments, and Non-Profit Organizations. The circular requires a schedule of expenditures of federal awards showing total expenditures for each federal financial assistance program as identified in the catalog of federal domestic assistance (CFDA), and identification of federal financial assistance programs which have not been assigned a CFDA number.

The accompanying schedule includes all federal financial assistance programs administered by the state of Missouri, except for those accounted for in the college and university fund type of the general purpose financial statements of the state of Missouri for the year ended June 30, 1998. Federal financial assistance provided to entities accounted for in the college and university fund type has been excluded from this audit.

B. Basis of Presentation

The accompanying Schedule of Expenditures of Federal Awards is presented in accordance with OMB Circular A-133, which defines federal financial assistance as "... assistance that non-federal entities receive or administer in the form of grants, loans, loan guarantees, property (including donated surplus property), cooperative agreements, interest subsidies, insurance, food commodities, direct appropriations and other assistance, but does not include amounts received as reimbursement for services rendered to individuals."

The schedule presents both Type A and B federal assistance programs administered by the state of Missouri. OMB Circular A-133 establishes the formula for determining the level of expenditures or disbursements to be used in defining Type A and B federal financial assistance programs. For the state of Missouri, Type A programs are those which exceed $13.5 million in disbursements, expenditures, or distributions for the year ended June 30, 1998. The determination of major and nonmajor programs is based on the risk-based approach outlined in OMB Circular A-133.

C. Basis of Accounting

The expenditures for each of the federal financial assistance programs are presented on the accounting basis as required by the federal agency which awarded the assistance. Most programs are presented on a cash basis; however, some are presented on a modified accrual basis.

The major programs for which expenditures of federal awards are presented on the modified accrual basis are as follows:

17.246 Employment and Training Assistance - Dislocated Workers
17.250 Job Training Partnership Act
20.205 Highway Planning and Construction
84.010 Title I Grants to Local Educational Agencies
84.027 Special Education - Grants to States
84.032 Federal Family Education Loans
84.048 Vocational Education - Basis Grants to States
84.126 Rehabilitation Services - Vocational Rehabilitation Grants to States
84.173 Special Education - Preschool Grants
84.181 Special Education - Grants for Infants and Families with Disabilities
84.318 Technology Literacy Challenge Fund Grants
96.001 Social Security - Disability Insurance

2. Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants and Children (WIC) Program Rebates

During the year ended June 30, 1998, the state received cash rebates from an infant formula manufacturer, in the amount of $19,297,386 on sales of formula to participants in the WIC Program (CFDA No. 10.557). Rebate contracts with infant formula manufacturers are authorized by 7 CFR 246.16(m) as a cost containment measure. Rebates represent a reduction of expenditures previously incurred for WIC food benefit costs. The state was able to extend program benefits to more persons than could have been served this fiscal year in the absence of the rebate contract.

3. Unemployment Insurance Expenditures from the State Unemployment Compensation Fund

Expenditures reported for the Unemployment Insurance program (CFDA No. 17.225) include unemployment benefit payments from the State Unemployment Compensation Fund totaling $263,426,776. Reimbursements to other states from the State Unemployment Compensation Fund for benefits paid by those states totaling $16,805,637 have also been included in the Unemployment Insurance program expenditure totals. Reimbursements to the State Unemployment Compensation Fund from other states for benefits paid by the State of Missouri totaling $3,981,786 have been excluded from the Unemployment Insurance program expenditure totals.

4. Nonmonetary Assistance

The Department of Health distributes vaccines to local health agencies and other health care professionals under the Childhood Immunization Grants program (CFDA No. 93.268). During the year ended June 30, 1998, distributions were valued at the cost of the vaccines paid by the federal government and totaled $6,196,865.

The State Agency for Surplus Property distributes federal surplus property to eligible donees under the Donation of Federal Surplus Personal Property program. During the year ended June 30, 1998, property distributions totaled $13,390,117, valued at the historical cost as assigned by the federal government, which is substantially in excess of the property's fair market value. The amount of expenditures presented on the Schedule of Expenditures of Federal Awards is 23.3 percent of the historical cost, which approximates the fair market value of the property at the time of distribution as determined by the General Services Administration.

The Department of Public Safety, Office of Director distributes excess Department of Defense equipment to state and local law enforcement agencies under the Department of Defense Surplus Property program. During the year ended June 30, 1998, property distributions totaled $1,194,822, valued at the historical cost as assigned by the federal government, which is substantially in excess of the property's fair market value. The amount of expenditures presented on the Schedule of Expenditures of Federal Awards is 23.3 percent of the historical cost, which approximates the fair market value of the property at the time of distribution.

SECTION III - FEDERAL AWARD FINDINGS AND QUESTIONED COSTS

DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

98-1.	Suspension and Debarment Compliance

Federal Agency: Department of Interior
Federal Program: 15.605 Sport Fish Restoration
State Agency: Department of Conservation (DOC)

The DOC has entered into contractual agreements with several contractors to build a new hatchery as well as various boating access projects. The DOC does not require contractors to certify that they have not been suspended or debarred.

43 CFR 12.75 requires that DOC must not make any award to any party which is debarred or suspended or is otherwise excluded from or ineligible for participation in Federal assistance. This requirement applies to all contractors receiving individual awards of $100,000 or more and all subrecipients. Controls must be established to obtain suspension and debarment certifications from parties to ensure compliance with the federal guidelines.

WE RECOMMEND the DOC obtain certifications from parties awarded contracts of $100,000 or more that the organization and its principals are not suspended or debarred.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We agree with the auditor's finding. Our Corrective Action Plan includes our planned actions to address this finding.

DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT - DIVISION OF JOB DEVELOPMENT AND TRAINING

The funds may be spent by the SDAs to operate federal programs as outlined in the DJDT's Financial Manual, which specifies the procedures the SDAs must follow for procuring goods and services.

SECTION III - FEDERAL AWARD FINDINGS AND QUESTIONED COSTS

Our review and testing of expenditure records at four of the fifteen SDAs noted that SDA 4 did not obtain invoices to support four advanced payments to motels totaling $5,711. As a result, the SDA has no assurance the amounts paid did not exceed the amounts charged. The SDA frequently pays motel expenses in advance to attend conferences in other states. The SDA determined the amounts to pay by contacting the applicable motels and inquiring about their rates. We reviewed supporting documentation for some prepaid motel expenses that were supported by motel invoices and found that refunds totaling $229 were due to the SDA, but had not been received. In one instance, the SDA paid for two rooms, but only used one. In the other instance, the rates actually charged were lower than the rates quoted and paid. SDA personnel contacted the motels and obtained the refunds after we brought these matters to their attention.

Procedures should be established to ensure invoices are obtained and reviewed for all motel expenditures to provide adequate documentation for the expenditures, and to provide assurance the amounts paid did not exceed the amounts charged.

WE RECOMMEND the DJDT require the SDA to obtain motel invoices to support the $5,711 in advance payments made to motels and require the SDA to establish procedures to ensure adequate supporting documentation, such as motel invoices, is obtained and reviewed for all future expenditures.

98-3. Fixed Asset Records and Procedures

Federal Agency:	Department of Labor
Federal Program:	17.246 Employment and Training Assistance - Dislocated Workers 17.250 Job Training Partnership Act
State Agency:	Department of Economic Development - Division of Job Development and Training (DJDT)

The DJDT communicates fixed asset regulations to the SDAs by documenting the regulations in the DJDT Financial Manual. Each SDA receives a copy of the manual.

Our review of SDA and DJDT fixed asset records and procedures revealed the following concerns:

A. Some SDAs did not report physical inventory results to the DJDT on a timely basis. As of October 1998, seven of the fifteen SDAs had not reported their physical inventory results to the DJDT. The DJDT Financial Manual indicates a physical inventory must be performed, reconciled, and documented at least once each year between April and June. In addition, the Financial Manual requires each SDA to send a letter to the DJDT upon completion of the physical inventory. DJDT personnel indicated the letters were supposed to be submitted to the DJDT by July 1, 1998.

To ensure the DJDT's fixed asset records are accurate and complete, the DJDT should enforce deadlines for receipt of physical inventory results from SDAs.

B. The DJDT did not follow up on SDAs' physical inventory results on a timely basis. The results of two SDAs' physical inventories as of June 30, 1997, indicated some items could not be located. SDA 13 reported 28 items missing, with acquisition costs totaling $52,975. However, when the physical inventory as of June 30, 1998, was completed, the SDA reported 13 of the missing items, costing a total of $38,179, from the year earlier inventory had been located; but 15 items, totaling $14,796, had not been located. Also, ten additional items, totaling $11,462, were missing according to the SDA's June 30, 1998 physical inventory report. The missing items included computer equipment, a fax machine, a wheel balancer, a tool cabinet, a dictation unit, a camcorder, a VCR, a folding machine, a typewriter, and large appliances. The large appliances were among seven items left at a training site that was vacated several years ago. SDA 11 reported three items missing, with acquisition costs totaling $4,303. The missing items included a typewriter, a computer system, and a keyboard. The DJDT Financial Manual indicates SDAs are required to replace missing items or pay the DJDT the fair market value of the items. Although the physical inventory results for the year ended June 30, 1997, were reported to the DJDT by June 30, 1997, as of October 1998, the DJDT has not required the SDAs to replace the items or pay the DJDT the fair market value of the items.

   To encourage SDAs to ensure all fixed assets are accounted for properly, the DJDT should establish procedures to enforce the requirement that SDAs must replace missing items or pay DJDT the fair market value of the items.

WE RECOMMEND the DJDT:

A. Enforce deadlines for receipt of physical inventory results from SDAs.

B. Establish procedures to enforce the requirement that SDAs replace missing items or pay DJDT the fair market value of the items.

We agree with the auditor's findings. Our Corrective Action Plan includes our planned actions to address these findings.

DEPARTMENT OF ELEMENTARY AND SECONDARY EDUCATION

98-4.	Subrecipient Monitoring

Federal Agency:	Department of Education Department of Health and Human Services
Federal Program:	84.010 Title I Grants to Local Educational Agencies 84.027 Special Education - Grants to States 84.048 Vocational Education - Basic Grants to States 84.173 Special Education - Preschool Grants 93.575 Child Care and Development Block Grant
State Agency:	Department of Elementary and Secondary Education (DESE)

A. The DESE either makes advance payments or disburses monies based on a payment schedule to school districts and post-secondary schools until the end of the fiscal year when the last payment made is based on a final expenditure report submitted by these subrecipients. Department of Education Regulation 34 CFR 80.37(a)(4) and Department of Health and Human Services Regulation 45 CFR 92.37(a)(4) require the state to minimize the time elapsing between the receipt of funds and disbursement and to establish similar requirements for subreceipients. Although the DESE has established such procedures for the department, it has not established procedures for subrecipients to minimize the time elapsing between the transfer of funds from the state and subsequent disbursement by the subrecipients.

B. The DESE does not have established procedures to inform subrecipients of grant award information, such as the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance (CFDA) title and number, award name and number, and the name of the federal agency. Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Circular A-133 requires the DESE to inform subrecipients of CFDA title and number, award name and number, and name of federal agency.

WE RECOMMEND the DESE:

A. Establish procedures to ensure subrecipients minimize the time elapsing between the transfer of funds from the state and disbursement by the subrecipients.

B. Provide subrecipients grant award information such as CFDA title and number, award name and number, and name of federal agency.

98-5.	Period of Availability of Funds

Federal Agency: Department of Education
Federal Program: 84.027 Special Education - Grants to States
State Agency: Department of Elementary and Secondary Education (DESE)
Questioned Costs: $261,149

Special Education regulations provide for an obligation period for using grant funding of fifteen months from July 1 through September 30 of the following year plus a one-year carryover provision. For example, the 1995 appropriation initially became available on July 1, 1995 which allows grant funds to be obligated from July 1, 1995 through September 30, 1997. Department of Education Regulation 34 CFR 80.23(a) indicates where a funding period is specified, a grantee may charge to the award only costs resulting from obligations of the funding period.

In addition, Department of Education Regulation 34 CFR 80.23(b) requires that obligations incurred under a federal award must be liquidated not later than 90 days after the end of the funding period. For the Special Education grant, obligations should have been liquidated by December 31, 1997.

Special Education funds totaling $76,719 were not obligated until October 14, 1997, which was after the date when funds could be obligated. In addition, $129,037 in Special Education funds originally obligated in June 1997 to various school districts were unobligated in October 1997 and reobligated to other school districts, after the date when funds could be obligated.

Payments totaling $55,393 were made from Special Education Grant funds during January 1998 through April 1998, which was after the date when obligations could be liquidated.

WE RECOMMEND the DESE resolve the questioned costs with the grantor agency. In addition, the DESE should ensure funds are obligated within the period of availability and that obligations are liquidated not later than 90 days after the end of the funding period.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH

98-6. Schedule of Expenditures of Federal Awards and Subrecipient Awards

Federal Agency:	Department of Agriculture Department of Health and Human Services
Federal Program:	10.557 Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children 10.558 Child and Adult Care Food Program 93.575 Child Care and Development Block Grant 93.596 Child Care Mandatory and Matching Funds of the Child Care and Development Fund
State Agency:	Department of Health (DOH)

A. OMB Circular A-133 requires the DOH to prepare a Schedule of Expenditures of Federal Awards (SEFA). This Circular states the SEFA shall, at a minimum, list individual federal programs by federal agency and include the CFDA number for each individual federal program. To the extent practical, the schedule is also to include amounts provided to subrecipients for each federal program. We noted the following problems with the SEFA prepared by DOH:

- The programs listed on the SEFA were not listed by federal agency. In general, Department of Health and Human Services programs were listed first followed by Department of Agriculture programs; however, programs without a CFDA number were listed last and other programs were listed randomly on the SEFA.

- While in most cases the DOH did identify the CFDA number, the CFDA title used by the DOH was not correct for most of the programs included on the SEFA. Programs were identified by the generic title used by the DOH instead of the proper title used by the CFDA.

- Amounts provided to subrecipients were included on a separate schedule. This schedule did not include the CFDA number and did not list programs by federal agency. In addition, the schedule originally prepared by DOH was not accurate because it indicated a higher amount provided to subrecipients than the total expenditures for several programs.

As a result, the SEFA prepared by the DOH was not accurate and did not comply with OMB Circular A-133. We made the appropriate adjustments to the original SEFA to conform to federal requirements. The DOH needs to implement procedures and maintain proper records to ensure the SEFA is prepared accurately.

B. OMB Circular A-133 requires DOH to inform subrecipients of the CFDA title and number of federal awards. The DOH makes several awards to subrecipients that include both state and federal monies and other awards that include monies from various federal programs. While the DOH does inform subrecipients when federal and/or state monies are used in an award, DOH does not inform subrecipients of the amount of federal monies used from each particular federal program. As a result, subrecipients cannot determine how much federal money is provided to them for each federal program included in the award and this may impede the subrecipient's audit process. In addition, the CFDA title of the federal award was rarely provided to subrecipients. At a minimum, DOH should implement procedures to provide the percentage of each award that is attributable to each individual federal program and include the CFDA title in the contract to ensure compliance with OMB Circular A-133.

WE RECOMMEND the DOH implement procedures and maintain records to ensure:

A. The SEFA is prepared in accordance with OMB Circular A-133.

B. Subrecipients are provided with the information required by OMB Circular A-133.

DEPARTMENT OF HIGHER EDUCATION

98-7. Reconciliation of Reports

Federal Agency: Department of Education
Federal Program: 84.032 Federal Family Education Loans
State Agency: Department of Higher Education (DHE)

The DHE contracts with a loan program servicer to maintain records, process loans and claims, and collect on defaulted loans guaranteed through the Federal Family Education Loans (FFEL) program. The loan program servicer is responsible for providing data used to compile monthly (1189) and quarterly (1130) reports submitted by the DHE to the United States Department of Education (USDE). Although the DHE agrees the data presented on the quarterly and monthly reports to supporting documentation, a reconciliation of the monthly and quarterly reports is not performed.

The 1130 report sections that could be reconciled with the 1189 report are the claims section, the collections section, and the federal receivable data section. Although methods to reconcile the two reports have been provided to both DHE and the loan program servicer in previous audits and by the USDE, the reconciliations have not been routinely performed. The loan servicer prepared a reconciliation of the federal receivable data section for the quarter ending December 31, 1997.

To adequately monitor the department's financial position and to ensure errors are detected and corrected on a timely basis, the DHE should reconcile the monthly reports to the quarterly reports on a timely basis. Without a reconciliation of the monthly and quarterly reports, errors may go undetected.

WE RECOMMEND the DHE establish and implement procedures to reconcile the 1189 and 1130 reports and maintain documentation of the reconciliations.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We agree with the auditor's finding. Our Corrective Action Plan includes our planned actions to address this finding.

DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

98-8.	Subrecipient Monitoring

Federal Agency: Department of Transportation
Federal Program: 20.205 Highway Planning and Construction
State Agency: Department of Transportation (MoDOT)

The MoDOT passes federal funds to subrecipient local governments through various programs, including the Highway Bridge Replacement and Rehabilitation Program. OMB Circular A-133 requires the grant recipients to provide subrecipients the applicable federal compliance requirements and to monitor the subrecipients' activities to provide reasonable assurance that the subrecipients administer the federal awards in compliance with the federal requirements. The MoDOT provides each recipient of federal funds a Local Public Agency Manual (LPA) which identifies the applicable federal compliance requirements.

A. Section 6.2.2 of the Cash Management Improvement Act Agreement between the State of Missouri and the United States Department of Treasury states that funds should be requested such that they are received not more than two days prior to disbursement of a payment. The LPA does not address this cash management requirement. Some subrecipients incur the related expenditures prior to claiming reimbursement from MoDOT; however, it appears many subrecipients request and receive grant funds from MoDOT prior to disbursing the monies. Audits of some subrecipients have reported these entities holding funds longer than two days before payment is made to the applicable parties, with some monies being held for a significant amount of time.

The MoDOT must monitor cash drawdowns by its subrecipients to ensure that subrecipients conform substantially to the same standards of timing and amount as apply to the state. In addition, the LPA should be revised to address these requirements.

B. Sections 8.289 and 8.291, RSMo 1994, provide that when obtaining engineering services for any capital improvement project, at least three highly qualified firms should be considered. The LPA provides that each subrecipient shall submit to MoDOT a statement of procedures which it uses to evaluate and select consultants and that three or more firms be considered before the final selection is made. However, the MoDOT does not ensure that subrecipients submit the required statement of procedures or ensure subrecipients evaluate at least three firms as required. Audits of some subrecipients have reported that the applicable subrecipient had no documentation to indicate at least three engineering firms were considered prior to a contract for engineering services being entered into.

The MoDOT should establish procedures to ensure subrecipients submit the required statement of procedures and evaluate at least three firms.

C. The MoDOT does not have adequate procedures to ensure findings reported in subrecipient audit reports are properly addressed. Subrecipients have not always been contacted or management decisions issued related to audit findings. OMB Circular A-133 requires subrecipients expending $300,000 or more in federal awards during the subrecipient's fiscal year to have a single audit performed. The pass-through entity is also required to issue management decisions on audit findings in those reports within six months of receipt of the report and ensure that the subrecipient takes appropriate and timely corrective action.

WE RECOMMEND the MoDOT:

A. Inform subrecipients about the cash management requirements and establish procedures to ensure the requirements are met.

B. Establish procedures to ensure subrecipients submit a statement of procedures used to evaluate and select engineering consultants as required and ensure subrecipients consider at least three firms before procuring such services.

SECTION III - FEDERAL AWARD FINDINGS AND QUESTIONED COSTS

C. Establish procedures to ensure that management decisions are made on subrecipient audit findings within six months after receipt of the audit reports and that the subrecipient takes appropriate and timely corrective action.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We agree with the auditor's findings. Our Corrective Action Plan includes our planned actions to address these findings.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR AND INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS

98-9. Cost Allocation System

Federal Agency:	Department of Labor
Federal Program:	17.207 Employment Service
	17.225 Unemployment Insurance
	17.801 Disabled Veterans' Outreach Program
	17.804 Local Veterans' Employment Representative Program
State Agency:	Department of Labor and Industrial Relations (DLIR)

The DLIR allocates costs to its various grant programs each month through the use of a computerized Cost Allocation System (CAS). The system performs this allocation based on percentages of time devoted to various project codes during the month which is developed from the DLIR's time recording system. The allocation process is performed in several phases to ensure that allocated costs can be allocated to a specific cost center or to various cost centers in accordance with one or more allocation tables used by the DLIR.

The DLIR's controls over the CAS input and output are inadequate. Each month, prior to the allocation process, the DLIR prepares a detailed listing of expenditures incurred by the various cost centers. This pre-allocation report indicates whether each expenditure is charged directly to a program or set aside to be allocated among various programs. Subsequent to the allocation process, the DLIR prepares a summary report of total costs allocated for the same month. This post-allocation report also indicates whether each expenditure is a direct cost or a cost that was allocated by the CAS.

The DLIR does not reconcile indirect costs from the pre-allocation report to the post-allocation report; however, with the DLIR's assistance, we performed this reconciliation for the month of March 1998. A monthly reconciliation as described above is needed to ensure that total expenditures not coded directly to projects have been properly allocated. In addition, the DLIR does not perform periodic tests of the allocation performed by the CAS to ensure expenditures are being properly allocated at the project code level.

SECTION III - FEDERAL AWARD FINDINGS AND QUESTIONED COSTS

WE RECOMMEND the DLIR establish procedures to reconcile monthly reports of costs to be allocated by the CAS to actual allocated expenditures. In addition, the DLIR should periodically test the CAS, to ensure it is allocating costs properly at the project code level.

DEPARTMENT OF MENTAL HEALTH

98-10. Suspension and Debarment Compliance

Federal Agency: Department of Health and Human Services
Federal Program: 93.959 Substance Abuse Prevention and Treatment Block Grant
State Agency: Department of Mental Health (DMH)

The State is required to obtain a certification from all subrecipients and any contractors receiving individual awards of $100,000 or more. The certification indicates that the organization and its principals are not suspended or debarred from doing business with the federal government. The DMH has not obtained such certifications from subrecipients and contractors.

WE RECOMMEND the DMH obtain appropriate suspension and debarment certifications from subrecipients and applicable contractors.

DEPARTMENT OF NATURAL RESOURCES

98-11. Federal Grant Reporting Procedures

Federal Agency: Environmental Protection Agency
Federal Program: 66.000 Environmental Protection Agency-Cross Cutting Issues
State Agency: Department of Natural Resources (DNR)

SECTION III - FEDERAL AWARD FINDINGS AND QUESTIONED COSTS

The DNR administered about 40 federal grant programs during the year ended June 30, 1998. The DNR periodically files financial status reports (FSRs) with the federal grantor to report the federal grant activity. The DNR obtains the information needed to complete the FSRs from their Integrated Administrative System (IAS). OMB Circular A-133 requires the DNR to prepare a Schedule of Expenditures of Federal Awards (SEFA) for the fiscal year showing the financial activity for each federal program. Our review of the federal grant reporting procedures noted the following:

A. Differences exist between the amounts reported on the FSRs, the amounts reported on the IAS for each federal grant, and the amounts presented on the SEFA. Documentation of the reconciliations of these amounts is not retained.

To ensure expenditures are properly reported to the appropriate federal agencies and accurately stated on the SEFA, documentation of the reconciliation between the amounts shown on the FSRs to the amounts recorded on the IAS and the SEFA should be retained.

B. The SEFA prepared for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1998, was incorrect and incomplete and required several adjustments. Some federal programs were not included on the schedule, some expenditures were actually expenditures or accounting adjustments from previous years, and some expenditures were incorrectly reported based on supporting documentation. Reported federal expenditures for some programs on the original schedule as compared to the actual federal expenditures shown on the adjusted schedule of expenditures for the year ended June 30, 1998, are as follows:

CFDA #	Federal Program	Expenditures Originally Reported	Corrected Expenditures Reported
15.252	Abandoned Mine Land Reclamation Program	$ 1,643,641	2,758,126
66.438	Construction Management Assistance	(1,257,089)	259,288
66.458	Capitalization Grants for State Revolving Funds	107,787,774	39,119,942
66.605	Performance Partnership Grants	11,314,925	8,536,156
81.042	Weatherization Assistance for Low-Income Persons	4,052,347	2,576,655

In addition to the above programs, $1.1 million in adjustments were required to correct the SEFA for various other programs. The total federal expenditures originally reported on the SEFA was $136,736,538, while the adjusted and corrected total expenditures presented on the schedule was $67,531,968, or a difference of $69,204,570 in adjustments.

SECTION III - FEDERAL AWARD FINDINGS AND QUESTIONED COSTS

The DNR should ensure the SEFA is complete and accurate. Formal written procedures should be developed on how the schedule is to be prepared and checked for completeness and accuracy. In addition, the DNR should ensure the individual preparing the schedule is properly trained and supervised.

WE RECOMMEND the DNR:

A. Retain written documentation of the reconciliations between the amounts reported on the Integrated Administrative System, the FSRs, and the SEFA.

B. Prepare a complete and accurate SEFA. Formal written procedures for preparation of the schedule should be prepared and the individual preparing the schedule should be properly trained and supervised.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We partially agree with the auditor's finding. Our Corrective Action Plan includes an explanation and specific reasons for our response and any planned actions to address the finding.

98-12. Monitoring of Weatherization Subgrantees

Federal Agency: Department of Energy
Federal Program: 81.042 Weatherization Assistance for Low Income Persons
State Agency: Department of Natural Resources (DNR)

The DNR provides funding for weatherization activities to 18 subgrantees located throughout the state. The DNR monitors the expenditures by subgrantee to ensure various financial and compliance guidelines are met. In addition, the subgrantees are required to have an annual audit performed in accordance with OMB Circular A-133, which is submitted to and reviewed by the DNR. The DNR internal auditor also performs a yearly monitoring visit on each subgrantee. A review of 11 subgrantee independent audit reports noted one audit that disclosed several weaknesses in the weatherization program. Although the audit report for the period ended September 30, 1997, and dated November 21, 1997, disclosed no questioned costs, the audit report revealed the following weaknesses:

- Weatherization expenditure reports being prepared by the program director were based upon budget estimates and work orders. There was no way to reconcile these reports to the subgrantee's general ledger.
- The subgrantee had over expended in certain categories of funding with respect to its weatherization program.
- One client file contained no proof of ownership.
- Four client files indicated applications were not current and income was not reverified.

- One client file contained a calculation of income that was performed incorrectly, which would have made the client ineligible if calculated correctly.
- Four client files contained no proof of address relating to copies of loan payments.
- One instance was noted where support for an expense could not be located.
- One expenditure had been incorrectly charged to the weatherization program.
- Various instances were noted where proper bidding was not performed.
- One expenditure was not recorded to the proper account.
- Supporting documentation could not be located for two disbursements.

There was no documentation available at the DNR to indicate the audit findings were followed up on. A discussion with the DNR internal auditor in December 1998 noted that he had not contacted the subrecipient to determine if corrective action had been taken. He indicated that this would be done as part of a monitoring visit in January 1999.

OMB Circular A-133, Section 400(d) requires the DNR to issue a management decision on audit findings within six months after receipt of the audit report and to ensure the subrecipient takes appropriate and timely corrective action.

The weaknesses noted in the audit report and the lack of follow up by the DNR could result in the weatherization program being charged for expenditures not related to that particular activity and, consequently, could represent unallowable costs to the program.

WE RECOMMEND the DNR establish procedures to ensure all subrecipient audit reports are followed up on to ensure proper corrective action has been taken as required by OMB Circular A-133.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We partially agree with the auditor's finding. Our Corrective Action Plan includes an explanation and specific reasons for our response and any planned actions to address the finding.

98-13. State Revolving Fund Bank Reconciliations

Federal Agency: Environmental Protection Agency
Federal Program: 66.458 Capitalization Grants for State Revolving Funds
State Agency: Department of Natural Resources (DNR)

Reconciliations of the State Revolving Fund reserve account bank balances to the accounting records are not being performed properly. At June 30, 1998, the accounting records indicated the reserve account balances were $2.1 million less than what was actually held in the various bank accounts. We also noted there were no independent reviews of the reconciliations between the accounting records and the various bank statements by someone other than the person that normally performs the reconciliations.

To ensure the reserve account balances of the State Revolving Fund are accurate, a proper reconciliation between the accounting records and the various bank statements must be performed. Any difference between the accounting records and the amounts per the bank statements should be resolved and corrections appropriately made and documented.

WE RECOMMEND the DNR ensure accurate reconciliations of the State Revolving Fund reserve account balances per the accounting records to the amounts recorded on the various bank statements be performed and any difference be investigated and resolved. An independent review of the reconciliations should also be made periodically.

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL SERVICES -
DIVISION OF CHILD SUPPORT ENFORCEMENT

98-14.	Subrecipient Audits

Federal Agency: Department of Health and Human Services
Federal Program: 93.563 Child Support Enforcement
State Agency: Department of Social Services - Division of Child Support Enforcement (DCSE)

The DCSE reimburses counties for a share of expenses related to the Child Support Enforcement program. The DCSE requires these subrecipients to sign a cooperative agreement to receive reimbursements. OMB Circular A-133 requires the state to ensure that subrecipients expending $300,000 or more in federal awards in a fiscal year have met the audit requirements of OMB Circular A-133. The state must also issue a management decision on all audit findings within six months after receipt of the subrecipient's audit report and ensure the subrecipient takes appropriate and timely corrective action if instances of noncompliance with federal laws and regulations are noted.

The DCSE'S county cooperative agreements incorrectly continue to require audits in compliance with OMB Circular A-128 instead of OMB Circular A-133.

WE RECOMMEND the DCSE provide all subrecipients notice that audits must be in compliance with OMB Circular A-133, and similarly correct all future cooperative agreements.

SECTION III - FEDERAL AWARD FINDINGS AND QUESTIONED COSTS

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

DCSE agrees with the auditor's finding. DCSE's Corrective Action Plan includes DCSE's planned actions to address this finding.

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL SERVICES - DIVISION OF FAMILY SERVICES

98-15. Benefit Eligibility

Federal Agency:	Department of Health and Human Services
		Questioned Costs
Federal Program:	93.658 Foster Care - Title IV-E	$16,174
	93.778 Medical Assistance Program	5,422
State Agency:	Department of Social Services - Division of Family Services (DFS)

A. Under 42 USC Sections 606 and 672(a), foster children are eligible to receive Title IV-E benefits if under age eighteen, or, until age nineteen if a full-time high school student and are reasonably expected to graduate by their nineteenth birthday. Once a foster child reaches either one of these two limitations, the state may continue benefits with state funds.

To comply with the above age limitation rules, the DFS uses a monthly computer report to identify foster children reaching age nineteen who would no longer be eligible for the federal benefits. This monthly report is sent to the local DFS office for any necessary case actions such as changing the funding source or closing the case. The system does not review graduation date status or identify foster children reaching the age of eighteen who need graduation status review.

We obtained a computer file of all Foster Care clients as of April 1998 and used the information to determine the adequacy and test the effectiveness of the DFS procedures. At April 30, 1998, there were 111 open cases in which the foster child was age eighteen or older and was receiving benefits from Title IV-E. We selected 28 of these 111 cases for further review. Of the 28 cases, 24 were for foster children nineteen or older with 17 of these cases being active and 4 were for children between the age of eighteen and nineteen with active cases. We noted eighteen cases where the child continued to receive benefits from Title IV-E after age nineteen or after age eighteen when the case file documentation clearly indicated the child was not expected to graduate from high school by age nineteen. The review also noted an additional five cases where the child received benefits from Title IV-E after age eighteen; however, based on the child's birth date it appeared probable that the child could not graduate from high school by age nineteen. The following table provides greater detail on these twenty-three cases:

Case Number	Month No Longer IV-E Eligible	Reason Child No Longer Eligible	As of 9/98 # of Ineligible Months Paid From IV-E Funds	Total Amount Inappropriately Paid From IV-E Funds	Case Status As Of 09/30/98	Child Was Being Paid From IV-E Funds At 09/30/98	Case File Had Documentation of High School Graduation Status	Estimate of Amount Inappropriately Paid from IV-E Funds If Child Could Not Graduate By Age 19	Local Office

A Documentation in the case file indicates the child would not graduate from high school by age 19.
B Child over age 19.
C Child was over age 18 and had graduated from high school.
D Effective June 1998 the child was no longer paid from IV-E funds.
E Effective July 1998 the child was no longer paid from IV-E funds.
F Case file was not reviewed.
G Could not determine because the local office could not find the case file.
H Case is active, but no benefits are being paid.

Based on the results documented in the above table, it appears eighteen of these foster children received at least $26,655 in inappropriate Title IV-E benefits, with the resulting federal share being $16,174, which we have questioned. For six of the cases noted above, we found no documentation in the case file supporting that the child was reasonably expected to graduate from high school before age nineteen. We were unable to evaluate the high school graduation status for three cases because the Jackson County local office could not locate the case files and we did not look at the case files for eight others. For the eighteen cases showing inappropriate Title IV-E payments, we included only amounts paid after the child turned nineteen or after the child turned eighteen and documentation in the case file supported that the child was not expected to graduate before the age of nineteen. However, for eleven of these children and the five other cases noted above, it did not appear that the child could have been reasonably expected to graduate from high school by age nineteen, based on the month of birth. If these children were ineligible for Title IV-E benefits starting at age eighteen, the additional amount of inappropriate benefit payments would total $112,009 (federal share of $67,967).

The DFS uses allocation rates computed on a quarterly basis to compute certain categories of administrative costs for reimbursement under the Title IV-E program. The state included counts of these ineligible children in computing the allocation rates. As a result, Title IV-E administrative costs may have been overclaimed for the year ended June 30, 1998. Since we could not determine the exact period of ineligibility for each child, we did not compute the amount of administrative costs overclaimed.

Procedures should be improved to ensure the high school graduation status of all foster children turning age eighteen is obtained, documented in the case file and used to correct the benefit funding source if the expected graduation will be after age nineteen. The DFS should also consider computer system changes that would automatically switch the funding source to state only funding when foster children reach age nineteen.

B. The foster children discussed above also received benefits under the Medicaid program. Once Title IV-E eligibility ends the DSS must reevaluate the child's Medicaid eligibility status. The child would no longer be eligible for benefits paid from Title IV-E related Medicaid eligibility (ME) codes which are partially federally funded, but could be eligible for benefits from a different ME code which may or may not be partially federally funded. Fifteen of the twenty-three children continued to receive Medicaid benefits from Title IV-E related ME codes after becoming ineligible for Title IV-E benefits. We could not determine which ME code a child's Medicaid benefits should have been paid from after he or she became ineligible for Title IV-E benefits. The children received at least $8,935 in Medicaid benefits paid from an inappropriate ME code, with the resulting federal share being $5,422 which we have questioned. If these children were ineligible for Title IV-E benefits at age eighteen, the additional amount of benefits paid from inappropriate ME codes would total $8,787 (federal share of $5,332).

WE RECOMMEND the DFS resolve the questioned costs with the grantor agency. In addition, the DFS should improve procedures to ensure the high school graduation status for all foster children turning eighteen is obtained, documented in the case file and used to adjust the benefit funding source (including Medicaid benefits) if the child's expected graduation will be after age nineteen. The DFS should also consider computer system changes that would automatically switch to state funding when foster children reach the age of nineteen.

98-16.	Eligibility - Death Match

SECTION III - FEDERAL AWARD FINDINGS AND QUESTIONED COSTS

Federal Agency:	Department of Agriculture and Department of Health and Human Services
		Questioned Costs
Federal Program:	10.551 Food Stamps	$8,068
	93.558 Temporary Assistance for Needy Families	0
State Agency:	Department of Social Services - Division of Family Services (DFS)

Food Stamp and TANF client eligibility status is redetermined periodically based on the benefit program and the income stability of the client. Case benefit amounts will change based on the number of clients on a case and each member's income. The death of a client on a case would cause the case benefit amount to increase or decrease based on the number of clients remaining on the case and their income. Effective May 1998, most TANF and all Food Stamp benefits are distributed to clients by electronic benefit transfer (EBT) cards.

Between redetermination periods and to ensure the accuracy of client eligibility information, the DFS performs a monthly match between current benefit recipients and death records provided by the Department of Health - Bureau of Vital Statistics (BVS). Death matches involving a client who is the only member of an active case result in the automatic cutoff of benefits by the DFS computer system. However, if a match occurs when the client is an active member of a case along with other recipients, a report is sent to the local DFS office so the caseworker can reevaluate the benefit status and make any necessary changes.

To test the effectiveness of these procedures, we matched computer records of TANF and Food Stamp clients as of April 1998 with computer records of deaths reported in Missouri since 1980 obtained from the BVS. The match identified 543 TANF or Food Stamp clients by social security number with BVS records of a deceased individual. However, we determined that many of the 543 were not valid matches due to an incorrect social security number in the BVS records or for other reasons. Most cases (approximately 150) for clients that died in late March or during April were not reviewed; however, by scanning the printout and evaluating the reliability of the match, we identified at least eighteen Food Stamp clients with active cases in April 1998 who had died that month or in previous months. Four of these clients were the only member of a case and the case was appropriately automatically closed in May or June 1998 by the department's computer match. Benefits continued to be posted to these client's EBT cards following the client's death before the match identified it; however, none of the benefits were used. The following table provides greater detail on the other fourteen cases:

SECTION III - FEDERAL AWARD FINDINGS AND QUESTIONED COSTS

14	1-24-98	3-3-98		2	6	closed 7/98	0	St. Louis City
							$ 4,409

Based on the DFS benefit calculation guidelines and the earned income information in the case files, it appears the benefits were overpaid $8,068 on six of the cases and benefits were underpaid $3,659 on five cases.

Based on the results of our review, it appears caseworkers may not always receive or appropriately act on the death match reports sent to them. For example, in one case it appeared a benefit adjustment was appropriately made by the client's TANF caseworker, but not by the client's Food Stamp caseworker. In another instance, the case file indicated the death was only determined when the client's mail was returned to the DFS office and the death match report was not in the case file. In three instances, repeated case redetermination took place without the death being determined or reported by other clients on the case. For one of these cases, the caseworker identified the client's death ten months after its occurrence. The case file contained no indication of a computer match death notice.

DFS procedures need to be revised to ensure death match reports are received by caseworkers and reviewed on a timely basis. The revised procedures should ensure follow-up action if case changes or corrections are not made promptly.

WE RECOMMEND the DFS resolve the questioned costs with the grantor agency. In addition, the DFS should establish procedures to follow-up on the status of death match reports submitted to local offices for review to ensure action is appropriately taken to reevaluate the benefits the case is receiving.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

SECTION III - FEDERAL AWARD FINDINGS AND QUESTIONED COSTS

We agree with the auditor's finding. Our Corrective Action Plan includes our planned actions to address this finding.

98-17. Eligibility-Benefits to Felons

		Questioned Costs
Federal Agency:	Department of Agriculture and Department of Health and Human Services
Federal Program:	10.551 Food Stamps	$521
	93.558 Temporary Assistance for Needy Families	0
State Agency:	Department of Social Services - Division of Family Services (DFS)

The Personal Responsibility and Work Reconciliation Act of 1996, that became effective August 22, 1996, forbids the use of TANF or Food Stamp funds to provide assistance to any individual who is fleeing to avoid prosecution, or custody or confinement after conviction, for a felony or attempt to commit a felony, or who is violating a condition of parole or probation imposed under federal or state law.

During the month of April 1998, the state had approximately 234,000 TANF and Food Stamp recipients over age nineteen. To determine if the DFS was in compliance with this new requirement, we selected a statistical sample of 386 clients and asked the Missouri State Highway Patrol to determine if any of them had outstanding felony warrants. This sample was calculated to provide a 95% confidence level.

We identified two persons with outstanding felony warrants who had active Food Stamp cases as of October 1998. The following table provides greater detail on the two individuals:

Case Number	Date Warrant Issued	Month No Longer Eligible	Estimated Total Amount Overpaid As of 10/31/98	Case Status at 10/31/98	County Office
1	11-4-97	3/98 (1)	$ 385	active (2)	McDonald
2	8-12-98	9/98	136	active	St. Louis
			$ 521

(1) Month client's inactive case was reopen
(2) Case was sanctioned August 25, 1998 for an unrelated problem.

Our statistical sample indicates the estimated number of clients ineligible for benefits is approximately 1,200. For the year ended June 30, 1998, the average monthly food stamp benefit paid per client was approximately $70 and the 1,200 clients would receive up to $84,000 in projected ineligible benefits monthly.

Based on these projections, it appears the DFS should establish a cost-effective procedure to determine if clients have outstanding felony warrants.

WE RECOMMEND the DFS resolve the questioned costs with the grantor agency. In addition, the DFS should establish a cost-effective procedure to determine whether clients have outstanding felony warrants or have committed other violations that would prevent their eligibility.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We agree with the auditor's finding. Our Corrective Action Plan includes our planned actions to address this finding.

98-18.	Eligibility-Social Security Number

Federal Agency: Department of Agriculture and Department of Health and Human Services

Federal Program: 10.551 Food Stamps
93.558 Temporary Assistance for Needy Families

State Agency: Department of Social Services - Division of Family Services (DFS)

All clients must apply for and be approved to receive benefits. During the application process, caseworkers are required to obtain social security numbers for each person included in the case. If the applicant cannot provide documentation of the social security number of all case members, program rules require the case to be opened and the necessary social security number documentation obtained at the client's next redetermination. If the documentation is not provided at redetermination, the client is to be removed from the case.

To test the effectiveness of DFS procedures to ensure social security numbers are obtained, we sorted a list of April 1998 TANF and Food Stamp recipients by social security number and noted 9,266 clients who did not have a social security number in the computer system database. We tested 48 of these clients and noted eleven of the forty-eight clients reviewed did not have a social security number entered into the database by November 1998. We reviewed the case files for five of these eleven clients and found that each file contained documentation of the client's social security number. Thus, it appears the caseworker obtained the social security number but did not enter it into the database.

SECTION III - FEDERAL AWARD FINDINGS AND QUESTIONED COSTS

Considering social security numbers are required for all benefit recipients and these numbers must be used in the various computer match verifications the DFS performs, procedures should be improved to ensure all social security numbers are entered into the DFS database when obtained.

WE RECOMMEND the DFS improve procedures to ensure client social security numbers obtained after the initial application are entered into the DFS database.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We agree with the auditor's finding. Our Corrective Action Plan includes our planned actions to address this finding.

98-19. Corrective Action on Prior Audit Findings

Federal Agency: Department of Agriculture and Department of Health and Human Services

Federal Program: 10.551 Food Stamps
93.558 Temporary Assistance for Needy Families
State Agency: Department of Social Services - Division of Family Services (DFS)

A. The DFS responded for audit finding 97-16A in the Summary Schedule of Prior Audit Findings that corrective action had been taken regarding ineligible receipt of TANF benefits by clients due to unreported workers' compensation benefits. While our review indicated that corrective action had been taken for the nine ineligible cases reported, a periodic match between the DFS computer records and workers' compensation computer records has not been established to identify workers' compensation benefits unreported by clients. The DFS response incorrectly implies that such a match is currently being done. The DFS has indicated it plans to implement such a match as part of the Family Assistance Management Information System (FAMIS) computer system, but that match has not yet been started.

B. The DFS responded for audit finding 97-16C in the Summary Schedule of Prior Audit Findings that corrective action had been taken regarding clients with invalid social security numbers on the DFS computer system. Our review indicated that all errors noted in the last audit were corrected; however, an additional eight clients with invalid numbers were noted in the population of April 1998 TANF and Food Stamp benefit recipients. None of these invalid numbers had been corrected by November 1998. On a quarterly basis DFS local offices are to receive a report of social security numbers reported as incorrect or invalid by the Social Security Administration based on the verification procedures performed by the department. It appears procedures were not improved to correct invalid social security numbers being reported in the DFS computer system.

WE RECOMMEND the DFS:

A. Establish an interim match between DFS computer records and workers' compensation computer records until the match planned as part of the FAMIS system is implemented and operating effectively.

B. Improve procedures to ensure caseworkers review the quarterly social security number exception report and correct any invalid social security numbers in the DFS computer system.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We agree with the auditor's finding. Our Corrective Action Plan includes our planned actions to address this finding.

98-20.	Reporting Compliance

Federal Agency: Department of Health and Human Services
Federal Program: 93.667 Social Services Block Grant (SSBG)
State Agency: Department of Social Services (DSS)

The DSS uses SSBG monies to fund various programs within the Divisions of Aging, Family Services, and Youth Services. Department of Health and Human Services regulations 45 CFR 96.74 and 45 CFR 96, Appendices A and B, require the state to prepare an annual report of program results. The annual report can be submitted in any format of the state's choice except for certain specific data for which a standard form is provided by the federal agency. The DSS supplemented the standard form with a separate narrative summary. On the report submitted for the year ended September 30, 1997, the DSS failed to include some information necessary to comply with federal requirements. Examples of the errors or omissions included:

1. Failure to report the total social service expenditures of federal, state, and local funds for each service category. Some state and local expenditures were omitted.
2. Failure to identify for each expenditure or recipient service data line item whether the data was from actual sources, or based on estimated or sampled results. Recipient data also failed to indicate whether the data was based upon an unduplicated or a duplicated count.

3. Failure to provide a description of the sampling and/or estimation methods used to derive any data reported which was not based on actual results.
4. Failure to report whether each type of service was provided through public or private organizations or both.
5. Reporting some children's treatment service expenditures under the "other services" line item rather than reporting the expenditures to one of the other more appropriate twenty-eight service category options. If the "other services" line item is used, the state's definition of these services is to appear in the report. Such a definition was not included.

The errors or omissions appeared to occur because the DSS had not established procedures to ensure the SSBG annual report was prepared in accordance with federal requirements.

WE RECOMMEND the DSS establish procedures to ensure the SSBG annual report is prepared in accordance with federal requirements.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We agree with the auditor's finding. Our Corrective Action Plan includes our planned actions to address this finding.

98-21.	Suspension and Debarment Compliance

Federal Agency: Department of Education and Department of Health and Human Services

Federal Program:

- 93.044 Special Programs for the Aging - Title III, Part B - Grants for Supportive Services and Senior Centers
- 93.045 Special Programs for the Aging - Title III, Part C - Nutrition Services
- 93.563 Child Support Enforcement
- 93.568 Low-Income Home Energy Assistance (LIHEAP)
- 93.575 Child Care and Development Block Grant

	93.596 Child Care Mandatory and Matching Funds of the Child Care and Development Fund
	93.658 Foster Care - Title IV-E
	93.667 Social Services Block Grant
	93.778 Medical Assistance Program
State Agency:	Department of Social Services (DSS)

The state is required to obtain a certification from all subrecipients and any contractors receiving individual awards of $100,000 or more. The certification indicates that the organization and its principals are not suspended or debarred from doing business with the federal government. The DSS has not obtained such certifications from subrecipients and contractors.

The DSS reported for finding 97-18B in the Summary Schedule of Prior Audit Findings that corrective action had been taken for a similar suspension and debarment concern noted for the LIHEAP program. However, our review determined that corrective action was not taken because the most recent contracts and subrecipient agreements for this program failed to include the required certifications.

WE RECOMMEND the DSS obtain appropriate suspension and debarment certifications from subrecipients and applicable contractors.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We agree with the auditor's finding. Our Corrective Action Plan includes our planned actions to address this finding.

98-22. Schedule of Expenditures of Federal Awards

Federal Agency:	Department of Health and Human Services
Federal Program:	93.575 Child Care and Development Block Grant
	93.596 Child Care Mandatory and Matching Funds of the Child Care and Development Fund
	93.658 Foster Care - Title IV-E
State Agency:	Department of Social Services (DSS)

The Schedule of Expenditures of Federal Awards (SEFA) prepared by the DSS misreported the expenditure amounts for the following programs:

SECTION III - FEDERAL AWARD FINDINGS AND QUESTIONED COSTS

CFDA Number	Initial Expenditure Amount Reported On The SEFA	Actual Amount Which Should Have Been Reported On The SEFA	Amount Overstated
93.575	49,393,248	23,391,411	26,001,837
93.596	140,882,199	45,149,917	95,732,282
93.658	73,666,100	61,821,857	11,844,243
	263,941,547	130,363,185	133,578,362

OMB Circular A-133 requires the auditee to prepare a Schedule of Expenditures of Federal Awards and report the total federal awards expended for each individual federal program. The DSS has not established effective procedures to ensure amounts reported on the SEFA are correct. The errors noted were corrected when we reported them to the DSS management.

WE RECOMMEND the DSS improve procedures to ensure the correct expenditure amounts are reported on the SEFA.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We agree with the auditor's finding. Our Corrective Action Plan includes our planned actions to address this finding. However, because the auditor acknowledges that errors were corrected when discovered, we disagree that this is a reportable item.

98-23. Cash Management

Federal Agency: Department of Health and Human Services and Department of the Treasury

Federal Program: 93.575 Child Care and Development Block Grant (CCDBG)
State Agency: Department of Social Services (DSS)

SECTION III - FEDERAL AWARD FINDINGS AND QUESTIONED COSTS

Questioned Costs: $57,090

The Cash Management Improvement Act (CMIA) and 31 CFR 205 require each state to enter into an agreement with the U.S. Department of the Treasury (DOT) covering the rules and procedures for the transfer of federal funds to the state for specific federal programs covered in the agreement. Each state will owe interest to the federal government or the federal government will owe interest to the state based on the drawdown and expenditure clearing patterns for these monies. In Missouri, the interest liability or the interest receivable for each applicable grant is submitted to the DOT by the state's Office of Administration in an annual report based on documentation submitted by the various state agencies that manage the federal programs which are included in the annual CMIA agreement.

For the year ended June 30, 1998, the CCDBG program was included in the state's CMIA agreement. As the lead agency for this grant, the DSS draws down all CCDBG funding, subsequently passing part of the funding to the Department of Health (DOH) under an interagency agreement. The DOH requests most of its CCDBG funding on a reimbursement basis as the funds are needed for its programs. However, under a separate interagency agreement between the DOH and the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education (DESE), CCDBG funding is also provided to the DESE. All the DESE funding is requested by the DOH on an advanced basis and is then transmitted to the DESE immediately upon receipt.

For the year ended June 30, 1998, the DESE held an average month end balance of $1.1 million in CCDBG funding. However, the state did not report the interest liability for this program on the CMIA Annual Report. As the lead agency for this grant, the DSS is responsible for ensuring compliance with cash management requirements. The interest liability for this grant could be as much as $57,090 based on the average balance held and the 5.19 percent interest rate required by the CMIA for fiscal year 1998.

The DSS should work with the DOH and the DESE to ensure future funding provided to these agencies is requested on a reimbursement basis or reflect monies being held at the DESE in future CMIA interest calculations.

WE RECOMMEND the DSS resolve the questioned costs. In addition, the DSS should work with the DOH and the DESE to ensure future funding provided to these agencies is requested on a reimbursement basis or reflect monies being held at the DESE in future CMIA interest calculations.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We agree with the auditor's finding. Our Corrective Action Plan includes our planned actions to address this finding.

SECTION III - FEDERAL AWARD FINDINGS AND QUESTIONED COSTS

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL SERVICES -
DIVISION OF MEDICAL SERVICES

98-24.	Ineligible Payments

Federal Agency: Department of Health and Human Services
Federal Program: 93.778 Medical Assistance Program
State Agency: Department of Social Services - Division of Medical Services (DMS)
Questioned Costs: $65,669

We matched Medicaid recipient inpatient and nursing home claims paid during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1998, and managed care claims paid in June 1998, with computer records of deaths reported in Missouri since 1980 obtained from the state's Department of Health, Bureau of Vital Statistics (BVS). The match agreed 609 Medicaid recipients by social security number with BVS records of a deceased individual. Many of the matched records were errors due to incorrect social security numbers in the BVS records or other reasons. We noted 309 recipients for whom the DMS properly either recouped money that had been paid out after the date of death, or did not pay a claim after the date of death. However, we also identified 52 recipients who had claims paid for service periods after their date of death but no recoupment had been made. The total amount of claims paid for these recipients was $108,221. In addition, for 18 of the 52 recipients, the Missouri Medicaid Information System (MMIS) did not indicate a date of death, and recipient records for five of these 18 recipients still showed the individual as being eligible for Medicaid benefits.

DMS procedures need to be revised to ensure the MMIS is properly updated upon a recipient's death so that future claims are not paid inappropriately. Based on work performed, the DMS appears to have overpaid $108,221 for inpatient, nursing home, and managed care claims and we question the federal share of this amount, $65,669.

WE RECOMMEND the DMS resolve the questioned costs with the grantor agency. In addition, the DMS should seek reimbursement from providers for the overpayments and establish procedures to ensure the MMIS is updated upon a recipient's death.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We partially agree with the auditor's finding. Our Corrective Action Plan includes an explanation and specific reasons for our disagreement and any planned actions to address this finding.

SECTION III - FEDERAL AWARD FINDINGS AND QUESTIONED COSTS

98-25. Nursing Home and Hospice Claim Overpayments

Federal Agency: Department of Health and Human Services
Federal Program: 93.778 Medical Assistance Program
State Agency: Department of Social Services - Division of Medical Services (DMS)
Questioned Costs: $94,473

The DMS will pay hospice providers for hospice care furnished to nursing home recipients. These payments to the hospice provider include 95 percent of the nursing home per diem. The hospice is then responsible for reimbursing the nursing home based on a separate agreement between the hospice provider and the nursing home.

During our review of nursing home and hospice claims paid during the year ended June 30, 1998, we noted numerous instances in which both the nursing home and the hospice provider were paid by the DMS for the same dates of service. All of these errors occurred during the initial month the nursing home recipient elected to receive hospice care. In total, the DMS paid nursing homes for 1,809 patient days for which the hospice provider was also paid, resulting in overpayments of $159,380. We question the federal share of this amount, $94,473. Although we did not quantify the overpayment for prior years, this problem appears to have existed since hospice providers began receiving the nursing home per diem in May 1989.

WE RECOMMEND the DMS resolve the questioned costs with the grantor agency. The DMS should also investigate and resolve similar questioned costs from prior years. In addition, the DMS should establish procedures to ensure nursing home and hospice claims are properly processed and paid.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We agree with the auditor's finding. Our Corrective Action Plan includes our planned actions to address this finding.

98-26. Drug Rebate Program

Federal Agency: Department of Health and Human Services
Federal Program: 93.778 Medical Assistance Program
State Agency: Department of Social Services, Division of Medical Services (DMS)
Questioned Costs: $257,083

SECTION III - FEDERAL AWARD FINDINGS AND QUESTIONED COSTS

The national drug rebate program requires all drug manufacturers to enter into a rebate agreement with the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) before their products can be reimbursed by Medicaid. The manufacturer is required to remit a rebate for each reimbursed unit of a drug at the end of each calender quarter. The Omnibus Reconciliation Act of 1990 (OBRA 90) established program guidelines applicable to both the state agencies who administer the rebate programs and the drug manufacturers. During the drug rebate dispute resolution process, the DMS identifies units over billed on drug claims. As a result, the DMS will reduce rebates from the manufacturers. Also, when a claim overpayment is determined, the DMS will initiate a recoupment from the pharmacy provider if the date of service on the claim is less than five years old. However, if the date of service is more than five years old, the DMS does not attempt to recover the overpaid claims from the pharmacy providers. The explanation given for this policy is that providers are not required to maintain documentation beyond five years from the date of service and, as a result, claim documentation may not be available for review.

As of December 1998, the Drug Rebate Unit has identified 9,193 claims with estimated overpayments totaling $423,670, for which recoupments from the pharmacies have not been initiated because the date of service for these claims is more than five years old. Federal regulations in 42 CFR Section 433.300 through 433.320 require all identified overpayments be returned to the grantor agency. We question the federal share of this amount, $257,083.

WE RECOMMEND the DMS resolve the questioned costs with the grantor agency. In addition, the DMS should ensure the grantor agency is credited for its share of overpayments when identified, attempt to recover the overpayments, and establish procedures to ensure future recoupments of overpayments are performed in a timely manner.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We disagree with the auditor's finding. Our Corrective Action Plan includes an explanation and specific reasons for our disagreement.

98-27. Third Party Liability

Federal Agency: Department of Health and Human Services
Federal Program: 93.778 Medical Assistance Program
State Agency: Department of Social Services, Division of Medical Services (DMS)

The Third-Party Liability (TPL) Unit's responsibilities include identifying, investigating, and monitoring Medicaid recipients' third-party resources. Third-party resources are responsible for paying the medical costs prior to those costs being submitted to the Medicaid Program for payment. By identifying third-party resources, the costs of the Medicaid Program can be reduced. During audit work of the TPL unit, the following concerns were noted:

SECTION III - FEDERAL AWARD FINDINGS AND QUESTIONED COSTS

A. The DMS has not maintained an up-to-date TPL action plan and has not submitted any updates to the Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA) since March 1991. Changes that have occurred since then include an increase in the cost effectiveness threshold amount for recovery of TPL claims from $75 to $500; a new contingency fee contractor and change in the scope of the contract; and some data matches no longer being performed. In addition, the DMS has been operating under a pharmacy cost avoidance waiver which expired in December 1993.

42 CFR Section 433.138 (k) and Section 3902.2 of the State Medicaid Manual require states to have an action plan for pursuing third party liability claims. The Medicaid manual requires all changes to the TPL action plan to be submitted to the HCFA Regional Office on an ongoing basis, but no later than 90 days from the date of the implementing change.

B. When the TPL Unit identifies trauma cases involving Medicaid recipients, the cases are recorded on a personal injury log. During the year ended June 30, 1998, 11,344 entries were recorded on this log. We selected 40 TPL claims from the personal injury log and for seven of 27 applicable items, the DMS failed to pursue collection from the third party within 60 days of the end of the month as required by 42 CFR Section 433.139 (d)(2). In addition, two of the seven cases, with liens of $726 and $1,190 respectively, were incorrectly closed. These cases were reopened as a result of our review.

WE RECOMMEND the DMS:

A. Ensure that the TPL action plan is maintained on a current basis and updates are submitted to HCFA in accordance with federal regulations.

B. Establish procedures to ensure collections from third parties are pursued within 60 days of the end of the month in which the potential TPL is identified.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. We agree with the auditor's finding. Our Corrective Action Plan includes our planned actions to address this finding.

B. We partially agree with the auditor's finding. Our Corrective Action Plan includes an explanation and specific reasons for our disagreement and any planned actions to address this finding.

SECTION III - FEDERAL AWARD FINDINGS AND QUESTIONED COSTS

98-28. Hospital Overpayments

Federal Agency: Department of Health and Human Services
Federal Program: 93.778 Medical Assistance Program
State Agency: Department of Social Services, Division of Medical Services (DMS)
Questioned Costs: $183,196

Section 1923 (g)(1)(A) of the Social Security Act and the Omnibus Reconciliation Act of 1993 (OBRA 93) require that payments not exceed the hospital's costs of treating Medicaid patients and the costs of uninsured patients. During our review of hospital payments, we noted the following concerns:

A.1. In March 1998, the DMS identified payments totaling $4,794,643 made to twenty hospitals which exceeded these hospitals' cost of providing care to Medicaid and uninsured patients. These overpayments sometimes unavoidably occur due to changes in estimates used to calculate provider incentive payments. Due to accounting errors in recording the related accounts receivable, the DMS only reduced the total Medicaid expenditures by $1,568,845, leaving $3,225,798 which were not initially netted against Medicaid expenditures. A similar accounting error, totaling $612,295, occurred during the previous fiscal year ended June 30, 1997. After we brought these matters to their attention, the DMS made the necessary corrections to the report to HCFA for the quarter ending September 30, 1998.

42 CFR Section 433.300 through Section 433.320, requires the DMS to return overpayments to the grantor agency within 60 days.

2. At the time of our review in January 1999, nineteen of the twenty hospitals had either repaid the overpayment, or were having amounts withheld from subsequent Medicaid payments. However, one of the twenty hospitals noted above still owed the DMS the entire amount of a $815,972 overpayment. As of January 1999, this hospital had received approximately $11.2 million in Medicaid payments since the receivable was established in March 1998. However, the DMS had not recouped any of the overpayment from this hospital. The DMS indicated recoupment had not begun in this case due to legal issues regarding a merger of this hospital. The DMS should recoup all overpayments in a timely manner.

B. The DMS established new inpatient per diem rates for all 147 hospital providers effective April 1, 1998. These new per diem rates were based on the providers' 1995 cost reports. We reviewed the per diem rate for 20 hospital providers and noted one provider's per diem rate which was apparently inappropriately increased by $155 in December 1998. This hospital had been paid a $155 incentive payment (as allowed by state regulation) since June 1993, to compensate it for additional costs related to providing acute treatment services to former residents of a state mental hospital. When new rates were established in 1998, the additional costs associated with providing the acute treatment were included in the 1995 cost report, and therefore considered when establishing the $824 per diem. However, the DMS failed to rescind the state regulation which provided for the initial incentive payment. On December 18, 1998, the DMS notified the hospital by letter of a $155 rate increase from $824 to $979. The DMS then retroactively adjusted claims with dates of service between April 1, 1998 and December 18, 1998 to pay at the new rate of $979, resulting in an additional payment of $301,906. The letter indicated that the increase was to allow an incentive payment to be added to the hospital's per diem for inpatient acute care services as provided by the state regulation. We question the federal share of the retroactive payment, $183,196.

It should also be noted the retroactive payment to this provider appears to exceed the limitations of the Social Security Act and OBRA 93 for state fiscal year 1998 because payments to this provider exceeded the hospital's costs of treating Medicaid and uninsured patients. The DMS asserts that additional capital and education costs were allowed this hospital to ensure these limitations were not exceeded. However, these costs were not allowed to other hospital providers during state fiscal year 1998. If other hospitals had been allowed these costs, the amount of overpayments identified in A.1. above would have been reduced.

WE RECOMMEND the DMS:

A.1. Establish procedures to ensure the federal share of overpayments is credited to the grantor agency within 60 days.

2. Ensure overpayments are recouped from providers in a timely manner.

B. Resolve the questioned costs with the grantor agency. In addition, the DMS should recoup overpayments made to this provider and establish procedures to ensure reimbursement rates comply with state and federal regulations.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A.1. We partially agree with the auditor's finding. Our Corrective Action Plan includes an explanation and specific reasons for our disagreement and any planned actions to address this finding.

2. We agree with the auditor's finding. Our Corrective Action Plan includes our planned actions to address this finding.

B. We disagree with the auditor's finding. Our Corrective Action Plan includes an explanation and specific reasons for our disagreement.

SUMMARY SCHEDULE OF PRIOR AUDIT FINDINGS

STATE OF MISSOURI
SUMMARY SCHEDULE OF PRIOR AUDIT FINDINGS

Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Circular A-133 requires the auditee to prepare a Summary Schedule of Prior Audit Findings to report the status of all audit findings in the prior audit for the year ended June 30, 1997, and the findings from the prior audits for the years ended June 30, 1996 and 1995, except those that were listed as corrected, no longer valid, or not warranting further action. This section includes the Summary Schedule of Prior Audit Findings, which is prepared by the state's management.

OMB Circular A-133 requires the auditor to follow-up on these prior audit findings, perform procedures to assess the reasonableness of the Summary Schedule of Prior Audit Findings, and report, as a current year finding, when the auditor concludes that the Summary Schedule of Prior Audit Findings materially misrepresents the status of any prior audit findings.

The disposition of the findings from the year ended June 30, 1996 is as follows:

Findings numbered 1, 3A, 4, 6B, 7, 8, 10, 11, and 15B were corrected.

Findings numbered 2, 3B, 5, 6A, 9, 12, 13, 14, 15A, and 16 are included in the Summary Schedule of Prior Audit Findings.

The disposition of the findings from the year ended June 30, 1995 is as follows:

Findings numbered 1, 2, 5, 7, 9, 12, 13, 14, 15, 17B, 19, 21B, 22, and 23 were corrected.

Findings numbered 6, 8, 11, 16, and 24B did not warrant further action.

Findings numbered 3, 4, 10, 17A, 18, and 24A had similar findings in the report for the year ended June 30, 1996 and, as a result, are not included in this report as findings for 1995.

Findings numbered 17C, 20, and 21A are included in the Summary Schedule of Prior Audit Findings.

SUMMARY SCHEDULE OF PRIOR AUDIT FINDINGS – 1997

97-1.A. Expenditures

Federal Agency: Department of Labor
State Agency: Department of Economic Development – Division of Job Development and Training (DJDT)

CFDA Number	Program Name	Questioned Costs
17.246	Employment and Training Assistance – Dislocated Workers	$0
17.250	Job Training Partnership Act	0

A Service Delivery Area (SDA) administrative entity paid $6,525 in transportation costs to a school district even though the contract indicated transportation services would be provided at no charge. In addition, the administrative entity did not obtain bids for the cost of transporting program participants.

Recommendation

The DJDT:

1. Obtain reimbursement from the school district of the $6,525 and ensure the administrative entity does not reimburse expenditures when an agreement exists indicating the services are to be provided without funding from the administrative entity.

2. Ensure the SDA administrative entity complies with bidding requirements.

Status of Finding:

Instead of receiving reimbursement, the SDA reduced a future period transportation billing from the school district by $6,525. The school district provided transportation at no cost to the Title II-B program. The SDA procurement process was reviewed and will be reviewed during future monitoring visits. DJDT considers this prior finding fully corrected.

CFDA Number	Program Name	Questioned Costs
17.246	Employment and Training Assistance - Dislocated Workers	$1,909
17.250	Job Training Partnership Act	5,227

Some on-the-job training (OJT) salary reimbursement claim forms paid by administrative entities were not signed by program participants resulting in questioned costs of $7,136.

Recommendation

The DJDT resolve the questioned costs with the grantor agency and ensure the administrative entities comply with OJT documentation requirements.

Status of Finding:

The administrative entities provide some of the required documentation or participant signatures to support some of the questioned costs. OJT documentation requirements will be reviewed during future monitoring visits to the administrative entities. The grantor agency has not yet requested the Governor's resolution of this finding. Once payment has been received from the administrative entity, DJDT will consider this finding fully corrected.

Status of Questioned Costs:

DJDT has determined $2,133 of the questioned cost to be disallowed. The administrative entity has been notified this amount must be returned to DJDT from non-federal funds. The disallowed costs are a debt and if not paid will be turned over to the State Attorney General's Office for debt collection.

Department-wide consulting service expenditures were directly charged to the Special Education program grants resulting in questioned costs of $36,000.

Recommendation:

The DESE resolve the questioned costs with the grantor agency. In addition, the DESE should ensure only expenditures specifically related to the Special Education program are charged directly to Special Education grants.

Documentation was not maintained to support the method used to allocate an employee's salary resulting in questioned costs of $6,044. The employee did not maintain time sheets or personnel activity reports nor was the allocation method used for this salary approved by the cognizant federal agency.

Recommendation:

The DESE resolve the questioned costs with the grantor agency. In addition, the DESE should obtain cognizant federal agency approval of its allocation method for this salary or require the individual to maintain time sheets, personnel activity reports or other documentation as required by OMB Circular A-87.

Status of Finding:

The U.S. Department of Education was contacted via written request for a determination on this issue. They indicated that "it is not unusual for someone to work under and be paid from both indirect and direct cost objectives. The provision at OMB Circular A-87 - Attachment B, Item 11.(h)(4)('c) addresses this particular work environment. You must, however, account for 100% of the worker's effort. CFDA Number	Program Name	Questioned Costs
83.516	Disaster Assistance	$0

The SEMA did not have effective procedures to ensure audit reports received from Public Assistance Program subrecipients were reviewed and necessary follow-up action was taken in a timely manner.

Recommendation:

The SEMA review all subrecipient audit reports in a timely manner and ensure appropriate corrective action is taken within six months after receipt of the audit report as required by federal regulation.

Status of Finding:

Procedures to ensure required audits of sub-recipients receiving Public Assistance funds are as follows:

1. Applicants are informed of audit requirements at Applicant Briefing conducted by SEMA/FEMA immediately following the disaster declaration.

2. Audit requirements are continually provided to sub-recipients as funds are advanced and close-out procedures are accomplished.

3. The receipt of audit reports are logged and entered into a computer data base by PA staff which is shared by the PA and Hazard Mitigation staff.

4. Where audits indicate or identify questionable costs, appropriate actions are taken with the sub-recipient contacted by SEMA and the matter rectified.

5. As recommended, SEMA staff will ensure that all audits will be reviewed and corrective action initiated within six months.

97.12.B. Subrecipient Audits and Monitoring of Findings

Federal Agency: Federal Emergency Management Agency
State Agency: Department of Public Safety - State Emergency Management Agency (SEMA)

CFDA Number	Program Name	Questioned Costs
83.516	Disaster Assistance	$0

The SEMA did not have an effective tracking system to ensure audit reports were submitted from Buyout Program subrecipients. In addition, no documentation was maintained supporting the review of audit reports received. Most subrecipients of the Buyout Program are also subrecipients of the Public Assistance (PA) Program.

Recommendation:

The SEMA establish a combined subrecipient tracking and review system for the PA and Buyout Programs to adequately monitor which subrecipients are required to submit an audit report, the date the report is received and the date reviewed.

Status of Finding:

Procedures to track and ensure required audit reports are requested, received, and reviewed for significant findings are as follows:

1. Upon completion of a project, a letter accompanying the final performance report (a closeout report completed by the State Emergency Management Agency) is sent to the community receiving federal funds. This letter states the community must submit the required audit reports per the Single Audit Act. (This policy was established prior to review by the State Auditor's Office.)

2. Since receipt of the State Auditor's Office's report for year ended June 30, 1997, a database has been created which will track each project's required, requested, received, and reviewed audit reports. It will also note significant findings (if any exist) and the corrective actions that are taken.

3. Upon receipt of an audit report, it is reviewed with comments in the database. A report is generated from the information in the database which summarizes the review of the audit report. If a significant finding is noted, a letter will be sent to the community requesting a written response regarding the finding and any corrective actions taken.

4. In addition, every quarter (starting the quarter ended March 31, 1998) a review of the funds disbursed will be completed verifying whether the community has reached the annual threshold as stated in the Single Audit Act of 1984, the Single Audit Act of 1984, as amended 1996, and the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Circular A-133.

If the community has reached the annual threshold based on its fiscal year, the community will be notified in writing that an audit report for that fiscal year is required.

If the community has not reached the annual threshold and has completed a fiscal year in which it received federal funds, the community will receive a written notice requesting:

(1) a concurrence stating that the community has not received aggregate federal funds of more than the established threshold for the specified fiscal year or

(2) the audit report for the specified fiscal year if the community determines that it has received aggregate federal funds of more than the established threshold for that fiscal year.

Note: Prior to contacting the community for the required audit reports, we will check if the specific fiscal year audit report has already been submitted to another section of our agency, specifically fiscal and public assistance. If it has, we will review that copy and contact the community only if a significant finding has been noted.

Given the current status of the automated child support enforcement system, it is unclear whether the system will be certified during the federal certification review. Additional system enhancements with various deadlines are required to be in place by the year 2001.

Recommendation:

The DCSE ensure federal deadlines for the automated child support enforcement system are met.

Status of Finding:

The Division of Child Support Enforcement through its memorandum dated October 5, 1998 has affirmed that the DCSE has successfully addressed the audit finding 97-13, Automated Child Support Enforcement System. It states "During the week of September 21 - September 25, 1998, the Missouri Automated Child Support System (MACSS) was inspected by representatives of the Department of Health and Human Services. Based on the exit comments of those representatives, it appears Missouri has achieved certification of the federally mandated automated child support enforcement system and financial penalty has been avoided."

97-15. FAMIS Contract Change Request

Federal Agency: Department of Agriculture and Department of Health and Human Services
State Agency: Department of Social Services (DSS)

CFDA Number	Program Name	Questioned Costs
10.561	State Administrative Matching Grants for Food Stamp Program	$133,624
93.558	Temporary Assistance for Needy Families	386,988
93.566	Refugee and Entrant Assistance - State Administered Programs	413
93.596	Child Care Mandatory and Matching Funds of the Child Care and Development Fund	11,652
93.778	Medical Assistance Program	66,234

The contractor for the Family Assistance Management Information System (FAMIS) project was overpaid $826,368 of which the federal share was $598,911.

Recommendation:

The DSS resolve the questioned costs with the federal grantor agencies.

Status of Finding:

The overpayment of $5,985 was recouped by a reduction of the final invoice to BDM.

Status of Questioned Costs:

DSS continues to disagree that the payment was inappropriate. DSS initiated conversations with representatives of the federal grantor agencies. During the conversations, it was indicated by the representatives of the federal agencies that the amount paid to BDM was not inappropriate. DSS received approval for amounts requested through the APD process, which included but did not specifically identify this particular payment. There is no correspondence that directly addressed this payment, but DSS posits the issue of the costs questioned in the prior audit have been resolved.

93.778	Medical Assistance Program	0

The DFS does not perform a routine match of workers' compensation benefit payments to clients receiving assistance benefits such as Food Stamps, TANF, and Medicaid. We performed a computer match of persons receiving workers' compensation payments as of June 1997, which identified 225 cases that required further research to determine if the clients received ineligible assistance. We tested fourteen of the cases and noted nine clients who were ineligible to receive $11,502 in TANF benefits and $3,906 in Medicaid benefits. In addition, if the benefits being paid these clients did not stop for the remaining period of ineligibility an additional $8,109 in benefits would be paid. The DFS plans to include a computer match between DFS files and workers' compensation benefit payment records as part of the Family Assistance Management Information System (FAMIS) being developed; however, the date of completion of this system and performance of this match is not expected for some time.

Recommendation:

The DFS review the nine cases noted and recoup any inappropriate assistance benefits that were disbursed to ineligible clients. The DFS should also consider establishing an interim periodic match between DFS computer records and workers' compensation computer records until the match planned as part of the FAMIS system is implemented and operating effectively. In addition, DFS should ensure all workers' compensation payments reported or determined through future match procedures are clearly documented in the client's case file along with an evaluation of the payment on the client's eligibility and monthly benefit amount.

We matched computer records of TANF and Food Stamp recipients to state employees as of August 1997 and reviewed eligility criteria for fifty employees receiving assistance. Of the fifty cases we reviewed, we noted that two employees of the Department of Social Services received at least $6,600 in TANF benefits and $2,560 in Medicaid benefits for which they appeared to be ineligible based on their salary level. It appears these clients failed to report earned income or employment status changes. Eligibility redeterminations on these clients were not done timely or effectively in identifying the changes.

Recommendation:

The DFS review the two cases noted and recoup any inappropriate assistance benefits that were disbursed to ineligible clients. In addition, the DFS should strengthen procedures used to identify unreported changes in a client's earned income or employment status and ensure case redeterminations are performed timely.

84.032	Federal Family Education Loans (FFEL)	$9,962

Two expenditures totaling $19,131 were charged entirely to the Federal Family Education Loans (FFEL) program. It appears these expenditures were joint costs and $9,565 should not have been charged to the FFEL program. Additionally, one expenditure was not allocated to the FFEL program according to the established allocation percentages and no documentation was retained for the deviation. As a result, $397 was overcharged to the FFEL program.

Recommendation:

The DHE resolve the questioned costs with the grantor agency. In addition, the DHE should ensure that all expenditures are properly allocated to the correct program and document the basis for any deviations from the established allocation percentages.

Status of Finding:

On August 17, 1998 the DHE received a letter from the U. S. Department of Education instructing the DHE to repay the $9,962 or appeal the finding and questioned costs within forty-five days. Refunds were not determined and remitted to the U.S. Treasury on a timely basis for unspent cooperative agreement advance payments.

Recommendation:

The Department of Public Safety - Adjutant General resolve the questioned costs with the grantor agency. In addition, the Department of Public Safety - Adjutant General should establish procedures to ensure the appropriate refund is determined for each cooperative agreement and remitted to the U.S. Treasury in a timely manner.

Status of Finding: Refund of FY's 95 and 96 appendices. The Director of Facilities manages three of the four appendices to the MCA that remain open. Our office (State Resources) in conjunction with the Facilities Division and the United State Property and Fiscal office are presently working to verify expenditures which occurred in federal FY 95 through these agreements. Revenues deposited to these agreements have been verified. However, because most of the records have been sent to the warehouse, this process is going to take longer than anticipated. The method of accounting for expenditures through the state system in FY's 95 and 96 did not accurately depict what had occurred during the federal fiscal year. Methods of accounting for expenditures and revenues have been revised to accommodate a federal as well as a state fiscal year. All other appendices have been closed for FY95.

All of the appendices to the master cooperative agreement concerning FY96 have been refunded/closed except for Telecommunications and ANG Security-St. Joseph. Sufficient information has not been received from the program managers to close these appendices.

The DFS resolve the questioned costs with the grantor agency. In addition, the DFS should review the cases noted above and recoup inappropriate assistance payments that were disbursed to ineligible clients. MUNICIPAL DIVISIONS

TWO YEARS ENDED 1998 AND 1997

From The Office Of State Auditor

Report No. 99-13

FACT SHEET

Listed below is a summary of actions taken on prior recommendations made to the following seven municipal court divisions of Missouri's Thirty-Fifth Judicial Circuit:

Bernie, Dexter, Holcomb, Kennett, Malden, Puxico, Senath

Bernie: While this division complied with state law by sending the state court fees which go to the Crime Victims Compensation Fund, and partially implemented a record keeping system for bonds, the tracking of tickets and complaints and their final dispositions by the court still needs to be improved. (See pages 40 &41)

Dexter: This division followed the recommendations of past audits in tightening financial controls, however, the tracking of tickets and complaints and their final dispositions by the court still needs to be improved. (See pages 41, 42, & 43)

Holcomb: All prior recommendations were implemented regarding financial controls. The only area still requiring compliance is the assessment of court costs and those fees which by state law are to be sent to the Crime Victims Compensation Fund. (See pages 43 & 44)

Kennett: Financial controls were improved and a ticket log was developed, however records are not maintained to account for all complaints filed. Many prior recommendations had been acted upon, including the forwarding of conviction records to the state. Other recommendations still need continued development. (See pages 44, 45, & 46)

Malden: Most prior recommendations had either been implemented or acted upon. However, the ticket log maintained by the division did not account for all tickets issued. Continued development and work on prior and current recommendations will continue to tighten financial controls. (See pages 46, 47 & 48)

Puxico: Other than a recommendation that Crime Victims Compensation Fund fees generated through this division be sent to the state in a more timely manner, all financial control recommendations made in the prior audit, as well as court reporting recommendations have been put in place. (See pages 48 & 49)

Senath: Many recommendations which would safeguard the financial integrity of this court have yet to be implemented. A recommendation acted upon was a suggested requirement that defendants sign a payment agreement and a show cause order be issued for all persons not paying fines and costs immediately at court. While records are maintained for amounts due from defendants, adequate follow-up is not taken when defendants fail to pay. (See pages 49, 50, & 51)

Current recommendations for the above divisions can be found on pages 21-38.

Note: Nine other municipal divisions in this circuit are reported on separately. Those communities include: Arbyrd, Advance, Bell City, Bloomfield, Campbell, Cardwell, Clarkton, Dudley and Hornersville. The size of the circuit warranted the audit be split.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON
THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Presiding Judge
and
Municipal Judges
Thirty-Fifth Judicial Circuit

We have audited the accompanying special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions (other than the municipal divisions of the city of Puxico and the city of Senath as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997) of the Thirty-Fifth Judicial Circuit as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997, and April 30, 1998 and 1997, as identified by municipality and fiscal period in the table of contents. These special-purpose financial statements are the responsibility of the municipal divisions' management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these special-purpose financial statements based on our audit.

Except as discussed in paragraphs four through seven, we conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the special-purpose financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the special-purpose financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

The accompanying special-purpose financial statements were prepared for the purpose of presenting the receipts, disbursements, and changes in cash of the municipal divisions of the Thirty-Fifth Judicial Circuit and are not intended to be a complete presentation of the financial position and results of operations of the municipal divisions.

Records accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of each traffic ticket issued by the city of Bernie Police Department were not adequately maintained. As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements beyond amounts recorded in the municipal division's records for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997.

Records accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of each traffic ticket and complaint form issued by the city of Dexter Police Department were not adequately maintained. As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements beyond amounts recorded in the municipal division's records for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997.

Records accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of each complaint form issued by the city of Kennett Police Department were not adequately maintained. As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements beyond amounts recorded in the municipal division's records for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997.

Records accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of each traffic ticket issued by the city of Malden Police Department were not adequately maintained. As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements beyond amounts recorded in the municipal division's records for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997.

In our opinion, except for the effects, if any, on the financial statements of the matters discussed in the preceding four paragraphs, the special-purpose financial statements referred to in the first paragraph present fairly, in all material respects, the receipts, disbursements, and changes in cash of the municipal divisions (other than the municipal divisions of the city of Puxico and the city of Senath as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997) of the Thirty-Fifth Judicial Circuit as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997, and April 30, 1998 and 1997, in conformity with the comprehensive basis of accounting discussed in Note 1, which is a basis of accounting other than generally accepted accounting principles.

We also had planned to audit the accompanying special-purpose financial statements of the municipal divisions of the city of Puxico and the city of Senath as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997. These special-purpose financial statements are the responsibility of the municipal divisions' management.

Internal controls and accounting records of the city of Puxico Municipal Division were inadequate. Prenumbered receipt slips were not issued for some monies received. Bonds posted by defendants were held and disbursed in cash by the municipal division. As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements of fines, court costs, and bonds for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997. In addition, we were unable to assure ourselves of the amount of cash bonds held in trust at June 30, 1998 and 1997.

Internal controls and accounting records of the city of Senath Municipal Division were inadequate. Prenumbered receipt slips were not issued for some monies received, and receipts were not deposited intact. Also, records accounting for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of each traffic ticket issued by the police department were not maintained. As a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves by appropriate audit tests or other means as to receipts and disbursements of fines, court costs, and bonds for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997.

Because of the effects of the matters discussed in the preceding two paragraphs, the scope of our work was not sufficient to enable us to express, and we do not express, an opinion on the special-purpose financial statements of the municipal divisions of the city of Puxico and the city of Senath as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997.

In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we also have issued our report dated September 22, 1998, on our consideration of the municipal divisions' internal controls over financial reporting and on our tests of their compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grants.

The accompanying History, Organization, and Statistical Information is presented for informational purposes. This information was obtained from the municipal divisions' management and was not subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the special-purpose financial statements referred to above.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON COMPLIANCE
AND ON INTERNAL CONTROL OVER FINANCIAL REPORTING

Presiding Judge
and
Municipal Judges
Thirty-Fifth Judicial Circuit

We have audited the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions (other than the municipal divisions of the city of Puxico and the city of Senath as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997) of the Thirty-Fifth Judicial Circuit as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997, and April 30, 1998 and 1997, and have issued our report thereon dated September 22, 1998. That report expressed a qualified opinion on the special-purpose financial statements of the municipal divisions of the city of Bernie, the city of Dexter, the city of Kennett, and the city of Malden for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997. Except as discussed in the report on the financial statements of the municipal divisions referred to in the preceding sentence, we conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States.

We also had planned to audit the special-purpose financial statements of the municipal divisions of the city of Puxico and the city of Senath as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997, and have issued our report thereon dated September 22, 1998. In that report we did not express an opinion on those special-purpose financial statements.

Compliance

As part of obtaining reasonable assurance about whether the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Thirty-Fifth Judicial Circuit are free of material misstatement, we performed tests of the municipal divisions' compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grants, noncompliance with which could have a direct and material effect on the determination of financial statement amounts. However, providing an opinion on compliance with those provisions was not an objective of our audit, and accordingly, we do not express such an opinion. The results of our tests disclosed no material instances of noncompliance that are required to be reported under Government Auditing Standards. However, we noted certain other instances of noncompliance which are presented in the accompanying Management Advisory Report.

Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

In planning and performing our audit of the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions of the Thirty-Fifth Judicial Circuit, we considered the municipal divisions' internal controls over financial reporting in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the special-purpose financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal controls over financial reporting. However, we noted certain matters involving the internal controls over financial reporting and their operation that we consider to be reportable conditions. Reportable conditions involve matters coming to our attention relating to significant deficiencies in the design or operation of the internal controls over financial reporting that, in our judgement, could adversely affect the municipal divisions' ability to record, process, summarize, and report financial data consistent with the assertions of management in the special-purpose financial statements.

A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of one or more of the internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that misstatements in amounts that would be material to the special-purpose financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. Our consideration of the internal controls over financial reporting would not necessarily disclose all reportable conditions that are also considered to be material weaknesses. However, we noted certain matters involving the internal controls over financial reporting and their operation that we consider to be material weaknesses and these matters are presented in the accompanying Management Advisory Report.

This report is intended for the information of the management of the various municipal divisions of the Thirty-Fifth Judicial Circuit and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

Notes to the Financial Statements

THIRTY-FIFTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
MUNICIPAL DIVISIONS
NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

A. Reporting Entity and Basis of Presentation

The accompanying special-purpose financial statements present only selected data for the funds administered by the seven municipal divisions of the Thirty-Fifth Judicial Circuit of the state of Missouri. The remaining municipal divisions of the Thirty-Fifth Judicial Circuit are reported on separately.

Receipts, disbursements, and changes in cash are presented for each municipal division. The operating costs of each division are paid by the respective municipality and are not included in these financial statements.

The municipal division is responsible for cash bonds posted until case disposition allows appropriate disbursement. Bond monies relating to pending cases, whether in the custody of the city or the municipal division, are included in these financial statements.

B. Basis of Accounting

The Statements of Receipts, Disbursements, and Changes in Cash are prepared on the cash basis of accounting; accordingly, amounts are recognized when they are received or disbursed. This basis of accounting differs from generally accepted accounting principles, which require revenues to be recognized when they become available and measurable or when they are earned and expenditures or expenses to be recognized when the related liabilities are incurred.

C. Fiscal Authority and Responsibility

The municipal divisions account for fines and court costs resulting from prosecution of violations of municipal ordinances before the municipal judge or received through the traffic violations bureau, as well as cash bonds posted. Municipal violations could include traffic offenses, both moving and nonmoving; parking meter and overtime parking offenses; and other violations for which amounts are received by the municipal divisions and remitted to the city treasury. The municipal divisions also may account for restitutions received and disbursed through the divisions.

2. Cash

Section 479.080, RSMo 1994, requires municipal divisions to deposit fines and court costs into the city treasury at least monthly. Some divisions maintain bank accounts into which fines and court costs are deposited and later remitted to the city treasury. Other divisions do not maintain bank accounts, transmitting fines and court costs directly to the city treasury. Escrow bank accounts for bond monies received may be maintained by the city or the municipal division.

At the financial statement dates identified in the table of contents for the years ended 1998 and 1997, all bank account balances reported for the municipal divisions of the Thirty-Fifth Judicial Circuit were entirely covered by federal depositary insurance.

3. Disbursements to State

The municipal divisions collect various amounts that must be remitted to the state of Missouri. These amounts include the surcharges for the Crime Victims' Compensation and Services to Victims Funds, the Peace Officer Standards and Training Commission Fund, and (until July 1, 1997, when municipal divisions were no longer required to assess the surcharge) the Independent Living Center Fund. The state's portions of these amounts are deposited into the city treasury for all municipal divisions, except the municipal divisions of the city of Kennett and the city of Senath. The city of Senath Municipal Division deposits Crime Victims' Compensation and Services to Victims surcharges into the city treasury and Peace Officer Standards and Training Commission fees into the municipal division's Law Enforcement Training account. Amounts remitted by the cities to the state are not included in the financial statements.

The municipal divisions of the city of Bernie, the city of Holcomb, the city of Kennett, the city of Malden, the city of Puxico, and the city of Senath did not assess the Independent Living Center Fee.

The city of Holcomb Municipal Division did not assess the Peace Officer Standards and Training Commission Fee.

4. City of Puxico

Bonds posted by defendants for the city of Puxico Municipal Division are held in cash by the court. The amounts held in cash at year-end could not be determined and therefore, are not included in the financial statements. In addition, bonds refunded to defendants could not be determined, and these amounts are not included in the financial statements.

MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT SECTION

Management Advisory Report -
State Auditor’s Current Recommendations

THIRTY-FIFTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
MUNICIPAL DIVISIONS
MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT-
STATE AUDITOR'S CURRENT RECOMMENDATIONS

We have audited the special-purpose financial statements of the various municipal divisions (other than the municipal divisions of the city of Puxico and the city of Senath as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997) of the Thirty-Fifth Judicial Circuit as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997, and April 30, 1998 and 1997, and have issued our report thereon dated September 22, 1998. That report expressed a qualified opinion on the special-purpose financial statements of the municipal divisions of the city of Bernie, the city of Dexter, the city of Kennett, and the city of Malden for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997.

We also had planned to audit the special-purpose financial statements of the municipal divisions of the city of Puxico and the city of Senath as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997, and have issued our report thereon dated September 22, 1998. In that report we did not express an opinion on those special-purpose financial statements.

The following Management Advisory Report presents our findings and recommendations arising from our procedures related to the municipal divisions' special-purpose financial statements. During those procedures, we also identified certain management practices which we believe could be improved. Our procedures were not designed or intended to be a detailed study of every system, procedure, and transaction. Accordingly, the findings presented in the following report should not be considered as all-inclusive of areas where improvements may be needed.

1. City of Bernie Municipal Division

A. The Municipal Judge is an elected position held for a term of two years. The Court Clerk is appointed by the Mayor and approved by the City Council. The present Municipal Judge and Court Clerk are husband and wife. This situation results in a potential conflict of interest and weakens the accounting controls over the court transactions. The segregation of duties would be improved by having a municipal judge and court clerk who are not related.

B. A schedule which specifies the offenses which may be paid at the TVB and the amount of fines and costs to be imposed for each offense has been formally established by court order pursuant to Section 479.260, RSMo 1994. However, this schedule of fines and costs has not been prominently posted at the TVB.

Section 479.050, RSMo 1994, states that a TVB may be established by the Municipal Judge. Supreme Court Rule No. 37.49 requires the Municipal Judge to establish the TVB by court order, to designate a TVB clerk, and to establish by schedule the amount of fines and costs to be imposed for each offense. In addition, the schedule of fines and costs is required to be prominently posted at the TVB.

C. The municipal division allows defendants to pay fines and court costs over a period of time. The Court Clerk routinely prepares individual accounts receivable cards with balances due for the police department, because the police department receipts the majority of fine and court cost payments. During our review it was noted that the police department did not have accounts receivable cards for all individuals with balances due. In addition, the accounts receivable cards were not updated in a timely manner when payments were received.

Accurate listings of accounts receivable containing the amount owed on each case are necessary to provide information to the Municipal Judge and provide increased accountability over amounts due the division.

D. Neither the police department nor the municipal division maintains a log to account for traffic tickets assigned and issued and their ultimate disposition. In addition, a log of complaint forms issued, listing complaint number, date issued, date served, and officer is maintained; however, the log is incomplete. The log did not include the defendant's name, the offense, and the ultimate disposition of each complaint form.

Without a proper accounting for the numerical sequence and disposition of traffic tickets and complaint forms, the police department and the municipal division cannot be assured that all tickets and complaints issued were properly submitted to the court. A record of the ultimate disposition of each traffic ticket and complaint form should be maintained to ensure all tickets and complaints have been accounted for properly.

E. During our review, we noted the following concerns related to court dockets:

1) The Municipal Judge does not sign the court dockets after case dispositions are recorded. We noted that court cost and fines assessed did not agree with the amount authorized by the TVB schedule for eleven of thirty-four (32 percent) tickets tested. To ensure the proper disposition of all cases has been entered in the court records, the judge should review each court docket and sign the docket to indicate approval of the recorded disposition.

2) The Municipal Judge or the Prosecuting Attorney does not consistently initial or sign the case file to document their approval of an amendment or dismissal of a ticket. To ensure the proper disposition of all cases has been entered in the court records, the Municipal Judge or the Prosecuting Attorney should sign all amended and dismissed case files.

3) The final disposition of each case is not consistently documented in the court docket. The ultimate disposition of each case should be recorded on the docket to ensure the proper disposition has been recorded in the court records.

Conditions similar to A, B, D, and E.l. were also noted in our prior report.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Bernie Municipal Division:

A. Review and discuss this situation with the Mayor and the City Council to determine the proper resolution of any conflict.

B. Prominently post the schedule of fines and costs at the TVB.

C. Ensure that the individual accounts receivable cards are complete and accurate.

D. Work with the police department to ensure adequate records are maintained to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all traffic tickets and complaint forms assigned and issued.

E.1. Require the Municipal Judge to review all court dockets for propriety and sign the dockets.

2. Require the Municipal Judge's or the Prosecuting Attorney's signature on amended and dismissed cases.

3. Include the disposition of each case on the court docket.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Judge and Court Clerk provided the following responses:

A. This situation has been discussed with Judge Swafford's superior Judge and he stated that since the Municipal Judge is elected and the Court Clerk is not hired by the Municipal Judge but is appointed by the Mayor and approved by the City Council that it is not a case of nepotism.

B. This schedule of fines has now been posted in the court room and also at the TVB.

C. The Court Clerk will be reviewing all accounts receivable cards on her Saturday court sessions to make sure all payments have been applied and that all records coincide with the Court Clerk's records.

D. A log for traffic tickets and complaint forms has been implemented. The Court Clerk and police department will be working together to keep the form up to date. All tickets are being logged on this form by the Court Clerk.

E.1. It has been implemented that the Municipal Judge will sign all docket pages as he reviews them. The amount of fines decided by the Municipal Judge has nothing to do with the Court Clerk. His decisions are left up to him.

2. The Municipal Judge and/or Prosecuting Attorney have implemented this and are now initialing, dating, and writing dismissed or the amended charge on each ticket.

3. The final disposition of the cases is not entered in the docket until such time that they are disposed of. This could possibly be an oversight on the part of the Court Clerk to enter them. The Court Clerk will try and be more efficient in the future.

2. City of Dexter Municipal Division

A. The duties of receiving, recording, and transmitting fine and court cost monies collected by the municipal division, as well as depositing, disbursing, and reconciling the bond account, are not adequately segregated. Currently, the Court Clerk performs all of these duties. To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. Since this is an office of one employee and proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be a documented independent comparison of receipt slips issued to amounts transmitted and deposited. In addition, there should be a documented review of the bank reconciliations.

B. Neither the police department nor the municipal division maintains a log to account for traffic tickets and complaint forms issued and their ultimate disposition.

Without a proper accounting for the numerical sequence and disposition of traffic tickets and complaint forms, the police department and the municipal division cannot be assured that all tickets and complaint forms issued were properly submitted to the court. A record of the ultimate disposition of each traffic ticket and complaint form should be maintained to ensure all tickets and complaints have been accounted for properly.

C. The Municipal Judge does not sign the court dockets after case dispositions are recorded. To ensure the disposition of all cases has been entered in the court records, the judge should sign the court dockets after reviewing to ensure their propriety.

Conditions similar to B and C were also noted in our prior report.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Dexter Municipal Division:

A. Establish a documented review of municipal division records by an independent person.

B. Work with the police department to ensure adequate records are maintained to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all traffic tickets and complaint forms issued.

C. Require the Municipal Judge to review all court dockets for propriety and sign the dockets.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Court Clerk provided the following responses:

A. The City Collector will reconcile receipt slips to transmittals and the Municipal Judge will review the bank reconciliations.

B. Since September 1998, complaint forms are no longer used and all traffic tickets assigned and issued are entered into the computer.

C. This has been implemented.

3. City of Holcomb Municipal Division

A. The duties of receiving, recording, and depositing fine, court cost, and bond monies and disbursing bond monies collected by the municipal division are not adequately segregated. Currently, the Court Clerk performs all of these duties. To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. Since this is an office of one employee and proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be a documented independent comparison of receipt slips issued to amounts deposited.

B. Instances were noted where the Crime Victim's Compensation (CVC) fees were inappropriately charged on dismissed cases. In addition, Peace Officer Standards and Training Commission (POSTC) fees were not assessed or collected in accordance with state law. Sections 595.045.1 and 590.140.1, RSMo Cumulative Supp. 1998, require these fees to be charged on all court cases for violations of municipal ordinances, except for cases dismissed by the court.

A similar condition was also noted in our prior report.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Holcomb Municipal Division:

A. Establish a documented review of municipal division records by an independent person.

B. Assess CVC and POSTC fees in accordance with state law.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Judge and Court Clerk provided the following responses:

A. We will have the CPA do the independent review as the city's monthly financial statements are compiled.

B. This has been implemented.

4. City of Kennett Municipal Division

A. The duties of receiving, recording, depositing, and reconciling fine, court cost, and bond monies and disbursing all monies collected by the municipal division are not adequately segregated. Currently, the Court Clerk performs all of these duties. To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. Since this is an office of one employee and proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be a documented independent comparison of receipt slips issued to amounts deposited. In addition, there should be a documented review of the bank reconciliations.

B. During our review, we noted the following concerns related to receipts:

1) The court's docket and accounting systems are maintained on a computer. The system provides weekly reports of collection activity. However, the Court Clerk does not reconcile this report to deposits. During our review, we noted discrepancies between the method of payment posted on the weekly receipts report and the deposit slip. To properly account for receipts and to reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, reconciliations between the weekly reports and deposits should be performed, documented, and retained.

2) Receipts are not deposited on a timely basis. Deposits of fine and court cost monies to the municipal division bank account are made approximately once a week and the average deposit amount was about $1,500. To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss, theft, or misuse of funds, monies should be deposited daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

C. A monthly listing of open items (liabilities) is prepared but the listing is not consistently reconciled to the court's cash balance. Monthly listings of open items should be reconciled to monies held in trust by the court to ensure proper accountability over open cases and ensure monies held in trust by the court are sufficient to meet liabilities.

D. Neither the police department nor the municipal division maintains a log to account for complaint forms assigned and issued, and their ultimate disposition.

Without a proper accounting for the numerical sequence and disposition of complaint forms, the police department and municipal division cannot be assured that all complaint forms issued were properly submitted to the court. A record of the ultimate disposition of each complaint form should be maintained to ensure all tickets have been accounted for properly.

Conditions similar to B and D were also noted in our prior report.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Kennett Municipal Division:

A. Establish a documented review of municipal division records by an independent person.

B.1. Perform, document, and retain weekly reconciliations between the weekly reports and bank deposits.

2. Deposit receipts daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

C. Reconcile monthly listings of open items to monies held in trust by the court.

D. Work with the police department to ensure records are maintained to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all complaint forms assigned and issued.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Judge and Court Clerk provided the following responses:

A. The Municipal Judge will provide an independent review of the court records each month.

B.1. Since September 1998, the Court Clerk has reconciled the weekly reports to the deposit slips.

2. This will be done daily.

C. Since September 1998, the open items listings are reconciled to the book balance.

D. Since September 1998, the police department has no longer used complaint forms. All offenses are now recorded on a traffic ticket.

5. City of Malden Municipal Division

A. The duties of receiving, recording, and transmitting fine, court cost, and bond monies collected by the municipal division are not adequately segregated. Currently, the Court Clerk performs all of these duties. To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. Since this is an office of one employee and proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be a documented independent comparison of receipt slips issued to amounts transmitted.

B. The police department accepts cash, checks, and money orders for the payment of fines, court costs, and bonds when the Court Clerk is not available. The police department does not record the method of payment on receipt slips. To ensure receipts are transmitted intact, the method of payment should be indicated on all receipt slips. The composition of receipt slips issued should be reconciled to the composition of transmittals.

C. Neither the police department nor the municipal division maintains adequate records to account for traffic tickets issued and their ultimate disposition. A log of traffic tickets issued listing the ticket number, offense, defendant's name, date, and officer is maintained; however, the listing was incomplete. There were numerous tickets not listed. Ticket accountability has improved since December 1996.

   Without a proper accounting for the numerical sequence and disposition of traffic tickets, the police department and municipal division cannot be assured that all tickets issued were properly submitted to the court. A record of the ultimate disposition of each traffic ticket should be maintained to ensure all tickets have been accounted for properly.

D. During our review, we noted the following concerns related to the municipal division's TVB:

   1) Although the municipal division operates a TVB that allows certain offenses to be paid prior to the court date, a court order has not been issued to formally establish the TVB.

   2) A schedule which specifies the offenses which may be paid at the TVB and the amount of fines and costs to be imposed for each offense has been formally established by court order pursuant to Section 479.260, RSMo 1994. However, this schedule of fines and costs has not been prominently posted at the TVB.

Section 479.050, RSMo 1994, states that a TVB may be established by the Municipal Judge. Supreme Court Rule No. 37.49 requires the Municipal Judge to establish the TVB by court order, to designate a TVB clerk, and to establish by schedule the amount of fines and costs to be imposed for each offense. In addition, the schedule of fines and costs is required to be prominently posted at the TVB.

E. Monthly listings of open items (liabilities) are not prepared and reconciled to the available cash balance. The Court Clerk prepared an open items listing as of July 22, 1998. The balance in the city's bond account exceeded the open items listing by $802. This difference may be attributable to interest earned on the account.

Monthly open items listings should be prepared and reconciled to the available cash balance to ensure proper accountability over open cases and ensure monies held in trust are sufficient to meet liabilities. To facilitate this reconciliation, the amount of interest earnings remaining in the bond account will need to be calculated.

F. Instances were noted where the Crime Victim's Compensation (CVC) and Law Enforcement Training (LET) fees were inappropriately charged on dismissed cases. Sections 595.045.1 and 590.140.1, RSMo Cumulative Supp. 1998, require these fees to be charged on all court cases for violations of municipal ordinances, except for cases dismissed by the court.

G. The Municipal Judge does not sign the court dockets after case dispositions are recorded. We noted that court costs and fines assessed did not agree with the amounts authorized by the TVB schedule for thirteen of thirty-five (37 percent) tickets tested. To ensure the proper disposition of all cases has been entered in the court records, the judge should review each court docket and sign the docket to indicate approval of the recorded disposition.

Conditions similar to B through G were also noted in our prior report.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Malden Municipal Division:

A. Establish a documented review of municipal division records by an independent person.

B. Ensure that the method of payment is recorded on all police department receipt slips issued, and reconcile the composition of receipt slips issued to the composition of monies transmitted.

C. Work with the police department to ensure records are maintained to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all traffic tickets issued.

D.1. Prepare a court order authorizing the establishment of a TVB.

2. Prominently post the schedule of fines and costs at the TVB.

E. Prepare monthly listings of open items and reconcile the listing to monies held in trust by the city.

F. Assess CVC and LET fees in accordance with state law.

G. Require the Municipal Judge to review all court dockets for propriety and sign the dockets.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Judge and Court Clerk provided the following responses:

A. The City Clerk will reconcile original receipts to the daily transmittal.

B. We have discussed this with the Police Chief and this problem is being corrected.

C. We will speak with the Police Chief about this problem.

D.1. A court order was issued August 11, 1998 authorizing the establishment of a TVB.

2. A TVB schedule has been posted.

E. The Court Clerk now prepares an open items listing which is given to the City Clerk who reconciles the listing to the bond account balance.

F. This has been implemented. CVC and LET are no longer charged on dismissed cases.

G. This has been implemented. All court dockets are now signed by the Municipal Judge.

6. City of Puxico Municipal Division

A. The duties of receiving, recording, and transmitting fine, court cost, and bond monies collected by the municipal division are not adequately segregated. Currently, the Court Clerk performs all of these duties. To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. Since this is an office of one employee and proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be a documented independent comparison of receipt slips issued to amounts transmitted.

B. During our review, we noted the following concerns related to receipts:

1) The Court Clerk issues receipts from two separate receipt books. One receipt book is used for individuals paying the full amount of the fine and court costs, while the other receipt book is used for individuals making partial payments to the municipal division. Receipt slips issued for the receipt of partial payments of fines and court costs are not prenumbered. In addition, receipt slips issued to individuals paying the full amount of the fine and court costs indicate the court date instead of the actual date of receipt.

   To adequately account for receipts and to ensure all receipts are deposited to the city treasury, prenumbered receipt slips, dated with the actual date of collection, should be issued for all monies received, and the numerical sequence should be accounted for properly.

2) The Court Clerk accepts cash, checks, and money orders for the payment of fines and court costs. The Court Clerk does not record the method of payment on receipt slips. To ensure receipts are transmitted intact, the method of payment should be indicated on all receipt slips. The composition of receipt slips issued should be reconciled to the composition of transmittals.

3) Cash bond refunds are made out of court receipts, thus court monies are not transmitted intact. To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, all receipts should be transmitted intact to the city.

C. During our review, we noted the following concerns related to bonds:

1) Cash bonds are posted at the Stoddard County Sheriff's department. The Sheriff's department disburses the bond monies by check to the Court Clerk. The Court Clerk does not issue receipt slips for these bond monies. Prenumbered receipt slips should be issued for all monies received.

2) The Court Clerk does not maintain a bond ledger and does not prepare and reconcile a monthly listing of open items (liabilities) to a cash balance. A bond ledger indicating the related case, date and amount of receipt, and date of disbursement is necessary to ensure proper accountability over open cases and to ensure monies held in trust are sufficient to meet liabilities.

3) Court receipts in the form of cash bonds are not initially recorded or deposited into a bank account but are held by the Court Clerk until disposition of the case. After the case is disposed, the bond monies are deposited into the city treasury as fine and court costs or refunded to the defendant in cash.

   Bond monies should be deposited when received to provide better accountability over these monies and reduce the risk of loss or misuse of the funds. In addition, all refunds should be made by check.

D. Although the municipal division operates a TVB that allows certain offenses to be paid prior to the court date, a court order has not been issued to formally establish the TVB.
Section 479.050 RSMo 1994, states that a TVB may be established by the Municipal Judge. Supreme Court Rule No. 37.49 requires the Municipal Judge to establish the TVB by court order, to designate a TVB clerk, and to establish by schedule the amount of fines and costs to be imposed for each offense.

E. Crime Victim's Compensation (CVC) and Peace Officer Standards and Training Commission (POSTC) fees collected by the municipal division are deposited into the city treasury. The city has assumed the responsibility for remitting the portions of the CVC and POSTC fees due to the state. We noted that one payment made to the state in December 1997 included CVC fees collected from July 1996 to November 1997. During 1998, CVC fees were remitted to the state approximately every two months. In addition, POSTC collections have never been remitted to the state. Section 595.045.5, RSMo Cumulative Supp. 1998, requires 95 percent of the CVC fee to be paid monthly to the state. POSTC fees should also be disbursed monthly to the state.

A similar condition was also noted in our prior report.

Because of the problems noted above, we were unable to express an opinion on the financial statements of the city of Puxico Municipal Division as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997. These deficiencies are serious and should be corrected immediately.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Puxico Municipal Division:

A. Establish a documented review of municipal division records by an independent person.

B.1. Issue prenumbered receipt slips for all monies received and indicate the date of actual receipt.

2. Record the method of payment on all receipt slips issued and reconcile the composition of receipt slips issued to the composition of transmittals.

3. Transmit all monies intact.

C.1. Issue prenumbered receipt slips for all bond monies received.

2. Maintain a bond ledger, prepare monthly listings of open items, and reconcile the listing to monies held in trust.

3. Ensure cash bond monies are recorded and deposited when received and all disbursements are made by check.

D. Prepare a court order authorizing the establishment of a TVB.

E. Request the city to properly remit CVC and POSTC fees to the state in accordance with state law.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Judge and Court Clerk provided the following responses:

A. We will have the City Treasurer reconcile receipt slips to transmittals.

B&
C.1. These recommendations have been implemented.

C.2. We now have a bond ledger and we will prepare an open items listing and compare the listing to monies held by the city.

3. This will be implemented.

D. Effective January 1999, a court order has been issued to establish a TVB.

E. We will work with the City Clerk to implement this recommendation.

7. City of Senath Municipal Division

A. The duties of receiving, recording, and depositing fine, court cost, and bond monies and disbursing bond monies and fees collected by the municipal division are not adequately segregated. Currently, the Court Clerk performs all of these duties. To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. Since this is an office of one employee and proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be a documented independent comparison of receipt slips issued to amounts deposited. In addition, there should be a documented review of the bank reconciliations.

B. During our review, we noted the following concerns related to receipts:

1) The Court Clerk accepts cash, checks, and money orders for the payment of fines, court costs, and bonds. The Court Clerk does not issue receipt slips for bond monies received. In addition, the Court Clerk does not record the method of payment on the receipt slips. To provide assurance all monies received have been properly deposited, a receipt slip noting the method of payment should be issued for all monies received, and the composition of monies received should be reconciled to the composition of bank deposits.

2) The Municipal Judge sometimes orders defendants to make contributions to the Park Board or the Fire Board. Contributions received are receipted in the city's receipt book and are not recorded as court receipts. These monies are held in cash and periodically disbursed to the appropriate board.
Contributions should be recorded by the municipal division and deposited when received to provide better accountability over these monies and reduce the risk of loss or misuse of the funds. In addition, to ensure all receipts are accounted for properly, receipts should be deposited intact and all disbursements should be made by check.

3) Receipts are not deposited on a timely basis. Fine and court cost monies are deposited to the city treasury approximately once per week and LET and POSTC monies are deposited to the LET account approximately once per month.

To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss, theft, or misuse of funds, monies should be deposited intact daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

4) Checks and money orders are not restrictively endorsed until deposits are prepared. To reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, checks and money orders should be restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt.

C. Monthly listings of open items (liabilities) are not prepared and reconciled to the available cash balance. The Court Clerk prepared an open items listing as of June 30, 1998. The balance in the municipal division's bond account exceeded the open items listing by $105.

Monthly open items listings should be prepared and reconciled to the available cash balance to ensure proper accountability over open cases and to ensure monies held in trust are sufficient to meet liabilities.

D. During our review, we noted the following concerns related to the municipal division's TVB:

1) Although the municipal division operates a TVB that allows certain offenses to be paid prior to the court date, a court order has not been issued to formally establish the TVB.

2) A schedule which specifies the offenses which may be paid at the TVB and the amount of fines and costs to be imposed for each offense has been formally established pursuant to Section 479.260, RSMo 1994. However, this schedule of fines and costs has not been prominently posted at the TVB.

Section 479.050, RSMo 1994, states that a TVB may be established by the Municipal Judge. Supreme Court Rule No. 37.49 requires the Municipal Judge to establish the TVB by court order, to designate a TVB clerk, and to establish by schedule the amount of fines and costs to be imposed for each offense. In addition, the schedule of fines and costs is required to be prominently posted at the TVB.

E. The municipal division does not file with the city a monthly report of all cases heard in court. Section 479.080.3, RSMo 1994, requires the Court Clerk to prepare a monthly listing of all cases heard in court, including all fines and court costs collected, to be verified by the Court Clerk or Municipal Judge and filed with the City Clerk.

F. Although bank reconciliations are performed for the municipal division's bank accounts, they are not documented. Monthly bank reconciliations are necessary to ensure the bank account is in agreement with the accounting records and to detect errors on a timely basis. In addition, all bank reconciliations should be documented and all differences fully investigated and explained.

G. Numerous bond forms and bond bank account statements could not be located. As a result, it was not possible to account for all bonds received by the municipal division.

Supreme Court Administrative Rule No. 8 requires that all financial records be maintained for five years or upon completion of an audit. Retention of applicable records is necessary to properly account for all municipal division monies received.

H. Neither the police department nor the municipal division maintains a log to account for traffic tickets assigned and issued and their ultimate disposition.

Without a proper accounting for the numerical sequence and disposition of traffic tickets, the police department and municipal division cannot be assured that all tickets issued were properly submitted to the court. A record of the ultimate disposition of each traffic ticket should be maintained to ensure all tickets have been accounted for properly.

I. The municipal division allows defendants to pay fines and court costs over a period of time. The Court Clerk has procedures to monitor these cases and provide information to the Municipal Judge. However, we noted several instances where these procedures were not consistently applied and proper follow-up action was not taken.

Consistent follow-up action is necessary to provide information to the Municipal Judge and provide increased accountability over amounts due the division.

J. During our review, we noted the following concerns related to fees:

1) LET and POSTC fees collected by the court are deposited and retained in a bank account under the control of the Court Clerk. The Court Clerk remits POSTC fees to the state approximately every three months. Section 590.140.1, RSMo, Cumulative Supp. 1998, requires LET fees to be transmitted to the city monthly. POSTC fees should also be disbursed monthly to the state.

2) Instances were noted where the Crime Victim's Compensation (CVC), LET, and POSTC fees were inappropriately charged on dismissed cases. Sections 595.045.1 and 590.140.1, RSMo Cumulative Supp. 1998, require these fees to be charged on all court cases for violations of municipal ordinances, except for cases dismissed by the court.

K. The Municipal Judge does not sign the court dockets after case dispositions are recorded. We noted that court costs and fines assessed did not agree with the amount authorized by the TVB schedule for seven of thirty-eight (18 percent) tickets tested. To ensure the proper disposition of all cases has been entered in the court records, the judge should review each court docket and sign the docket to indicate approval of the recorded disposition.

Conditions similar to B.1., B.4., C, D.1., H, I, and J.1. were also noted in our prior report.

Because of the problems noted above, we were unable to express an opinion on the financial statements of the city of Senath Municipal Division as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997. These deficiencies are serious and should be corrected immediately.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Senath Municipal Division:

A. Establish a documented review of municipal division records by an independent person.

B.1. Ensure that receipt slips are issued for all monies received and the method of payment is recorded on all receipt slips.

2. Record and deposit all receipts and make all disbursements by check.

3. Deposit all monies intact daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

4. Restrictively endorse all checks and money order immediately upon receipt.

C. Prepare monthly listings of open items and reconcile the listing to monies held in trust by the court.

D.1. Prepare a court order authorizing the establishment of a TVB.

2. Prominently post the schedule of fines and costs at the TVB.

E. Prepare monthly reports of court actions and file these with the city in accordance with state law.

F. Reconcile the bond checking account monthly and maintain documentation of the reconciliations.

G. Ensure all municipal division financial records are appropriately retained.

H. Work with the police department to ensure records are maintained to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all traffic tickets assigned and issued.

I. Ensure that follow-up efforts are continually applied to improve the possibility of collection.

J.1. Turn over accumulated LET monies to the city and distribute future LET and POSTC fees to the city monthly. In addition, work with the city to ensure that POSTC fees are disbursed to the state monthly.

2. Assess CVC, LET and POSTC fees in accordance with state law.

K. Require the Municipal Judge to review all court dockets for propriety and sign the dockets.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Judge and Court Clerk provided the following responses:

A. We will discuss ways to implement this recommendation.

B.1. The Court Clerk will issue receipt slips for bond monies. In addition, the Court Clerk has begun indicating the method of payment on all receipt slips.

B. 2. & 4. These recommendations have been implemented.

3. The Court Clerk now deposits all court monies into the general fund approximately once a week. She will try to deposit when receipts exceed $100.

C. The Court Clerk now prepares an open items listing and reconciles it to the cash balance. She is in the process of sending the unreconciled difference to the state's unclaimed property section.

D,F, G&H. These recommendations will be implemented.

E. We will file a copy of the court docket with the city monthly.

I. Follow-up efforts are being taken.

J.1. The LET account has been turned over to the city and the City Clerk is notified monthly of the amounts to disburse to the state for CVC and POSTC.

2. This has been implemented.

K. The current Municipal Judge does sign the court dockets.

This report is intended for the information of the management of the various municipal divisions of the Thirty-Fifth Judicial Circuit and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

Follow-Up on State Auditor’s Prior Recommendations

THIRTY-FIFTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
MUNICIPAL DIVISIONS
FOLLOW-UP ON STATE AUDITOR'S PRIOR RECOMMENDATIONS

This section reports follow-up action taken by seven of the municipal divisions of the Thirty-Fifth Judicial Circuit on recommendations made in the Management Advisory Report (MAR) of our report issued for the years ended 1993, 1992, and 1991. The prior recommendations which have not been implemented, but are considered significant, have been repeated in the current MAR. Although the remaining unimplemented recommendations have not been repeated, the municipal divisions should consider implementing these recommendations.

1. City of Bernie Municipal Division

A.1. Receipts were not placed in a secure location until transmitted to the city.

2. Checks and money orders were not restrictively endorsed until transmitted to the city.

3. Receipt slips did not consistently indicate the method of payment.

B. A bond ledger was not maintained and a monthly listing of open items (liabilities) was not prepared.

C. Adequate records were not maintained to document the disposition of all complaint forms.

D. The Municipal Judge did not sign the docket after dispositions were recorded.

E. The Municipal Judge and Court Clerk were husband and wife.

F. The Municipal Judge had not issued a court order to formally establish the TVB, and the schedule of fines and costs had not been posted.

G. The city remitted the state's portion of CVC fees to the state only once per quarter.

Recommendation:

The city of Bernie Municipal Division:

A.1. Place receipts in a secure location until they are transmitted to the city.

2. Restrictively endorse all checks and money orders immediately upon receipt.

3. Indicate the method of payment on each receipt slip issued, and reconcile total cash, checks, and money orders received to transmittals.

B. Maintain a bond ledger, prepare monthly listings of open items, and reconcile this listing to monies held in trust.

C. Work with the police department to ensure records are maintained to account for the disposition of all complaints filed with the department.

D. Require the judge's signature on the court dockets.

E. Review and discuss this situation with the Mayor and the City Council to determine the proper resolution of any conflict.

F. Issue a court order to formally establish the TVB and post a schedule of fines and costs at the TVB.

G. Remit CVC fees in accordance with state law.

Status:

A.1, A.3
F&G. Implemented.

A.2. Not implemented; however, checks and money orders are kept in a secured lock box until they are endorsed and transmitted to the city. While not repeated in the current MAR, the municipal division should still consider implementing this recommendation.

B. Partially implemented. Effective August 1998, the municipal division established a bond ledger and began preparing monthly open items listings; however, the city does not maintain records of bonds deposited, disbursed, and held in its general account and therefore, the municipal division cannot reconcile the open items listing to monies held in trust by the city. While not repeated in the current MAR, the municipal division should still consider working with the city to implement this recommendation.

C-E. Not implemented. See MAR No. 1.

2. City of Dexter Municipal Division

A.1. Checks and money orders were not restrictively endorsed until transmitted to the city.

2. Receipts were not transmitted on a timely basis.

3. The Court Clerk issued receipt slips for monies transmitted by the police department but copies of the receipt slips were not provided to the police department.

B.1. Monthly listings of open items (liabilities) were not prepared.

2. The numerical sequence of bond forms were not accounted for adequately and some bond transactions were not entered in the court's bond ledger.

C. Adequate records were not maintained to account for all traffic tickets issued by the police department.

D. Complaint forms issued by the police department were not prenumbered and a log was not maintained to track the issuance and disposition of complaints.

E. The Court Clerk was covered by the city employee blanket bond. However, the amount of the bond was not sufficient to protect court monies held in cash and in the bond account.

F. The Municipal Judge had not issued a court order to formally establish the TVB, and the schedule of fines and costs was not posted.

G. The Municipal Judge did not sign the docket after dispositions were recorded.

H. The court did not file a monthly report with the city of all cases heard in court.

Recommendation:

The city of Dexter Municipal Division:

A.1. Restrictively endorse all checks and money orders immediately upon receipt.

2. Transmit all receipts to the city daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

3. Issue receipt slips or other documentation to the police department for all monies transmitted to the court.

B.1. Prepare monthly listings of open items and reconcile this listing to monies held in trust.

2. Work with the police department to ensure voided bond forms and bond forms used by outside agencies are retained and recorded in the court's bond ledger.

C. Work with the police department to ensure ticket books are issued in order, records are maintained to account for all tickets issued, and that all copies of voided tickets are retained by the department. A system should also be developed to account for the ultimate disposition of all traffic tickets.

MARGARET KELLY, CPA
STATE AUDITOR

P.O. Box 869
(573) 751-4824

Honorable Mel Carnahan, Governor
and Members of the General Assembly
and
Richard A. Hanson, Commissioner
Office of Administration
Jefferson City, Missouri 65102

We have conducted a review of revenues of the state of Missouri for the year ended June 30, 1997, and the application to those revenues of Article X, Sections 16 through 24, of the Constitution of Missouri, more commonly referred to as the Hancock Amendment (included as Appendix). We had previously reported on revenues of the state for the years ended June 30, 1982 through 1996. The amendment, which was adopted by the voters of Missouri on November 4, 1980, limits the growth of state revenues collected in any fiscal year. The purpose of this review include:

1. Evaluating the formula to calculate the state's revenue limit.

2. Determining the specific items included in total state revenues.

3. Verifying the accuracy of the revenue limit computation and comparing that limit to total state revenues.

4. Reviewing the state's overall compliance with the provisions of the amendment.

Our review included only the application of the revenue limit to state revenues and, accordingly, did not include a review of the effects of the amendment on any local governmental unit.

Our review was made in accordance with applicable generally accepted government auditing standards and included such procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. In this regard, we held discussions with personnel of the Office of Administration, Division of Budget and Planning, inspected relevant records and reports compiled by that office, and reviewed reports from the statewide accounting system. We reviewed this information to the extent necessary to satisfy ourselves that the following Exhibits and Schedules are fairly stated in all material respects.

Our review was limited to the specific matters described earlier and was based on selective tests and procedures considered appropriate in the circumstances. Had we performed additional procedures, other information might have come to our attention that would have been included in this report.

The following Executive Summary and the Background, Methodology, and Conclusions present our comments, findings, and conclusions concerning the state's overall compliance with the provisions of Article X, Sections 16 through 24, Constitution of Missouri.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

REVIEW OF ARTICLE X, SECTIONS 16 THROUGH 24,
CONSTITUTION OF MISSOURI
EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

On November 4, 1980, the voters of Missouri passed Constitutional Amendment No. 5 which added Article X, Sections 16 through 24 to the Constitution of Missouri. The amendment, commonly referred to as the Hancock Amendment, requires that no greater portion of Missourians' personal income (MPI) be used in any future year to fund state government than was the case in fiscal year 1981, except as authorized by a vote of the people.

Exhibit A presents a summary of the calculations of limited total state revenue (TSR) for the years ended June 30, 1997, 1996, 1995, 1994, and 1993. The calculations for years prior to 1997 have been changed to comply with a Supreme Court decision as further explained below.

On January 27, 1998, the Missouri Supreme Court entered a final decision in Kelly v. Hanson, et. al., Slip Op. No. 80251. This decision determined that taxes and other funds collected by the state may not be considered revenue in the context of TSR unless they meet a two-part test derived from an earlier judicial definition of revenue: (1) the funds must be received into the state treasury; and (2) the funds must be subject to appropriation. Thus, the Hancock Amendment presents unique financial related legal requirements that must be taken into consideration. The items that the Supreme Court specifically ruled on are as follows:

1. The Federal Reimbursement Allowance and the Nursing Facility Reimbursement Allowance tax imposed by the state to pay the state's share of the costs of the Medicaid program is collected by offset against Medicaid claims and is not directly deposited in the state treasury. As a result, this revenue is not included in TSR.

2. The local use tax imposed by the state under Section 144.748, RSMo, until repealed on May 21, 1996, and distributed to local government is not deposited in the state treasury and is not appropriated. As a result, this revenue is not included in TSR.

3. Revenue from one dollar of a state imposed two dollar admission fee to gaming riverboats is remitted to the "home dock city or county" and is not deposited in the state treasury. As a result, this revenue is not included in TSR.

4. Ten percent of the revenue for an adjusted gross receipts tax imposed by the state on gaming riverboats is remitted to the "home dock city or county" and is not deposited in the state treasury. As a result, this revenue is not included in TSR.

5. An adjustment to the revenue limit related to the state assuming certain judicial clerk salaries is appropriate.

The Missouri Supreme Court did not rule on the trial court's decision that revenue from one dollar of the state imposed two dollar admission fee to gaming riverboats that is deposited in the state treasury and appropriated is included in TSR. The Missouri Supreme Court also did not rule on the trial court's decision that revenue from payments to the state to recoup public safety and regulatory enforcement costs related to gaming riverboats that is deposited in the state treasury and appropriated is included in TSR. The Supreme Court did not rule on these issues because OA-BP failed to file a cross-appeal. OA-BP filed a late appeal, further contesting the trial court's decision in favor of the State Auditor's Office's (SAO) position. On November 24, 1998, the Missouri Court of Appeals, Western District entered its decision, now final, in Kelly v. Hanson, et. al., Slip Op. No. 55438. The Missouri Court of Appeals, Western District ruled that revenue from the one dollar of the state imposed two dollar admission fee is not included in TSR while the revenue from the payments to the state to recoup public safety and regulatory enforcement costs is included in TSR.

The SAO and OA-BP did not present an issue to the Supreme Court concerning the proper accounting for the effect of tax refunds. However, because the Supreme Court decision indicated that the Hancock provisions in the constitution require the actual receipt of revenue, the amendment presents a cash basis system of accounting. Based on the Court's decision, the SAO has changed the calculation of refunds from an appropriations basis to a cash basis.

BACKGROUND, METHODOLOGY, AND CONCLUSIONS

REVIEW OF ARTICLE X, SECTIONS 16 THROUGH 24,
CONSTITUTION OF MISSOURI
BACKGROUND, METHODOLOGY, AND CONCLUSIONS

The following identifies the various components of the amendment and the application of the amendment to state revenues.

Formula

Article X, Section 18(a) of the Constitution of Missouri establishes the revenue limit formula as follows:

Revenue limit for FY 19XX	= TSR in FY 1981 / CY 1979 Missouri personal income (MPI) x	The greater of Missouri Personal Income (MPI) in the calendar year (CY) prior to the CY in which appropriations are made for FY 19XX or Average MPI for three CYs preceding FY 19XX.

The formula is composed of two principal parts. The first part of the formula, the base year ratio (BYR), is as follows:

$$\frac{\text{TSR in FY 1981}}{\text{CY 1979 MPI}}$$

The application of this ratio to the second part of the formula (future years' MPI) ensures that no greater portion of a future year's personal income will be used to fund state government than was the case at the time of passage of the amendment. The MPI amounts used in the formula for the base year and subsequent years are reported by the U. S. Department of Commerce (DOC).

The OA-BP does not adjust the BYR for changes already made or for future changes or adjustments to this amount by DOC. Article X, Section 17(2) refers to ". . . total income . . . as defined and officially reported by" DOC. Even though the amendment does not specifically refer to such adjustments, this wording suggests that the BYR should be adjusted whenever CY 1979 MPI is adjusted by DOC. The use of the initial reporting of MPI does provide an unchanging BYR for future years, which provides at least two benefits. First, the state can more easily plan and make appropriate adjustments to stay under the revenue limit. Second, if the initial MPI is subsequently adjusted, retroactive refunds are a possibility. That is, an adjustment to MPI for any prior year (including the base year) could reduce the revenue limit for a prior year below that year's TSR, providing a refund where one previously was not due. Therefore, we find this approach reasonable so long as it is followed consistently.

As with the BYR, the OA-BP uses the MPI first officially published by DOC after the close of the CY to calculate the revenue limit for the applicable fiscal year. For the reasons expressed in the preceding paragraph, we find this approach reasonable so long as it also is followed consistently.

The BYR was calculated by the OA-BP as follows:

$$\frac{2{,}232.204096}{39{,}581.0} = .05639584891$$

In its calculations of the revenue limit the OA-BP rounded the BYR to .056395.

Article X, Section 18(b) allows the state to exceed the revenue limit by 1 percent before a refund is due. Therefore, to determine the point at which the refund provision takes effect (the refund threshold) the revenue limit is adjusted upward by 1 percent. However, should TSR exceed the refund threshold, all revenues in excess of the revenue limit are subject to refund.

Adjustments

Article X, Section 18(d) provides that the revenue limit may be adjusted, ". . . if responsibility for funding a program or programs is transferred from one level of government to another, as a consequence of constitutional amendment . . . provided that the total revenue authorized for collection by both state and local governments does not exceed that amount which would have been authorized without such a change."

The OA-BP has adjusted the revenue limit for the transfer of deputy circuit clerks from the county payroll to the state payroll under Section 483.245, RSMo 1996, which was effective on July 1, 1981. In past years the SAO disagreed with this adjustment because state funding of these salaries was required by statute instead of by consequence of constitutional amendment. In addition, the Judicial Article Amendment was effective on August 3, 1976, which was prior to the time the Hancock Amendment was adopted by the voters on November 4, 1980. The Supreme Court ruled in its decision on January 27, 1998, that an adjustment to the revenue limit for the transfer of deputy circuit clerks from the county payroll to the state payroll is appropriate.

Composition of Total State Revenues

An integral part in applying the provisions of the amendment to state revenues is to determine what constitutes TSR. The amendment does not specify the methodology to be used to determine TSR. Consequently, procedures to calculate TSR have been established and certain decisions as to items that would be either included or excluded have been made, except for items ruled on by the Attorney General or the Missouri courts.

TSR includes all revenues recorded in the Statewide Accounting System for Missouri (SAM) and receipted by the state treasurer, which may only be withdrawn pursuant to an appropriation or which stand appropriated by the Constitution of Missouri. Various funds not in the state treasury are not included in TSR. These funds include university local funds, local sales tax fund collections made by the Department of Revenue, various funds held in trust for inmates, patients, etc., and various quasi-governmental agencies such as the Board of Public Buildings, the Housing Development Commission, the Higher Education Loan Authority, the Health and Educational Facilities Authority, and the state's retirement systems. The Hancock Amendment states the composition of TSR is, "defined in the budget message of the governor for fiscal year 1980-81." The funds described above were not addressed in the governor's budget message for that year since the funds were not in the state treasury and were not appropriated. Thus, it seems reasonable to conclude that these funds should not be included in TSR.

From the revenue amounts obtained from SAM, certain types of revenues are excluded to arrive at TSR, as defined in Article X, Section 17(1) of the constitution, as follows:

A. Federal Funds

Article X, Section 17 specifically excludes federal funds.

B. Proposition C Sales and Use Tax\Interest

In November 1982, the voters approved Proposition C, which increased the state sales and use tax by 1 percent. Since Proposition C received direct voter approval as provided in Article X, Section 16, the proceeds from the additional 1 percent sales and use tax, including any interest earned on the investment of such taxes, are excluded.

C. Proposition A Gas Tax and License Fee Increases

In April 1987, the voters approved Proposition A, which increased the motor fuel tax by four cents per gallon and increased the annual registration fee for certain motor vehicles, effective July 1, 1987. Since the increase in tax and fees received direct voter approval, these revenues are excluded.

D. Bond Sales

An attorney general opinion concluded that proceeds of the state's general obligation bonds were not to be included in TSR. Based on the attorney general opinion and the fact that bond proceeds are not revenue from an accounting standpoint, bond proceeds are excluded.

E. Lottery

In November 1984, the voters approved Article III, Section 39(b) of the constitution, which authorized the creation of the Missouri State Lottery. This provision states that revenues produced from the conduct of a state lottery shall not be a part of TSR. Since the voters approved the state lottery, all revenue and expenditure refunds related to the state lottery are excluded.

F. Refunds

From an accounting standpoint, refunds received due to the overpayment of obligations by the state, as identified by certain revenue object codes, are not revenue and are excluded.

G. Interagency Sales and Receipts

Since interagency transactions do not generate additional revenue for the state as a whole, interagency sales and receipts, as identified by certain revenue object codes, are excluded.

H. Soil and Water Sales and Use Tax\Interest
and
I. Parks Sales and Use Tax\Interest

In August 1984, the voters approved a one-tenth of 1 percent sales tax for soil and water conservation and state parks. Article IV, Section 47(c) states that the additional revenue provided by the tax shall not be part of TSR. Since the voters approved the sales tax, the sales tax and any interest earned on the investment of the balance in these funds are excluded.

J. Redeposit of Investment Principal

From an accounting standpoint, the redeposit of investment principal, which has a specific object code, is not revenue and is excluded.

K. Outlawed Checks

From an accounting stand point, outlawed checks, which are state checks that were not cashed by the payee within the time allowed, hence they are redeposited in the state treasury, are excluded.

L. Alternative Care Trust Fund

The Alternative Care Trust Fund was established in 1989 under Section 210.560, RSMo 1994. The Division of Family Services uses this fund to account for funds held in trust for the benefit of children who have been placed in the legal custody of the state. The Department of Corrections, Department of Mental Health, and the Division of Veteran's Affairs hold funds in trust for inmates and patients; however, these funds are not in the state treasury and are not included in TSR. Funds held in trust are not state funds since the funds remain the property of the individual. Since the Alternative Care Trust Fund does not account for state funds, it is excluded.

M. Redeposit of Loan Principal

From an accounting standpoint, redeposits of loan principal under the Wastewater Loan Program are not revenue and are excluded.

N. Amendment 8 Motor Fuel Tax to Local Governments

In August 1992, the voters approved an amendment to Article IV, Section 30(a) which revised the apportionment of the motor fuel tax. In addition, the amendment provided that beginning July 1, 1993, the net proceeds of fuel taxes allocated to local governments is excluded from TSR. Since the voters approved this revised allocation of the fuel tax, the fuel tax allocated to local governments is excluded.

O. Bingo

The August 1992 amendment to Article III, Section 39(d) related to gaming activities also applies to bingo games, in that all state revenues derived from the conduct of gaming activities shall be appropriated beginning July 1, 1993, solely for public education and shall not be included in TSR. Section 313.007, RSMo 1994 requires the bingo tax to be deposited in the Bingo Proceeds for Education Fund. The bingo tax, certain fees, and the interest earned on the investment of the fund are excluded from TSR.

P. Riverboat Gambling

In August 1992, the voters approved an amendment to Article III, Section 39(d) of the Missouri Constitution. This constitutional amendment requires that all state gaming revenues must be appropriated for public education and excludes these revenues from TSR.

In 1993, the Missouri General Assembly enacted Senate Bills 10 and 11. This comprehensive gaming legislation established riverboat gaming in the state. This law repealed House Bill 149 related to riverboat gaming which had been enacted by voters as Proposition A in November 1992.

Under Senate Bills 10 and 11, the legislature imposed a 20 percent tax on adjusted gross receipts from gambling games. The state treats 90 percent of this revenue as state gaming revenues under Article III, Section 39(d) and earmarks the revenues to the Gaming Proceeds for Education Fund. The remaining 10 percent of this revenue is allocated to the home dock city or county. Under Article III, Section 39(d) of the Missouri Constitution, the 90 percent portion of the adjusted gross receipts tax is exempted from TSR. The remaining 10 percent portion of the adjusted gross receipts tax is also excluded from TSR because these funds are distributed by the Department of Revenue without deposit in the state treasury and without appropriation.

Under Senate Bills 10 and 11, the legislature also established a Gaming Commission Fund in the state treasury and authorized gaming commission license fees, penalties, administrative fees, reimbursements, and admission fees to be deposited in this fund and expended pursuant to state appropriation for various purposes.

The OA-BP has excluded certain Gaming Commission Fund revenues from TSR asserting that half of a $2 admission fee and a reimbursement for public protection costs paid by gaming licensees received voter approval in 1992 under House Bill 149. However, the legislature repealed House Bill 149 and enacted new, and significantly different laws in Senate Bills 10 and 11 that were not submitted to voters for approval. The amount and purpose of the admission fee was changed and the scope and nature of the reimbursement charges were changed. The Gaming Commission Fund to which these charges are allocated did not even exist under House Bill 149.

On January 27, 1998, the Missouri Supreme Court entered a final decision in Kelly v. Hanson, et al., Slip Op. No. 80251. The Missouri Supreme Court did not rule on the trial court's decision that revenue from one dollar of the state imposed two dollar admission fee to gaming riverboats that is deposited in the state treasury and appropriated is included in TSR. The Missouri Supreme Court also did not rule on the trial court's decision that revenue from payments to the state to recoup public safety and regulatory enforcement costs related to gaming riverboats that is deposited in the state treasury and appropriated is included in TSR. The Supreme Court did not rule on these issues because OA-BP failed to file a cross-appeal. OA-BP filed a late appeal, further contesting the trial court's decision in favor of the State Auditor's Office's (SAO) position. On November 24, 1998, the Missouri Court of Appeals, Western District entered its decision, now final, in Kelly v. Hanson, et. al., Slip Op. No. 55438. The Missouri Court of Appeals, Western District ruled that revenue from the one dollar of the state imposed two dollar admission fee is not included in TSR while the revenue from the payments to the state to recoup public safety and regulatory enforcement costs is included in TSR.

Expenditure Refunds

According to Article X, Section 17(1), total state revenue shall exclude the amount of any credits based on actual tax liabilities. Refunds disbursed due to the excess collection by the state of liabilities owed the state, largely tax refunds, as identified by certain expenditure object codes are excluded. The method used to determine expenditure refunds is not specified in the amendment. Although the OA-BP initially used the appropriation basis to determine expenditures refunds, during fiscal year 1984, the OA-BP changed to the cash basis. The SAO had consistently used the appropriation basis to measure refunds. As a result, a difference existed. However, in its decision of January 27, 1998, the Supreme Court indicated that a cash basis of accounting should be used to determine compliance with the Hancock Amendment. As a result, the SAO changed its calculation of expenditure refunds to the cash basis.

This report is intended for the information of the office's management and other applicable state government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

APPENDIX

REVIEW OF ARTICLE X, SECTIONS 16 THROUGH 24,
CONSTITUTION OF MISSOURI
(ADOPTED NOVEMBER 4, 1980, AMENDED APRIL 2, 1996*)

TAXATION

Section 16. Taxes and state spending to be limited--state to support certain local activities--emergency spending and bond payments to be authorized. Property taxes and other local taxes and state taxation and spending may not be increased above the limitations specified herein without direct voter approval as provided by this constitution. The state is prohibited from requiring any new or expanded activities by counties and other political subdivisions without full state financing, or from shifting the tax burden to counties and other political subdivisions. A provision for emergency conditions is established and the repayment of voter approved bonded indebtedness is guaranteed. Implementation of this section is specified in sections 17 through 24, inclusive of this article.

Section 17. Definitions. As used in sections 16 through 24 of Article X:

(1) "Total state revenues" includes all general and special revenues, license and fees, excluding federal funds, as defined in the budget message of the governor for fiscal year 1980-1981. Total state revenues shall exclude the amount of any credits based on actual tax liabilities or the imputed tax components of rental payments, but shall include the amount of any credits not related to actual tax liabilities.

(2) "Personal income of Missouri" is the total income received by persons in Missouri from all sources, as defined and officially reported by the United States Department of Commerce or its successor agency.

(3) "General price level" means the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers for the United States, or its successor publications, as defined and officially reported by the United States Department of Labor, or its successor agency.

Section 18. Limitation on taxes which may be imposed by general assembly--exclusions--refund of excess revenue--adjustments authorized. (a). There is hereby established a limit on the total amount of taxes which may be imposed by the general assembly in any fiscal year on the taxpayers of this state. Effective with fiscal year 1981-1982, and for each fiscal year thereafter, the general assembly shall not impose taxes of any kind which, together with all other revenues of the state, federal funds excluded, exceed the revenue limit established in this section. The revenue limit shall be calculated for each fiscal year and shall be equal to the product of the ratio of total state revenues in fiscal year 1980-1981 divided by the personal income of Missouri in calendar year 1979 multiplied by the personal income of Missouri in either the calendar year prior to the calendar year in which appropriations for the fiscal year for which the calculation is being made, or the average of personal income of Missouri in the previous three calendar years, whichever is greater.

(b). For any fiscal year in the event that total state revenues exceed the revenue limit established in this section by one percent or more, the excess revenues shall be refunded pro rata based on the liability reported on the Missouri state income tax (or its successor tax or taxes) annual returns filed following the close of such fiscal year. If the excess is less than one percent, this excess shall be transferred to the general revenue fund.

(c). The revenue limitation established in this section shall not apply to taxes imposed for the payment of principal and interest on bonds, approved by the voters and authorized under the provisions of this constitution.

(d). If responsibility for funding a program or programs is transferred from one level of government to another, as a consequence of constitutional amendment, the state revenue and spending limits may be adjusted to accommodate such change, provided that the total revenue authorized for collection by both state and local governments does not exceed that amount which would have been authorized without such change.

(e).1. In addition to the revenue limit imposed by section 18 of this article, the general assembly in any fiscal year shall not increase taxes or fees without voter approval that in total produce new annual revenues greater than either fifty million dollars adjusted annually by the percentage change in the personal income of Missouri for the second previous fiscal year, or one percent of total state revenues for the second fiscal year prior to the general assembly's action, whichever is less. In the event that an individual or series of tax or fee increases exceed the ceiling established in this subsection, the taxes or fees shall be submitted by the general assembly to a public vote starting with the largest increase in the given year, and including all increases in descending order, until the aggregate of the remaining increases and decreases is less than the ceiling provided in this subsection.

2. The term "new annual revenues" means the net increase in annual revenues produced by the total of all tax or fee increases enacted by the general assembly in a fiscal year, less applicable refunds and less all contemporaneously occurring tax or fee reductions in that same fiscal year, and shall not include interest earnings on the proceeds of the tax or fee increase. For purposes of this calculation, "enacted by the general assembly" shall include any and all bills that are truly agreed to and finally passed within that fiscal year, except bills vetoed by the governor and not overridden by the general assembly. Each individual tax or fee increase shall be measured by the estimated new annual revenues collected during the first fiscal year that it is fully effective. The term "increase taxes or fees"means any law or laws passed by the general assembly after the effective date of this section that increase the rate of any existing tax or fee, impose a new tax or fee, or broaden the scope of a tax or fee to include additional class of property, activity, or income, but shall not include the extension of an existing tax or fee which was set to expire.

3. In the event of an emergency, the general assembly may increase taxes, licenses or fees for one year beyond the limit in this subsection under the same procedure specified in section 19 of this article.

4. Compliance with the limit in this section shall be measured by calculating the aggregate actual new annual revenues produced in the first fiscal year that each individual tax or fee change is fully effective.

5. Any taxpayer or statewide elected official may bring an action under the provisions of section 23 of this article to enforce compliance with the provisions of this section. The Missouri supreme court shall have original jurisdiction to hear any challenge brought by any statewide elected official to enforce this section. In such enforcement actions, the court shall invalidate the taxes and fees which should have received a public vote as defined in subsection 1 of this section. The court shall order remedies of the amount of revenue collected in excess of the limit in this subsection as the court finds appropriate in order to allow such excess amounts to be refunded or to reduce taxes and/or fees in the future to offset the excess monies collected.

Section 19. Limits may be exceeded, when, how. The revenue limit of section 18 of this article may be exceeded only if all of the following conditions are met: (1) The governor requests the general assembly to declare an emergency; (2) the request is specific as to the nature of the emergency, the dollar amount of the emergency, and the method by which the emergency will be funded; and (3) the general assembly thereafter declares an emergency in accordance with the specifics of the governor's request by a majority vote for fiscal year 1981-1982, thereafter a two-thirds vote of the members elected to and serving in each house. The emergency must be declared in accordance with this section prior to incurring any of the expenses which constitute the emergency request. The revenue limit may be exceeded only during the fiscal year for which the emergency is declared. In no event shall any part of the amount representing a refund under section 18 of this article be the subject of an emergency request.

Section 20. Limitation on state expenses. No expenses of state government shall be incurred in any fiscal year which exceed the sum of the revenue limit established in sections 18 and 19 of this article plus federal funds and any surplus from a previous fiscal year.

Section 21. State support to local governments not to be reduced, additional activities and services not to be imposed without full state funding. The state is hereby prohibited from reducing the state financed proportion of the costs of any existing activity or service required of counties and other political subdivisions. A new activity or service or an increase in the level of any activity or service beyond that required by existing law shall not be required by the general assembly or any state agency of counties or other political subdivision, unless a state appropriation is made and disbursed to pay the county or other political subdivision for any increased costs.

Section 22. Political subdivisions to receive voter approval for increases in taxes and fees--rollbacks may be required--limitation not applicable to taxes for bonds. (a). Counties and other political subdivisions are hereby prohibited from levying any tax, license or fees, not authorized by law, charter of self-enforcing provisions of the constitution when this section is adopted or from increasing the current levy of an existing tax, license or fees, above that current levy authorized by law or charter when this section is adopted without the approval of the required majority of the qualified voters of that county or other political subdivision voting thereon. If the definition of the base of an existing tax, license or fees, is broadened, the maximum authorized current levy of taxation on the new base in each county or other political subdivision shall be reduced to yield the same estimated gross revenue as on the prior base. If the assessed valuation of property as finally equalized, excluding the value of new construction and improvements, increases by a larger percentage than the increase in the general price level from the previous year, the maximum authorized current levy applied thereto in each or other political subdivision shall be reduced to yield the same gross revenue from existing property, adjusted for changes in the general price level, as could have been collected at the existing authorized levy on the prior assessed value.

(b). The limitations of this section shall not apply to taxes imposed for the payment of principal and interest on bonds or other evidence of indebtedness or for the payment of assessments on contract obligations in anticipation of which bonds are issued which were authorized prior to the effective date of this section.

Section 23. Taxpayers may bring actions for interpretations of limitations. Notwithstanding other provisions of this constitution or other law, any taxpayer of the state, county or other political subdivisions shall have standing to bring suit in a circuit court of proper venue and additionally, when the state is involved, in the Missouri supreme court, to enforce the provisions of sections 16 through 22, inclusive, of this article and, if the suit is sustained, shall receive from the applicable unit of government his costs, including reasonable attorneys' fees incurred in maintaining such suit.

Section 24. Voter approval requirements not exclusive-- self-enforceability. (a). The provisions for voter approval contained in sections 16 through 23, inclusive, of this article do not abrogate and are in addition to other provisions of the constitution requiring voter approval to incur bonded indebtedness and to authorize certain taxes.

(b). The provisions contained in sections 16 through 23, inclusive, of this article are self-enforcing; provided, however, that the general assembly may enact laws implementing such provisions which are not inconsistent with the purposes of said sections.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON THE FINANCIAL STATEMENT

To the County Commission
and
County Collector
Jasper County, Missouri

We have audited the acco mpanying statement of revenues and expenditures of the County Collector's Fund of Jasper County, Missouri, for the period January 1, 1998 to October 16, 1998, as identified in the table of contents. This statement is the responsibility of the County Collector. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on this statement based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the statement of revenues and expenditures is free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the statement of revenues and expenditures. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the statement of revenues and expenditures referred to in the first paragraph presents fairly, in all material respects, the revenues and expenditures of the County Collector's Fund of Jasper County, Missouri, for the period January 1, 1998 to October 16, 1998, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we also have issued our report dated December 15, 1998, on our consideration of the County Collector's internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of his compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, and contracts.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON COMPLIANCE AND ON INTERNAL CONTROL OVER FINANCIAL REPORTING

To the County Commission
and
County Collector
Jasper County, Missouri

We have audited the statement of revenues and expenditures of the County Collector's Fund of Jasper County, Missouri, for the period January 1, 1998 to October 16, 1998, and have issued our report thereon dated December 15, 1998. We conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States.

Compliance

As part of obtaining reasonable assurance about whether the statement of revenues and expenditures of the County Collector's Fund of Jasper County, Missouri, is free of material misstatement, we performed tests of the County Collector's compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, and contracts, noncompliance with which could have a direct and material effect on the determination of financial statement amounts. However, providing an opinion on compliance with those provisions was not an objective of our audit, and accordingly, we do not express such an opinion. The results of our tests disclosed no material instances of noncompliance that are required to be reported under Government Auditing Standards. However, we noted certain other instances of noncompliance which are presented in the accompanying Management Advisory Report.

Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

In planning and performing our audit of the statement of revenues and expenditures of the County Collector's Fund of Jasper County, Missouri, we considered the County Collector's internal control over financial reporting in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the statement of revenues and expenditures and not to provide assurance on the internal control over financial reporting. Our consideration of the internal control over financial reporting would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal control that might be material weaknesses. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of one or more of the internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that misstatements in amounts that would be material to the financial statement being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. We noted no matters involving the internal control over financial reporting and its operation that we consider to be material weaknesses.

This report is intended for the information of the County Collector and the management of Jasper County, Missouri, and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

The County Collector's Fund is an agency fund which is custodial in nature and does not involve measurement of results of operations.

The statement of revenues and expenditures for the period January 1, 1998 to October 16, 1998, reflects amounts as shown on the records of the County Collector on the modified accrual basis.

The County Collector had not yet been charged with 1998 current taxes as of October 16, 1998.

The statement included in this report does not include any of the operating costs of the County Collector's office other than commissions retained. Operating costs are paid from the General Revenue Fund of the county.

MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT

JASPER COUNTY, MISSOURI
COUNTY COLLECTOR
MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT

We have audited the statement of revenues and expenditures of the County Collector's Fund of Jasper County, Missouri, for the period January 1, 1998 to October 16, 1998, and have issued our report thereon dated December 15, 1998.

A vacancy was created when Stephen H. Holt forfeited the office of County Collector on October 16, 1998. Art Wilson was appointed Jasper County Collector effective October 23, 1998.

Section 52.150, RSMo 1994, requires the state auditor to conduct an audit of the office of County Collector after being notified of a vacancy in that office. The county is responsible for paying for the cost of this audit.

Section 52.150, RSMo 1994, specifically outlines the state auditor's responsibilities as follows:

1. Determine the financial condition of the accounts of the office of the County Collector.

2. Determine the proper compensation that should have been paid to the replaced County Collector in the past three years and the compensation actually paid during such period; and

3. File a report of her findings with the county governing body and the person appointed to fill the vacancy in the office of the County Collector.

Section 52.150, RSMo 1994, provides the county commission shall accept the report of the state auditor and take, if necessary, certain specific actions if the state auditor finds any monies owing to the county or the past County Collector.

County Collector's Compensation

On August 19, 1993, the County Collector and County Commission entered into a written agreement with the City of Joplin for the collection of city property taxes. The original term of this agreement began on September 1, 1992 and provided for the County Collector to be compensated four percent of the total amount of taxes and penalties collected for the city less an assessment fee. The County Collector billed the city and was paid the following amounts for collection of city taxes:

Collector's Year Ended		Commissions Received
2/28/93	$	12,557
2/28/94		20,948
2/28/95		22,842
2/29/96		22,727
2/28/97		23,372
2/28/98		24,022
Total	$	126,468

The legality of this arrangement with the City of Joplin was questioned during 1998 based on Section 52.320.2, RSMo 1994, which limits the collector to $3,000 per year from all such contracts. A petition was filed in the Circuit Court by the Jasper County Prosecuting Attorney on August 28, 1998, charging the County Collector with conduct contrary to law by keeping payment from the City of Joplin in excess of $3,000 per year. On September 8, 1998, the County Collector reimbursed the Jasper County Treasurer $129,266 for commissions received in excess of $15,000 (5 years' commissions) plus interest of $17,798. On October 16, 1998, the Circuit Judge ordered the County Collector had forfeited his office for violation of receiving compensation other than allowed by law under Section 52.430, RSMo.

There is some question as to how much commission should have been allowed for the period under the contract. The County Collector collected city taxes from November 1992 through February 1998 (six tax years) under this contract. The statute allows the County Collector to be compensated $3,000 per year, but the term is not specified. The original contract with the City of Joplin began on September 1, 1992 and continued until March 31, 1993 and provided for a term of April 1 through March 31 for each succeeding year. Based on the worksheet provided by the county, the County Collector was not given credit ($3,000) for the 1997 tax year. As a result, it appears the County Collector is entitled to additional compensation of $3,000.

In addition to his commission for collection of city taxes, the County Collector was paid an annual salary of $38,000 established by the salary commission in 1988. Based on this annual amount, the Collector was also paid $23,750 for the period March 1, 1998 to October 16, 1998.

WE RECOMMEND the County Collector review the commissions allowed to be retained with the appropriate officials and determine if he is due an additional $3,000 in allowable compensation for collection of city taxes for the period November 1992 through February 1998.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The County Collector stated he agrees with the interpretation that six tax years instead of five were involved and, if the $3,000 limit applies, he should get credit for $18,000 instead of $15,000. He contacted the County Counselor and will await the county's response. No action is planned at this time.

The County Counselor stated the county does not necessarily disagree with the State Auditor that the County Collector should have been given credit for six years of contracts with the city of Joplin since he completed the collections for the calendar years 1992-97, inclusive.

This report is intended for the information of the County Collector and the management of Jasper County, Missouri, and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

To the County Commission
and
County Collector
Worth County, Missouri

We have audited the accompanying statement of revenues and expenditures of the County Collector's Fund of Worth County, Missouri, for the period of March 1, 1998 to October 31, 1998, as identified in the table of contents. This statement is the responsibility of the County Collector. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on this statement based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the statement of revenues and expenditures is free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the statement of revenues and expenditures. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the statement of revenues and expenditures referred to in the first paragraph presents fairly, in all material respects, the revenues and expenditures of the County Collector's Fund of Worth County, Missouri, for the period March 1, 1998 to October 31, 1998, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we also have issued our report dated December 10, 1998, on our consideration of the County Collector's internal controls over financial reporting and on our tests of their compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grants.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON COMPLIANCE AND ON INTERNAL CONTROL OVER FINANCIAL REPORTING

To the County Commission
and
County Collector
Worth County, Missouri

We have audited the statement of revenues and expenditures of the County Collector's Fund of Worth County, Missouri, for the period March 1, 1998 to October 31, 1998, and have issued our report thereon dated December 10, 1998. We conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States.

Compliance

As part of obtaining reasonable assurance about whether the statement of revenues and expenditures of the County Collector's Fund of Worth County, Missouri, is free of material misstatement, we performed tests of the County Collector's compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grants, noncompliance with which could have a direct and material effect on the determination of financial statement amounts. However, providing an opinion on compliance with those provisions was not an objective of our audit, and accordingly, we do not express such an opinion. The results of our tests disclosed no instances of noncompliance.

Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

In planning and performing our audit of the statement of revenues and expenditures of the County Collector's Fund of Worth County, Missouri, we considered the County Collector's internal controls over financial reporting in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the statement of revenues and expenditures and not to provide assurance on the internal controls over financial reporting. However, we noted certain matters involving the internal controls over financial reporting and their operation that we consider to be reportable conditions. Reportable conditions involve matters coming to our attention relating to significant deficiencies in the design or operation of the internal controls over financial reporting that, in our judgment, could adversely affect the County Collector's ability to record, process, summarize, and report financial data consistent with the assertions of management in the statement of revenues and expenditures.

A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of one or more of the internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that misstatements in amounts that would be material to the statement of revenues and expenditures being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. Our consideration of the internal controls over financial reporting would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal controls that might be reportable conditions and, accordingly, would not necessarily disclose all reportable conditions that are also considered to be material weaknesses. However, we noted certain matters involving the internal controls over financial reporting and their operation that we consider to be material weaknesses, and these matters are presented in the accompanying Management Advisory Report.

This report is intended for the information of the County Collector and the management of Worth County, Missouri, and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

The statement of revenues and expenditures for the period March 1, 1998, to October 31, 1998, reflects amounts as shown on the records of the County Collector on the modified accrual basis.

The County Collector had not yet been charged with the 1998 current taxes as of October 31, 1998.

The statement included in this report does not include any of the operating costs of the County Collector's office other than commissions retained. Operating costs are paid from the General Revenue Fund of the county.

MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT

WORTH COUNTY, MISSOURI
COUNTY COLLECTOR
MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT

We have audited the statement of revenues and expenditures of the County Collector's Fund of Worth County, Missouri, for the period March 1, 1998, to October 31, 1998, and have issued our report thereon dated December 10, 1998.

A vacancy in this office was created by the death of Connie Saville on October 31, 1998. Carol Ann Kerwin was appointed Worth County Collector effective November 20, 1998.

Section 52.150, RSMo 1994, requires the state auditor to conduct an audit of the office of County Collector after being notified of a vacancy in that office. The county is responsible for paying for the cost of this audit.

Section 52.150, RSMo 1994, specifically outlines the state auditor's responsibilities as follows:

1. Determine the financial condition of the accounts of the office of the County Collector.

2. Determine the proper compensation that should have been paid to the replaced County Collector in the past three years and the compensation actually paid during such period; and

3. File a report of her findings with the county governing body and the person appointed to fill the vacancy in the office of the County Collector.

Section 52.150, RSMo 1994, provides the county commission shall accept the report of the state auditor and take, if necessary, certain specific actions if the state auditor finds any monies owing to the county or the past County Collector. The County Collector received $17,750 annually during the three years ended February 28, 1998, and $11,833 for the period March 1, 1998 to October 31, 1998, in accordance with statutory provisions.

Accounting Controls and Procedures

Receipts were not always deposited intact and on a timely basis. The County Collector withheld cash from deposits to maintain a change fund that fluctuated between $80 and $90. The change fund was deposited at the end of the month and then cash was withheld from the next month's receipts to establish the fund again.

In addition, the County Collector occasionally held monies received when additional amounts for interest and penalties were due from the taxpayer. When the total amounts were finally received, the monies were deposited. In some instances, the County Collector did not deposit checks received if requested by the taxpayer but issued a paid tax receipt. When the taxpayer returned later in the month with cash, the check was returned to the taxpayer and the cash deposited.

WE RECOMMEND the County Collector deposit all monies received intact daily or when amounts exceed $100. If a change fund is needed, it should be established and maintained at a constant amount.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The current County Collector Kerwin indicated she has implemented this recommendation.

This report is intended for the information of the County Collector and the management of Worth County, Missouri, and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

County Commission of Newton County, Missouri

We have conducted a special review of the courthouse renovation project of Newton County, Missouri, 1996 to 1998. The objectives of this review were to:

1. Investigate the suspected over billing by a courthouse renovation project contractor.

2. Determine the amount of over billing.

3. Review and evaluate contracts between the county and contractors performing work on the courthouse renovation project.

4. Review and evaluate the county's compliance with purchasing requirements and other relevant laws and procedures related to the courthouse renovation project.

Our review was made in accordance with applicable generally accepted government auditing standards and included such procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. In this regard, we reviewed the financial records, contracts, and other pertinent procedures and documents.

Our review was limited to the specific matters described above and was based on selective tests and procedures considered appropriate in the circumstances. Had we performed additional procedures, other information might have come to our attention that would have been included in this report.

The accompanying Management Advisory Report presents our findings and recommendations arising from our special review of the courthouse renovation project of Newton County, Missouri.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

SPECIAL REVIEW OF
NEWTON COUNTY, MISSOURI
COURTHOUSE RENOVATION PROJECT
EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Newton County spent in excess of $1 million on a courthouse renovation project from 1996-1998, which was poorly planned and managed by the County Commission. The county did not develop any formal plans related to the renovation project. The County Commission entered into a verbal agreement with a local contractor, Roger Hulsey Enterprises, to serve as the general contractor on the project. The county agreed to reimburse the contractor for his material and labor costs plus a 10 percent commission. The county paid the contractor a total of $507,192 through September 1998 without requiring the contractor to provide documentation of his actual costs.

Based on a review of the work completed by the contractor, an independent construction management firm hired by the Sheriff estimated the contractor may have over billed the county $141,497. We reviewed the financial records of the contractor and based on those records, it appears the contractor over billed the county at least $74,701. Many of the invoices were not clear as to whether they related to the courthouse renovation project, and over $100,000 of $545,000 of invoices which, might have identified additional over billing by the contractor were not available from the contractor. The contractor was unable to provide any worksheets or documentation of how the billings were calculated. It also appears that while the County Commission paid the contractor a wage rate in excess of the prevailing wage rate the contractor did not always pay his labor at the prevailing wage rate.

Our prior audit report of Newton County, for the three years ended December 31, 1996, indicated the county had not solicited bids on $250,000 of renovation work performed by the contractor and other vendors hired directly by the county. Although the County Commission indicated it would make an effort to comply with purchasing requirements, significant deficiencies were again noted during the review of the courthouse renovation project.

MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT

Newton County Courthouse Renovation Concerns

Newton County began renovating its courthouse in 1995 after the completion of the new Sheriff's Department and Jail Facility. The third floor of the courthouse contained the old jail which was relocated to the new facility. The County Commission began informal plans of converting the old jail to new office space in early 1995. Through September 1998, the county had spent in excess of $1 million on the courthouse renovation project.

The county entered into a verbal agreement with a local contractor, Roger Hulsey Enterprises, to serve as the general contractor for the renovation project in early 1996. Payments to this contractor total $507,192 through September 30, 1998. In June 1998, the Sheriff was advised by the Prosecuting Attorney of possible over billings by the contractor. On September 10, 1998, the County Commission terminated the work authorization agreement with the contractor. The Sheriff initiated an investigation of the courthouse renovation project and in September 1998, requested the State Auditor's office to assist in reviewing the records. During our review of the project, the following areas of concern were noted related to the county's agreement and payments to the contractor:

A. The Sheriff hired a construction management firm to review the work performed by the contractor and provide an estimate of the costs incurred by the contractor based on industry standards. According to the construction report prepared by the construction management firm, the value of the work performed by the contractor was estimated at $365,695. Based on billings paid of $507,192, the firm estimated the contractor overbilled the county by approximately $141,497.

   We reviewed the financial records of the contractor during the time of the renovation project. Based on our review of the contractor's records, it appears the contractor accounted for all of his construction activity in his construction account. During the project period, the contractor deposited approximately $548,000 in this account (including $507,192 in county payments). The difference represented revenue from jobs other than the courthouse project and interest. During this same time period, the contractor made disbursements totaling $545,154 from this construction account.

   We reviewed these disbursements and attempted to identify which amounts were spent on the courthouse project. Based on this review, it appears the contractor over billed the county at least $74,701 as follows:

Total disbursements	$545,154
Expenditures unrelated to the courthouse	(151,980)
Maximum courthouse renovation costs	$393,174
Plus Contractor fee (10%)	39,317
Maximum courthouse renovation costs and fee	$432,491
Total billed by contractor	507,192
Minimum over billed	$ 74,701

It appears one method of overbilling related to labor costs. The contractor stated he billed the county at $25 per hour, but he paid his two main subcontractors substantially less ($10 or $15 per hour). Based on actual wage payments to these two individuals, it appears the contractor over billed the county approximately $67,200 for these two subcontractors.

Many invoices were not clear as to whether they were related to the courthouse renovation project and invoices related to some of the vendors, totaling over $100,000 were not available from the contractor. These amounts were included in the maximum courthouse costs above, although it appears some of the disbursements could have been unrelated to the courthouse project. In addition, all of the actual payroll costs have been included as courthouse costs, although the contractor had other construction projects ongoing at the time. Therefore, the actual amount overbilled is most likely larger.

Information regarding these over billings has been turned over to law enforcement officials.

B.1. The County Commission did not enter into a formal written agreement with the contractor. According to the commission, the county verbally agreed to pay the contractor for his material and labor costs plus a 10 percent commission. This agreement was not mentioned in the commission minutes.

Written agreements provide the framework necessary to detail the services to be provided and the compensation to be paid. In addition, Section 432.070, RSMo 1994, prohibits a county from making a contract unless it is in writing. In addition to being required by statute, written contracts are necessary to document the duties, rights, and responsibilities of each party and should establish performance criteria which must be met prior to payment for work completed. Commission minutes should document approval of all agreements.

2. The invoices submitted to the county by the contractor were inadequate, providing little to no detail of the material and labor costs incurred by the contractor. In addition, the invoices did not include any calculation of the contractor's fee. As noted above, the county verbally agreed to pay the contractor for his costs plus a 10 percent commission.

The County Commission stated they requested the contractor provide additional detail of the amounts billed; however, they noted they did not insist on the detail to substantiate the amounts claimed. The County Commission exercised extremely poor oversight responsibility of this contractor by allowing the billing practice to continue for over two and one half years, and making payments totaling $507,192.

Adequate supporting documentation is necessary to substantiate the validity and propriety of the amounts claimed by the contractor for his material and labor costs. Given the lack of detail noted on the invoices, reasonableness and propriety of the amounts claimed by the contractor cannot be ensured. Considering the nature of the agreement, detailed time sheets of labor costs incurred and paid invoices for materials purchased by the contractor should have been required to support the amounts claimed by the contractor.

3. The County Commission indicated they had informed the contractor that prevailing wages were required to be paid on the courthouse renovation project. However, the county did not require the contractor to provide supporting documentation of wages paid to ensure the requirement had been met. It appears the contractor did not pay prevailing wages on some of the labor on the project although he billed the county at a rate in excess of the prevailing wage.

   Section 290.250, RSMo 1994, requires the prevailing wage to be paid to all workers employed by or on behalf of any public body, who performs construction work projects other than routine maintenance. While it is the contractor's duty to pay the wages, the county did not monitor the wages paid by the contractor to ensure the prevailing wage requirement had been met.

C. The County Commission did not develop any formal plans related to the courthouse renovation project. According to the commission, informal plans were developed at the beginning of each office based on the office holder's needs. The commission stated they maintained complete control of the project in this manner. Considering the size and the costs of the project (approximately $1 million), the county should have solicited the services of a professional engineering firm to draw formal plans that could have been utilized to properly bid the various aspects of the project. In addition, an engineering firm could have monitored the progress of the project, ensured the quality of the work, and approved the billings.

D. As noted in our prior audit report of Newton County for the three years ended December 31, 1996, the county did not solicit bids on over $250,000 of the remodeling work. Subsequent to this, it appears the county did solicit bids for some of the courthouse renovation project work performed. Some evidence of bids was noted for the heating and cooling system improvements and the replacement of windows on the third floor of the courthouse. However, the county did not solicit or document bids for the following significant areas:

Roger Hulsey Enterprises	$507,192
Electrical work	134,643
Cabinets and wood products	123,402
Elevator extension	48,850
Concrete work	10,563

Section 50.660, RSMo Cum. Supp. 1996, requires the advertisement for bids for all purchases of $3,000 or more, and the solicitation of bids for purchases greater than $1,000 from any one person, firm, or corporation during any period of ninety days. Bidding procedures for major purchases provide a framework for the economical management of county resources and help assure the county that it receives fair value by contracting with the lowest and best bidder.

In addition, competitive bidding ensures all interested parties are given an equal opportunity to participate in county business. Documentation of bids should always be retained as evidence of compliance with the county's established purchasing procedures and statutory requirements. Documentation of bids should include, at a minimum, a listing of vendors/contractors from whom bids were requested, a copy of the request for proposal, a newspaper publication notice, if applicable, a copy of all bids received, the basis and justification for awarding the bid, and documentation of all discussions with vendors.

WE RECOMMEND the County Commission:

A. Continue to work with law enforcement officials regarding any criminal prosecution and obtain restitution for over billings.

B.1. Enter into written agreements for all services which detail all duties to be performed and the compensation to be paid.

2. Ensure adequate supporting documentation is submitted to substantiate amounts claimed for actual costs incurred by the contractor.

3. Ensure prevailing wage is paid on all construction projects as required by law.

C. Ensure major construction projects are properly planned and monitored.

D. Solicit bids for purchases in accordance with Section 50.660, RSMo. Documentation of bids solicited and justification for bid awards should be retained by the County Clerk. If it is not practical to obtain bids in a specific instance, or if sole source procurement is necessary, the circumstances should be thoroughly documented.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. The County Commission will continue to work and co-operate with law enforcement officials.

B.1. This will be done and the County Commission wishes it had been done in this instance.

2. The County Commission typically reviews invoices much more thoroughly and will do this in the future.

3. The County Commission told the contractor he needed to pay prevailing wage and believed he billed them for it. The commission gave the contractor the related prevailing wage paperwork.

C. The County Commission used drawings, prepared by a retired architect, in conjunction with each officeholder.

D. The County Commission said it did get quotes for cabinets from some other vendors, but the vendors were too small and could not supply the volume needed. The county now has a purchasing agent or manager who has implemented many new procedures and controls. Overall, the commission believes the work completed needed to be done and was of good quality.

This report is intended for the information of the county's management and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

CITY OF SHELDON, MISSOURI
SUMMARY OF FINDINGS

1. Community Oriented Policing Services (COPS) Grants (pages 10-11)

   It appears the city owes the federal government approximately $50,000 for excess reimbursements received. Quarterly financial reports for the COPS grants are not accurately prepared and the city has overstated the amount of allowable grant expenses.

2. Financial Records (pages 11-12)

   The city does not properly account for some revenues which are restricted for specific uses and does not properly allocate expenses to the various funds.

3. Budgets and Financial Reporting (pages 12-14)

   Improvements are needed in the city's budgeting documents and procedures. The city publishes annual financial statements while state law requires publication of semiannual statements. The city does not obtain annual audits of the combined waterworks and sewer system as required by state law.

4. Expenditures (pages 14-17)

   The city has no formal bidding policy. Improvements are needed regarding payment procedures. Some questionable transactions were noted between the city and the City Building Inspector. The city allows employees to use the city's phone for personal use but does not ensure that all personal calls are reimbursed to the city. Forms 1099-Miscellaneous are not filed as required.

5. City Utilities (pages 18-21)

   Accounting and bookkeeping duties are not adequately segregated. Utility billings cannot be reconciled to payments received and amounts remaining unpaid. Gallons of water billed to customers is not reconciled to gallons of water pumped by the city. Meter deposits are not identified within the General Fund, and some cash refunds are given for meter deposits. Water and sewer hook-up fees are not established by ordinance or written policy.

6. Accounting Controls and Procedures (pages 21-23)

   Receipts are not reconciled to deposits. Bank reconciliations are not prepared for some bank accounts. Improvements are needed regarding the city’s petty cash fund. The Mayor signs checks but is not bonded. The City Collector also serves as City Treasurer and the city should consider appointing a separate individual as treasurer. Voided checks are not retained. Improvements are needed in the records documenting rental of the community building. Checks are occasionally signed in advance by the Mayor or City Clerk.

7. Meetings, Minutes, and Records (pages 23-24)

Closed meetings are not always conducted or documented in accordance with state law. Board minutes are not signed. The city has not established a policy regarding public access to city records as required by state law.

8. Payroll and Personnel Matters (pages 24-26)

The duties and compensation of officials and employees and the City Clerk's term of office are not set by ordinance as required by state law. The city needs to evaluate whether it needs a building inspector and if necessary, establish the duties of the building inspector by ordinance. Time sheets are not prepared by some employees. The city should evaluate the duties and compensation of the City Clerk and determine whether she should be a full-time or part-time employee. A complete written personnel policy for all city employees has not been established. Records of vacation, sick leave, and compensatory time were not always accurate. State income taxes are not withheld from any wages or salaries paid by the city.

9. City Property (pages 26-28)

The city does not maintain inventory records for most city property. Usage and maintenance records are not maintained for most city vehicles and equipment. The city needs to maintain complete and accurate records of fuel pumped from its tank, and the city should reconcile fuel purchased to fuel used.

10 Property Tax Procedures (pages 28-29)

Tax book totals are not reviewed or verified by city officials and tax book additions and abatements are not approved by the Board of Alderman. The City Collector does not prepare annual reports summarizing taxes charged, taxes collected and delinquent taxes as required by state law. Delinquent property tax penalties are not charged in accordance with state law.

11. Traffic Violations Bureau (pages 29-31)

Receipt slips are not issued for some monies received and the method of payment is not always indicated on receipt slips. Accounting and bookkeeping duties are not adequately segregated. Traffic tickets were not properly accounted for and records of convictions on traffic offenses are not forwarded to the Missouri State Highway Patrol as required. Some court costs and fees are not charged or distributed in accordance with state law.

1. Community Oriented Policing Services (COPS) Grants

The city receives federal assistance from the U.S. Department of Justice under the COPS Universal Hiring and COPS Making Officer Redeployment Effective (MORE) programs. The COPS Universal Hiring program increases the number of law enforcement officers. The COPS MORE program allows for the purchase of law enforcement equipment to make officers' work more effective. The city normally employs four full-time officers, but two officers resigned in November 1998, and only two officers are currently employed. Our review of these grants noted the following concerns:

A. Based on city payroll records, the city spent approximately $141,500 for qualifying police salaries and benefits from May 1, 1995 through October 1, 1998. The city is required to provide 25 percent matching funds, so the city was entitled to receive $106,125 in grant reimbursements for these qualifying expenses; however, the city requested and received $156,511 in grant reimbursements. Therefore, it appears the city owes approximately $50,000 to the Department of Justice for excess reimbursements received through October 1, 1998.

The city opened a separate bank account for the COPS Grant Fund. Grant reimbursements are deposited into this account, and police salaries are paid from this account. However, the city has met part of its matching requirement by paying the related fringe benefits from the city's general account. The balance of the COPS Grant Fund at October 1, 1998, was $36,730. Therefore, of the $50,000 owed to the Department of Justice at October 1, 1998, approximately $13,270 is owed from the city's General Fund.

The Department of Justice also requires the city to prepare quarterly financial status reports and the city also over reported total qualifying expenses on the these reports. The Mayor indicated that she did not fully understand how to prepare these reports, but she now understands and is working on preparing revised reports through the quarter ended September 30, 1998.

The city should prepare complete and accurate records of all allowable salary and fringe benefit expenses and prepare accurate quarterly financial status reports. The city should request reimbursement for only actual and allowable expenses incurred, less the required amount of matching funds, in accordance with the grant agreement. In addition, the city should evaluate the current financial condition of the city and determine whether the city can afford to employ four full-time police officers, even with 75 percent reimbursement.

B. During 1997, the city received reimbursement of $3,696 for various equipment purchased under the COPS MORE program. The reimbursement was the full cost of the equipment. Therefore the city owes the federal government $924 (25 percent of matching funds). City officials indicated there are no plans to purchase additional allowable equipment in the future.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen prepare accurate quarterly financial reports for the COPS grants, retain documentation to support the reported expenditures, and ensure reimbursement is requested for only allowable actual expenditures. The city should repay the $50,000 in excess reimbursements received. In addition, the board should evaluate its current level of law enforcement services and determine whether it can afford to employ four full-time police officers.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The city has made an amended quarterly report as told to us by the Justice Department. We have $36,000 in the COPS Grant bank account for salaries that has not been spent. This will be used for salaries before any more monies are requested. The revised quarterly report for September 30, 1998, shows where we have provided the Justice Department with the percentages owed for our 25% on the grant. We will review the city's financial condition to determine if we can afford the officers.

2. Financial Records

The city's financial records are not adequate to ensure restricted revenues are spent only for allowable purposes and do not provide city officials with a means to monitor and evaluate the overall financial condition of the city. While it appears the majority of city revenues are appropriately allocated to the various funds and accounts, costs are charged to the funds and accounts without adequate documentation to support the allocation. The City Clerk indicated expenses are generally paid from the account that has funds available at the time bills need to be paid. In addition, we noted the following expenditures do not appear to be paid from or allocated to the appropriate funds or accounts:

- The City Clerk's compensation ($12,315 in 1997) is paid from the water and sewer account, but her duties are not exclusively related to the water and sewer system.
- An air conditioner for city hall ($1,648) was paid from the water and sewer account.
- Lumber and supplies for remodeling city hall and fencing supplies for the city park (total of $696) were paid from the Gas Tax Fund. Revenues of this fund are legally restricted for street purposes.

In addition, the following conditions were noted regarding inadequate records or procedures for accounting for funds which are legally restricted for specific purposes:

- Law enforcement training fees received by the traffic violations bureau are not separately accounted for. These fees are legally restricted for the training of police officers.
- Trash service fees are deposited into the water and sewer account and there is no separate accounting for trash service expenditures. Trash service revenues represent user fees which should be established to cover the cost of providing trash service. Therefore, a separate accounting of trash service revenues and expenditures is needed.

- A portion of the city's property tax revenues is legally restricted for street lights, and these revenues are deposited in the street light account; however, unrestricted franchise tax revenues are also deposited into this account and the majority of the city's electric bills (which includes electric for city hall, city library, fire barn, water pumps, etc.) are paid from this account. A separate accounting of these restricted property taxes is necessary and only the street light portion of the electric bills should be paid from these property taxes.

- The city has a general obligation bond issue and the city levies property taxes to pay the bond principal and interest. The taxes are deposited into the street bond account and the principal and interest payments are made from this account; however, the balance of this account does not appear accurate based on the actual taxes levied and the principal and interest payments since 1985. From 1985 through 1997, debt service tax revenues appear to have been approximately $45,000 less than total principal and interest payments so it appears the street bond account should have little or no balance; however, the balance of the street bond account was $18,504 at July 31, 1998. In addition, the city has approximately $24,000 in certificates of deposit which are identified as street bond monies that were purchased from general and water and sewer monies.

It is essential the city separately account for various revenue sources and properly allocate expenses to the various accounts and funds. This information is needed for the city to properly establish the user charges for its utilities and trash service. Furthermore, the uses of certain funds, such as the street bond account and Gas Tax Fund, are limited by state law for specified purposes. Therefore, documentation of expense allocation is useful for both management and compliance purposes. In addition, the city should consider combining some funds and accounts for which revenues are not legally restricted, such as the sales tax, interest, dog tag, and community building accounts and the Traffic Fund.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen establish funds to properly account for restricted revenues and ensure all costs paid from the funds are appropriate. The board should review the current balances and make other corrections as necessary.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We agree with this recommendation.

3. Budgets and Financial Reporting

A. Our review of the city's budgets noted the following concerns:

1. In March 1998, the city prepared budgets for 1996, 1997, and 1998. In addition to untimely information for 1996 and 1997, Section 67.080, RSMo 1994, provides that no expenditure of public monies shall be made unless it is authorized in the budget.
2. The budgets do not include actual receipts and disbursements from the two previous years, as required by Section 67.010, RSMo 1994. Amounts for the two previous years provide a comparison with the budget estimates for the next fiscal year.

3. Budgets were only prepared for the General Fund and not for the COPS Grant Fund, Traffic Fund, Park Fund, Fire Department Fund and the Gas Tax Fund.

4. The budgets do not present a complete financial plan for the ensuing years. The actual and estimated cash and resources available at the beginning and end of the year, respectively, are not included on the budgets. In addition, the 1998 budget does not include estimate revenues and only includes estimated expenditures.

5. The budgets do not include a budget message.

Sections 67.010 to 67.080, RSMo 1994, set specific guidelines for the format, approval, and amendments of the annual operating budget. A complete and well-planned budget, in addition to meeting statutory requirements, can serve as a useful management tool by establishing specific cost and revenue expectations for each area of city operations. A budget can also provide a means to effectively monitor actual costs by periodically comparing budgeted amounts to actual expenditures. A complete budget should include separate revenue and expenditure estimations by fund, and include the beginning available resources and reasonable estimates of the ending available resources. The budget should also include a budget message and comparisons of actual revenues and expenditures for the two preceding fiscal years.

B. Section 79.160, RSMo 1994, requires the Board of Aldermen to semiannually publish a full and detailed statement of the receipts, expenditures, and indebtedness of the city, in a newspaper in the city. However, the city only publishes financial statements annually. In addition, the receipts and disbursements published for the Park Board Fund for the year ending December 31, 1997, did not agree to the city's accounting records and the activity for the COPS Grant Fund and Traffic Fund was not included. Also, the financial statement did not present the city's indebtedness for a fire truck of $4,779.

Accurate and complete semiannual published financial statements are necessary to comply with state law and to keep the citizens informed of the financial activity and condition of the city.

C. The city has not obtained annual audits of the combined waterworks and sewer system. Section 250.150, RSMo 1994, requires the city to obtain annual audits of the combined waterworks and sewer system, and the cost of the audits is to be paid from the revenues received from the system.

In addition to being required by state law, annual audits of city funds would help ensure city financial transactions have been properly recorded.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Prepare annual budgets in compliance with state law, and make periodic comparisons between budgeted and actual expenditures.

B. Publish complete and accurate semiannual financial statements for all city funds as required by state law.

C. Obtain annual audits of the combined waterworks and sewer system as required by state law.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A&B. We agree with these recommendations.

C. We will consider implementing this recommendation.

4. Expenditures

A. The city has not established formal bidding policies and procedures. As a result, the decision of whether to solicit bids for a particular purchase is made on an item-by-item basis. The city employs various techniques to solicit bids including requesting bids over the telephone, obtaining literature in the mail, and sending out bid request letters to vendors. However, the following items were purchased for which adequate bid documentation was not available:

Insurance	$8,983
Gasoline and oil	6,508
Pump repairs	4,336
Vehicle	3,200
Softball diamond improvements	1,916
Lumber and supplies for city hall remodeling	1,795
Air conditioner	1,648

Formal bidding policies for major purchases based upon a specified dollar amount would provide a more efficient framework for economical management of city resources and help ensure the city receives fair value by contracting with the lowest and best bidders.

Competitive bidding also helps ensure all parties are given equal opportunity to participate in the city's business. Not only can bids be handled by telephone quotation, but bids can also be obtained by written quotation, by sealed bid, or by advertised sealed bid. Various approaches are appropriate, based on dollar amount and type of purchase. Whichever approach is used, complete documentation should be maintained of all bids received and reasons for accepting or rejecting bids.

B. The following weaknesses were noted regarding the city's procedures for the payment of bills:

1. The City Clerk prepares and signs checks and the Mayor also signs the checks; however, the Mayor does not review the related invoices or supporting documentation prior to signing the checks. To ensure all expenditures are properly reviewed and approved, the board should designate the Mayor or a board member to review the related invoices before the checks are signed.

2. Acknowledgment of receipt of goods or services is not always documented on invoices. This is necessary to ensure that all goods or services paid for were actually received.

3. Invoices are not always marked paid or otherwise canceled upon payment. Although no duplicate payments were noted, the possibility that an invoice will be paid twice is increased when invoices are not properly canceled.

4. Vendor invoices or other supporting documentation were not retained for some expenditures. These expenditures included $1,648 for an air conditioner, $154 to Walmart for supplies, $78 for concrete, and $233 to employees as reimbursements of expenses. All expenditures should be supported by paid receipts or vendor invoices to ensure the obligations were actually incurred and the expenditures represent appropriate uses of public funds.

C. During the review of expenditures, we noted the following questionable transactions involving the City Building Inspector:

1. In December 1996, the city paid to remodel an old garage building owned by the individual who served as City Marshal at that time (currently the City Building Inspector). In exchange for the remodeling expenses, the city was allowed to use the building as an office for the police officers and was allowed to park the city patrol car in the garage. The city used the facility for approximately one year and did not pay any rent for its use. There was no written agreement or contract regarding this arrangement.

   The minutes indicate the Board of Alderman approved to pay $300 toward the remodeling and the former City Marshal was to pay $280. City records indicate the full $580 was paid by the city and there is no record that the former City Marshal reimbursed the $280 to the city.

2. During 1997, the city remodeled the city hall building. The city purchased lumber and supplies from a vendor and the work was performed by city employees and donated labor. The donated labor was provided by the Building Inspector's contracting business. The Building Inspector's business was also building new homes in the area at this time. An invoice from the lumber vendor for $933 was made out to the Building Inspector's business and the city paid $763 to the vendor for items on this invoice. There was no documentation regarding why the city paid this amount or why the invoice was made out to the Building Inspector's business.

3. In November 1997, the city received a computer from the Building Inspector. In exchange for the computer, the city installed a sidewalk on the Building Inspector's property and installed sewer lines for an apartment building he was developing. Bids were not solicited for the computer which was valued at $1,251 and there was no documentation in the board minutes regarding this agreement.

4. In December 1996, the city paid $500 to the City Building Inspector for a sewer lift station which had been installed by the Building Inspector's contracting business. There is no documentation to support the actual cost of the lift station or why the city paid $500. Currently, the homeowner is paying costs to maintain the station.

Officers and agents of a city serve in a fiduciary capacity. Personal interests in business matters of the city create the appearance of conflicts of interest. To avoid the appearance of conflicts of interest, all transactions and agreements between the city and the Building Inspector should be fully documented and approved by the Board of Aldermen, and written agreements should be prepared if necessary. In addition, the board should review the above transactions and determine whether the Building Inspector owes the city $280 for the remodeling expense and $763 for payment on the invoice which was billed to his business.

D. In April 1996, the former City Marshal who is now the City Building Inspector, was apparently given authority by the Board of Aldermen to purchase a used patrol car for the city as long as the purchase price did not exceed $2,000. A car was purchased for $1,500; however, the city could not provide an invoice or bill of sale for the car purchase. In December 1996, the city apparently sold the car to a local mechanic for parts. This mechanic indicated he sold the car at an auto auction and turned over the entire proceeds to the city. A representative of the auto auction indicated the car sold for $575, less $55 for their commission. However, city records indicated only $248 was deposited into the General Fund for the sale proceeds.

E. The city allows employees to make personal phone calls. The phone call charges are to be deducted from the employees' paychecks, but some personal phone charges were not deducted. The city does not have a written policy regarding use of telephone for personal use nor does the city maintain a telephone log detailing the calls that have been made and the reason for these calls. A telephone log would help ensure the city pays for only those calls that are necessary to effectively and efficiently operate the city.

F. The city did not file Forms 1099 with the Internal Revenue Service. The Internal Revenue Code requires payments of $600 or more for services by nonemployees (other than corporations) be reported to the federal government on Forms 1099. During the year ended December 31, 1997 the city paid one individual $1,580 for excavating work and $10,453 to the city attorney.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Establish formal bidding policies and procedures. In addition, documentation of the bidding process should be maintained in all cases.

B.1. Designate the Mayor or a board member to review all supporting invoices before the checks are signed.

2. Require evidence of receipt of goods or services on each invoice before making payment.

3. Ensure all invoices or other supporting documentation are marked paid upon payment by the city.

4. Require adequate supporting documentation for all expenditures.

C. Fully document all transactions between the city and the Building Inspector and, in the future, enter into written agreements stating each party's duties and responsibilities. The board should review these situations and determine whether $1,043 is owed to the city from the Building Inspector.

D. Attempt to obtain documentation to verify both the purchase price and selling price of the patrol car. Any discrepancies between the documented purchase and sale prices and the amounts paid and received for the purchase and sale of the car, respectively, should be investigated.

E. Adopt a policy prohibiting the personal use of city phones, or ensure all personal phone calls are reimbursed to the city. In addition, the city should maintain a log to document the calls made and reasons for these calls.

F. Ensure that IRS Forms 1099 are filed as required for prior years as well as in the future.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A,B.2, 3&E. We agree with these recommendations.

B.1. & F. We will implement these recommendations.

B.4. We have now found all but one of these invoices.

C. We agree that these transactions should have been documented better. Regarding the invoice for building supplies, we reviewed this and determined that these items were used for remodeling city hall.

D. We will attempt to obtain a copy of the title to the car, and it was our agreement that we sold the car to the mechanic for parts for $248. We will review this situation and attempt to resolve any concerns.

5. City Utilities

The city provides water, sewer and trash services to approximately 200 customers. Water meters are read around the twentieth of the month and water, sewer, and trash payments become due on the first day of the month and become delinquent the following month. Our review of the billing and receipt process and internal controls revealed the following areas of concern:

A. The City Clerk calculates amounts due, collects payments, prepares deposits, records receipts, and prepares delinquent notices. No independent review of these procedures is performed.

To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide for reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. An adequate system of internal controls requires segregation of duties. Since the city has only one administrative employee, segregation of duties may not be feasible. However, the Board of Aldermen should, at a minimum, designate someone independent of the process to perform and document periodic reviews of the records and procedures.

B. The City Clerk calculates the monthly water charges based on meter readings, and sewer and trash charges are the same amount each month. The city does not mail water, sewer, and trash bills to customers, but customers are required to pay their accounts monthly. The City Clerk does not issue receipt slips for utility payments. In addition, there are no reconciliations between amounts received and amounts deposited.

To properly account for all receipts, prenumbered receipt slips should be issued or receipts should be recorded on a log immediately upon receipt. The method of payment received (cash, check, or money order) should be noted on the receipt slips or receipt log. To ensure all receipts are deposited, the City Clerk should reconcile receipt slips or receipt log amounts, including the composition of receipts, to amounts deposited.

C. Spreadsheets are maintained for each customer account which includes water, sewer, and trash charges and receipts. Some customer account spreadsheets contained errors regarding payment information and amounts due. In addition, date of payment is not recorded on the spreadsheets. Accurate and complete information regarding amounts due from and paid by each customer is necessary to ensure all amounts due are collected and adequate follow-up on delinquent accounts is performed.

D. Monthly lists of delinquent customer accounts are prepared by the City Clerk and reviewed by the Mayor; however, the lists do not include delinquent accounts for city officials and employees. For example, in October 1998, the City Building Inspector owed approximately $200 in delinquent water and sewer fees for his residence and his business, and owed $250 for a water hookup fee, but these amounts were not on the delinquent list.
To ensure adequate follow-up procedures are performed, all delinquent accounts should be included on the monthly listing.

E. The city does not perform monthly reconciliations of total charges, payments received, and amounts remaining unpaid for water, sewer, and trash services.

Monthly reconciliations are necessary to ensure that all accounting records balance, transactions have been properly recorded, any errors or discrepancies are detected on a timely basis. Complete documentation of the reconciliation should be retained to support conclusions and any corrections made and to facilitate independent reviews.

F. The city does not reconcile the total gallons of water charged to customers to the gallons of water pumped. City personnel indicated this was done once several years ago, but documentation of the reconciliation was not maintained.

To help detect any significant water loss on a timely basis and to help ensure all water usage is properly charged, the city should monthly prepare and maintain records of the total gallons of water pumped and reconcile them to the gallons of water charged. Significant differences should be investigated.

G. City residents are required to pay a meter deposit before receiving water services. Currently, the city collects a $25 deposit for homeowners and $50 deposit for renters. A separate receipt book is maintained to record the meter deposits. The monies from the meter deposits are deposited into the water and sewer account. Our review identified the following weaknesses:

1. Meter deposit funds are not identified within the General Fund and are used for operating expenses.

   The city needs to identify all customer deposits that should currently be held by the city and keep the listing properly updated. Meter deposits received by the city should be held in trust and not used for operating expenses. The listing of meter deposits should be reconciled to the meter deposits in the account monthly to ensure that sufficient funds are available for the payment of all liabilities.

2. The City Clerk sometimes issues cash refunds for meter deposits when water service is discontinued by the customer; therefore, causing receipts to not be deposited intact. To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, deposits should be made intact and refunds should be made by check.

3. Some copies of voided meter deposit receipt slips were not maintained. To ensure that all receipts slips are properly accounted for, all copies of voided receipt slips should be properly defaced and maintained.

H. The city charges a sewer hook-up fee of $250 and a water hook-up fee of $150 plus any excavating work on any new residential or commercial connections to the main trunk line. These fees are not established by ordinance. In addition, the city does not have a written policy regarding procedures for installing water and sewer lines. According to maintenance employees, the city is responsible for installing the main lines and residents are responsible for the lines connecting to their residence.

To ensure equitable treatment of all sewer customers, the board should establish ordinances for water and sewer hook-up fees and written policies regarding the installation of water and sewer lines. The board should ensure the ordinances and policies are followed and all exceptions are approved by the board and properly documented.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Adequately segregate the accounting duties of the City Clerk or designate someone independent of the process to perform and document periodic reviews of the records and procedures.

B. Ensure the City Clerk issues prenumbered receipt slips or maintains a receipt log and reconciles amounts received to amounts deposited.

C. Ensure complete and accurate customer utility account spreadsheets are maintained.

D. Ensure all delinquent accounts, including those for city officials and employees, are included on the monthly listing.

E. Perform monthly reconciliations of the amounts charged to amounts collected and delinquent accounts.

F. Maintain records of gallons of water pumped and compare to gallons charged on a monthly basis. Any significant differences should be documented and investigated.

G.1. Maintain a complete listing of meter deposits and periodically reconcile the listing to monies held by the city.

2. Discontinue making cash refunds for meter deposits.

3. Retain all voided meter deposit receipt slips.

H. Establish water and sewer hook-up fees by ordinance and establish written policies regarding the installation of water and sewer lines. The board should ensure the policies are followed and any exceptions are approved and documented.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A,G.1, & 3. We agree with these recommendations.

B&C. We will review these recommendations.

D&H. We will implement these recommendations.

E. We are working on implementing this recommendation.

F. This had been done in the past but has not been done recently. We agree with the recommendation.

G.2. We normally issue checks for refunds and will discontinue making cash refunds.

6. Accounting Controls and Procedures

A. The City Clerk receives and deposits property taxes from the City Collector and franchise taxes, license fees, donations, community building rental fees, and other miscellaneous revenues. The City Clerk does not issue receipt slips or record individual receipts on a receipt ledger. In addition, there are no reconciliations between amounts received and amounts deposited.

To properly account for all receipts, prenumbered receipt slips should be issued or receipts should be recorded on a ledger immediately upon receipt. The method of payment received (cash, check, or money order) should be noted on the receipt slips or ledger. To ensure all receipts are deposited, the City Clerk should reconcile receipt slips or ledger amounts, including the composition of receipts, to amounts deposited.

B. Bank reconciliations are only prepared for the General Fund checking account and not for the checking accounts for the other city funds. Monthly bank reconciliations are necessary to ensure the accounting records are in agreement with the bank records and to help detect errors on a timely basis.

C. The City Clerk maintains a petty cash fund of approximately $300 which is also used as a change fund for city and municipal court transactions. The fund is not operated on an imprest basis. Invoices or receipts are not maintained for expenditures, and a ledger is not maintained to document disbursements. In addition, cash is withheld from city receipts to replenish the fund. The fund is entirely under the control of the City Clerk and no independent review is made of the fund to ensure it is maintained properly.

Invoices should be maintained for all petty cash expenditures and the fund should be operated on an imprest basis, meaning that cash and the invoices should always total the established balance, and checks issued to replenish the fund should equal the amount of invoices. A ledger of all petty cash fund transactions should be maintained. Periodically, the fund should be counted and reconciled to the imprest balance by an independent person to ensure the funds are being accounted for properly, to detect any errors, and to prevent these monies from being misused.

D. Checks issued on the city's bank accounts require signatures of the City Clerk and Mayor; however, the checks are sometimes signed in advance by the Mayor or City Clerk. In addition, the City Clerk is bonded but the Mayor is not bonded. Signing checks in advance does not allow for proper review of the documentation to support the disbursement and diminishes the control intended by dual signatures. Also the Board of Aldermen should ensure the Mayor is adequately bonded.

E. The board appointed the City Collector to serve as City Treasurer in June 1998. Attorney General's Opinion No. 24, 1955 to Dodds, concluded that in a fourth-class city the holding of the positions of City Clerk, City Treasurer, and City Collector, or any two of these three offices, by the same person at the same time would be incompatible. In addition, the City Treasurer only reviews the General Fund bank reconciliations performed by the City Clerk. The board should review this situation and determine if a city treasurer is needed, and if so, appoint a separate individual to this position.

F. The City Clerk shreds all voided checks. To ensure all checks are properly accounted for, all voided checks should be properly defaced and retained.

G. The city does not keep adequate records of individuals and organizations who rent the community building and the accompanying rental payments. The city currently indicates on a calendar when the community building is reserved. The city's records do not document whether rental amounts have been paid or are still due. In addition, varying amounts ranging from $10 to $50 have been collected as rental fees and the fees are not established by ordinance.

To ensure all rental fees are collected and properly accounted for, the city should maintain a central record of the dates the community center is rented, the name of the individual or organization who rents it, and the rental fee due. The City Clerk should keep a record of all rental payments received, reconcile payments received to payments due, and follow up on any unpaid amounts. In addition, the fees should be established by ordinance.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Ensure the City Clerk issues prenumbered receipt slips or maintains a receipt ledger and reconciles amounts received to amounts deposited.

B. Ensure bank reconciliations are prepared and retained for all city accounts.

C. Formally establish an imprest amount for the petty cash fund and ensure the fund is periodically counted and reconciled to the imprest balance by an independent person. In addition, invoices should be maintained for all petty cash expenditures and a ledger should be prepared of all petty cash transactions.

D. Discontinue the practice of signing checks in advance, and obtain bond coverage for the Mayor.

E. Determine whether a city treasurer is needed and appoint a separate individual to the position, if necessary.

F. Deface and retain all voided checks.

G. Establish rental fees by ordinance and ensure records are maintained for all rentals of the community center and ensure all rental fees are collected.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A-C. We will implement these recommendations.

D. We have stopped signing checks in advance and will consider bonding the Mayor.

E. We will review this recommendation.

F. This has already been implemented.

G. We will consider implementing this recommendation.

7. Meetings, Minutes, and Records

A. The Board of Aldermen conducted several closed meetings during the year ended December 31, 1997 and did not document the matters discussed. Without the preparation of closed meeting minutes, there is no evidence that the provisions of the Sunshine Law, Chapter 610, RSMo, regarding these closed meetings, have been followed.

The open meeting minutes do not always document the reasons for going into closed sessions and do not document that a vote was taken to go into closed session. In addition, it is not clearly documented that the final disposition of applicable matters discussed in closed session is made public as required by the Sunshine Law. Although matters discussed at closed meetings were not documented, the Mayor indicated the board appointed a new board member to fill a vacancy, which does not appear to be an allowable closed meeting matter. In addition, the final disposition of certain personnel matters discussed in closed session, such as the appointment of the Police Chief and the Building Inspector's resignation and reappointment, may not have been disclosed to the public within 72 hours as required.

Section 610.021, RSMo Supp. 1997, allows the board to close meetings to the extent the meetings relate to certain specified subjects, including litigation, real estate transactions, and personnel issues, and requires public disclosure of the final disposition of certain matters. Section 610.022, RSMo 1994, requires a closed meeting, record, or vote be held only for the specific reasons announced publicly at an open session and requires a vote of the board to go into closed session. In addition, this law provides that public governmental bodies shall not discuss any other business during the closed meeting that differs from the specific reasons used to justify such meeting, record, or vote.

B. The board minutes are prepared by the City Clerk, but the minutes are not signed. The board minutes should be signed by the City Clerk as preparer and by the Mayor to provide an independent attestation that the minutes are a correct record of the matters discussed and actions taken during the board's meetings.

C. The city does not have a formal policy regarding public access to city records. A formal policy regarding access to city records would establish guidelines for the city to make records available to the public. This policy should establish a person to contact and an address to mail requests for access to records. Section 610.023, RSMo 1994, lists requirements for making city records available to the public.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Ensure minutes are prepared for all closed meetings and ensure only legally allowable, specified subjects are discussed in closed session. In addition, the board should hold a vote to go into closed session, state the reasons for going into closed session, and publicly disclose the final disposition of applicable matters discussed in closed session, as required by state law.

B. Ensure board minutes are signed by the City Clerk and the Mayor to attest to their completeness and accuracy.

C. Establish formal written policies and procedures regarding public access to city records.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. This has already been implemented.

B. We will implement this recommendation.

C. We agree with this recommendation.

8. Payroll and Personnel Matters

A. Compensation and duties of city officials and employees, including the City Attorney, are not set by ordinance. Also, the city has not adopted an ordinance establishing the term of office for the City Clerk. Section 79.270, RSMo 1994, states the board of aldermen shall have the power to fix the compensation of all city officials and employees by ordinance and the salary of an official shall not be changed during the time for which he was elected or appointed. Section 79.290, RSMo 1994, requires the duties of city officials shall be prescribed by ordinance. Section 79.320, RSMo 1994, requires the term of office of the City Clerk be fixed by ordinance.

To ensure compliance with state law and to avoid misunderstandings, the board should adopt ordinances which specify the duties and compensation of all city officials and employees and the term of office of the City Clerk.

B. The city has appointed an individual as City Building Inspector; however, the city has no building codes and does not require building permits. The Building Inspector receives no official compensation, and city officials indicated he inspects old vacant city buildings; however, this position has not been established by ordinance. The city should evaluate the need for a building inspector, and if necessary, establish the duties and compensation by ordinance.

C. The City Clerk and the maintenance employees do not prepare time sheets or daily activity logs. Time sheets are necessary to document hours actually worked, substantiate payroll expenditures, and provide the board with a method to monitor hours worked.

D. The City Clerk is considered a part-time employee. For 1997 and 1998, the City Clerk is paid a base monthly salary of $550 for working the 1st through the 10th days of each month. Additional hours worked by the City Clerk are paid at $7.85 per hour ($7.50 per hour for 1997). The following represents the annual payments to the City Clerk for her base salary and for additional hours worked from 1994 through 1997:

	1997	1996	1995	1994
Base compensation	$ 6,600	5,880	5,880	4,920
Hourly compensation	5,715	5,348	3,273	760
Total	$12,315	11,228	9,153	5,680

The hourly compensation of the City Clerk has increased substantially since 1994; however, as noted in Part C. above, the City Clerk does not prepare time sheets and does not retain other documentation of her additional hours worked. The City Clerk indicated her hours have increased mainly because of her duties as traffic violations bureau clerk of the municipal court.

Because of the significant increase in the City Clerk's additional hourly compensation, the Board of Aldermen should review the City Clerk's current duties and compensation and determine whether the City Clerk should be classified as a full-time or part-time employee. In addition, the board should consider establishing the City Clerk's total compensation as either a set monthly salary or as an hourly wage for each hour worked.

E. The city has four full-time police officers, one full-time and one part-time maintenance employee, one part-time animal control officer, and one part-time City Clerk. The city has established a personnel policy for the police officers and maintenance employees but has not established a policy for the City Clerk. Also, the policies that are established do not address issues such as overtime, compensatory time, part-time employee status, and other personnel issues.

A comprehensive written personnel policy for all employees is necessary to ensure proper compensation for leave earned and taken, equitable treatment among employees, and the avoidance of misunderstandings.

F. The city does not maintain accurate records of vacation and sick leave earned, taken, or accumulated for each employee. The Mayor keeps a listing of vacation and sick days taken for the maintenance employees and the police officers. However, the listings did not always agree to payroll records documenting payment for vacation or sick leave.

Adequate documentation of vacation and sick leave earned, taken, and accumulated is necessary to ensure employees are properly compensated for accumulated leave and to ensure leave time used is not in excess of time accumulated.

G. The city does not withhold state income taxes from the employees' wages. Section 143.191, RSMo 1994, requires employers to withhold state income taxes from wages.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Adopt ordinances to set duties and compensation for all city officials and employees and the term of office of the City Clerk, in accordance with state law.

B. Review the need for a city building inspector and, if necessary, set the duties and compensation of the building inspector by ordinance.

C. Require the City Clerk and maintenance employees to prepare time sheets, and require police officers to report actual time worked on their time sheets.

D. Evaluate the duties and compensation of the City Clerk and consider establishing the City Clerk's compensation as either a set monthly salary or an hourly wage.

E. Establish a complete written personnel policy for all city employees.

F. Maintain accurate records of vacation, sick leave, and compensatory time in a manner that provides a complete record of the amount of time earned, taken, and any accumulated balances.

G. Ensure state income taxes are properly withheld and remitted for any wages or salaries paid.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A,B, & D. We will review these matters.

C. This has already been implemented.

E. We agree that a personnel policy is needed for all employees.

F. We agree with this recommendation.

G. We are in the process of implementing this recommendation.

9. City Property

A. The city has not prepared and maintained permanent, detailed property records for general fixed assets, including the cost of land, buildings, equipment, and furniture owned by the city. In addition, the city has not prepared and maintained permanent, detailed property records for the water and sewer system. Also, annual physical inventories are not performed. At our request, the city did prepare a listing of city vehicles, but the cost, location of asset, date acquired, and other pertinent information was not always included for each item.

Property records for general fixed assets are necessary to ensure accountability for all items purchased and owned and for determining the proper amount of insurance coverage.

To develop appropriate records and procedures for general fixed assets and the fixed assets of the water and sewer system, the city needs to undertake a comprehensive review of all property owned by the city. Assets should be counted, tagged for specific identification, and recorded by description and serial number in a detailed property ledger at historical cost or estimated historical cost if the original cost is not available. The city should properly record all fixed asset transactions, and ensure the accuracy of the recorded fixed assets. Periodically, the city should take physical counts of its assets and compare to the detailed records.

B. The city has one police car, four fire trucks, two tractors, one van, one trash truck, one flat bed truck, and a first responder vehicle. Daily usage logs are maintained for the police car, but usage logs are not maintained for other vehicles and maintenance logs are not maintained for any vehicles or equipment.

Logs should be maintained indicating the employee using the vehicle or equipment, the purpose and destination of the trip, the beginning and ending odometer readings, and the operation and maintenance costs. The log should be reviewed by the board to help ensure there is no inappropriate personal use of the city's vehicle or equipment, verify the propriety of fuel and/or repair billings, and identify the need to replace the vehicle or equipment due to excessive maintenance costs.

C. The city maintains a gasoline tank outside city hall for the city's vehicles; however, the city has not adopted procedures to ensure gasoline is only used for official city business. Gasoline purchases increased from $3,060 in 1996 to $6,508 in 1997.

Access to the tank is not limited and all officials and employees have access to the tank. A log is maintained for gasoline pumped which includes the city vehicle which is filled with gasoline, but the log entries do not always include pump readings and gallons pumped, and do not appear to provide accurate information of gallons pumped. The logs are not reviewed and fuel usage is not reconciled to fuel purchased.

To ensure gasoline is used only for official city purposes, access to the tank should be limited only officials and employees who are authorized to use city vehicles. In addition, the pump log should be reviewed by supervisory personnel to ensure the log is complete and accurate. Total gasoline pumped into each vehicle should be periodically compared to vehicle usage records to ensure gasoline usage for each vehicle appears reasonable. Finally, gasoline purchased should be reconciled to gasoline used and significant differences should be investigated.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Establish property records for general fixed assets and the fixed assets of the water and sewer system that include all pertinent information for each asset, such as tag number, description, cost, acquisition date, location, and subsequent disposition. In addition, annual physical inventories should be performed.

B. Require usage and maintenance logs be maintained for all city vehicles and equipment, and perform periodic reviews of the logs.

C. Limit access to the gasoline tank and ensure complete and accurate fuel pump logs are maintained. Fuel pumped into each vehicle should be compared to vehicle usage records. Fuel usage should be reconciled to fuel purchased and significant differences should be investigated.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. We agree with these recommendations.

B. We have started keeping a log for the maintenance van and will determine if logs are feasible for other city vehicles.

C. We agree that more accurate gas logs should be maintained. The gas purchases increased from 1996 to 1997 because every city vehicle now uses the same pump. Also, at the end of 1997 the gas paid was for gas used already and for a full tank that had not been used. Gas is used only for official city purposes unless on rare occasions an employee, for instance the police, might sell some to a stranded motorist when there is no service stations open or if an employee uses his vehicle for city business. (for instance, driving their personal car to some kind of training)

10. Property Tax Procedures

A. The city's property tax books and tax statements are prepared by Vernon County. The tax books and statements are sent to the City Collector who mails the statements and collects the taxes. The tax book totals are not reviewed or verified by any other city official. In addition, the City Collector makes all additions and abatements to the tax books without review or approval by the Board of Aldermen.

Section 94.290, RSMo 1994, requires the City Clerk to prepare the tax books and charge the City Collector with the amount of taxes to be collected. To ensure compliance with state law and to provide proper segregation of duties over tax book charges and tax collections, the City Clerk should review the tax books, verify the tax book totals, and charge the City Collector with the amount of taxes to collect. In addition, any changes to the tax books (additions or abatements) should be prepared by the City Clerk, approved by the Board of Aldermen, and charged to the City Collector.

B. The City Collector does not prepare annual reports of tax collections and delinquent taxes. Sections 79.310 and 94.320, RSMo 1994, require the City Collector to make annual reports of tax collections and delinquent taxes.

Detailed annual reports which comply with state law and are classified by type of tax would help provide assurance taxes have been properly collected, written off, or determined to be delinquent. Such a report would summarize all taxes charged to the City Collector, monthly collections, delinquent credits, abatements, and additions.

Without such a report, examined by the Board of Aldermen, any errors or irregularities that might occur are likely to go undetected.

C. The city does not charge the correct penalty on delinquent taxes. The city currently charges two percent per month up to a maximum of 20 percent per year for each delinquent tax bill. Section 140.100.1, RSMo 1994, currently provides a penalty of two percent per month up to a maximum of 18 percent per year for each delinquent tax bill.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Require the City Clerk to review the tax books and charge the City Collector with the amount of taxes to be collected. In addition, the City Clerk should prepare and the Board of Aldermen should approve all tax book additions and abatements.

B. Require the City Collector to prepare detailed annual reports as required by state law which summarize property tax activity and which can be used to facilitate the reconciliation of taxes charged, taxes collected, and delinquent taxes.

C. Ensure the penalty for the collection of delinquent property taxes is charged in accordance with state law.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A-C. We agree with these recommendations.

11. Traffic Violations Bureau

Court cases for the city of Sheldon are heard by the Associate Circuit Judge at the Vernon County courthouse. The city operates a traffic violations bureau (TVB) to receive payment of fines and court costs at times other than during court. The City Clerk serves as the TVB Clerk.

A. The TVB Clerk did not issue receipt slips for approximately $2,600 deposited in 1997. To adequately account for all receipts, receipt slips should be issued for all monies received and their numerical sequence should be accounted for properly.

B. The method of payment received is not always indicated on the receipt slips and the composition of deposits is not indicated on the deposit slips. As a result, the composition of receipts cannot be reconciled to the amounts deposited. To ensure receipts are deposited intact, the method of payments received should be indicated on the receipt slips and the composition of receipt slips should be reconciled to the composition of bank deposits.

C. The duties of receiving, recording, and depositing monies are not adequately segregated. Currently, the TVB Clerk performs all of these duties. To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. Internal controls would be improved by segregating the duties of receiving and depositing monies from that of recording receipts. If proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be a documented independent review of the bank reconciliations and a comparison of TVB receipt slips issued to amounts deposited.

D. The court has established a log of traffic tickets issued; however, the log is not complete. Approximately 82 out of 300 ticket numbers assigned to the police department were not listed on the log.

Without a proper accounting of the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of traffic tickets, the police department and the court cannot be assured that all tickets issued were properly submitted to the court for processing. A complete log listing each ticket number, the date issued, and the violator's name would ensure all tickets issued were properly submitted to the court for processing, properly voided, or not prosecuted. In addition, a record should be maintained of the ultimate disposition of each ticket to ensure all tickets have been accounted for properly.

E. The TVB does not forward any records of convictions on traffic offenses to the Missouri State Highway Patrol (MSHP). Section 302.225, RSMo Supp. 1997, requires records of any plea or finding of guilty on traffic violations under the laws of the state, county, or municipal ordinance to be forwarded to the MSHP within ten days of the conviction date.

F. We noted the following concerns regarding court costs and fees:

1. The TVB collects $21 in court costs and fees for each speeding violation in accordance with state law, which includes the $12 municipal court cost, $5 Crime Victims Compensation (CVC) fee, $2 Law Enforcement Training (LET) fee, $1 Peace Officer Standards and Training Commission (POSTC) fee, and $1 domestic violence shelter fee. For all other offenses, the TVB collects a total of $47 in court costs and fees. Municipal court personnel could not explain the reason why $47 was collected and could not provide any applicable city ordinances or state laws to justify the $47 amount. Court personnel should review this situation and ensure court costs and fees are collected in accordance with state law.

2. TVB receipt records do not separately identify the CVC, LET, POSTC and domestic violence shelter fees collected. When CVC and POSTC fees are disbursed to the state as required by state law, the TVB Clerk indicated she just counts the number of traffic tickets processed and multiplies the number of tickets by the applicable fee amount. In addition, the TVB has not disbursed any of the domestic violence shelter fees collected. Based on TVB records, it appears approximately $208 should be distributed to domestic violence shelters as required by state law.

   The TVB clerk should maintain records of all court fees collected and ensure all applicable fees are disbursed in accordance with state law.

Most of the conditions noted above were also noted in our prior audit report on the 28th Judicial Circuit, Municipal Divisions, for the two years ended 1994.

WE RECOMMEND the city of Sheldon Municipal Division:

A. Issue receipt slips for all monies received and account for the numerical sequence.

B. Record the method of payment on the receipt slips and the composition of deposits on the deposit slips, and reconcile the composition of receipt slips to bank deposits.

C. Adequately segregate the duties of receiving, recording, and depositing TVB receipts. At a minimum, there should be a documented supervisory review of the reconciliation between receipts and deposits.

D. Work with the police department to ensure records are maintained to account for the numerical sequence and ultimate disposition of all traffic tickets.

E. Forward all records of convictions on traffic offenses to the MSHP as required by state law.

F. Collect and distribute court costs and fees in accordance with state law.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A,B, & D. We agree with these recommendations.

C. We will consider implementing this recommendation.

E. This has already been implemented.

F. We have now distributed the domestic violence shelter fees and we will start charging $21 court costs for all cases.

This report is intended for the information of the city's management and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

Honorable Mel Carnahan, Governor

State Lottery Commission

James R. Scroggins, Executive Director
State Lottery Commission
Jefferson City, Missouri 65102

The State Auditor is required under Section 313.315(l), RSMo 1994, to audit the accounts and transactions of the State Lottery Commission. The commission had engaged Arthur Anderson and Company, Certified Public Accountants (CPA), to perform annual audits of the State Lottery Commission for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997. To satisfy our statutory obligation and minimize duplication of effort, the State Auditor has used the work of the CPAs. We reviewed the reports and substantiating working papers of the CPAs to satisfy ourselves as to the appropriateness of using their reports, and we accept them in partial fulfillment of our responsibility under Section 313.315(1), RSMo 1994.

The additional objectives of this review were to:

1. Examine compliance with certain constitutional provisions, statutes, administrative rules, and attorney general's opinions as we deemed necessary or appropriate in the circumstances.

2. Examine certain management practices which we believe could be improved.

3. Follow-up on the status of recommendations made in our previous report.

Our review was made in accordance with applicable generally accepted government auditing standards and included such procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. In this regard, we interviewed agency personnel, observed selected activities, and reviewed certain records and documents.

As part of our review, we assessed the agency's management controls to the extent we determined necessary to evaluate the specific matters described above and not to provide assurance on those controls. With respect to management's controls, we obtained an understanding of the design of relevant policies and procedures and whether they have been placed in operation and we assessed control risk.

Our review was limited to the specific matters described above and was based on selected tests and procedures considered appropriate in the circumstances. Had we performed additional procedures, other information might have come to our attention that would have been included in this report.

The accompanying History, Organization, and Statistical Information is presented for informational purposes. This information was obtained from the agency's management and was not subjected to the procedures applied in our review of the State Lottery Commission.

Our comments on internal controls, compliance with legal requirements, management practices, and related areas are presented in the accompanying Management Advisory Report.

MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT-
STATE AUDITOR'S CURRENT RECOMMENDATIONS

In addition to our review of the report and substantiating working papers of Arthur Andersen and Company, Certified Public Accountants, we included those procedures which we considered necessary in the circumstances.

We reviewed probable compliance with certain constitutional provisions, statutes, administrative rules, and attorney general's opinions as we deemed necessary or appropriate. This review was not intended to provide assurance of full compliance with all regulatory provisions and, thus, did not include all regulatory provisions which may apply. Our review disclosed no conditions that may represent noncompliance.

The period of audit for the purposes stated above included, but was not necessarily limited to, the two years ended June 30, 1998.

This report is intended for the information of the agency's management and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

Follow-Up on State Auditor’s Prior Recommendations

STATE LOTTERY COMMISSION
FOLLOW-UP ON STATE AUDITOR'S PRIOR RECOMMENDATIONS

This section reports follow-up action taken by the State Lottery Commission (SLC) on recommendations made in the Management Advisory Report (MAR) of our report issued for the three years ended June 30, 1996.

1. Advertising

A. The SLC paid the advertising agency $79,037 for routine business expenses even though the contract with the advertising agency stated these costs were not to be charged to the SLC.

B. During the three years ended June 30, 1996, the SLC paid approximately $258,000 to the advertising agency for sales taxes.

C. Although the SLC spent a significant amount of money each year on advertising, it had not had an independent review of the effectiveness of its advertising.

Recommendation:

The SLC:

A. Strictly enforce the contract terms in the current contract with the advertising agency and discontinue the practice of reimbursing the advertising agency for routine business matters.

B. Work with the advertising agency to minimize the amount of sales tax paid.

C. Have an independent reviewer conduct a study of the effectiveness of advertising on sales of lottery products.

Status:

A. Implemented. The SLC sent a letter to the advertising agency emphasizing the terms of the contract and more closely monitored the advertising agency for compliance with the contract. However, we did note several payments to the advertising agency we consider to be for routine business matters. The SLC has contracted with a new advertising agency and clarified the issue of routine business matters in the new contract and is monitoring the new advertising agency for compliance with the contract.

B. Implemented. The SLC made a greater effort not to purchase prizes through the advertising agency.

C. Implemented. The SLC contracted with a university to perform a study of the effectiveness of advertising.

2. Sponsorships

The SLC spent $200,000 to $300,000 each year sponsoring events of civic organizations.

Recommendation:

The SLC review the propriety of these payments.

Status:

Implemented. After each of these events, the SLC now prepares a report of the benefits received by the SLC as a result of sponsoring the event.

3. Fun and Fortune Game Show

A. The SLC spent approximately $4.7 million annually on the Fun and Fortune game show and should closely monitor the progress of the game and the benefits received.

B. Prize checks for the game show were not always reviewed by an independent reviewer to verify the checks were for the correct amount.

C. The SLC did not follow its security policy of not allowing anyone to leave the secure room once the actual game was generated ensuring the security of the computer room during the game show.

Recommendation:

The SLC:

A. Closely monitor the progress of the game show and ensure the benefits received are obtained in a cost effective manner.

B. Have another employee or the independent auditor monitor the prizes won by each contestant and verify the amounts of the prize checks before the checks are distributed. Appropriate documentation of the verification should also be maintained.

C. Enforce its security policy at the game show and not allow anyone to leave the secure room once the game has been generated on the computer, or consider other alternatives to ensure the security of the game is not compromised.

Status:

A. Implemented. The SLC conducted several in-house studies of the cost-effectiveness of the game show.

B. Implemented.

C. Implemented.

History, Organization, and Statistical Information

STATE LOTTERY COMMISSION
HISTORY, ORGANIZATION AND STATISTICAL INFORMATION

The State Lottery Commission was created June 11, 1985, by Senate Bill No. 44, First Regular Session, 83rd General Assembly. That action followed voter approval of a lottery amendment to the Missouri Constitution at the November 1984 general election. The State Lottery Commission began selling instant game tickets on January 20, 1986.

Section 313.321, RSMo 1994, provides that money received from the sale of lottery tickets shall be divided as follows: A minimum of 45 percent shall be awarded as prizes; administration, advertising, promotion, and retailer compensation costs shall be paid as appropriated by the General Assembly; and the remainder shall be transferred to the General Revenue Fund. Effective July 1, 1993, Article III, Section 39(b) of the Missouri Constitution requires the remainder to be transferred to the Lottery Proceeds Fund (instead of the General Revenue Fund) to be appropriated solely for institutions of elementary, secondary, and higher education.

A five-member lottery commission is appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. The commission must meet at least quarterly. The commission has the authority to promulgate rules as it deems necessary and desirable to fully implement the lottery as mandated by the people in Article III of the Missouri Constitution. It appoints a director to act as secretary of the commission and keep all books and records of the commission. The director of the lottery oversees the commission's operation and administration. At June 30, 1998, James R. Scroggins served as the Executive Director. At June 30, 1998, the members of the commission were as follows:

Commissioner	Term Expires
William E. James, Chairman	September 7, 1998
Kenneth R. Hensley	September 9, 1998
Robert J. Mayfield	September 7, 1997*
Jana L. Poteet	September 7, 1996*

* Commissioners continue to serve until a replacement is named.

No appointments have been made to the vacant positions on the commission.

The State Lottery Commission staff is organized into four divisions. Each division is headed by a director who coordinates activities to meet the commission's objectives. At June 30, 1998, the State Lottery Commission employed approximately 171 individuals. An organization chart follows.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Honorable Rebecca McDowell Cook, Secretary of State
Jefferson City, Missouri 65102

We have audited the accompanying special-purpose financial statements of the various funds of the Office of Secretary of State as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998, 1997, 1996, and 1995, as identified in the table of contents. These special-purpose financial statements are the responsibility of the office's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these special-purpose financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the special-purpose financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the special-purpose financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

The accompanying special-purpose financial statements were prepared for the purpose of presenting the receipts, disbursements, and changes in cash and investments of the General Revenue Fund-Federal, Technology Trust Fund, Local Records Preservation Fund, Investor Education Fund, State Document Preservation Fund, Wolfner State Library Fund, and the Institution Gift Trust Fund; the receipts of the General Revenue Fund-State; and the appropriations and expenditures of the various funds of the Office of Secretary of State and are not intended to be a complete presentation of the financial position and results of operations of the various funds of the office.

In our opinion, the special-purpose financial statements referred to in the first paragraph present fairly, in all material respects, the receipts, disbursements, and changes in cash and investments of the General Revenue Fund-Federal, Technology Trust Fund, Local Records Preservation Fund, Investor Education Fund, State Document Preservation Fund, Wolfner State Library Fund, and the Institution Gift Trust Fund; the receipts of the General Revenue Fund-State; and the appropriations and expenditures of the various funds of the Office of Secretary of State as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998, 1997, 1996, and 1995, in conformity with the comprehensive bases of accounting discussed in Note 1, which are bases of accounting other than generally accepted accounting principles.

In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we also have issued our report dated October 1, 1998, on our consideration of the office's internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grants.

Our audit was made for the purpose of forming an opinion on the special-purpose financial statements, taken as a whole, that are referred to in the first paragraph. The accompanying financial information listed as supplementary data in the table of contents is presented for purposes of additional analysis. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the special-purpose financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the special-purpose financial statements taken as a whole.

The accompanying History, Organization, and Statistical Information is presented for informational purposes. This information was obtained from the office's management and was not subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the special-purpose financial statements referred to above.

An integral part of the office’s funding comes from federal awards. Those federal awards are reported on in the State of Missouri Single Audit Report issued by the State Auditor’s office. The single audit is conducted in accordance with the provisions of Office of Management and Budget Circular A-133, Audits of States, Local Governments, and Non-Profit Organizations.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON COMPLIANCE AND ON INTERNAL CONTROL OVER FINANCIAL REPORTING

Honorable Rebecca McDowell Cook, Secretary of State
Jefferson City, Missouri 65102

We have audited the special-purpose financial statements of the Office of Secretary of State as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998, 1997, 1996, and 1995, and have issued our report thereon dated October 1, 1998. We conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States.

Compliance

As part of obtaining reasonable assurance about whether the special-purpose financial statements of the Office of Secretary of State are free of material misstatement, we performed tests of the office's compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grants, noncompliance with which could have a direct and material effect on the determination of financial statement amounts. However, providing an opinion on compliance with those provisions was not an objective of our audit, and accordingly, we do not express such an opinion. The results of our tests disclosed no material instances of noncompliance that are required to be reported under Government Auditing Standards. However, we noted certain other instances of noncompliance which are presented in the accompanying Management Advisory Report.

Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

In planning and performing our audit of the special-purpose financial statements of the Office of Secretary of State, we considered the office's internal control over financial reporting in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the special-purpose financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control over financial reporting. However, we noted certain matters involving the internal control over financial reporting and its operation that we consider to be reportable conditions. Reportable conditions involve matters coming to our attention relating to significant deficiencies in the design or operation of the internal control over financial reporting that, in our judgment, could adversely affect the office's ability to record, process, summarize, and report financial data consistent with the assertions of management in the special-purpose financial statements.

A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of one or more of the internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that misstatements in amounts that would be material to the special-purpose financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. Our consideration of the internal control over financial reporting would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal control that might be reportable conditions and, accordingly, would not necessarily disclose all reportable conditions that are also considered to be material weaknesses. However, we noted certain matters involving the internal control over financial reporting and its operation that we consider to be material weaknesses, and these matters are presented in the accompanying Management Advisory Report.

This report is intended for the information of the management of the Office of Secretary of State and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

Notes to the Financial Statements

OFFICE OF SECRETARY OF STATE
NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

A. Reporting Entity and Basis of Presentation

The accompanying special-purpose financial statements present only selected data for each fund of the Office of Secretary of State.

Receipts, disbursements, and changes in cash and investments are presented in Exhibit A for the General Revenue Fund-Federal, Technology Trust Fund, Local Records Preservation Fund, Investor Education Fund, State Document Preservation Fund, Wolfner State Library Fund, and the Institution Gift Trust Fund. Appropriations from these funds are expended by or for the office for restricted purposes.

The "Total (Memorandum Only)" column is presented as additional analytical data. Because this column does not identify the restrictions that exist by fund, it should be read only with reference to the details of each fund.

Receipts are presented in Exhibit B for the General Revenue Fund-State. Receipts include monies the office collects during its normal activities and remits to the fund. These amounts are not necessarily related to appropriations.

Appropriations, presented in Exhibit C, are not separate accounting entities. They do not record the assets, liabilities, and equities of the related funds but are used only to account for and control the office's expenditures from amounts appropriated by the General Assembly.

Expenditures presented for each appropriation may not reflect the total cost of the related activity. Other direct and indirect costs provided by the office and other state agencies are not allocated to the applicable fund or program.

B. Basis of Accounting

The Statements of Receipts, Disbursements, and Changes in Cash and Investments, Exhibit A, prepared on the cash basis of accounting, present amounts when they are received or disbursed.

The Statement of Receipts, Exhibit B, also prepared on the cash basis of accounting, presents amounts when received.

The Statement of Appropriations and Expenditures, Exhibit C, is presented on the state's legal budgetary basis of accounting which recognizes expenditures on the encumbrance method. Expenditures include amounts payable or encumbered at June 30 and paid during the lapse period, which ends August 31 for regular appropriations and December 31 for capital improvement appropriations. The authority to expend appropriations ends with the close of the lapse period. However, the General Assembly may authorize reappropriation of the unexpended balances of capital improvement appropriations for the following year. The General Assembly also may authorize biennial capital improvement appropriations, for which the unexpended balances at June 30 of the first year of the two-year period are reappropriated for expenditure during the second year.

The cash basis of accounting and the budgetary basis of accounting differ from generally accepted accounting principles, which require revenues to be recognized when they become available and measurable or when they are earned and expenditures or expenses to be recognized when the related liabilities are incurred.

C. Fiscal Authority and Responsibility

The office administers transactions in the funds listed below. The state treasurer as fund custodian and the Office of Administration provide administrative control over fund resources within the authority prescribed by the General Assembly.

General Revenue Fund-Federal: The office administers several programs financed wholly or partially by federal monies maintained in the state treasury in the Office of Secretary of State's Federal Account. These federal funds may be received in advance, when related expenditures are made, or after they are made. Appropriations from this fund authorize the disbursements of the office's federal funds.

Technology Trust Fund: Effective August 28, 1994, this fund was established under Section 28.160, RSMo 1994, to receive fees for certain services provided by the Secretary of State's Office. Expenditures are authorized by appropriation for the purposes of establishing, procuring, developing, modernizing and maintaining an electronic data processing system and programs for a centralized data base of all registered voters; library services; and services, equipment, and functions related to administrative rules, securities, corporations and business organizations, archives, Uniform Commercial Code and record services. The authority to collect certain fees expires December 31, 2001. At the end of any biennium, any amount in the fund in excess of $5 million shall be transferred to the General Revenue Fund-State.

Local Records Preservation Fund: This fund was established under Section 59.319, RSMo 1994, to receive user fees from document recordings in each county. Expenditures are authorized by appropriation for preservation of local records by the Secretary of State. Balances remaining in the fund are perpetually maintained for the purpose of the fund.

Library Networking Fund: This fund was established under Section 182.812, RSMo Cum. Supp. 1997, to consist of any gifts, contributions, grants, or bequests received from federal, private or other sources. Expenditures are authorized by appropriation for library networks. Balances remaining in the fund are perpetually maintained for the purpose of the fund.

Investor Education Fund: Effective August 28, 1996, this fund was established under Section 409.407, RSMo Cum. Supp. 1997, to receive collections from enforcement actions of the Secretary of State Securities Division. Expenditures are authorized by appropriation for investor education programs. Balances remaining in the fund are perpetually maintained for the purpose of the fund.

State Document Preservation Fund: Effective August 28, 1996, this fund was established under Section 109.005, RSMo Cum. Supp. 1997, to receive monies from gifts, bequests or contributions for the specific purpose of preserving legal, historical and genealogical materials and making them available to the public. Expenditures are authorized by appropriation for state document preservation. Balances remaining in the fund are perpetually maintained for the purpose of the fund.

Wolfner State Library Fund: This fund was established under Section 181.021, RSMo 1994, to account for donations restricted to improving library services to the blind and physically handicapped. In addition to donations, revenues consist of earnings from fund investments. The investments of the Wolfner Trust Fund are held and managed by a trust company and investment income is transferred to the custody of the state treasurer on a periodic basis.

Institution Gift Trust Fund: This fund was established under Section 33.563, RSMo 1994, to receive collections from enforcement actions of the Secretary of State Securities Division. Expenditures are authorized by appropriation for investor education programs. Balances remaining in the fund are perpetually maintained for the purpose of the fund.

General Revenue Fund-State: The office receives appropriations from this fund and does not maintain a proprietary interest in the fund. Appropriations from the fund are used for the basic operation of the office, including those programs and services that have no other funding source. These appropriations also may be used to initially fund, or to provide matching funds or support for, programs paid wholly or partially from other sources.

D. Employee Fringe Benefits

In addition to the social security system, employees are covered by the Missouri State Employees' Retirement System (MOSERS) (a noncontributory plan) and may participate in the state's health care, optional life insurance, deferred compensation, and cafeteria plans. The optional life insurance and cafeteria plans involve only employee contributions or payroll reductions. Also, the deferred compensation plan involves employee payroll deferrals and, beginning January 1, 1996, a monthly state matching contribution for each participating employee.

The state's required contributions for employee fringe benefits are paid from the same funds as the related payrolls. Those contributions are for MOSERS (retirement, basic life insurance, and long-term disability benefits); social security and medicare taxes; health care premiums; and the deferred compensation plan match.

Employee fringe benefits in the financial statements at Exhibit A are the transfers from the General Revenue Fund-Federal, Technology Trust Fund, Local Records Preservation Fund, and Institution Gift Trust Fund for costs related to salaries paid from those funds. Transfers related to salaries are not appropriated by agency and thus are not presented in the financial statements at Exhibit C.

2. Cash and Investments

The balances of the General Revenue Fund-Federal, Technology Trust Fund, Local Records Preservation Fund, Investor Education Fund, State Document Preservation Fund, a portion of the Wolfner State Library Fund and Institution Gift Trust Fund, are pooled with other state funds and invested by the state treasurer.

The Wolfner State Library Fund's investments are composed of the following:

Management Advisory Report -
State Auditor’s Current Recommendations

OFFICE OF SECRETARY OF STATE
SUMMARY OF FINDINGS

1. Computer Consulting (pages 34-35)

   The office contracted with a consulting firm to work on information technology upgrades. Contracts were paid, although required tasks were not being completed by the consultant. The contract with the consulting firm was renewed and expanded by the Office of Administration, despite concerns regarding performance.

2. Franchise Tax (pages 35-39)

   The Franchise Tax Division does not always administratively dissolve corporations for failure to pay franchise taxes. Delinquent tax notices are not sent on a regular basis. Delinquent taxes are not certified to the Office of Attorney General as required by state law. Procedures for waiving of penalties do not reflect proper segregation of duties. Protest franchise tax cases are not resolved in a timely manner. Monies are not transmitted from the Franchise Tax Division to the Department of Revenue in a timely manner.

3. Local Records Grant Program (pages 39-40)

   The Local Records Division does not have written criteria establishing when an entity will be allowed to be granted an extension of time on their local records grant and is allowing entities more time than provided for in the CSR's to complete grants.

4. Fixed Asset Records and Procedures (pages 40-41)

   An annual schedule of additions and deletions of fixed assets is not prepared and the fixed asset records are not accurate or complete.

5. Accounting Controls and Procedures (page 41)

   There is a lack of segregation of duties in various divisions within the Office of Secretary of State. Periodic reconciliations between receipt ledgers and SAM reports are not performed.

6. Accumulated Annual Leave Balances (page 42)

   The computer system maintained in the payroll division allows employees to exceed the maximum annual leave balances allowed by state regulation.

OFFICE OF SECRETARY OF STATE
MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT -
STATE AUDITOR'S CURRENT RECOMMENDATIONS

We have audited the special-purpose financial statements of the Office of Secretary of State as of and for the years ended June 30, 1998, 1997, 1996, and 1995, and have issued our report thereon dated October 1, 1998.

The following Management Advisory Report presents our findings and recommendations arising from our audit of the office's special-purpose financial statements. During our audit, we also identified certain management practices which we believe could be improved. Our audit was not designed or intended to be a detailed study of every system, procedure, and transaction. Accordingly, the findings presented in the following report should not be considered as all-inclusive of areas where improvements may be needed.

1. Computer Consulting

During the four fiscal years ended June 30, 1998, the Secretary of State paid approximately $1.5 million to a computer consulting firm working on information technology upgrades for the Office of Secretary of State. The consulting firm was selected using the Office of Administration, Division of Purchasing and Materials Management, bid and procurement process. The original one-year contract began in June 1995 and called for the implementation of the centralized voter registration database and development of a computer strategy plan. It contained renewal options for up to four years for implementation of the strategy plan. The contract has been renewed three times and expanded to include seven additional distinct tasks of which one has been completed. The current contract is in effect until July 1999. During our review of this contract we noted the following concerns:

A. Task 5 of the contract was valued at $823,995 and had a planned completion date of May 1997. The basis for compensation established in the contract was for a fixed fee for delivery of twenty-six specific reports. Throughout the course of the work, payment was made to the consulting firm based on hours billed rather than products delivered. By April 1998, only one-half of the required reports had been delivered, yet the Office of Secretary of State had paid 94 percent of the contract amount. In April 1998, the Office of Secretary of State stopped payment to the firm for the entire contract until the required reports are delivered. As of October 1998, Task 5 remained incomplete.

   The Office of Secretary of State should ensure that all contract terms are followed, require the consulting firm to submit progress billings that present information regarding deliverables, and provide adequate support for payments to be made in accordance with the contract. Such reports would enable the office to better monitor work progress and results, and ensure that compensation paid is reasonable as compared to services rendered. In addition, the Office of Secretary of State should have considered taking action at or closer to the planned completion date.

B. Despite non-performance on Task 5, the Office of Administration (OA) continued to grant contract renewals and additional work to the consulting firm. In June 1997 only one of twenty-six required reports for Task 5 had been delivered, yet the contract was renewed and Tasks 6,7, and 8, valued at $515,714, were added. The consulting firm requested and was granted an extension to January 31, 1998, to complete Task 5. Yet in March 1998, with Task 5 still not complete, Task 9, valued at $874,885 was awarded.

Tasks 6, 7, and 8 were to be completed by June 1998. While Task 6 was completed in October 1997, Tasks 7 and 8 were still unfinished at October 1998. Task 9 has a required completion date of April 1999. However, timely completion of Task 9 may be hindered due to its reliance on the completion of some reports to be provided under Task 5.

OA personnel indicated their policy is to grant contract renewals automatically unless problems or concerns are communicated to them by the agency. It does not appear that the Secretary of State informed OA of the task completion problem. Informing the OA of problems is necessary to ensure appropriate decisions are made.

WE RECOMMEND the Office of Secretary of State:

A. Monitor the progress of contractors and make payments that coincide with performance and delivery of product.

B. Thoroughly assess progress of the current contract with the consulting firm and consider options to either ensure successful completion of all tasks or exercise any provisions in the contract regarding non-performance on the part of the contractor. In the future, the Office of Secretary of State needs to closely monitor and properly react to contracted services concerns more timely, and inform the Office of Administration of such concerns.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We agree.

2. Franchise Tax

The Franchise Tax Division collects revenue in excess of $60 million annually. The Franchise Tax Division does not maintain an updated list of all corporations for which franchise taxes are due. At our request, office personnel did prepare a list of active corporations with balances due as of June 30, 1998. These amounts were for the 1998 tax year and prior years. The division's list indicated franchise taxes due totaling approximately $5 million. During our review of the division's policies and procedures, we noted the following concerns.

A.1. Section 147.040.8, RSMo 1994, requires that any corporation failing or neglecting to file the required annual corporate report or pay its franchise tax within ninety days after it is due shall be administratively dissolved. During our review of delinquent franchise taxes, we noted several active corporations with outstanding balances which were more than ninety days past due. These corporations were not administratively dissolved.

Once a corporation is administratively dissolved, it must pay previous delinquencies to attain an active status with the Secretary of State and reinstate its certificate of incorporation. Allowing corporations to remain active with these delinquencies provides no incentive for corporations to pay their taxes when due.

2. Delinquent notices are not sent on a regular basis to corporations with outstanding franchise taxes to ensure taxes, interest, and penalties are collected in a timely manner. The delinquency list included several amounts over ninety days delinquent. We noted an instance where the delinquent notice was sent more than 137 days after the franchise tax report was received.

The computer system in the division produces several reports regarding corporations that owe amounts for franchise taxes. One report lists only current year taxes that are due. This is the only report used by employees to send delinquent notices. Corporations that pay their tax but owe additional assessments are not sent a delinquent notice.

When delinquent tax notices are not issued on a regular basis, there is an increased likelihood that taxes, interests, and penalties will not be collected. This condition could result in lost tax revenue to the state.

3. Section 147.120.1, RSMo Cum. Supp. 1997, requires the Secretary of State to certify to the Attorney General those corporations which fail to pay franchise taxes (including interest and penalties) after the assessment becomes final. State law requires the Attorney General to proceed against such corporations to collect the delinquent taxes.

Division personnel indicated that accounts that have been assessed, remain unpaid, and have not appealed are good candidates for certification; however, this action does not occur regularly. While they could not provide documentation of any corporations certified to the Attorney General during the audit period, they did indicate numerous cases were recently certified to the Attorney General for collection.

Failure to certify franchise tax delinquencies to the Attorney General on a timely, periodic basis increases the likelihood these taxes will not be collected.

4. Information from corporate franchise tax returns is entered in the computer. The computer then calculates the amount of tax that is due. If the amount remitted by the corporation is less than required, an assessment notice is generated, which indicates the amount of interest and penalties due. Prior to late 1995, the computer system which calculates the amount of franchise tax due did not have the capability to calculate the amount of interest and penalties due. In late 1995, this computer program was revised to calculate interest and penalties. Division personnel informed us that the amounts calculated are often incorrect, and have been this way since the revision of the program. Because of the unreliability of the system's calculations, interest and penalties amounts must be verified through manual calculations. Due to the large volume of franchise tax returns handled by the division, this process is very time consuming and could result in incorrect assessments.

   The Franchise Tax Division is currently in the process of making significant revisions to their computer system. Division personnel indicated the new system should better track delinquent taxes as well as accurately compute interest and penalties due. Since franchise tax results in large revenues to the state, the office should ensure this area is considered a high priority on their automation plans.

Conditions similar to 1., 2., and 3. were also noted in prior audit reports.

B. Section 147.120.3, RSMo Cum. Supp. 1997, provides the Secretary of State may waive penalties if there is a reasonable basis for doing so. Personnel indicated that penalties can be waived at the discretion of only one franchise tax reviewer. This same reviewer is also authorized to receive payments and record transactions. Adequate segregation of duties requires that individuals who receive payments and record transactions not be allowed to waive amounts due. Without this segregation, there is a higher risk that misappropriation of assets could occur.

   This condition was also noted in our prior audit report.

C. Underpayment of franchise taxes results in the division sending an assessment notice to the corporation. The corporation has thirty days to file a written protest, stating the reason for the protest. Protests can result from a franchise tax audit performed by the Department of Revenue (DOR) or from an assessment sent out by the division. The Secretary of State's office reconsiders the assessment based on the written protest and sends a letter to the corporation advising them of the outcome. If the corporation disagrees, they have 30 days to appeal the decision to the Administrative Hearing Commission.

   At our request, office personnel prepared a list of pending protested tax cases as of June 1998. This list included sixty corporations and totaled $3,475,363. For four of these cases, the original dates of assessment went back to 1991. In addition, twenty of the cases, totaling $229,663, were included on a delinquent protest report provided to us in the prior audit.

Protested franchise taxes do not appear to be resolved in a timely manner. The untimely resolution of protested franchise taxes could result in lost revenue to the state.

This condition was also noted in our prior audit report.

D. Corporations must file their annual reports and pay their franchise taxes on the fifteenth day of the fourth month from the beginning of the taxable period. Since most corporations utilize the calendar year basis, the majority of taxes are due on April 15. We examined the transmittals made to the DOR from June 1, 1998 through June 4, 1998, and noted that the monies transmitted represented receipts from April 14, 1998 through May 28, 1998. The transmittals totaled approximately $2.1 million. These untimely transmittals resulted in approximately $13,000 in lost interest revenues to the state. It appears this untimeliness resulted because of the significant volume of franchise tax returns submitted during this time and is not indicative of normal processing timeframes.

To safeguard against the loss or misuse of funds, and to ensure interest revenues are maximized, monies should be transmitted to the DOR more timely. Options such as temporary staffing increases need to be considered to ensure timely transmittals occur even during the busiest time periods.

WE RECOMMEND the Office of Secretary of State:

A.1. Administratively dissolve corporations for failure to remit amounts due, in accordance with state law.

2. Issue delinquent tax notices on a regular basis to corporations with outstanding franchise tax balances.

3. Certify franchise tax delinquencies to the attorney general in accordance with state law.

4. Continue efforts to revise the franchise tax computer system.

B. Ensure that employees who receive payments and record transactions are not authorized to waive penalties.

C. Resolve protested franchise tax cases in a more timely manner.

D. Ensure that monies are transmitted to the DOR in a timely manner.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A.1,2, 4,&D. We agree.
A.3.&

B. We agree. This has been implemented.

C. We agree. We do note that some cases cannot be resolved quickly for reasons which are out of our control. For example, one case has been held in abeyance since August, 1996, awaiting the outcome of another case before the United States Supreme Court. That one case represents $1,876,393 of the total noted.

3. Local Records Grant Program

The Missouri Local Records Grant Program supports local public records preservation by means of financial assistance through grants to local governmental entities and private organizations that house local public records. During the years ended June 30, 1998, 1997, 1996 and 1995, grants totaling approximately $399,762, $486,216, $493,568, and $349,700, respectively, were awarded for this program.

Procedures are for entities to submit an application for the grant. If the entity is awarded a grant, seventy percent of the grant is immediately paid for grants under $10,000 and thirty-five percent for grants over $10,000. Grants issued for this program are to be completed within the fiscal year the grant was awarded. However, the Code of State Regulations at 15 CSR 30-45.030 provides for grant recipients to be given an extension, not to exceed one year, upon written permission by the Secretary of State.

According to the Local Records Division's September 1998 listing of the various grants and their status, there are currently five entities in default (grant work not completed within the initial fiscal year or the one year extension and monies not yet repaid to the Office of Secretary of State). Although the CSR indicates that no grant shall be allowed to continue for more than two years, the division has granted these entities an additional extension and not requested repayment of the unused funds. This listing also revealed that of the eighty-two grants awarded for fiscal year 1998, fifteen grants (or 18 percent), totaling $71,172, were granted extensions. Division personnel indicated that any entities that request an extension will be approved. No guidelines or criteria have been established to provide a basis for approving or disapproving extensions. Automatic approval of extensions allows entities to delay grant performance, increases the division's recordkeeping and monitoring responsibilities, and increases the possibility that monies will not be repaid should an entity default. Division personnel indicated that the current CSR is being reviewed to determine any changes that may be required. By establishing criteria for approving extensions and making grant recipients aware of them, the division can emphasize to entities that grant funds can be revoked if progress is not made within the award period.

The division's procedures to advance grant funds and approve extensions without some stringent expectations or progress requirements, while in compliance with the CSR, also result in a loss of interest revenues to the state. Consideration should be given to decreasing amounts advanced, providing grant monies on a reimbursement basis, and/or placing more limitations on extension approvals and timeframes.

WE RECOMMEND the Office of Secretary of State establish criteria to be followed in considering which entities are eligible for an extension and reconsider their funding method to maximize revenues to the state.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We agree.

4. Fixed Asset Records and Procedures

The total cost of general fixed assets maintained by the Office of Secretary of State exceeds $6 million. As discussed in our prior audit report, fixed asset records and procedures are not adequate, and did not provide sufficient information to allow us to audit the fixed asset balances and transactions.

Inventory listings have recently been developed for each division. However, these listings do not provide all pertinent data, such as cost, date of purchase, and fund of acquisition. In addition, periodic physical inventories have not been performed and reconciliations between current equipment purchases and Statewide Accounting for Missouri (SAM) system expenditure reports are not being performed. Because adequate records or procedures have not been in place for several years, assets have not been properly safeguarded from theft or misuse.

In June 1998, the fiscal officer was in the process of implementing new procedures and forms to account for current acquisitions, dispositions, and transfers. This information, along with data from each division's inventory listing, is to be entered into a computer database to generate a complete fixed asset listing. Once this listing is completed, the fiscal officer needs to ensure that periodic physical inventories are completed and asset purchases are reconciled to SAM reports to provide additional assurance that the record is complete and remains current.

To ensure all fixed assets are properly recorded, the office should prepare an annual statement of changes in fixed assets. The Code of State Regulations (CSR) at 15 CSR 40-2.031 requires state agencies to prepare an annual statement of changes in fixed assets to summarize transactions occurring during the year. To ensure accuracy, this statement should be reconciled to the detailed fixed asset listing.

The CSR requires agencies to maintain adequate fixed records that contain identification number; description of the items including name, make, model and serial number, where appropriate; acquisition cost; date of acquisition; estimated useful life at the date of acquisition, if applicable; physical location; and method and date of disposition. A comprehensive annual physical inventory should be conducted and reconciled to fixed asset records.

WE RECOMMEND the Office of Secretary of State continue its efforts to establish adequate general fixed assets records and procedures that comply with the CSR requirements and provide adequate controls and accountability.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We agree.

5. Accounting Controls and Procedures

The Office of Secretary of State has several divisions that receive monies. Our review of the accounting controls and procedures in the various divisions noted the following concerns.

A. We noted a lack of segregation of duties in various divisions. The duties of record keeping and custody of receipts are not always adequately segregated. One person generally has access to receipts and related records for each type of transaction. To protect against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance through segregation of duties that all transactions are accounted for properly.

B. Most of the divisions maintain a receipt log for monies received. However, none of the divisions perform periodic reconciliations of their receipts records to the Statewide Accounting for Missouri (SAM) system. Reconciliations of initial records of receipts to SAM are necessary to ensure revenues are properly accounted for and recorded.

WE RECOMMEND the Office of Secretary of State:

A. Review the internal controls and procedures in the various divisions and ensure the duties of receiving, recording, depositing, and reconciling are adequately segregated. If adequate segregation of duties cannot be achieved, there should be periodic independent supervisory reviews of records and reconciliations.

B. Perform periodic reconciliations between receipts records and the SAM system, and follow up on any discrepancies.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We agree.

6. Accumulated Annual Leave Balances

An automated accumulated leave program is maintained by the Secretary of State's payroll department. This program includes the accumulated leave balances of all employees. Our review noted several employees had accumulated leave balances at various month-ends which exceeded the maximum allowed by state regulations. The number of excess hours noted ranged from 2 to 64 hours.

State personnel guidelines, as stated in 1 CSR 20-5.020 4.(D), indicate that employees are not allowed to accumulate annual leave in excess of the maximum amount which can be earned in two years, and does not allow for carryover of more than that amount. In addition, the office's employee manual includes the same requirement on annual leave. As a result, the office is not in compliance with state personnel guidelines, as well as their own, regarding accumulated annual leave limits.

WE RECOMMEND the Office of Secretary of State discontinue the practice of allowing employees to accumulate annual leave balances in excess of the maximum allowed.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

We agree. This recommendation has been implemented and is being tracked appropriately.

This report is intended for the information of the management of the Office of Secretary of State and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

Follow-Up on State Auditor’s Prior Recommendations

OFFICE OF SECRETARY OF STATE
FOLLOW-UP ON STATE AUDITOR'S PRIOR RECOMMENDATIONS

This section reports follow-up action taken by the office on recommendations made in the Management Advisory Report (MAR) of our report issued as of and for the period July 1, 1994 to December 16, 1994, and the years ended June 30, 1994 and 1993. The prior recommendations which have not been implemented, but are considered significant, have been repeated in the current MAR. Although the remaining unimplemented recommendations have not been repeated, the office should consider implementing these recommendations.

1. Copier Purchase

The Office of the Secretary of State and the Office of Administration made a joint purchase of a copier, with ownership of the copier to be transferred to OA after a specified period. The Secretary of State's office paid $218,450 for the copier as compared to only $50,000 paid by OA. The average usage for the Secretary of State's office was only 17 percent as compared to an anticipated 40 percent. There was not sufficient justification for the purchase of the machine, and it appears the SOS effectively purchased the copier for another state agency. In addition, because of the specialized bid specifications, only one proposal was considered responsive by the OA.

Recommendation:

The Office of Secretary of State discontinue the practice of using the office's appropriations to pay operating costs of another state agency. In addition, bid specifications should not be so specialized that only one vendor can comply.

Status:

Implemented.

2. Expenditure Policies and Procedures

A. Instances were noted where bids were not obtained, OA waivers were not obtained for outside printing services, vendors on state contract were bypassed, or adequate bid documentation was not retained.

B. Some expense claims reviewed revealed instances of mathematical inaccuracies, lack of proper authorization, and lack of adequate supporting documentation.

C. Various contracted services were not supported by written agreements. In addition, documentation was not available to justify why specific vendors were selected.

Recommendation:

The Office of Secretary of State:

A. Ensure the state's procurement and bid polices and procedures are followed. In addition, adequate supporting documentation for bids should be obtained and retained.

B. Establish policies and procedures to ensure expense reimbursements are necessary, reasonable, and properly authorized.

C. Ensure services are supported by written agreements specifying duties to be performed and compensation to be paid. In addition, the office should, where possible, seek competitive proposals for outside services and document the selection process.

Status:

A-C. Implemented.

3. Use of State Resources

A. An employee of the Secretary of State's office was given the responsibility of soliciting donations for the Missouri First Vote Foundation, a not for profit organization formed by Secretary of State Moriarty and other office personnel.

B. The Secretary of State placed an outside consultant on the office payroll. In addition, his meals and lodging expenses were paid by the Secretary of State's office while he was working in the Jefferson City Office.

C. The Secretary of State's office permitted a private individual to use state office space and equipment to manually prepare a weekly list of new corporations which was provided free to various state agencies and sold to outside subscribers, with the fee payable to the individual. This same information could have been generated by the Corporation Division’s automated data system.

Recommendation:

The Office of Secretary of State:

A. Refrain from using state employees for soliciting donations for a private entity.

B. Reevaluate the practice of placing consultants on the payroll. In addition, reimbursement of lodging and meal expense within an employee's official domicile should be discontinued.

C. Discontinue the practice of allowing an individual to use state resources for personal benefit. The office should determine the most efficient means of transmitting data on new corporations using the automated data processing system.

Status:

A-C Implemented.

4. Franchise Tax

A.1. Corporations were not administratively dissolved, as required by state law.

2. Delinquent notices were not sent on a regular basis to corporations with outstanding franchise taxes due. In addition, the division's computer system did not identify corporations who were granted an extension but failed to file their annual report or pay their franchise tax by the extended due date and corporations that filed their annual report and paid their franchise tax timely, but owed an assessment due to report errors.

3. Corporations with taxes due were not certified to the attorney general for collection.

B. The division issued assessments for only those amounts due which exceeded ten dollars, rather than one dollar, as required by statute.

C. Procedures or guidelines for determining when a penalty may be waived were not in writing. There was not an adequate segregation of duties over authorization and recording of penalty waivers.

D. Protested franchise taxes were not resolved in a timely manner.

Recommendation:

The Office of Secretary of State:

A.1. Administratively dissolve corporations for failure to remit amounts due, in accordance with state law.

2. Issue delinquent tax notices on a regular basis to corporations with outstanding franchise tax balances. The Franchise Tax Division should identify those corporations that are not filing or paying within the extension period and those corporations that are assessed an additional amount.

3. Certify franchise tax delinquencies to the attorney general in accordance with state law.

B. Discontinue the practice of waiving assessments over one dollar. In addition, we recommend the office evaluate the practicality of the current minimum refund and assessment amount and, if necessary, pursue appropriate legislative authority for any changes.

C. Develop written procedures or guidelines for the waiving of penalties, which include the segregation of duties between employees who receive payments and record transactions, and those authorized to waive penalties.

D. Resolve protested franchise tax cases in a timely manner.

Status:

A.1, A.3, & D. Not implemented. See MAR No. 2.

A.2. Partially implemented. The Franchise Tax Division does identify those corporations that are not filing or paying within the extension period and those corporations that are assessed an additional amount. However, delinquent tax notices are still not sent on a regular basis. See MAR No. 2.

B. Partially implemented. Assessment notices are now sent for amounts greater than $1, as required by statute; however, the office has not evaluated the practicality of the current minimum refund and assessment. Although not repeated in the current MAR, our recommendation remains as stated above.

C. Partially implemented. The office has written procedures and guidelines for waiving penalties; however, the duties of receiving and recording payments, and waiving penalties is not segregated. See MAR No. 2.

5. Investor Restitution Account

A. Revenue transmittals were not periodically reconciled with revenue reports prepared by the Office of Administration.

B. A settlement from a corporate securities dealer resulted in approximately $887,000 being reimbursed to investors, by the corporation. Documentation supporting the pay-out ratio of thirty percent of investor losses for the securities settlement, was not retained. To be eligible for restitution, investors were required to furnish the state copies of confirmations and canceled checks for each purchase and sale. The required information was not present in some claimant files reviewed.

Recommendation:

The Office of Secretary of State:

A. Ensure revenue transmittals are periodically reconciled with revenue reports.

B. Retain documentation to support distributions if restitutions are handled in the future.

Status:

A. Not implemented. See MAR No. 5.

B. Implemented.

6. Local Records Grant Program

The Local Records Division had not established policies and procedures to ensure grant funds are properly handled or accounted for, and required no documentation to support expenditures.

Recommendation:

The Office of Secretary of State establish policies and procedures to review supporting documentation of grant expenditures.

Status:

Implemented.

7. Missouri Election Authorities Conference

The Secretary of State's office established a bank account outside the state treasury for deposit of registration fees received from the participants of the Missouri Election Authorities Conference.

Recommendation:

The Office of Secretary of State refrain from holding funds outside the state treasury unless specifically authorized by state law.

Status:

Implemented.

8. Education Expenses

A. The tuition reimbursement policy did not ensure the course and/or degree being pursued was job related and would benefit the office.

B. Some tuition reimbursements could have been considered wages and subject to income tax and social security withholding.

Recommendation:

The Office of Secretary of State:

A. Evaluate the education policy to ensure education expenses are of a benefit to the office.

B. Determine whether the tuition reimbursements are considered taxable wages subject to income tax and social security withholdings.

Status:

A&B. Implemented.

9. Fixed Asset Records and Procedures

Fixed asset records maintained by Secretary of State's office administrative personnel were not adequate to allow us to audit the fixed asset balances and transactions. A statement of changes in fixed assets was not prepared and not all asset items were properly tagged. In addition, an independent physical inventory was not performed.

Recommendation:

The Office of Secretary of State maintain the fixed asset records on a current basis. An annual schedule of changes in fixed assets should be prepared and all fixed assets should be tagged as required by state law. The office should ensure that accurate locations are recorded on the fixed asset records. In addition, the office should periodically conduct a comprehensive physical inventory and reconcile the inventory to fixed asset records.

Status:

Not implemented. See MAR No. 4.

10. Accounting Controls and Procedures

The duties of record keeping and custody of receipts were not always adequately segregated.

Recommendation:

The Office of Secretary of State review the internal controls and procedures in the various divisions and ensure the duties of receiving, recording, depositing, and reconciling are adequately segregated. If adequate segregation of duties cannot be achieved, there should be periodic independent supervisory reviews of records and reconciliations.

Status:

Not implemented. See MAR No. 5.

STATISTICAL SECTION

History, Organization, and Statistical Information

OFFICE OF SECRETARY OF STATE
HISTORY , ORGANIZATION AND STATISTICAL INFORMATION

The Office of Secretary of State is an elective office as provided in the Missouri Constitution. Article IV, Section 14, established the duties of the secretary of state: 1) to be custodian of the state seal, 2) to keep a register of the official acts of the governor, 3) to be custodian of records and documents, and 4) to perform such duties in relation to elections and corporations as provided by law.

To accommodate the responsibilities of record keeping, registration, and administration, the Secretary of State's office is currently divided into six departments - Elections, Securities, Business Services, Record Services, Administrative Services and Library Services. Each department is composed of separate divisions which perform specific functions relating to department activities.

The Governor appointed Rebecca McDowell Cook as the thirty-sixth Secretary of State and she was sworn in on December 16, 1994. Secretary of State Cook was elected to a four year term of office in November 1996. Her term expires in January 2001.

As of June 30, 1998, the Office of Secretary of State employed approximately 240 full-time employees. An organization chart follows.

STATE AUDITOR OF MISSOURI
JEFFERSON CITY, MISSOURI 65102

MARGARET KELLY, CPA
STATE AUDITOR

P.O. Box 869
(573) 751-4824

Honorable Mel Carnahan, Governor
and Members of the General Assembly
and
Boards of Directors of Fire Protection
Districts in Greene County

We have conducted a special review of independent audits of the fire protection districts in Greene County as required by Section 321.690, RSMo 1994. The purposes of this review were to:

1. Evaluate the impact of statutory audit requirements and State Auditor's regulations on the effectiveness of financial reporting and auditing for fire protection districts in Greene County.

2. Assess the degree of compliance by these districts with statutory audit requirements and the State Auditor's regulations.

3. Bring to the attention of the various fire districts and independent auditors any specifically identifiable reporting deficiencies which should be taken into consideration and corrected in future audit reports.

4. Summarize and evaluate the financial data presented for the various fire districts.

Section 321.690, RSMo 1994, requires all fire protection districts with revenues in excess of $50,000 annually to cause an audit to be performed on a biennial basis. For those districts with annual revenues of less than $50,000, the State Auditor may exempt the district from the audit requirement if the appropriate reports are filed.

For those districts for which an audit is required, the district must file a copy of the completed audit report and management letter with the State Auditor within six months after the close of the fiscal year. The audit reports and management letters are reviewed to determine that they are prepared according to guidelines contained within the Code of State Regulations (CSR) (Section 15 CSR 40-4). Any weaknesses noted during the review are communicated to the districts by letter. Should the weaknesses be of a serious enough nature to require the report to be amended, the district is granted a ninety-day period from the date of notification by the State Auditor to correct the report. The State Auditor accepted all five of the audit reports received for the year(s) ended December 31, 1997.

During our review, we considered Section 321.690, 1994 and 15 CSR 40-4 (which are presented in Appendices B and C), and audit reports and other financial information submitted to the State Auditor by the various fire districts for the year(s) ended December 31, 1997. Because some data presented in the schedules and appendices was compiled from information submitted by the various fire districts and their independent auditors and was not verified by us via additional audit procedures, we express no opinion on the schedules and appendices.

Our review was limited to the specific matters described above and was based on procedures considered appropriate in the circumstances. Had we performed additional procedures, other information might have come to our attention that would have been included in this report.

Some problems were noted in our review of the fire protection districts' audit reports and the compliance deficiencies are summarized on Schedule 4. The problems noted included, failure to submit the audit report by June 30, 1998, failure to submit engagement letters, failure to notify the State Auditor of entrance or exit conferences, lack of complete and adequate disclosures in some notes to the financial statements, failure to include needed comments and recommendations in management letters, and failure to include follow up action on the prior year's findings.

To better determine the quality of the fire district audits, we reviewed the supporting working papers of various independent auditor reports for the year(s) ended December 31, 1997. The information contained in the working papers constitutes the principal record of work the auditor has accomplished and provides evidence for conclusions that he has reached concerning significant matters. Generally Accepted Governmental Auditing Standards (GAGAS) require that a written record of the auditor's work be retained. However, some auditor's working papers need to be improved in this area.

As shown in Appendix A, independent auditors made a few specific recommendations to improve the overall management of fire districts. Recommendations included concerns regarding budgets and overall policies and procedures. Each fire district should review all recommendations and the applicability to their individual district. Consideration should be given by individual districts to have their independent auditor review any areas where risk and citizen concern may be evident.

This is the fourth review the State Auditor's office has performed of the Greene County fire protection districts' reports and many improvements have been noted. It appears that the fire protection districts, on the whole, are working to improve the quality of their financial reporting. We solicit from the readers of this report any suggestions for changes or requests for other new information which may be of benefit to those involved with the Greene County fire protection districts.

NOTES TO THE SCHEDULES

REVIEW OF INDEPENDENT AUDITS OF FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICTS IN GREENE COUNTY
NOTES TO THE SCHEDULES

1. Significant Information

A. General

At December 31, 1997, there were eleven fire protection districts in Greene County. Districts are required to have biennial audits performed if revenues exceed $50,000, or file a financial statement if revenues are less than $50,000.

The Billings Fire Protection District which had previously been included in reviews, has been excluded from this report. House Bill 1847 passed in 1998 exempted the district from the requirements of Section 321.690, RSMo.

Upon completion of the audit, copies of the report and management letter are to be submitted to the State Auditor for review. Five audits and four financial statements have been received as follows:

1. The Battlefield, Ebenezer, Strafford, and Willard Fire Protection Districts obtained audits for the year ended December 31, 1997. These districts previously obtained audits for the year ended December 31, 1996. The Walnut Grove Fire Protection District obtained an audit for the two years ended December 31, 1997.

2. The Brookline and Logan-Rogersville Fire Protection Districts obtained audits for the year(s) ended December 31, 1996. These districts plan to obtain audits for the two years ended December 31, 1998. No information is presented in this report for the year ended December 31, 1997.

3. The Ash Grove, Bois D'Arc, Fair Grove, and West Republic Fire Protection Districts did not obtain audits. Information presented in this report for the year ended December 31, 1997, was obtained from unaudited information provided by these districts. Information presented for the year ended December 31, 1996, was previously obtained from unaudited financial statements.

B. Schedules

Information included in these schedules was compiled from the audit reports, management letters, and unaudited financial statements received from the Greene County fire protection districts.

In analyzing these schedules, some disparity will result due to the different methods of presenting essentially the same information.

Reasons for some problems in comparison are:

1. The financial statements of the Battlefield, Brookline, Ebenezer, Logan-Rogersville, Strafford, and Willard Fire Protection Districts are presented on the modified accrual basis of accounting in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. The ending balances represent assets net of liabilities. Revenues are recognized in the fiscal period in which they become available and measurable. Expenditures are recognized in the fiscal period in which the related liability is incurred.

2. The financial statements of the Ash Grove, Bois D'Arc, Fair Grove, Walnut Grove and West Republic Fire Protection Districts are presented on a cash basis of accounting. The ending balances represent cash balances. Revenues are recognized when received in cash and expenditures are recognized when disbursed in cash.

3. The proceeds of loans and lease financing agreements are included in the revenues of some fire districts.

The schedules presented are as follows:

Schedule 1 presents revenues, expenditures, and fund balance for the General Fund in a combined format. The General Fund is the general operating fund of each district and is used to account for all operating resources.

Schedule 2 presents the general fixed asset balances of the districts at December 31, 1997, with comparative totals of general fixed assets at December, 31 1996. The fire protection districts that are presented are only those which obtained an audit.

Schedule 3 presents the assessed valuations of the individual fire protection districts as well as tax levies. Immaterial differences were noted in the assessed valuations presented in the audit reports and the amounts submitted by the districts to the State Auditor's office. In addition, in 1997 and 1996, Walnut Grove Fire Protection District levied .03 and .02, respectively, in excess of the levies approved by the State Auditor's office. In 1997, Bois D'Arc and Brookline Fire Protection Districts levied .01 in excess and Fair Grove Fire Protection District levied .02 in excess of the levies approved by the State Auditor's office.

Schedule 4 is a listing of deficiencies noted regarding compliance with State Auditor's regulation 15 CSR 40.

C. Method of Accounting

All of the districts' operations are accounted for in the General Fund, which is a governmental type fund. As described in Note 1.B., the districts use various methods of accounting for their General Funds.

For those districts which have obtained audits, all fixed assets acquired or constructed for general governmental purposes are reported as expenditures in the General Fund and are capitalized in the General Fixed Assets Account Group. Purchased fixed assets are capitalized at historical cost or at estimated historical cost if actual historical cost is not available.

Depreciation is usually not provided on general fixed assets; however, the Brookline and Logan-Rogersville Fire Protection districts did provide for depreciation over the useful lives of the general fixed assets. The total accumulated depreciation through December 31, 1996, was $71,667 for the Brookline Fire Protection District and $706,307 for the Logan-Rogersville Fire Protection District.

2. Audit Adjustments

Audit adjustments were made to the ending balances for the Battlefield and Willard Fire Protection Districts at December 31, 1995, to reflect taxes receivable that had been omitted from the December 31, 1995, balance sheets.

3. Independent Audits

For the year(s) ended December 31, 1997, three independent auditors each performed one audit, and one independent auditor performed two audits.

4. Compensation Of Directors

The independent audit reports included the names of the principal officeholders during the year ended December 31, 1997 and 1996, and the compensation received by each official in the performance of his or her duty as established by Section 321.190, RSMo 1994. The districts have three-member boards of directors, except the Brookline and Willard Fire Protection District have five-member boards. When more than three or five names were listed, it was due to a change in the officials serving on the board.

The following is a list of total compensation paid to directors by each district which was audited:

District		Total Compensation Paid 1997	1996
Battlefield	$	6,250	5,267
Brookline		(Note 1)	0
Ebenezer		0	0
Logan-Rogersville		(Note 1)	5,975
Strafford		4,450	2,500
Willard		1,000	1,000

321.690. Audits to be performed, when—rules established by state auditor.—1. In counties of the first classification having a charter form of government and having more than nine hundred thousand inhabitants and in counties of the first classification which contain a city with a population of one hundred thousand or more inhabitants which adjoins no other county of the first classification, the governing body of each fire protection district shall cause an audit to be performed consistent with rules and regulations promulgated by the state auditor.

The state auditor shall also maintain a copy of the audit report and comment. If any audit report fails to comply with the rules promulgated by the state auditor, that official shall notify the fire protection district and specify the defects. If the defects specified are not corrected within ninety days from the date of the state auditor's notice to the district, or if a copy of the required audit report and accompanying comments have not been received by the state auditor within six months after the end of the audit period, the state auditor shall make, or cause to be made, the required audit at the expense of the fire protection district.

Title 15—ELECTED OFFICIALS

Division 40—State Auditor

Chapter 4—Audits of Fire Protection Districts in St. Louis and Greene Counties

15 CSR 40-4.010 Requirements for Districts

PURPOSE: The state auditor has authority to establish standards and reporting requirements for audits performed on fire protection districts in St. Louis and Greene Counties. This rule sets forth requirements to be met directly by the district.

(1) The district is responsible for preparing and providing financial information to be included in the audit report. The district shall maintain adequate accounting records for that purpose. These records may be maintained on the bases of accounting deemed appropriate by the district but the records shall provide adequate information to allow the district to report in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

(2) The district shall engage an independent auditor to conduct the audit. The state auditor does not recommend, select or approve the district's auditor or the auditor's fee, except as provided in 15 CSR 40-4.010(4). The district is responsible for fulfilling all contractual obligations with the auditor, including payment of all earned fees.

(3) The district shall require from the independent auditor an engagement letter which sets out all essential particulars. A copy of the engagement letter shall be submitted to the state auditor for his/her review before commencement of audit fieldwork. The purpose of this review is to provide reasonable assurance that the district has contractually committed an auditor to provide services to satisfy requirements of 15 CSR 40-4. The contents of this letter should include, but are not limited to:

(A) Period for which the financial statements are audited;

(B) Purpose of the audit;

(C) Scope of the audit, including consideration of the internal control structure and tests of compliance with applicable laws and regulations;

(D) Provisions that the auditor will communicate, in writing, to the district material weaknesses or reportable conditions in the internal control structure, instances of noncompliance with applicable laws and regulations and other areas of possible improvement;

(E) Provision that all workpapers, etc., will be made available to the state auditor for his/her review upon his/her request;

(F) Provision that the auditor will comply with applicable rules issued by the state auditor under 15 CSR 40;

(G) Provision that the auditor will discuss with the district any factors s/he may discover which would prevent him/her from issuing an unqualified opinion on the financial statements and allow the district and the auditor the opportunity to arrive at a resolution acceptable to both;

(H) Statement of the auditor's responsibility for detection of errors, irregularities and illegal acts; and

(I) The estimated cost of the audit and the rates which are the basis for that estimate.

(4) The district must file a copy of the completed audit report with the state auditor within six (6) months after the close of the audit period. If any audit report fails to comply with promulgated rules, the state auditor will notify the district and specify the defects. If the specified defects are not corrected within ninety (90) days from the date of the state auditor's notice to the district, or if a copy of the required audit report has not been received by the state auditor within the specified time, the state auditor will make, or cause to be made, the required audit at the expense of the district.

The State Auditor was petitioned under Section 29.230, RSMo, to audit the city of Crocker, Missouri. Our audit of the city included, but was not limited to, the year ended June 30, 1998. The objectives of this audit were to:

1. Perform procedures we deemed necessary to evaluate the petitioners' concerns.

2. Review compliance with certain constitutional provisions, statutes, ordinances, and attorney general's opinions as we deemed necessary or appropriate in the circumstances.

3. Review certain management practices which we believe could be improved.

Our audit was made in accordance with generally accepted government auditing standards and included such procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. We also reviewed board minutes, city policies and ordinances, and various city financial records.

Our audit was limited to the specific matters described above and was based on selective tests and procedures considered appropriate in the circumstances. Had we performed additional procedures, other information might have come to our attention which would have been included in this report.

The accompanying History and Organization is presented for informational purposes. This information was obtained from the city and was not subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the city.

The accompanying Management Advisory Report presents our findings and recommendations arising from our audit of the city of Crocker, Missouri.

MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT SECTION

CITY OF CROCKER, MISSOURI
SUMMARY OF FINDINGS

1. Financial Operations (pages 8-11)

The city has continued to budget and operate the General Fund with a deficit cash balance, using other city funds to subsidize the General Fund operations. Some expenses are not allocated to the appropriate city fund and the financial condition and operations of each city fund are not reviewed on a periodic basis.

2. Budgetary Practices and Financial Reporting (pages 11-14)

The city's budgets do not include the necessary information for all funds as required by state law, and the board does not periodically compare actual revenues and expenditures to the budgeted amounts. The city has continually budgeted a deficit fund balance in the General Fund and has approved expenditures in excess of the budgeted amounts for several funds. The approved budget amounts are not reconciled to the budget amounts recorded on the computerized accounting system. The city's semi-annual published financial statements only report information in total (all city funds combined), rather than detailed information by fund. A formal maintenance plan for city streets has not been prepared annually and included in the budget.

3. Expenditures and Contracts (pages 15-18)

While the city has a formal bidding policy, it has not followed the written policy on many purchases. Over $174,000 was spent by the city on various purchases where bids were not solicited or not documented. The city provides use of land in the city park and free water and sewer services to a not-for-profit swimming pool committee that operates the pool without a written ordinance or a cooperative agreement. The city has not entered into formal written contracts for the purchases of some property, the city is paying for the purchase of land next to the city park from the Water and Sewer Fund instead of the General Fund, and the city erroneously overpaid the final payment on a land purchase by $1,400. The city has entered into a four-year installment loan for the purchase of a new police car. The city overpaid $2,000 to the grant administrator for costs related to a Community Development Block Grant.

4. Accounting Controls and Procedures (pages 18-21)

Prenumbered receipt slips are not issued for some monies received, the method of payment is not recorded in the cash receipts ledger and reconciled to the composition of deposits, and cash receipts are not deposited intact or on a timely basis. Checks and money orders are not restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt, invoices are not approved for payment by the board before checks are completed and signed by the City Treasurer, and some city employees are not adequately bonded.

5. Water and Sewer System Controls and Procedures (pages 21-23)

There is no independent oversight or adequate segregation of duties related to the city's utility system. The city has not established formal procedures to adjust individual utility bills and there is no independent review or approval of the credit adjustments recorded on the computerized utility system. The city does not have a written policy or ordinance indicating the number of water and sewer hook-ups allowed for each business or residence. The city has not performed an operation and maintenance review of the water system since November 1995. The city did not maintain documentation of the costs of providing water to the local water district which it considered when establishing the related water rate.

6. Community Oriented Policing Services (COPS) Grant (page 23)

The city did not seek reimbursement for allowable costs on a timely basis.

7. Personnel Policies and Procedures (pages 24-26)

The city has not adopted an annual ordinance to establish the compensation of appointed officials and employees. The City Clerk received a new position and an increase in compensation which was not provided for by a city ordinance. The city does not have a written policy on use of city vehicles for commuting purposes. Some employee time sheets which are completed by the City Clerk are not signed by the employee or their supervisor, and time sheets do not indicate hours worked by function as a basis for allocating salaries and fringe benefits to the appropriate funds. The city is not consistently following some of its written personnel policies.

8. Board Policies and Procedures (pages 26-28)

One set of closed session minutes could not be located, and some minutes did not specifically document what was discussed but just made a general statement that a certain topic was discussed. The tentative agenda does not disclose specific information to be discussed at the upcoming board meeting and does not indicate the reason for holding a closed session. The board minutes did not disclose the reasons for buying approximately 78 acres of land or the various alternatives to buying this land. The city does not have a formal policy regarding public access to city records.

9. Municipal Division (page 28-29)

Monies collected by the court are not transmitted to the city on a timely basis, court costs were not assessed or collected in accordance with state law, some monthly reports could not be located and some were not added correctly, and the method of payment is not always indicated on the receipt slips and on court transmittal pages and is not reconciled to bank deposits.

1. Financial Operations

The city maintains several funds including a General Fund, Street Fund, Park Fund, and Water and Sewer Fund. Monies are set aside from the Water and Sewer Fund into a Pull-a-Pump Fund, Water Tower Maintenance Fund, and Depreciation and Replacement Fund. The city also sets aside monies from the General Fund into an Emergency Fund. All monies, except for the Depreciation and Replacement Fund and the city's meter service deposits, are deposited into one bank account. Our review of the financial operations and condition of the various city funds noted the following:

A. As discussed further in MAR No. 2, the city has budgeted and operated the General Fund with a negative cash balance for several years, yet has not developed a plan to eliminate the deficit. Independent audit reports of the city have shown a negative fund balance and cash balance for several years. This deficit has grown significantly over the past four years, yet the city has continued to incur expenditures from the General Fund when monies are not available to pay for them. It appears the Board of Aldermen has made decisions based on inadequate financial information. As noted elsewhere in this report, budgets adopted by the city did not include complete information about beginning available resources and lacked any comparative actual data about the previous two years. In addition, the Board does not receive or review any periodic data throughout the year comparing budgeted amounts with actual amounts to date. The ending cash balances in the General Fund for the years ended June 30, 1998, 1997, 1996, 1995, and 1994 are as follows:

	Year Ended June 30
	1998	1997	1996	1995	1994
Cash balance, June 30	$ (48,783)	(39,853)	(32,519)	(20,827)	(10,327)

As of October 31, 1998 the General Fund still had a deficit cash balance of approximately ($48,010).

While the city maintains several separate funds to account for the various activities of the city, most city receipts and disbursements are processed through one bank account. Because of this process, cash of other city funds has, in effect, been used to pay checks written from the General Fund. However, the city has not maintained adequate records to track how much cash has been used from each of these funds.

In addition, some expenditures paid directly from other city funds appear to in fact be General Fund costs. Examples include the following:

* The city receives a monthly contract fee of $1,150 for collecting and depositing utility payments for the local rural electric company. This fee is deposited into the General Fund, but the applicable clerk's monthly salary of $1,188 is paid entirely from the Water and Sewer Fund. Another deputy clerk's monthly salary of $1,578 is also paid entirely from the Water and Sewer Fund, although part of her time is also devoted to general city operations.

* As noted in MAR No. 3, the city purchased land from the local school district for general city use, but the monthly payments for the land are made from the Water and Sewer Fund instead of the General Fund. The purchase price was $35,000 and as of September 1998, $5,765 had been paid.

Had these costs been appropriately charged to the General Fund, the negative cash balance would have been even larger. Operating at a deficit is a serious condition and inappropriate. The city needs to live within its means and should take immediate steps to eliminate the negative cash balance by decreasing expenditures or increasing revenues.

B. The city maintains several funds to account for the operations of the city's water and sewer system. These include the Water and Sewer Operation and Maintenance Fund, Meter Service Deposit Fund, Pull-A-Pump Fund, Water Tower Maintenance Fund, Depreciation and Replacement Fund, Principal and Interest Fund, and Lease Purchase Construction Fund. The city has incurred several large expenditures during the last two years which have had a significant impact on the financial condition of the various water and sewer funds. These have included major repairs to the city water wells and well tower totaling $67,000; construction of a new sludge clarifier and upgrades to the wastewater system totaling $699,000 (of which $455,600 was paid for by a Community Development Block Grant); purchase of a used pickup totaling $14,500; payment of $24,500 for half the cost of a new backhoe loader; and the purchase of land on which to spread city sewer sludge totaling $71,600.

Some of these purchases required ongoing payments for several years and thus will continue to impact the water and sewer funds. For example, the city entered into a contract for approximately $49,000 to repair the well tower which requires annual payments in excess of $16,000 for the next three years. The Water and Sewer Fund's share of lease purchase payments for the backhoe loader is approximately $586 per month through June, 2001. Also, to pay for its share of the costs of the sewer clarifier project and the purchase of a new sludge truck, the city issued $435,000 in lease certificates of participation. This lease contract obligates the city to make over $682,000 in principal and interest payments over a 15 year period, ending in 2012. The city must set aside approximately $3,700 monthly from water and sewer fees to meet the principal and interest payments, plus $660 per month for a required contribution to the Depreciation and Replacement Fund.

As of October 31, 1998, the city had approximately $180,243 in the various water and sewer system funds noted above. However, of this total, only $29,027 represents unrestricted monies available to pay normal operating costs of the system. Approximately $37,216 represented restricted monies in the Meter Service Deposit Fund, Depreciation and Replacement Fund, and Principal and Interest Fund; and $114,000 is unused proceeds of the lease certificates of participation, $53,269 of which was earmarked to pay for the new sludge truck and outstanding project bills and $60,731 which is restricted by the lease contract to be used to make principal and interest payments on the lease certificates of participation.

Our review noted that average monthly water and sewer revenues total approximately $19,200 while average monthly expenditures charged to water and sewer operations total approximately $21,500. This includes normal operating expenses, required contributions to the Depreciation and Replacement Fund and the Principal and Interest Fund, monthly payments for the backhoe lease, payments on the water tower contract, and voluntary contributions made to the Water Tower Maintenance Fund and Pull-A-Pump Fund. As noted in part A. above, these expenses also include payments for land purchased for general city use and the total salaries for two clerks who actually spend part of their time on general city operations. However, it does not include the monthly salaries, totaling approximately $2,000 of two Water and Sewer Operations and Maintenance employees who work on the water and sewer system, city streets, and in the park, but whose salaries are paid entirely from the Street Fund. To ensure restricted revenues are not spent for other than their intended purpose, expenses associated with specific activities should be reflected in the funds established to account for those activities. This is also necessary to accurately determine the results of operations of those funds, thus enabling the city to properly establish the level of taxation and/or user charges necessary to meet all operating requirements.

The Board of Aldermen needs to closely monitor the ongoing financial condition of the various water and sewer funds to ensure monthly revenues are sufficient to pay required operating costs, as well as the other required monthly payments and contributions, and any amounts needed for future repairs. The Board needs to review financial information and ensure the rates are set to cover the total costs.

As noted in parts A. and B. above, the city has incurred many expenditures over the last two years for major construction and repairs, purchases of vehicles and equipment, and purchases of land. In addition, the city hired an additional police officer, whose salary is partially reimbursed by a federal grant, and approved a 10 percent salary increase for all employees for fiscal year 1998 and an additional 9 percent increase for fiscal year 1999. The Board needs to review adequate financial data as a basis for making such expenditure decisions, to ensure it can meet its obligations currently and in the future.

WE RECOMMEND the Board require adequate financial information be prepared to allow it to review and monitor the financial condition of each city fund. The Board of Aldermen should take immediate steps to eliminate the deficit in the General Fund and ensure rates are set in the Water and Sewer Fund to cover the total costs of operation. The Board should also ensure all expenditures are charged to the appropriate fund.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The board concurs and will attempt to implement the recommendations.

2. Budgetary Practices and Financial Reporting

A. Our review of the city's budgets noted the following concerns:

1) The city budgets do not include a budget message, the beginning cash balance for the General Fund (although beginning balances were presented for other city funds) or the projected ending cash balances for any city funds.

2) The budgets do not include a comparative statement of actual or estimated receipts and disbursements for the two previous years. Amounts for the two previous years provide comparative information to help evaluate the reasonableness of the budget estimates for the upcoming year.

3) The budgets do not include the Water Tower Maintenance Fund, the Pull-a-Pump Fund, and Depreciation and Replacement Fund.

4) The Board of Aldermen does not periodically compare actual revenues and expenditures to the budgeted amounts. While such a comparative report is prepared each month by the City Clerk, it is not reviewed by the board nor do the board minutes document any discussions of the financial activities or financial condition of the funds.

   Budgets are a planning tool and should serve as a guide throughout the year to monitor revenues and expenditures. A periodic comparison of budgeted versus actual revenues and expenditures is necessary to properly monitor the financial condition of each city fund.

Sections 67.010 to 67.080, RSMo 1994, provide the city's budget shall present a complete financial plan for the ensuing budget year and include specific requirements regarding the preparation and approval of the annual operating budget. A budget should be prepared for all funds of the city and the budget should include a budget message, the beginning and projected ending fund balances of all city funds, and actual or estimated revenues and expenditures for the two previous fiscal years. A complete and well-planned budget, in addition to meeting statutory requirements, can serve as a useful management tool by establishing specific cost expectations for each area and providing a means to effectively monitor costs.

B. While, as noted in part A.1. above, the city's budget documents did not present the beginning and estimated ending balance for the General Fund, the city has budgeted a negative balance each year in the General Fund. The city's General Fund has had a negative cash balance for the past several years but the city has continued to budget expenditures in excess of revenues or revenues and the beginning cash balance.

Section 67.010.2, RSMo 1994, and Article VI, Section 26(a) of the Missouri Constitution, state that in no event shall the total proposed expenditures from any fund exceed the estimated revenues to be received plus any unencumbered balance or less any deficit estimated for the beginning of the budget year. By continuing to budget a deficit in the General Fund each year, the board has essentially operated this fund illegally.

The board should take immediate steps to eliminate the General Fund budgeted deficit. The board should consider revising the current fiscal year 1999 budget to be in compliance with state law by identifying additional revenue sources or reducing expenditures where appropriate.

C. During the years ended June 30, 1998, 1997, and 1996, the city approved expenditures in excess of the budgeted amounts for various funds as follows:

	Year Ended June 30,
Fund	1998	1997	1996
General Fund	$ 29,656	17,493	11,251
Water/Sewer Fund	89,838	104,087	624
Park Fund	8,394	3,735	4,654

The expenditures of the General Fund have exceeded the budgeted amounts due largely to expenditures for the police department. In fiscal year 1998, police department expenditures exceeded the budgeted amount by over $39,000, although approximately $15,000 of the expenditures were due to the hiring of a police officer whose salary is reimbursed under the COPS Grant program which was not originally budgeted. In fiscal years 1997 and 1996, the fire department expenditures also exceeded the amount budgeted by approximately $11,000 and $4,500, respectively, while in fiscal year 1996 administration expenditures exceeded the budgeted amount by approximately $6,000.

The expenditures in excess of the budgeted amounts in the Water and Sewer Fund for the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997, are due mainly to extensive repairs to city wells, engineering and grant administration payments related to the community development block grant obtained to upgrade the sewer system, and for the purchase of land to spread the sludge generated from the sewer plant. The total project costs, and related reimbursements, to be paid under the block grant were not included in the original budget and no budget amendments were made for these additional revenues and expenditures. A payment of $25,000 was made for the purchase of land during the year ended June 30, 1997, that was not budgeted. Payments of $31,600 were made for the purchase of land in fiscal year 1998, while only $25,000 was budgeted.

The Park Fund expenditures continually exceed the amounts budgeted due to under budgeting the amounts spent for park maintenance. For instance, in fiscal year 1998 the city spent $8,000 to pave a walking trail in the city park, but this expenditure was not budgeted.

The city did not prepare amended budgets for these funds during each fiscal year but adopted a resolution only after the end of each fiscal year to amend the budgeted amounts to agree with the actual amounts. This resolution was set forth in the board minutes but no facts or reasons were given for the overspending of each budget.

Section 67.040, RSMo 1994, requires political subdivisions to keep expenditures within amounts budgeted. If there are valid reasons which necessitate excess expenditures, a resolution should be adopted by the governing body setting forth the amount of the budget increase and the facts and reasons for such increases. In addition, the board should cease incurring expenditures when there are no funds available to finance those expenditures.

D. The approved amounts in the budget document are not reconciled to the budget amounts recorded on the computerized general ledger. Some approved budget expenditure amounts were not properly recorded on the computerized accounting system. This condition weakens the reliability of the city's financial data presented on its monthly computer reports and hinders the ability of the board to make sound financial decisions.

E. The city's semi-annual published financial statements do not report detailed information by fund, but rather present the total assets, liabilities, revenues, expenditures, and ending cash balance for all funds of the city combined. The semi-annual financial statement published for the six month period ended December 31, 1997, also did not report the total indebtedness of the city regarding the lease certificates of purchase for $435,000. To better inform the citizens, the city should report financial information separately for each fund.

Section 79.160, RSMo 1994, requires the Board of Aldermen to prepare and publish semi-annually a full and detailed account of the receipts, expenditures, and indebtedness of the city.

F. A formal maintenance plan for city streets has not been prepared annually. A maintenance plan should be prepared in conjunction with the annual budget and include a description of the streets to be worked on, the type of work to be performed, an estimate of the quantity and cost of materials needed, the dates such work could begin, the amount of labor required to perform the work, and other relevant information. The plan should be included in the budget message and be approved by the board. In addition, a public hearing should be held to obtain input from the city residents.

A formal maintenance plan would serve as a useful management tool and provide greater input into the overall budgeting process. A plan provides a means to continually and more effectively monitor and evaluate the progress made in the repair and maintenance of streets throughout the year.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Prepare budgets for all funds of the city in accordance with state law. In addition, the board should periodically compare actual revenues and expenditures with budgeted amounts to monitor city finances and to ensure actual expenditures do not exceed budgeted amounts.

B. Cease budgeting a deficit balance in the General Fund.

C. Keep expenditures within budgeted amounts. If it is necessary to incur additional expenditures, a resolution setting forth the increase and reasons for such should be adopted before the additional expenditures are incurred.

D. Ensure the approved budget amounts agree with the amounts recorded for each fund on the computerized accounting system.

E. Ensure the published financial statements provide the citizens an adequately detailed account of the financial activity and indebtedness of the city.

F. Prepare and document a maintenance plan at the beginning of the year and periodically update the plan throughout the year. In addition, the board should review the progress made in the repair and maintenance of streets to make appropriate decisions on future projects.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A.& C-F. The board concurs with the recommendations.

B. The board concurs and will attempt to implement this recommendation.

3. Expenditures and Contracts

A. The city has a formal bidding policy; however, the city has not followed its written policy on many purchases. While it appears the city has solicited bids for some purchases, bids were not solicited or not documented for other purchases. The city's bidding policy requires a minimum of three oral or written quotations for the purchase or contract for goods or services between $100 and $2,500, and written specifications and newspaper publication for the purchase or contract for goods or services exceeding $2,500. Our review of the city's bidding procedures noted the following:

1) During the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997, the following purchases were made in which bids were not solicited or not documented:

Used truck	$ 14,500
Computer hardware, software, and training	10,587
Backhoe loader	48,980
Asphalt paving	39,945
Well drilling	18,828
Grinder pump	3,997
Well repair	37,755

City officials indicated various quotes were obtained on the backhoe loader but this documentation was not retained. The city indicated it obtained book values from the local bank upon deciding to purchase the truck, but did not solicit quotes from various dealers on similar trucks. The well drilling expense was considered to be an emergency to repair a city well; however, this emergency situation was not appropriately documented in the board minutes. The well repair related to payments to a contractor for repairing a second city well in which $34,686 of the cost was reimbursed to the city by the rural water district. No bids were solicited by the city, even though the city controlled this project and considered this amount when setting future water rates for the rural water district. The city also obtained a contractor in January 1998 for the repair of a water tower without soliciting bids. This work was not started until July 1998 and the total contract price exceeds $49,000 to be paid over three years.

2) Several items were purchased with values between $100 and $2,500 that did not have three oral or written quotations documented as required by the city's bid policy. These purchases included such items as radio equipment and warranties for $2,079, a blower for $1,365, and an electric motor for $308. While city officials indicated comparable prices were obtained from various vendors on these items and the lowest price obtained, documentation of the quotes was not retained. The city also buys gravel, asphalt, culverts, and pump grease from local suppliers without obtaining written quotes. City officials indicated that these items are purchased from sole sources within the area; however, this is not documented in the board minutes.

Formal bidding procedures for major purchases provide a framework for economical management of city resources and help ensure the city receives fair value by contracting with the lowest and best bidders. Competitive bidding also helps ensure all parties are given equal opportunity to participate in the city's business. While the city has established such procedures, they need to ensure the procedures are followed.

Bids can be handled by telephone quotation, by written quotation, by sealed bids, or by advertised sealed bids. Various approaches are appropriate, based on the dollar amount and type of purchase. Whichever approach is used, complete documentation should be maintained of all bids received and reasons noted why the winning bid was selected. In addition, the board minutes should document the reasons bids are not taken due to sole source or emergency situations.

B. The city provides free water and sewer services to the Crocker Community Swimming Pool Committee, a local not-for-profit (NFP) entity that built and maintains the swimming pool in the city park. The pool was opened in 1993 and serves both city and rural residents. The city has provided over $10,300 in water and sewer services at the pool to the NFP from June 1993 through mid-September 1998. City officials indicated that the service was provided free by the city to contribute something toward the operation of the swimming pool since it serves city residents. However, the board did not pass an ordinance authorizing this service and the city did not enter into a written cooperative agreement with the NFP for the services to be provided by both parties. In addition, the city has not entered into a lease contract with the NFP for the use of the land in the city park on which the pool is located.

To authorize the use of water and sewer resources for this purpose and to ensure both parties are aware of their duties and responsibilities, the board should prepare a written ordinance to this effect and a written cooperative agreement should be entered into between the city and the NFP. This ordinance and written agreement should also provide for the use of the land in the city park by the NFP.

C. We noted the following concerns with purchases of some property.

1) In May 1997 the city purchased approximately seven acres of land next to the city park from the local school district for $35,000. The city pays the school district a monthly payment based on the amount of the school's monthly water and sewer utility charge until the full debt is paid off. The payback period of this arrangement, based upon the current monthly usage, is approximately 7 to 8 years. The school district is billed for and pays their monthly water and sewer charge. The city deposits the payment into the Water and Sewer Fund, and the city then writes a check for the same amount back to the school district from the Water and Sewer Fund. The land is not used for Water and Sewer Fund purposes, and purchasing it from the Water and Sewer Fund does not appear to be appropriate. In addition, the city entered into this agreement and has made monthly payments to the school district since May 1997 without a formal written contract. A written contract was not formally consummated and signed by both parties until July 1998.

Revenues of restricted funds such as the Water and Sewer Fund should only be used for the operation of that fund and should not be used to subsidize the general operations of the city. The General Fund should reimburse the Water and Sewer Fund $5,765 paid through September 1998 and any subsequent payments for the purchase of the land.

2) In March 1997, the city purchased 50 acres of land on which to spread sludge from the sewer plant. The purchase price was $46,600 and the written contract specified a payment of $25,000 in March 1997, with the balance of $21,600 to be paid in January 1998. The city then purchased an additional 28 acres next to this parcel from the same person for $25,000 with a $500 down payment, $10,000 to be paid in January 1998 and the balance of $14,500 plus interest to be paid in August 1998. The city did not enter into a written contract specifying the details of this second purchase. In addition, our review of these payments noted the city overpaid approximately $1,400 to this person due to a miscalculation of interest to be paid. The city should attempt to recover this overpayment.

Section 432.070, RSMo 1994, requires contracts of political subdivisions be in writing. A written contract, signed by the parties involved, should specify the land to be purchased and the manner and amount of payments to be made. Written contracts are necessary to ensure all parties are aware of their duties and responsibilities and to provide protection to both parties.

D. In March 1997, the city entered into an installment loan with the local bank in the amount of $18,000 for the purchase of a new police car. This contract obligates the city to a monthly payment of approximately $450 over a period of four years without any option to renew the contract on a yearly basis. At the time of the purchase and also at June 30, 1998, the city's General Fund had a negative cash balance.

Article VI, Section 26a of the Missouri Constitution, states that no city shall become indebted in an amount exceeding in any year the income and revenue provided for such year plus any unencumbered balances from previous years, except as otherwise provided in the constitution.

E. Our review of the expenditures for the city's wastewater system construction project and the related Community Development Block Grant noted that the city overpaid $2,000 to the grant administrator. The city should seek reimbursement of this overpayment from the grant administrator.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Follow the city's bidding policy on all purchases and retain the necessary bid documentation or written quotes obtained from the various vendors. If a sole source item is purchased or an emergency expenditure is required, these reasons should also be noted in the board minutes.

B. Prepare an ordinance authorizing the provision of water and sewer service to the NFP, and enter into a formal written agreement with the NFP indicating the duties and responsibilities of both parties. This agreement should also provide for the use of the city-owned land in the city park.

C. Ensure there is a formal written contract for the purchase of land. In addition, require the General Fund to reimburse the Water and Sewer Fund the amount of monies spent for the purchase of land from the school district. Also, the Board should attempt to recover the amount overpaid for the land.

D. Not enter into contracts which violate the state law regarding debt.

E. Attempt to recover the amount overpaid to the grant administrator.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. The board concurs and has started implementing this recommendation by retaining appropriate bid documentation.

B. The board concurs with the recommendation.

C. The board concurs and will attempt to implement the recommendations. The city has attempted to contact the person regarding the amount overpaid and will continue to pursue this matter.

D. The board agrees with the recommendation and will ensure this does not happen in the future.

E. This has now been implemented. The city has now received reimbursement from the grant administrator.

4. Accounting Controls and Procedures

A. The City Clerk and two deputies collect monies, issue receipt slips, record receipt information in the manual cash receipts ledger, and prepare bank deposits. The City Clerk records all receipt information from the cash receipts ledger to the computerized accounting system, and the City Treasurer records the information on her accounting records. During our review, we noted the following problems with controls over receipts:

1) The city accepts cash, checks, and money orders for various types of payments. Receipt slips, while prenumbered, are issued only upon request. In addition, while utility stubs serve as a receipt and are batched together by deposit, paid property tax statements are not batched together by deposit but are filed in alphabetical order.

   The use of prenumbered receipt slips issued in numerical sequence for all miscellaneous monies received would provide better accountability. To help ensure collections are properly recorded and deposited, prenumbered receipt slips should be issued for all miscellaneous monies received and the numerical sequence should be accounted for properly. In addition, paid property tax statements should be filed with the deposit batch information.

2) The method of payment is generally noted on any city receipt slips issued; however, receipt slips are not issued for many receipts, and the method of payment is not recorded in the cash receipts ledger. Therefore, the method of payment cannot be reconciled from the receipt records to the amounts deposited in the city's bank accounts. To ensure all payments received are deposited, the method of payment indicated on city receipt slips should be recorded in the cash receipts ledger and someone independent should reconcile the composition to the composition of bank deposits.

3) Checks and money orders are not restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt, but upon preparation of the deposit. To reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, checks and money orders should be restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt.

4) Monies received are not deposited intact or on a timely basis. While the cash drawers are balanced out each business day, the monies are not segregated and deposited the next day. City receipts, other than water, sewer, and trash receipts, were deposited approximately three times a week during the year ended June 30, 1998, while water, sewer, and trash receipts were deposited only about twice a week. Monies transmitted from the municipal court for fines and costs were held in a separate cash drawer and deposited by the City Clerk from one week to a month later. Our review also noted that personal checks from city employees and relatives are cashed from city monies.

   To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce the risk of loss or misuse of funds, all receipts should be deposited intact daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100. Personal checks should not be cashed from city funds.

B. Checks are completed and signed by the Treasurer and held for a day or two in the city's vault until the next board meeting, when the invoices are reviewed and amounts to be paid are approved by the Board. To reduce the risk of loss or misuse of city funds, checks should not be signed before the payment has been properly authorized or someone independent of the disbursement process should cosign the checks after comparing the checks with the approved listing of bills to be paid.

C. The City Treasurer, who signs all the city checks as the sole signatory, is not bonded. In addition, the Deputy City Clerk is bonded only in the amount of $4,000. This amount may not be adequate based upon the amount of city receipts collected. Failure to adequately bond city employees that handle monies exposes the city to the risk of loss.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A.1. Require prenumbered receipt slips be issued for all miscellaneous monies received, and the numerical sequence accounted for properly. In addition, paid property tax statements should be filed with the deposit batch information.

2. Ensure the method of payment is noted in the cash receipts ledger and require someone independent to periodically reconcile the composition per the receipt slips and cash receipts ledger to the bank deposits.

3. Require all checks and money orders be restrictively endorsed immediately upon receipt.

4. Ensure all city receipts are deposited intact daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100, and discontinue cashing personal checks from city monies.

B. Require the City Treasurer to sign the checks only after all invoices have been approved for payment, or require someone independent to cosign the checks after comparing the checks written to the approved listing of bills to be paid.

C. Ensure all employees with access to city assets are appropriately bonded.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A.1. The board agrees with the recommendation and indicated the city has now started writing receipt slips for all miscellaneous receipts.

2. The board concurs.

3. This has now been implemented.

4. This has now been implemented.

B. The board concurs.

C. This has now been implemented. The City Treasurer is now bonded and the Deputy City Clerk's bond has been raised.

5. Water and Sewer System Controls and Procedures

The city operates a combined waterworks and sewer system that provides service to approximately 600 customers. A review of the city's Water and Sewer Fund records and procedures disclosed the following concerns:

A. There is no independent oversight or adequate segregation of duties related to the city's utility system. Presently, the Deputy City Clerk performs all functions related to generating monthly utility bills, receipting and recording utility payments, making credit adjustments, depositing monies received, and monitoring accounts for delinquencies.

To safeguard against possible loss or misuse of funds, internal controls should provide reasonable assurance that all transactions are accounted for properly and assets are adequately safeguarded. Internal controls would be improved by segregating the duties of receipting and depositing monies from that of preparing bills, recording payments, and following up on delinquent accounts. If a proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be an independent review of the utility system records and the reconciliations between recorded utility payments and deposits, and an independent review and approval of credit adjustments and delinquent account follow-up.

B. The city has not established formal procedures for making adjustments to individual utility bills and there is no independent review or approval of the credit adjustments recorded on the computerized utility system. While the City Clerk or Mayor verbally authorize adjustments to the water bills upon discussion with the Deputy City Clerk, these adjustments are not formally approved or documented to ensure that all adjustments made were appropriate.

To ensure that all credit adjustments are valid and properly approved, someone independent of receipting and recording functions should review all credit adjustments and proper supporting documentation should be maintained of such adjustments.

C. The city does not have a written policy or ordinance requiring each water and sewer customer to have their own separate meter for each service or establishing the procedures for alternative situations. While the informal policy is that each service should have its own meter, the city has allowed more than one service on the same water meter with each service paying the standard minimum billings plus amounts for additional usage. The city indicated there were several customers where two residences were hooked to the same water meter, and one customer where three buildings were serviced with the same water meter. A review of utility billings noted the city was properly billing the appropriate water and sewer rates based on the customers' monthly usage in accordance with the informal policy.

To adequately inform city residents and to prevent misunderstandings, the city should adopt a written policy on the number of water and sewer hook-ups allowed to each business and residence and the reasons for allowing more than one service to a meter. In addition, the policy should address how these multiple services will be billed.

D. In the past, the city has performed an annual operation and maintenance review of the water system, including comparing total gallons pumped and metered to gallons billed for the year. The city's last review was dated May 1996 and covered the period from November 20, 1994 through November 20, 1995. The city has not performed this review since that time. For the three years of 1993 through 1995 the city's reviews showed gallons of water billed totaling 18 to 22 percent less than gallons of water pumped per the city wells. These differences are due to broken meters, leaks, flushing of lines and hydrants, and city swimming pool and fire department usage.

To help ensure the system is functioning properly without significant unexplained losses, this operation and maintenance review should be performed on a monthly basis.

E. The city sells water to the Public Water Supply District #3 of Pulaski County (PWSD). In August 1996, a new contract was entered into between the city and the PWSD establishing the water rate to be paid to the city. The terms of the contract were negotiated through discussions between the PWSD board and city officials. The city did not maintain documentation supporting how the water rate was determined.

To ensure water rates charged to the PWSD are set at a level sufficient to allow the city to at least recover its costs, the city should document the estimated costs of providing water to the PWSD.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Segregate the duties of receipting and depositing monies from that of preparing bills, recording payments, and following up on delinquent accounts. If proper segregation of duties cannot be achieved, at a minimum, there should be an independent review of the reconciliations between utility payments deposited and recorded and delinquent account follow-up.

B. Establish formal procedures to require someone independent of the utility system to review and approve all credit adjustments and ensure adequate documentation is retained of such adjustments.

C. Adopt a written policy on the allowable number of water and sewer hook-ups per meter and the method of billing when there is more than one service per meter.

D. Require an operation and maintenance review of the water system be performed monthly, including the reconciliation of gallons pumped and metered to gallons billed.

E. Ensure adequate documentation is retained of the costs considered when establishing the water rate to be charged to the PWSD.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. The board agrees and has attempted to segregate some duties and will consider ways to establish independent reviews.

B. This has now been implemented.

C-E. The board concurs.

6. Community Oriented Policing Services (COPS) Grant

In April 1995, the city was awarded a Community Oriented Policing Services (COPS) grant through the U.S. Department of Justice for one additional full-time certified police officer. The grant award was for a three year period ending February 29, 1998, and totaled $35,406 with 75 percent being the federal share and 25 percent being the city's matching requirement. The city did not hire an additional officer until July 1997, but has received an extension of the grant until August 31, 1999.

The grant allows the city to periodically request reimbursement of the federal share of allowable costs incurred. As of June 30, 1998, the city had not submitted any reimbursement requests even though the city had paid over $15,000 in salary and fringe benefits through that date. After we brought this to her attention, the City Clerk did submit the first reimbursement request in August 1998. The city subsequently received a reimbursement of approximately $13,500 in October 1998.

The board should review this situation and ensure the appropriate federal funds are drawn down timely.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen review this grant and take action to ensure the federal monies available for this grant are drawn down on a timely basis.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The board agrees and indicated that drawdowns are now being made on a quarterly basis.

7. Personnel Policies and Procedures

A. We noted the following concerns regarding the duties, compensation, and terms of office of appointed officials and employees:

1) The city has not adopted an annual ordinance to establish the compensation of appointed officials and employees. Every May in closed session, the board reappoints the officials and employees and sets the compensation for the next fiscal year beginning in July. Neither the board minutes nor the budgets provide a detail of salaries paid to each appointed official and employee.

2) While a city ordinance provides that the City Clerk shall be appointed in May of every year and the annual compensation to be paid takes effect in July, at the start of the next fiscal year, the board approved an increase in compensation to the City Clerk effective January 1, 1998. The Mayor indicated that the City Clerk was awarded a new position titled Administrative City Clerk because of additional duties imposed upon her by the city. According to the Mayor, the additional duties require the City Clerk to become a manager between all city departments and to attend conferences or seminars with or on behalf of the Mayor. The Mayor indicated this was discussed by the board in a closed session and then noted in the regular board meeting; however, this activity was not recorded in the board minutes and no ordinance was passed establishing this new position or the new duties.

Sections 79.270 through 79.320, RSMo 1994, require that the duties, powers, compensation, and term of office of city officials and employees be established by ordinance. Also, compensation rates set by ordinance, in addition to meeting statutory requirements, document the approved amounts to be paid and reduce potential misunderstandings regarding the amount of pay each city official and employee is to receive. In addition, ordinance hearings provide for public input and information concerning the salaries paid.

B. The city does not have a written policy on use of city vehicles for commuting purposes. The Public Works Superintendent is provided a city-owned truck for commuting to and from home each day. City officials indicated this employee is on call 24 hours a day due to emergency situations. As a result, the city considers it necessary that he take the vehicle home and excludes the commuting usage from his compensation for tax purposes. The employee did not maintain a log indicating the amount of business and personal use incurred for this vehicle, nor did the city document the emergency situations responded to by the employee.

IRS guidelines indicate personal commuting mileage is a reportable fringe benefit. Furthermore, IRS guidelines require the full value of the provided vehicle is to be reported if the employer does not require the submission of detailed logs which distinguish between business and personal usage.

C. We noted the following concerns related to timesheets:

1) While all city employees maintain time sheets, the time sheets maintained for employees other than police officers are completed by the City Clerk rather than the employees. These time sheets do not indicate the hours worked each day, but only the hours taken off by the employee for sick leave, annual leave, and compensatory time. In addition, these time sheets are not signed by the employee or the supervisor.

2) The time sheets do not indicate the hours worked by activity for each employee nor has the city performed any other time study to serve as a basis for allocating salary and fringe benefits to the appropriate funds. Currently the city pays two deputy city clerks entirely from the Water and Sewer Operation and Maintenance Fund even though part of their duties are not water and sewer system related. In addition, two employees who work on the city's water and sewer system, city streets, and in the city park are paid entirely from the Street Fund.

   Time sheets should be adequately detailed, or some other time study should be performed, to ensure that payroll costs are charged to the appropriate funds.

Properly completed time sheets showing actual hours worked each day by function or activity and time taken off, along with the employee's and supervisor's signatures, are necessary to ensure that payroll expenditures are proper.

D. The city is not consistently following some of its written personnel policies. The city's personnel policy states that overtime pay is not to be paid to department heads. However, department heads such as the City Clerk, Chief of Police, and Public Works Superintendent have received overtime payments for additional hours worked. According to city officials, during the years ended June 30, 1998 and 1997, the city paid approximately $1,300 and $1,900, respectively, in overtime to the department heads. The policy does not describe under what circumstances overtime will be paid, at what amount, and the number of hours that can be accumulated.

In addition, the city personnel policy does not indicate whether total vacation hours earned can be carried forward into the next fiscal year although the usual practice is to not allow such a carryover. City employees were allowed by the Mayor to carry unearned vacation leave from 1997 into 1998. This was due to unusual circumstances that occurred in 1997 primarily related to time spent to implement and train on a new computerized accounting system. The board minutes did not reflect the circumstances necessitating the carryover.

The city should consistently follow its personnel policies or amend the policies as necessary.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Establish by ordinance the position, duties, and term of office of Administrative City Clerk, as well as the compensation of all appointed officials and employees.

B. Include the value of personal usage of the city vehicle as compensation on the employee's W-2 forms. The board should adopt a written policy on the usage of city-owned vehicles, and related record keeping requirements.

C.1. Require time sheets be completed for each employee showing the actual hours worked each day along with hours taken off, and ensure all time sheets are signed by the employee and approved by the supervisor.

2. Require time sheets to show the actual hours worked by function or activity to properly allocate employee salary costs and fringe benefits to the appropriate funds.

D. Ensure the written personnel policies are followed or amend the policies as necessary. In addition, a written policy regarding the carryover of unused leave should be developed.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A. The board concurs and is in the process of adopting an ordinance regarding the position of Administrative City Clerk.

B&D. The board concurs.

C. The board concurs and will attempt to implement this recommendation.

8. Board Policies and Procedures

A. The city maintains minutes of the closed sessions of the board meetings. However, one set of closed session minutes could not be located and some closed session minutes did not specifically document what was discussed but just made a general statement that a certain topic was discussed.

Section 610.021, RSMo Cum. Supp. 1997, allows the board to close meetings to the extent the meetings relate to certain specified subjects, including litigation, real estate transactions, and personnel issues. Adequate closed session minutes are necessary to document and record official board decisions and actions affecting city government and the public, and to ensure compliance with the Sunshine Law.

B. A tentative agenda is prepared and posted for each board meeting; however, the agenda is usually in a standard form and does not disclose specific information to be discussed for the upcoming meeting. Also, the standard agenda notes that a closed session meeting may be held, but sometimes a closed session meeting is not actually held. In addition, when a closed session is held the agenda does not indicate the specific topic to be discussed.

To adequately inform the residents of the business to be discussed during the board meeting and to ensure compliance with the Sunshine Law, the tentative agenda should summarize the topics to be discussed during the meeting and, when applicable, clearly indicate the reason for holding a closed meeting.

C. While the city discussed at various times in the board minutes the purchase of approximately 78 acres of land for $71,600, the board minutes did not disclose the details surrounding this purchase. The city had in the past been using this land close to the sewer plant for hauling sludge from the sewer plant and had also hauled sludge to some landowners outside the city. The board minutes did not document the reasons for buying the land, the amount of acreage required to spread the sludge, or other alternatives the city may have had at the time such as locating other land for sale or contracting out to spread the sludge. To fully document the reasons for such a large transaction, to ensure the city has considered all possible alternatives that would be beneficial to the city, and for the taxpayers to be properly informed, the board minutes should contain all necessary information surrounding the transaction.

D. The city does not have a formal policy regarding public access to city records. A formal policy regarding access to and obtaining copies of city records would establish guidelines for the city to make the records available to the public. This policy should establish a person to contact and an address to mail requests for access to records and should establish a cost for providing copies of public records.

Section 610.023, RSMo 1994, lists requirements for making city records available to the public, and Section 610.026, RSMo 1994, allows the city to charge fees for copying public records, but the fees shall not exceed the city's actual cost of document search and duplication.

WE RECOMMEND the Board of Aldermen:

A. Ensure adequate minutes, including the major topics and points of discussion, are maintained for all closed meetings.

B. Require the tentative agenda to summarize the topics to be discussed during the board meeting and include on the agenda the purpose of any closed sessions.

C. In the future, include all pertinent information and possible alternatives concerning a large transaction in the board minutes.

D. Establish a formal written policy and procedures regarding public access to city records.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

A-C. The board concurs.

D. This has now been implemented.

9. Municipal Division

A. Monies collected by the court are not transmitted to the city on a timely basis. Transmittals were made approximately once every two to three weeks, and averaged over $580 during the year ended June 30, 1998. To adequately safeguard receipts and reduce risk of loss, theft, or misuse of funds, transmittals should be made daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

B. Court costs were not assessed or collected in accordance with state law. Court costs were reduced from $20 to $14 for violations occurring on city streets as opposed to the state highway. A $5 Crime Victims' Compensation (CVC) fee and a $1 Peace Officer Standards and Training Commission (POSTC) fee were not charged on municipal ordinance violations on city streets. Sections 595.045.1 and 590.140.1, RSMo Cum. Supp. 1997, require fees for CVC, Law Enforcement Training (LET), and POSTC be charged on all court cases for violations of municipal ordinances, except for cases dismissed by the court.

C. The municipal division files with the city a monthly report of all cases heard in court; however, during the year ended June 30, 1998, four months of monthly reports could not be located and two additional monthly reports were not added correctly. All monthly reports should be retained and mathematically correct to properly reflect the monthly activity of the court.

D. The municipal division accepts cash, checks, and money orders for fines, court costs, and bonds. Some receipt slips issued by the municipal division and some court transmittal pages did not indicate the method of payments received. Therefore, no reconciliation can be performed between the composition of receipt slips issued by the court and monies transmitted to the city treasury for deposit. To ensure all receipts are transmitted intact, the method of payment received should be indicated on the receipt slips and the court transmittal pages. In addition, the composition of receipt slips issued should be reconciled to the composition of transmittals and bank deposits.

A condition similar to D was also noted in our prior report of the municipal division.

WE RECOMMEND the Municipal Division:

A. Transmit receipts to the city intact daily or when accumulated receipts exceed $100.

B. Assess court costs in accordance with state law.

C. Ensure that all monthly reports are retained and are mathematically correct.

D. Indicate the method of payment on all receipt slips issued and the court transmittal pages, and reconcile the composition of receipt slips issued to the composition of monies transmitted and monies deposited.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The Municipal Division Judge provided the following responses:

A. We will attempt to implement this recommendation.

B. We will take this recommendation under advisement.

C&D. I concur with the recommendations.

This report is intended for the information of the city's management and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.

STATE AUDITOR

P.O. Box 869

To the Honorable Mayor
and
City Council
City of Slater
Slater, Missouri 65349

The State Auditor was petitioned under Section 29.230, RSMo, to audit the city of Slater, Missouri. The city had engaged Wilson, Toellner, Pilliard & Associates, P.C., Certified Public Accountants (CPA firm), to perform a financial audit of the city for the year ended December 31, 1997. To minimize any duplication of effort, we reviewed the report and substantiating work papers of the CPA firm. Our audit of the city included, but was not limited to, the year ended December 31, 1997. The objectives of this audit were to:

1. Perform procedures we deemed necessary to evaluate the petitioners' concerns.

2. Review compliance with certain constitutional provisions, statutes, ordinances, and attorney general's opinions as we deemed necessary or appropriate in the circumstances.

3. Review certain management practices which we believe could be improved.

Our audit was made in accordance with generally accepted government auditing standards and included such procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. We also reviewed council minutes, city policies and ordinances, and various city financial records.

Our audit was limited to the specific matters described above and was based on selective tests and procedures considered appropriate in the circumstances. Had we performed additional procedures, other information might have come to our attention which would have been included in this report.

The accompanying History and Organization is presented for informational purposes. This information was obtained from the city and was not subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the city.

The accompanying Management Advisory Report presents our findings and recommendations arising from our audit of the city of Slater, Missouri.

HISTORY AND ORGANIZATION

CITY OF SLATER, MISSOURI
HISTORY AND ORGANIZATION

The city of Slater was originally incorporated in 1878 as a village, and is presently a third-class city. The city is located in Saline County and its population in 1990 was 2,186.

The city has a mayor and an eight-member city council, electing two council members from four different wards within the city. The mayor is elected every four years and four council members are elected every year and serve a term of two years. At December 31, 1997, the Mayor and members of the City Council were as follows:

MANAGEMENT ADVISORY REPORT

CITY OF SLATER, MISSOURI
SUMMARY OF FINDINGS

1. Loan to Slater Development Corporation (pages 9-10)

   In December 1997, the City Council authorized the loan of $608,000 to the Slater Development Corporation for the purpose of financing the construction of a building to be leased to the new Place's Department Store. It appears this economic development venture was not handled in accordance with current statutes which authorize such activity.

2. Use of Utility Funds (pages 10-13)

   The city has used city utility funds to subsidize other city operations. No ordinance(s) could be located to authorize the gross receipts tax transfers from the Wastewater and Water Funds to the General Fund. In addition, the gross receipts tax percentages levied on these funds' revenues were increased in 1997. Besides these transfers, from January 1994 to August 1998, the city transferred almost $450,000 from the Electric Fund to the Capital Improvements Fund to help pay for various expenditures made from that fund. Also, the loan of $608,000 to the Slater Development Corporation was made from the Electric Fund.

3. Expenditures (pages 13-18)

   The city does not have a formal written bidding policy, and the city did not publicly advertise for bids on several large construction projects, including the new city hall building. Several expenditures were noted which do not appear to be a prudent and necessary use of public funds. Excess compensation of $160 was paid to four council members in 1997.

4. Use and Disposal of City Property (pages 18-20)

   City employees have been allowed to use city equipment at various times for personal use at no cost. The city did not make a reasonable effort to sell two properties owned by the city at fair value. In 1997, the city donated a building and lot to a private corporation; however, this property was not used for the purpose intended.

5. Council Meetings, Minutes, and Ordinances (pages 21-22)

   The City Council minutes do not reflect all significant areas of discussion or actions taken by the council. Matters were discussed in closed session which do not appear to be allowed by Section 610.021, RSMo. Upon final disposition of matters discussed in closed meetings, it is not evident the final disposition is always made public. Closed meeting minutes were not always signed.

6. Budgetary Practices and Financial Reporting (pages 22-24)

The budgets did not include the beginning and projected ending cash balances for any of the funds budgeted, and the city exceeded the budgeted expenditure amounts in various funds during the years ended December 31, 1997 and 1996. The city has not published semiannual financial statements as required by law.

7. City Funds (pages 24-26)

Separate funds have not been established as required by state law to account for the one-half cent transportation sales tax revenues used for street improvements or for the debt service property tax revenues used to pay the principal and interest requirements of its general obligation bonds. The city has credited all interest earned on its main operating account to the General Fund instead of it being properly allocated among the various funds.

8. City Contracts (pages 26-27)

The city does not have a written agreement with its depositary bank as authorized by Section 95.285, RSMo 1994, nor has it entered into a written contract with the City Attorney for legal services.

9. Internal Controls (pages 27-28)

The city's segregation of duties could be improved. The city allows personal checks to be cashed from the daily cash receipts. The approval of adjustments made to utility bills is not documented.

1. Loan to Slater Development Corporation

In December 1997, the City Council approved the loan of $608,000 to the Slater Development Corporation (SDC), a private enterprise, for the purpose of financing the construction of a building to be leased to the new Place's Department Store in Slater. The loan is for 15 years, at 4 percent interest rate, and is to be repaid in equal annual installments of $54,000. The $608,000 was disbursed by the city to the SDC in various amounts from December 1997 through May 1998. The monies from the loan were then used to construct a building as well as to pay the costs of acquiring real estate and preparing the site for the new building. The building and land are owned by the SDC. In July 1998, the SDC assigned the monthly rental payments of $4,500 to the city of Slater to apply to the promissory note.

It is not uncommon for cities to get involved in economic and industrial development ventures; however, it does not appear this project was handled in accordance with current statutes which have been established for that purpose. The SDC has been in existence since 1948. In more recent years, the Missouri General Assembly has enacted laws, including those in Chapter 349, RSMo, pertaining to economic and industrial development.

Provisions in Chapter 349, RSMo, provide for the establishment of industrial development corporations; however, these entities differ from the SDC in various respects. Chapter 349, RSMo, provides that the directors of a corporation established under this chapter's provisions shall be appointed by the chief executive officer of the municipality and approved by a majority of the governing body of that municipality, provides that the notes and bonds of the corporation are securities in which all public bodies (including municipalities) can legally invest, and provides that upon termination or dissolution of the corporation, all rights and properties of the corporation shall pass to the municipality. In addition, such corporations are required to file annual reports with the state Department of Economic Development regarding any note and/or bond issuances of the preceding year. These statutes have been established to provide safeguards and ensure appropriate review, accountability, and legal compliance.

The city should ensure future economic and industrial development projects are handled in accordance with those statutes which authorize such activity.

WE RECOMMEND the City Council ensure any future economic or industrial development ventures are handled in accordance with current statutory provisions which authorize such activity.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The City Council provided the following response:

Place's Discount Store: The city has been critiqued for the $608,000 loan at 4 percent for 15 years from the Electric Fund's retained earnings to the Slater Development Corporation to assist in the acquisition of the new Place's Discount Store. The city recognizes the financial integrity of the Electric Fund as an "Enterprise Fund". However, the city will continue to pursue economic and industrial development opportunities that will ensure the financial integrity of the city while maintaining the competitive pricing of our utilities.

Numerous Missouri Revised Statutes, but particularly Section 349.012, authorize the city's governing body the power to spend its funds to promote commercial and industrial development, to engage in any activities either on its own or in conjunction and by contract with any not-for-profit organization which it deems necessary to carry on such promotional work. Given this, it seems legal that the city of Slater does have the authority by state statutes to actively pursue economic development and industrial growth.

The city feels the benefits of employment, utilities, sales tax, property tax, the removal of potentially dangerous buildings, downtown revitalization, and economic development outweighs any criticism it has caused.

The city would, if at all possible do this project or another one like it in the future the exact same way, as the Slater Development Corporation was in existence long before other current legislation took effect.

AUDITOR'S COMMENT

We are not criticizing the city for pursuing economic development. Our concern is that the city do so in a prudent manner that ensures public accountability and is consistent with statutes which have been established for that purpose. In addition, the city's reference to Section 349.012, RSMo, would not appear to support the city's handling of this matter since the SDC is not a not-for-profit organization.

2.	Use of Utility Funds

For a number of years, it appears the city has transferred monies from the various utility funds to other city funds, and it appears these transfers have been a regular part of the city's budgeting and funding process. Our review of this area disclosed the following:

A. During the year ended December 31, 1997, the city levied a gross receipts tax on electric, wastewater (sewer), and water revenues of the city of approximately ten percent, fifteen percent, and fifteen percent, respectively. Gross receipts tax transfers from the Electric Fund, Wastewater Fund, and Water Fund to the city's General Fund totaled approximately $126,000, $30,000, and $53,000, respectively, during the year ended December 31, 1997.

While the gross receipts tax for the Electric Fund was established by ordinance in 1988, no ordinances could be located to authorize the gross receipts tax being transferred from the Wastewater and Water Funds. In addition, the gross receipts tax percentage levied on wastewater and water revenues represented an increase from recent years prior to 1997, when it appears the gross receipts tax levied on these utilities was between eight and ten percent.

The increase in the gross receipts tax in 1997 presents a question under the Hancock Amendment as to whether the increase requires voter approval. The council should review this matter and determine whether voter approval is necessary. In addition, the council should ensure any gross receipts tax levied on these utility revenues is properly established by ordinance.

B. In addition to the transfers noted above, the city transferred additional amounts of almost $450,000 from the Electric Fund to the Capital Improvements Fund from January 1, 1994, through August 31, 1998, as follows:

Year Ended December 31,	Amount Transferred
1994	$ 74,000
1995	74,916
1996	75,000
1997	124,992
Period January 1, 1998 through August 31, 1998	100,000

It appears these transfers were made to help pay for various expenditures made from the Capital Improvements Fund, including street construction and materials for paving the city streets, and replacing city vehicles and equipment. In addition, as noted in MAR No. 1, in late 1997 and 1998, the city loaned a total of $608,000 to the Slater Development Corporation for the purpose of building a new Place's Department Store. This loan was made from the city's Electric Fund.

The city has not changed its electric rates since 1988. In 1996, the new contract with the provider of the city's electricity reduced the city's annual cost of electricity by approximately $120,000 per year; however, the city did not reduce the electric rates to its customers and has maintained its rates at the same level.

It does not appear appropriate to subsidize other city operations or make loans from electric utility monies. As a result of this situation, utility rates may be set higher than necessary to recover actual costs and city utility customers are being required to subsidize economic development ventures or the cost of other city services through the payment of their utility bills.

WE RECOMMEND the City Council:

A. Review the gross receipts tax levied on the wastewater and water revenues and reconsider whether the recent increase is subject to voter approval. In addition, the council should ensure any gross receipts taxes are established by ordinance.

B. Limit expenditures or transfers from the Electric Fund to only those that are properly authorized and those which are necessary to properly operate the city's electric utility operations.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The City Council provided the following response:

Over the last five years the city has transferred an average of 9.8 percent on electricity, 11 percent on water and 10 percent on wastewater. This is relatively low compared to the 26 and 43 percent from the 1965 budget. We do not feel the 10 percent average is excessive when the General Fund supports a 24-hour police department, 24-hour dispatch (which includes ambulance, rural fire, fire, animal control and police), a volunteer Fire Department, Animal Control, Emergency Management, Municipal Court Legislation, Administration and Public Works (which includes snow removal, storm water drainage, storm clean-up, street maintenance, etc.) At different times the General Fund has had to assist other departments that have not at certain times had enough funds to support themselves in lieu of closing that department, such as the swimming pool.

The city feels we provide a high level of utility services at the lowest possible cost without reducing services in other areas. The residents of Slater have not seen an electric rate increase since 1981 and in fact saw a decrease in 1988. The 1991 water rate increase and the 1992 sewer rate increase were due to voter approved bond issues, not transfers. Also, considering the State Auditors' dismal record in court regarding its interpretation of the Hancock Amendment and the fact it does not offer any authority to back up its opinion, no reasonable person would consider Hancock on this subject. Therefore, the city feels Hancock does not apply because no user fee increase has occurred. The city would also like to quote the Missouri Supreme Court's opinion, Pace vs. city of Hannibal, 680 S.W.2d 944(1984). Increase in gross amounts of funds voluntarily transferred by city board of public works to the city's general revenue fund as a "payment in lieu of franchise tax" is not violative of the Hancock Amendment. For the future, the city will consider calling the transfers PILOTs (Payments in Lieu Of Taxes) to eliminate the State Auditors' and others' confusion on taxes, licenses, and fees which Hancock refers. The City of Columbia uses this term for gross receipt transfers.

During the last five years the city of Slater has transferred an average of 7 percent electric revenue to Capital Improvements to fund swimming pool renovations, purchase police cars, construct a new dog pound, purchase equipment such as a backhoe, bobcat, used bucket truck, make payments on the Public Works building, resurface tennis and basketball courts, contribute toward the new baseball field, etc. A large portion is also spent on street overlays as the sales tax issue generates approximately $100,000 per year and the city overlay plan costs approximately $140,000 on the average. We do not feel the 7 percent average is excessive and feel the citizens of Slater benefit greatly from the budgeted use of these funds. The electric department has and will continue to be the bread and butter of the city. All departments do not have the luxury of having funds to perform much needed improvements. There have been no rate changes since 1988 at which time a reduction was made and no increases are planned for the near future. It has been a practice of the city fathers for over 30 years to transfer enterprise funds to other needy departments.

Currently, no other enterprise fund (water and sewer) makes contributions to capital improvements as bond covenants do not allow it, but all funds receive the benefits of the Capital Improvements Fund. Any new equipment such as backhoes, bobcats, trucks or other equipment are used by all departments and not just the department that actually paid for it. If that is the way it's supposed to be we will go broke purchasing two or three of everything. However, the city does recognize the financial integrity of the enterprise funds. As no state statute seems to exist that determines if and how much that can be transferred from an enterprise fund to the General and Capital Improvements Funds, the council will establish an ordinance regulating the reasonable amounts (percents) to be disbursed to these funds in the future as has been done in the past.

The city's residents, not just property owners, have placed a fiduciary trust in their city officials (by electing them) to expend public funds in a necessary and prudent manner, to ensure as many services as possible at the most reasonable cost.

AUDITOR'S COMMENT

A. In the court case referred to by the city in its response, the gross receipts tax rate had not been increased. Therefore, that situation was different from the one cited in this finding. We are not criticizing the quality of city-run programs and services; however, the revenues supporting these programs/services should be approved by the city's voters, if increased since 1980 (when the Hancock Amendment was passed).

3. Expenditures

A. The city does not have a formal written bidding policy. As a result, the decision of whether to solicit bids or proposals for a particular purchase is made on an item-by-item basis. In addition, it appears the city does not generally publicly advertise for bids or solicit written bids even in instances where the circumstances would seem to warrant doing so. While city officials indicated they frequently obtain proposals or quotes over the telephone, documentation of these proposals is often not maintained. Our review disclosed the following expenditures which we do not believe were procured in a reasonable and prudent manner:

- In January 1998, the city entered into a construction contract with a contractor from outside the area for a new city hall building at a cost of $199,864, with the building scheduled to be completed in November 1998. The city did not publicly advertise for bids for the construction of this building. Although it appears the city contacted several companies/contractors about submitting proposals, this was done over a two-year period. It appears the city obtained written proposals from three different contractors dated November 1996, October 1997, and January 1998, respectively. The city ultimately accepted the last proposal dated in January 1998.

While the last proposal was the lowest submitted, by not requiring and evaluating proposals submitted by contractors at the same time, the competitive bidding process may have been compromised.

- In 1998, the city spent over $26,000 on concrete for new sidewalks on Main Street. It appears the city solicited two proposals for this material, receiving one written proposal and another by telephone. Although the city took the lower of the two proposals, the city did not publicly advertise for bids for this material.

- Since 1994, the city has contracted to have several city streets resurfaced. According to city officials, the city has used one particular contractor to perform the curbing and guttering work and another to spread the asphalt on the city streets. During the year ended December 31, 1997, and the period from January to August 1998, the city paid these contractors over $22,000 and $252,000 for curb and gutter and asphalt work, respectively. The city did not publicly advertise or solicit written proposals regarding this street work.

In these situations, it appears the city did not assure itself that it received the lowest and best price on the completed projects since the work was not properly bid. Considering the extent of these expenditures, it appears that advertising for bids on these projects would have been a reasonable and prudent procedure.

In addition to those expenditures noted above, other expenditures made by the city in which bids were not solicited or documentation was not maintained included $8,468 for utility poles, $11,622 for transformers, $2,131 for maintenance on city computers, $2,267 for the purchase of a computer for the police department, $1,604 for chlorine for the city swimming pool, and $14,744 for the purchase of lime for the sewer plant.

Formal bidding procedures provide a framework for economical management of city resources and help ensure the city receives fair value by contracting with the lowest and best bidders. Competitive bidding also helps ensure all parties are given equal opportunity to participate in the city's business. Bids can be handled by telephone quotation, by written quotation, by sealed bid, or by advertised sealed bid. Various approaches are appropriate, based on dollar amount and type of purchase. Whichever approach is used, complete documentation should be maintained of all bids received and reasons noted why the bid was selected.

B. We noted several expenditures which do not appear to be a prudent and necessary use of public funds. These included:

1) Various donations totaling $200 and $75 during the year ended December 31, 1997 and first eight months of 1998, respectively, were made to the Purple Ribbon Club, Slater After Prom, and to a local Girl Scout troop.

2) During the year ended December 31, 1997, the city purchased $500 in tickets from the Old Age Transportation Service (OATS) for senior citizens to ride the OATS bus.

3) During the year ended December 31, 1997, the city expended $1,477 on behalf of city employees and their families for Christmas dinners held in 1996 and 1997 and for an employee picnic held in the summer of 1997.

4) In December 1997, all full-time employees, including the Mayor and City Clerk, received a bonus of $30 (net of taxes) and all part-time employees received a bonus of $20. The cost of these bonuses totaled approximately $1,100. It appears year-end bonuses were also paid to employees in previous years.

   Bonuses given to employees appear to represent additional compensation for services previously rendered and, as such, are in violation of Article III, Section 39 of the Missouri Constitution and contrary to Attorney General's Opinion No. 72, 1955 to Pray, which states, "... a government agency deriving its power and authority from the constitution and laws of the state would be prohibited from granting extra compensation in the form of bonuses to public officers after the service has been rendered."

5) In August 1997, the city paid over $60 to a restaurant for a going away dinner for a city employee.

The expenditures noted above do not appear to be necessary costs of operating the city and constitute a questionable use of public funds. The city's residents have placed a fiduciary trust in their city officials to expend public funds in a necessary and prudent manner.

C. In December 1996, the City Council passed an ordinance authorizing the compensation of council members to be raised to $20 per month. Compensation to council members had previously been set at $1 per year. This increase was effective May 1997 for those council members whose term of office expired April 1997. The city's policy is to pay council members in December for all compensation owed in that calendar year.

Four city council members were authorized to receive this increased compensation in 1997 and should have received total compensation of $160 for the eight months ended December 31, 1997. However, in December 1997, each of these council members was paid $320, resulting in excess compensation of $160. It appears these overpayments occurred because the compensation was computed on a per meeting basis rather than a per month basis. In addition, the city did not withhold any payroll taxes from the council members' salaries.

According to city officials, the overpayments were noted prior to our review and the city had planned to adjust the compensation paid in December 1998 to correct this matter.

The city should ensure the excess compensation paid to the applicable council members in 1997 is corrected, and withhold the necessary payroll taxes from council members' salaries in the future. In addition, the city should ensure compensation paid to council members is paid in accordance with city ordinances.

WE RECOMMEND the City Council:

A. Establish formal bidding policies and procedures, including documentation requirements regarding the bids or quotes received and justification for the bid selected. The city policy should require publicly advertising for bids on significant construction projects.

B. Ensure expenditures from city monies are a prudent use of public funds and are limited to those necessary to properly operate the city.

C. Ensure the excess compensation paid to council members in 1997 is corrected, and ensure payroll taxes are properly withheld from the council members' salaries in the future. In addition, the city should ensure council members are paid in accordance with city ordinances.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The City Council provided the following response:

No bidding policy: You are correct in saying that we have no written bidding policy. Our existing policy is to bid when we think we can save money, and to not bid when we think that procedure will save us money. This is the same bidding policy that most people have in their private homes. Bidding is not a cost-free activity. There is no state statute which requires bidding. The purpose of the bidding policy is to save the taxpayers money, and not to be some slavish device which costs more than the benefits. We can point to several instances where a rapid purchase of a major item "on sale" or "at a steal" has saved the people of Slater significant amounts of money. Delaying the procedures and taking formal bids would not have resulted in as good a price. The city does follow state bidding procedures on all state and federally funded projects. A written policy might be considered in the future and better documentation will be kept. However, the best bid is not always the low bid. Patronizing your town, a supplier, county etc. does mean a lot.

City Hall was not officially bid in all respects. However, Samson, Buller and Esser developed plans and specifications over two years ago. After different proposals were solicited that exceeded expectations, changes were made, more proposals received and award of contract on an engineered metal building with no basement. For not being officially bid, the city did consult with seven contractors.

City crews did the demolition work and the city bought all materials on the sidewalks. The State Bank of Slater paid for the installing labor for this project. Bids were solicited by the city for the red concrete from two local suppliers.

Donations. You criticize some donations which have been made by the City of Slater totaling $275 to the FFA Purple Ribbon Club, Girl Scouts, and the drug and alcohol free after prom party. We are well aware that the Constitution requires a public purpose for any expenditure of funds. The Mayor made these contributions because of the work of these groups in helping to raise our children and to prevent juvenile delinquency. One of the primary purposes of our government is to assist in the education of our children and to help them become productive citizens. While your staff says that such donations were not "prudent", we believe that they were of small amount and a definite "prudent" use of the city's money. The Missouri Municipal League (MML) mission policy strongly supports the use of funds for community education; i.e. alcohol and other drug related programs, prevention of juvenile delinquency, gang activities, teenage pregnancy etc. Do these donations qualify?

OATS Bus Tickets: The City of Slater has for many years purchased $500 worth of tickets for the OATS bus service and distributed those tickets to persons over the age of 55 who requested. The first year that we did this, we had a written contract. In subsequent, the matter has been renewed on an oral basis. We believe it is important for the older citizens of our community to have access to medical care. As we have been unable to attract a physician, and there is no hospital within walking distance of Slater, Missouri, we think providing OATS bus tickets is reasonable to support our elderly citizens.

We do not impose a "means test" for the tickets-even the wealthiest person can request this OATS subsidized bus ticket. We believe that the system is not being abused, and that there is a decided advantage in making the tickets available to everyone so there is not stigma attached to those who use the tickets. The city will look closely at all future donations and try to establish contracted activities for these donations. Again, the (MML) policy urges all levels of government to recognize the needs of senior adults and strive to provide transportation assistance necessary for shopping, doctor visits, education, entertainment and most importantly, access to nutrition sites.

Overpayment of Council Members. The City Council set the pay for members of the Council at $20 per month. This was done to attempt to encourage more people to run for the office and compensate those that are in office for their time and public scrutiny they must endure. In 1997, Council Members were paid $20 per meeting due to an error. The city staff pointed this out to your staff upon arrival. We intend to correct the problem during the calendar 1998, by deducting the overpayment from the pay of members of the City Council.

You criticize our Christmas party and the picnic that we have for our employees. These activities are held two or three times a year and cost the taxpayers about $1,500 total for both. You seem to think that those expenditures do not have a public purpose.

However, if we had "required" meetings instead of the "voluntary party", we would have to pay our employees their hourly rate of pay. Such requirements would also either result in a reduction of service to the citizens or have the requirement that we pay overtime. The hourly rate for our employees would probably be more expensive than the cost of the individual picnic or party. Having an event with social overtones is cheaper for the city than having mandatory meetings, and it also allows us to express our appreciation to the spouses of our employees for any impositions that may be imposed upon them. We expect to continue this practice. For a relatively modest amount of money ($1,500 a year), we improve the morale and productivity of our workers, and the citizens of Slater are benefited as a result. We will be referring to our future gathering as safety programs for future references.

Bonuses: What you call bonuses, we call "Christmas presents". We have provided small gifts to our employees every holiday season since at least 1948. We do not intend to change. You apparently think that such payments are prohibited by the Constitution; we disagree. We are working to gradually improve productivity of our work force, and one of the ways we are doing so is by thanking our employees for excellent behavior. We think these small gifts serve a useful purpose. Obviously there can be a point at which the bonuses are excessive in relation to the benefit provided to the taxpayers. The City of Slater is nowhere near that point.

4. Use and Disposal of City Property

A. City employees have been allowed to use city street equipment (i.e. dump truck, bobcat, backhoe, etc.) at various times for personal use at no cost. City officials indicated such personal use is allowed if approved verbally by the Mayor. The city does not have a written policy regarding the personal use of city equipment by city employees/officials.

It does not appear appropriate for city employees/officials to use city equipment for personal reasons at no cost. In addition, use of city equipment for personal reasons could expose the city to additional liability. The city should review whether it is appropriate to allow city employees to use city equipment for personal reasons. If the city wishes to allow such use of city-owned equipment, the city should adopt a written policy addressing this matter and establish a reasonable charge structure which will cover the costs of operating the equipment.

B. The city disposed of several pieces of real estate in recent years. Our review of this area disclosed the following concerns:

1) In 1995, a local businessman donated a building and lot to the city. According to city officials, this individual received a certificate of value from the bank valuing this property at $12,000 to $15,000. City officials indicated that the city did not have a use for the property and did not want to bear any expense of possible demolition of the building. As a result, the city council decided to sell the building. In September 1995, the city advertised the sale of the building in the local newspaper on a Wednesday, with the ad stipulating that the bids would be accepted until the following Tuesday (less than a week later), on the day of the regular City Council meeting. The city received only one bid for the property in the amount of $2,400 from Councilman Allegri. The City Council voted to accept the bid for the property, with Councilman Allegri abstaining.

A similar transaction also occurred in 1996. The City Council again decided to sell a building and lot which had been donated to the city. According to city officials, this building was valued by the bank at around $12,000. In October 1996, the city advertised this property, again only in the local newspaper on a Wednesday with bids required to be submitted by the following Tuesday. Again, only one bid was received for this property in the amount of $2,000 which was from former Councilman Muse. The city council voted to accept this bid, with former Councilman Muse abstaining. According to city officials, Councilman Muse eventually sold this building and lot to the Slater Development Corporation (SDC) for $8,000.

It appears the city did not make a reasonable effort to sell these properties at fair value. The city did not obtain appraisals to determine the market value of the buildings and lots. In addition, by advertising these properties only once locally and requiring any interested parties to submit a bid in a period of time less than a week, it appears the city possibly reduced the number of individuals interested in bidding on these properties. Further, it seems unreasonable, and possibly inappropriate, for the city to have accepted the lone bids on these properties considering it had reason to believe the value of the properties was considerably higher and the bids were submitted by members of the council.

The city should make a reasonable effort to ensure city property is sold at fair value. The city should determine market value through appraisals or other means, and then advertise the sale of the properties and/or develop a reasonable marketing plan which will assure a reasonable number of interested bidders. If the initial bid(s) do not offer an acceptable amount for the applicable properties, the city should consider rejecting all bids and resoliciting bids.

2) In June 1996, another building and lot was donated to the city to be used as it wished to improve the area around Main Street. The city eventually decided to donate the building and lot to the SDC with the intent that the lot be used as part of the property where the new Place's Department Store would be located. Ultimately, this property was not used for this purpose and according to city officials was sold by the SDC for $3,500, with the proceeds of the sale being retained by the SDC.

The city should take steps to ensure that any city-owned property donated for an economic development or other similar purpose is used for the purpose intended. This could be done by requiring the property to revert back to the city if not used for the purpose intended.

WE RECOMMEND the City Council:

A. Discontinue allowing city employees to use city-owned equipment for personal reasons at no cost. If the city wishes to allow personal usage of city equipment, a written policy should be established along with a reasonable charge structure.

B.1. Ensure reasonable efforts are made to sell city properties at fair value.

2. Ensure any city-owned property donated for economic development or other purposes is used for the purpose intended. If it is not used for that purpose, the city should consider requiring the property to revert back to the city.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The City Council provided the following response:

Should not have sold donated buildings to council after public bids. The city feels that the property was publicly advertised by local paper and STV, but the only bids received were from Dr. Allegri and Mr. Muse. The objective of this council was to get this property back into the hands of taxpayers and to promote business downtown and to prohibit storage buildings. Both parties did start businesses in their buildings, pay taxes on the property, pay utility bills, etc. What does constitute enough advertising? It should also be mentioned these properties were for sale prior to being donated to the city, but no offers were received.

As far as the donation of the Old Variety Store to the Slater Development Corporation for the Place's project, we feel that the cost to demolish this property at a later date on our own would exceed what the city feels the property is actually worth. So, the city feels we saved the citizens of Slater money. The property has been sold and a third new building is going up (Slater Main Street News). This does constitute economic development in Slater and is just as beneficial to Slater's downtown revitalization as Places.

No policy on use of city equipment: Again, your staff is in favor of killing a lot of trees to put things on paper. We do, in fact, have a policy but it is not in writing. Our policy is to allow our employees to use city equipment when they request it to the Mayor or Assistant Administrator. It is to be used by employees only for their private use. The council feels this is a benefit to its employees who are not underworked and overpaid. A written policy will be considered in the future and MIRMA, the city's insurance carrier, will be contacted. If the city equipment is used by our employees for others a charge is assessed according to the current rate schedule.

5. Council Meetings, Minutes, and Ordinances

A. A review of the City Council minutes disclosed that the minutes do not reflect all significant items of discussion or actions taken by the council. For example, there was no mention of the $608,000 loan to the Slater Development Corporation (SDC) in the regular minutes of the council. Other significant decisions/items which were not properly documented in the minutes included the donation of a building and lot to the SDC in 1997, the various proposals received from contractors regarding the construction of the new city hall building, and the proposals received and the award of the construction of new sidewalks on Main Street.

City Council minutes document the activity of the council and should contain all important items of discussion and actions taken. By not disclosing all important items of discussion and actions by the council, the minutes are not complete and adequate.

B. Matters were discussed in closed session which do not appear to be allowed by Section 610.021, RSMo Cum. Supp. 1997. Examples of such matters discussed in closed meetings included forming a committee to procure a new fire engine and the performance of a water hydrant study. These do not appear to be valid issues to be discussed in a closed meeting.

Section 610.021, RSMo allows the city council to close meetings to the extent the meetings relate to certain specified subjects, including litigation, real estate transactions, and personnel. In addition, this law provides that public governmental bodies shall not discuss any other business during the closed meeting which differs from the specific reasons justifying such meeting, record, or vote.

C. Upon final disposition of matters discussed in closed meetings, it is not evident that the final disposition is always made public. Actions taken by the City Council in closed session are not generally recorded in the regular minutes. Section 610.021, RSMo Cum. Supp. 1997, requires certain matters discussed in closed meetings to be made public upon final disposition.

D. The City Council's open meeting minutes were properly signed by the Mayor and City Clerk; however, the closed meeting minutes were not always signed. All board minutes (including those for closed meetings) should be signed by the Mayor and City Clerk to provide an attestation that the minutes are a correct record of the matters discussed and actions taken during the council's meeting.

WE RECOMMEND the City Council:

A. Ensure the council minutes are complete and reflect all significant items of discussion and actions taken by the council.

B. Limit closed meetings only to purposes specifically allowed by state law.

C. Ensure the final disposition of certain matters discussed at closed meetings is made public as required by state law.

D. Ensure all minutes (including those for closed meetings) are properly signed to attest to their accuracy.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The City Council provided the following response:

According to the MO. Sunshine Law, pg. 18 of the revised August 1998 edition received from Attorney General Jay Nixon, open minutes should include date, time, place, members present and members absent, and votes attributed to each member. RSMo Section 610.020.6. It does not include she said/he said discussion. However, in the future the city will try to improve on all regular and executive minutes. The city feels the State should consider developing some workshops on this issue in the future as this seems to be a common recommendation in all state audits.

AUDITOR'S COMMENT

A. Section 610.020.6, RSMo 1994, provides:

"A journal or minutes of open meetings shall be taken and retained by the public governmental body, including, but not limited to (emphasis added), a record of any votes taken at such meeting. The minutes shall include the date, time, place, members present, members absent and a record of any votes taken . . ."

Therefore, the information referred to above as well as in the council's response should be viewed as the minimum information required, and not necessarily all information needed to adequately document matters brought before the City Council. We have never suggested that all discussions of the council be presented in detail in the minutes; however, we believe that any significant points of discussions should be reflected in the minutes in at least some limited manner.

6. Budgetary Practices and Financial Reporting

A. A review of the city's 1997 and 1998 budgets and related procedures disclosed the following concerns:

1) While the budgets were generally complete and included adequate detail, the budgets did not include the beginning and projected ending cash balances for any of the funds budgeted.

Section 67.010, RSMo 1994, provides the city's budget shall present a complete financial plan for the ensuing budget year. A budget should include the beginning and projected ending cash balances of all city funds.

2) The city exceeded the budgeted expenditure amounts in various funds during the years ended December 31, 1997 and 1996, as follows:

	Year Ended December 31,
Fund	1997	1996
Electric Fund	$ 35,683	-0-
Refuse Fund	2,353	-0-
Park Fund	14,662	13,489
Library Fund	1,999	-0-
Capital Improvement Fund	-0-	341
Water Fund	127,112	-0-

The Water Fund's budget was overspent in 1997 due to the city receiving and expending over $200,000 in flood disaster relief monies. The city did not prepare an amended budget for this fund or any of the other funds where the budget was overspent, nor did the city set forth any reasons for exceeding the budgeted amounts in the council minutes or adopt a resolution authorizing the additional expenditures.

Section 67.040, RSMo 1994, requires political subdivisions to keep expenditures within amounts budgeted. If there are valid reasons which necessitate excess expenditures, a resolution should be adopted by the governing body setting forth the amount of the budget increase and the facts and reasons for such.

B. The city has not published semiannual financial statements as required by law. It appears the city has not published financial statements since at least 1991.

Section 77.110, RSMo 1994, requires the city council to publish semiannual financial statements. These financial statements are to include a detailed statement of the receipts and expenditures and indebtedness of the city at the end of each fiscal year and six months after the end of each fiscal year.

WE RECOMMEND the City Council:

A.1. Ensure the city budgets include the beginning and projected ending cash balances of all city funds.

2. Ensure expenditures are kept within budgeted amounts. If it is necessary to incur additional expenditures, a resolution setting forth the increase and reasons for such should be adopted.

B. Publish semiannual financial statements as required by state law.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The City Council provided the following response:

Budget: You have stated that the budget adopted by the city has no "beginning and ending balances". What we think you mean is that the printed document does not have any beginning and ending balances stated in it. Clearly we do have beginning balances on our computer and those beginning balances are checked and adjusted by our auditors when they do our annual audit. Clearly the ending balance for our budget is never going to be better than an estimate because the new budget is adopted while the old budget is still being worked through. So the ending balance for the current fiscal year will have to be an estimate, and so will the starting balance in the subsequent year.

We do not believe that it is particularly helpful to the City Council or the citizens to have estimates rather than hard figures in the budget. We do not see any particular problem, however, in complying with your suggestion and Section 67.010, RSMo 1994, that some numbers (either accurate or inaccurate) be placed at the beginning and at the end of the budget document. We will implement your suggestion when we do the budget for fiscal year 1999.

No published semi-annual financial statement. The City of Slater was for many years a city operating under the "council/manager form of government". The council/manager form of government is not required to publish a semi-annual financial statement.

When the voters of the city decided to abolish the council/manager form of government we became subject to a different set of statutes, including the one requiring the publishing of a semi-annual financial statement.

We intend to begin publishing the financial statement beginning in June 1999 (six months into our fiscal year).

7. City Funds

A. In April 1994, the citizens of the city of Slater passed a one-half cent transportation sales tax to be used for street improvements. This sales tax is for a five-year period and will expire in 1999, unless city residents vote to extend the tax. A separate fund has not been established to account for these monies as required by statute. Instead, these sales tax revenues have been accounted for in the city's Capital Improvement Fund. It appears the monies have been spent from this fund for street improvements, which is an allowable use of these revenues.

Section 94.745, RSMo 1994, requires transportation sales tax revenues be deposited in a special fund to be known as the City Transportation Trust Fund and be used only for transportation purposes.

B. For a number of years, the city has levied a debt service property tax to pay the principal and interest requirements of its general obligation bonds. The related property tax revenues have not been maintained in a separate fund as required by law. Instead these monies have been accounted for in the city's Water Fund. The city estimated that debt service revenues of approximately $2,800 remained in the Water Fund at December 31, 1997.

Section 108.180, RSMo 1994, requires that monies derived from a tax levy for the payment of interest and principal of bonds shall be kept separate and apart from all other funds so that there shall be no commingling of such funds with any other funds of the city.

C. The city maintains most of the operating monies of its various funds in one interest bearing checking account. The interest revenue earned each month from this account is credited to the city's General Fund, instead of being allocated to the various funds which maintain monies in this account. Approximately $1,400 per month in interest income was earned on this account during the year ended December 31, 1997. Although all of this interest was credited to the General Fund, had it been properly allocated a majority of this interest would have been credited to the city's utility (electric, water, and wastewater) funds.

Interest should be credited to the funds whose monies generated the revenue. To ensure all city funds receive the appropriate amount of revenue, interest earned on the city's main operating account should be properly allocated among the various city funds.

WE RECOMMEND the City Council:

A. Establish a separate City Transportation Trust Fund to account for the receipt and expenditure of the transportation sales tax revenues.

B. Establish a separate Debt Service Fund to account for the receipt of the debt service property tax revenues and the related payments of the principal and interest requirements of its general obligation bonds.

C. Ensure the interest income earned on the city's main operating account is properly allocated among the various city funds.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The City Council provided the following response:

Your staff suggested that we should set up some additional "funds" in order to better account for the city's capital improvement sales tax, the city's transportation sales tax, and the debt service, which we pay out, on outstanding municipal bonds. The implication of the statement was that they wanted us to have different "bank accounts". As your staff already knows, we do account for these items separately and it is very easy using our existing system to determine that we are complying with the law in how we spend our capital improvement sales tax money, or how we are spending our transportation sales tax money. It is also obvious that we are paying our debts on a timely basis. However, the city will establish separate paper funds for each of these in the future.

Interest Income. Interest income from the operating account is currently deposited into the General Fund instead of dividing it among all accounts. On the average this amounts to $1,400 a month. This seems to be irrelevant when the city has 10 different funds. We will try and develop a journal entry sheet with some percentages that will disburse some of this interest to other accounts.

8. City Contracts

A. The city does not have a written agreement with its depositary bank as authorized by Section 95.285, RSMo 1994. A written depositary contract helps both the bank and the city understand and comply with the requirements of any banking arrangement.

The contract's provisions should include, but not be limited to, collateral security requirements; any bank fees for check printing, checking account services, and safe deposit boxes; interest charges on any borrowed funds; and interest rates for invested funds.

B. The city has appointed an attorney in the area to serve as City Attorney. The city has not entered into a written contract with this individual, defining the services to be rendered and compensation to be paid for legal services.

Section 432.070, RSMo 1994, requires contracts of political subdivisions be in writing. The city should enter into written contracts for services rendered or obtained. A written contract, signed by the parties involved, should specify the services to be rendered and the manner and amount of compensation to be paid. Written contracts are necessary to ensure all parties are aware of their duties and responsibilities and to provide protection to both parties.

WE RECOMMEND the City Council:

A. Enter into a written agreement with its depositary bank.

B. Enter into a written contract with the City Attorney for legal services.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The City Council provided the following response:

No Contract with Bank Depository: It is absolutely true that we do not have a contract with our bank depository, other than the individual (implied) contracts entered into with respect to each individual account. Again, there is no possible advantage to the city in having such a contract, as we do not bid our banking services. We chose to bank in Slater as Section 95.280, RSMo allows. We believe we get better service, more flexible pricing, and serve the people of Slater better by banking in Slater. The city will contact the State Bank of Slater about this recommendation and if it has any benefit to the city and its citizens. Again, the MML supports passage of legislation that would repeal the archaic laws governing depositories for funds and clarify the investment authority of statutory cities.

No Contract with City Attorney: You are absolutely correct that we do not have a contract with our city attorney. Our city attorney has advised us that there is no benefit to such a contract, because under the present arrangement, the city is free to fire the attorney at any time, with or without a reason, and to decline to pay for the attorney's services. Having a contract with the city attorney would only benefit the attorney. Under those circumstances, we see no reason to enter into a contract with our lawyer. In the future, the city will require a rate schedule for the upcoming year with some general terms and conditions.

9. Internal Controls

A. The city could improve its segregation of duties, particularly over cash receipts. For monies received by the city, the same individual receives the monies, records the transactions, and prepares the bank deposit slips. No periodic review or reconciliation of recorded receipts to bank deposits is performed by an independent person. A similar control weakness exists for monies received by the municipal court.

To ensure monies are properly safeguarded, duties should be segregated to the extent possible. In regard to cash receipts, a periodic reconciliation of recorded receipts to bank deposits should be performed by an independent person.

This condition was similarly reported by the city's independent auditors.

B. Cash receipts are not always deposited intact. City officials and employees are allowed to cash personal checks from daily cash receipts. This is a poor practice and reduces accountability over receipts. To ensure all receipts are properly handled, they should be deposited intact. Personal checks should not be cashed from the daily cash receipts.

C. The approval of adjustments made to individual utility bills is not documented. All adjustments made to the monthly utility bills are recorded on adjustment sheets. Although we were told adjustments made to the utility bills are verbally approved by the Mayor or Assistant City Administrator/City Clerk, the adjustment sheets are not reviewed or approved by the Mayor or Assistant City Administrator/City Clerk.

To ensure all adjustments to utility bills are appropriate and have been recorded properly, the utility adjustment sheets should be reviewed and approved by the Mayor or Assistant City Administrator/City Clerk. That review and approval should be documented.

WE RECOMMEND the City Council:

A. Ensure the duties related to the handling, recording, and depositing of cash receipts is segregated to the extent possible. In addition, a periodic reconciliation of recorded receipts to bank deposits should be performed by an independent person.

B. Require all cash receipts to be deposited intact. The cashing of personal checks from daily cash receipts should be prohibited.

C. Ensure an independent review and approval of any adjustments to utility bills is performed and documented.

AUDITEE'S RESPONSE

The City Council provided the following response:

Segregation of Duties: This has been written up in the city audit for years. With a staff of the City's size it is impossible to have total segregation of duties. This statement is a safety statement that covers our auditor as well as the State Auditor if something would be found years from now. It says we told you there could be problems someday. We will try to develop some additional checks and balances, but will not consider hiring more staff, as the General Fund cannot support it, nor need it. The city staff will ensure all receipts are deposited intact, cashing of personal checks will be regulated and any utility adjustments will be approved in writing by a second person in the office. The Mayor and City Clerk will be advised of these adjustments.

This report is intended for the information of the city's management and other applicable government officials. However, this report is a matter of public record and its distribution is not limited.
